

D. S. 33075

MARK TWAIN'S

PERFORATED INTERLEAVED

SCRAP BOOK.

VOL XXVIII

PATENT NUMBER 477,040

Oct. 19. 1911 to May 30. 1912, DIRECTIONS.

Use but little moisture, and only on gummed lines. Press the scrap on without wetting it.
After filling the gummed pages, remove the interleaving leaf at the perforated line, allowing the short stub to remain, which will keep the book of uniform thickness.

DANIEL SLOTE & COMPANY.

321 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

INDEX

A

PAGE

B

PAGE

B

C

INDEX

D

PAGE

E

PAGE

F

G

INDEX

H

PAGE

IJ

PAGE

K

L

INDEX

M

PAGE

N

PAGE

NO

PQ

INDEX

R

PAGE

S

PAGE

S

T

INDEX

UV

PAGE

W

PAGE

W

XYZ

LOVING CUP FOR

MISS MARY HALL.

Members of Good Will Club Make Present to Their Director—Farewell to Building.

March 17, 1911—

At the Good Will club building, even.

The Hartford Times.

Established as a Daily 1841.

1

Thursday, October 19, 1911.

THE BOYS' CLUB.

The Good Will club is to be con-

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT, T

NEW KENEY HALL FOR GOOD WILL CLUB.

Miss Mary Hall, who has directed the club for so many years and who had been so helpful to hundreds of boys. Then he held up a handsome silver cup, just taken from its wrappings, and said the boys were giving it to Miss Hall as a present and as a token of their love.

Miss Hall was completely surprised and was much affected. It was nearly a minute before she regained her composure to thank the boys for their gift.

One of the Trustees.

Harry S. Conklin, one of the trustees, spoke encouraging words to the boys, and Julius Hartt, instructor of the orchestra, and a warm friend of the boys, also spoke. There were cheers for David S. Hall, the assistant superintendent.

Then the boys formed in line and marched several times about the hall, as a farewell to the building in which they will meet no more. After this ceremony there was a general social time. The cup given Miss Hall is sterling silver and stands eight inches high. It has three handles. On one side is engraved "1880-1911. Mary Hall. Presented by the Members of the Good Will club." Below the inscription is the star and crescent, the club emblem.

come. Miss Hall's duties have been largely increased by the steady growth of the club, which now calls every night for an assistant manager, and the services of additional volunteer teachers. The trustees hope to see both before the close of the season. The trustees also feel that the club was fortunate in having as the chief of the movement Miss Mary Hall, whose energy and tact have accomplished so much for the boys of Hartford.

An appreciative article on this subject appeared in the Hartford Courant this morning, and is reprinted below:

The formal opening and dedication of the new Good Will building on Ely street marks a long step forward in the progress of this excellent organization. Beginning in a small room in Central row, the club attracted the attention of the late Alfred E. Burr of The Times and a few others so much that they aroused public attention to its wants and possibilities, and a general subscription was raised to secure a permanent home. This resulted in the purchase of the Hartford Female seminary building on Pratt street, toward which many shareholders gave their shares. The largest cash subscriptions came from the Keney and the Goodwins, as so often has happened when a good cause has come before the public.

Pratt street real estate
The Hartford
EVE, 10-20-30-50c.
MAT, 10-20c.
4-OTHER BIG ACTS—
In Bits of Vaudeville.
HAYDN, BORDEN & HAYDN.
In "The Piano Mover."
ED. HAYS & CO.

MISS HALL'S STORY OF GOOD WILL CLUB

Keney Hall Turned Over to Board of Trustees.

DR. HART, DR. GOODWIN AND MAYOR SMITH SPEAK.

In the presence of the mayor of the city, the trustees and the architect and a good number of workers, members and friends of the Good Will Club, the new building on Keney Square was dedicated last evening. Music was furnished by the Good Will Club Orchestra, while the Good Will Club Fife and Drum Corps played at the opening and close of the exercises. A large bunch of yellow chrysanthemums graced the platform. Rev. Dr. Samuel Hart, president of the club, presided and seated with him at the front were Rev. Dr. Francis Goodwin, Professor A. R. Merriam, Harry S. Conklin, Mayor Edward L. Smith, Benjamin W. Morris and Samuel Davidson.

The exercises were simple. Dr. Hart called upon Mr. Morris, the architect, to certify to the completion of the building. Mr. Morris said that the work had been done in a spirit of generosity and fair dealing on the part of all the contractors. The general contractor, he said, was Adam Purves; mason work, T. R. Fox; plumbing, Otto Epstein; electrical work, Baldwin & Stewart Company; heating, Libby & Blinn; painting, Charles Fall; electrical fixtures, Bradley & Hubbard Manufacturing Company; vacuum cleaning, Spencer Turbine Company. For the building committee, Mr. Conklin turned the edifice over to the trustees. The prayer of dedication was offered by Professor Merriam.

Dr. Hart Accepts Building.

After a selection by the orchestra, Dr. Hart, in the following words, accepted the building:—

It is with great satisfaction that the Good Will Club takes formal possession today of its new building, its permanent home. Of the thirty years of its existence, more than two-thirds were passed in the shelter of the pleasant walls on Pratt street—themselves already historic when the club entered within them—provided by the generosity of friends whose names and good deeds will never be forgotten. It was not an easy thing to decide to leave a place which had so many associations with boys and workers and events; it was not an easy thing, after the decision had been made, to carry it into effect and to transfer to a new site a life so deeply rooted and so vigorous. But all this has been done; the generosity of the former days has been met by a generosity which has made it possible, from the proceeds of the sale of the former property, to build this well-placed and noble and serviceable structure, which we this evening dedicate to its beneficent purposes, invoking on it and all that shall be undertaken or done in it the blessing of Almighty God. To tell all the purposes of this building would be to go through a long catalogue of courses of healthy amusement, varied instruction and plans of physical and mechanical and mental training, for the present and future benefit of the boys for whose good the organization exists; as you pass through its halls and enter its rooms you will see much, though you will not learn the half of what will be done here; but at least you will gain some idea of the wise purpose of it all and some assurance that its purpose will be carried into effect.

The story of these thirty years will soon be told in outline by the good woman who has made history and shaped its issues in this club, save only that she will not tell you how largely it has been her planning and her work which have made success both possible and real. We thank her, everything and everybody thanks her, tonight; we acknowledge gratefully all the kind work of heart and hand and brain on the part of helpers—many of them there have been, and their names are in the book of remembrance; we think of the thousands of men, some of maturer years but most still in the early part of active life, who trace back to this club good impulses and good lessons that have shaped their characters and assured their success; we look forward with confidence to the years in which this work shall be continued and in which it shall be increasingly recognized that the Good Will Club is essential to the true life and the real prosperity of Hartford.

And here I venture to say, that though the corporation today holds this building free from debt, and though it has an invested fund—it amounts now to some $58,000—the interest of which it can apply for current expenses, yet it must look to the people of this goodly city for further financial aid and encouragement. No appeal has been made to the public in its behalf since the former building was occupied; we are not proposing at present to put forth what is called an appeal; but we do ask the citizens of Hartford to appreciate the value of what is done and what must be done here, and to see to it that increasing opportunities and growing needs be met by larger revenues. I doubt whether any other organization in this city will pay in benefits a larger dividend than the Good Will Club will pay on what is invested in it.

Four names stand out prominently in the list of our benefactors: these

Dr. Goodwin Speaks.

Rev. Dr. Francis Goodwin in a dual capacity, as trustee of the Good Will Club and also as trustee of the Keney Trust, spoke of the splendid work of the club and the loyalty of its friends and workers. In speaking of Henry Keney, the generous benefactor of the club, Mr. Goodwin said that Mr. Keney attributed what he was able to achieve to his mother. The speaker then read this inscription which is on the inner wall of the Keney Tower:—

"This tower, erected to the memory of my mother, is designed to preserve from other occupancy the grounds sacred to me as her home and to stand in perpetual honor of the wisdom, goodness, and womanly nobility of her to whose guidance I owe my success in life and its chief joy, Henry Keney."

Mr. Goodwin said that he felt it would be the wish of Mr. Keney, who held his mother in such high honor, that the Good Will Club building should have a place on Keney Square. Another selection was given by the orchestra at the close of Dr. Goodwin's remarks.

The Club's History.

The history of the Good Will Club from its formation in 1889 to the present time was given by Miss Mary Hall, who spoke as follows:—
Mr. Chairman and Friends of the Good Will Club.—
The Good Will Club was born of a great sorrow, but Heaven and Hartford have showered it with blessings since its birth. The first meeting of funds could not buy. This condition was reported to Henry Keney, who at once entered actively into its purchase, sending his check to make the consummation of the purchase possible. Mr. Keney also directed that all needed repairs be made, a new heating apparatus installed, the crumbling walls braced, the roof made whole and the bills sent to him. Mr. Burr and Mr. Goodwin gave their personal attention to directing the work of repairs.

We entered this building, a happy company of workers and boys, Febru-

from whom the site was purchased, to correspond and harmonize with Keney tower near by.

A flag walk from Ely street leads to the main entrance, and another entrance for Superintendent Mary Hall and her assistant workers is on the north end of the building by means of steps leading to paneled doors. Here begins the long hallway of the building. On either side are the art room, the offices and the living rooms of Miss Hall and her brother, David Hall, the latter the assistant superintendent. Along this hall are the trustees' room, different class rooms, and the carpenter shop, the plumbing shop, the printing office, the cooking school and an alcove or two. At the foot of the hall is an expansive club room and library. The bookcases have been taken from the old quarters of the club on Pratt street. In one of the art rooms is a cosy little fireplace, and the mantel and arch is composed of the late Miss Catherine Beecher's geological cabinet and specimens which were in Miss Hall's possession. The separate stones were wiped and polished up by the Good Will boys and the masons have set them in stucco work over the arch of the fireplace.

In the basement is a finely equipped bowling alley. There is also a room here planned for a basketball court, but it may in time be converted into a swimming tank should basketball not prove to be as popular as expected. The toilet rooms are on the basement floor and are well appointed and contain three shower baths. Here is also located the adequate steam heating plant, and an excellent vacuum cleaning plant.

The roomy and well appointed gymnasium is on the top floor. Here the boys will drill and exercise, and here the Good Will Fife and Drum corps and the Boys' orchestra will practice. Not all the available space was utilized for the gymnasium, for at the south end of this second floor is a commodious playroom. The building is lighted throughout by electricity.

GOOD WILL CLUB'S NEW HOME DEDICATION.

al Exercises To-night That Will rt the Handsome Structure at ey Square on Its Career.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BUILDING.

everything is in readiness for the al opening and dedication of the Good Will club building at y square, corner of Ely and Win-streets, to-night. The building ctically completed inside and out, the simple exercises will begin 10. It is not feasible to have any e boys of the club at these cere- s, but notwithstanding the in- ncy of the weather, a good repre- ntation of trustees, workers and s of the club is expected to at- t this evening. No invitations e been issued but the officers and ees of the Good Will club wish nterested in this beneficent work tend and see what has been done ear what the organization plans . Guests attending the exercises evening are especially requested ter through the main doorway on vest front of the new building and through the superintendent's nce nearest to Ely street.

The Program.

usic will be furnished by the e orchestra and the fife and drum s of the club. The Rev. Dr. Sam- Hart of the Berkeley Divinity ol, Middletown, will preside and er will be offered by the Rev. essor, Alexander R. Merriam of Hartford Theological seminary. riginal paper, treating of the club, istory of the organization and its s and prospects will be read by Miss Mary Hall, the superintendent of the building.

Addresses are to be made by the Rev. Dr. Francis Goodwin of the board of trustees, Mayor Edward L. Smith, B. W. Morris, the architect, and Samuel G. Dunham, who will on behalf of the building committee, turn the building over to the trustees. Samuel N. Davidson, a former member of the Good Will club, will speak for the boys.

Dance for Members.

A reception and dance for the actual members of the club—the older boys—will be given Thursday night from 8 to 11 o'clock and the members have invited a number of lady friends. Workers in the members' room will chaperone the party. Miss Clara Case is chairman of this group, and John Sudarsky is chairman of the club members.

For Boys of the City.

The building will be thrown open for the inspection of the boys of the city on Wednesday night, October 25. Ex-Mayor William F. Henney will be the speaker at this gathering. Admission will be by tickets, which will be given out Friday and Saturday, October 20 and 21. To avoid confusion only boys whose names begin with the first five letters of the alphabet will be given tickets Friday afternoon. Saturday morning boys whose names begin with the letters F to J will be served and Saturday afternoon boys whose names begin with the letters K to O. Boys not included in these groups will be provided for early the following week.

Description of the Building.

The new home of the Good Will club is a large brick structure of Tudor Gothic design built from the plans of Benjamin Morris, architect. The building faces the west and at the center of the western frontage is an impressive entrance topped with the name of the Good Will club and adorned on either side with bronze trimmings, in conformity to the wishes of the trustees of the Keney estate, president, Major John C. Parsons, secretary and Charles Hopkins Clark treasurer. Mr. Burr and Major Parsons held office until death and never failed to give their presence and their helpful influence to the club when it was needed. Mr. Clark and Mr. Goodwin hold their offices to date and have been its constant friends.

The search for a building was continued after this meeting and in the meantime the personal influence of the officers, backed by "The Courant" and "Times," drew to themselves the Messrs. Henry and Walter Keney. During all the years of the club's life, up to this time, we had been wanderers, pushed out of place because we were noisy, never being able to secure permanent quarters. Our goods were stored in cellars and barns at times; when a friendly hand was reached out to us we grasped it and did our best to stay, thankful for shelter anywhere at times. Through all the months of searching for a home with nothing in sight but the few thousands dollars raised by the papers, a chance meeting of a friend gave us a clue to the possible sale of the Hartford Female Seminary, which our already collected models trimmed with Cluny Lace

ISTS, $4.00.

ne week to 10 days.
is can be made quickly so you plete as today, all sizes can be $32.50 and up.

Misses' Sizes.

Tailored Suits.

101 WEST 14TH STREET, NEW YORK.

FEBRUARY 23, 1912.

GOOD WILL BOYS HEAR STIRRING ADDRESSES

The Deferred Holiday Entertainment
Comes at Last With Plenty of Good Things.

GIFT FOR DR. SAMUEL HART.

The Good Will club entertainment, Thursday evening, brought out twice as many members and former members of the club than ever have been at the new building before, said Miss Mary Hall. Primarily, the entertainment was for the younger boys, those boys who are not old enough to be enrolled in the precincts, and who come around every evening and while away as pleasant a time as possible. But there is one thing that impresses itself; as Rabbi Ettelson said, one would hardly think that there were so many boys in Hartford, after a look at the sea of boyish faces spread out before the speakers, bright, eager, alert.

The entertainment was first scheduled to be held during Christmas week last, but for various reasons it was postponed for Washington's birthday. The boys were around early; an entertainment goes before all other obligations, dinner parties, banquets, theater parties and the like. No frills or fancies. They came early, listened school," piped a front seat youngster.

But to lie is to be false to one's self. The speaker told a story of Lincoln. He was once requested to take the case of a man whom he considered guilty. He said that although he might be able to fool the jury and the judge he could not fool Abe Lincoln, and since he had to live with Abe all his life he would not try to deceive him. Playing marbles will call forth the good and bad qualities of boys. There are the straight and honest boys, and there are the crooked and lying boys. A person who does not tell the truth, and whose tongue is crooked, leads a crooked life. A lie will many times endanger more than the life of the one who tells it. Dr. White told how the needle of the compass on the ship was relied upon to guide that ship. If the needle varies and the ship goes on the rocks then the human lives on board are sacrificed. So with the boy who lies, or man for that matter. Others than themselves are concerned.

He urged the boys to play a straight game. It feels better, he said.

Counting in the Foreigner.

Rabbi Ettelson, associate rabbi of the congregation Beth Israel, was the next speaker. He told the boys how captivated he was with the building, and said that he would not be long. Speaking about Washington, he said, reminded him of a story about a boy who went to Sunday-school. When asked by his teacher who was the first man the youngster answered that Washington was—first in war, first in

STRONG TRIBUTE TO HENRY W. NUCKOLS.

"Automobile Topics" Praises Work He Has Done.

Under the heading "A Kentuckian's Work," the automobile Magazine, "Automobile Topics," in its latest issue speaks as follows concerning Henry W. Nuckols, the president of the Columbia Motor Car Company:—

"There is in the success of a few years the greatest automobile company in the world, the Columbia Motor Car Company, Hartford, Conn., and identified with the automobile industry in Hartford, where he was president of the Columbia Motor Car Company, which recently abandoned Hartford and wound up its affairs when the Maxwell Motor Company, which controls the stock, voted to close the plant here and move the machinery

Although in his earlier life he was a successful business man, Mr. Nuckols was chosen as head of the Columbia Motor Car Company at a meeting in New York, where he succeeded in his efforts to save the company from failure.

Chosen as Head of the Columbia Motor Car Company at a meeting in New York, where he succeeded in his efforts to save the company from failure.

When the company became a States Motor Company, Mr. Nuckols usually head the came to Hartford from Chicago.

Henry W. Nuckols.

West, has been appointed to an important post with the Packard Motor Car Company.

In his new place Mr. Nuckols will be general assistant to M. J. Budlong, president of the Packard Motor Car Company of New York, the Packard Motor Car Company of Philadelphia and the Packard Motor Car Company of Chicago. His new place is a high one in the automobile industry, and one of responsibility.

In 1905, Mr. Nuckols began active work in the automobile industry with the Electric Vehicle Company, serving in various capacities, and at the time this company went into receivership, in December, 1907, was secretary and treasurer. He was then appointed receiver and active manager of the Electric Vehicle Company and later made the hands of the Columbia Motor Car Company, which succeeded the Electric Vehicle Company. It was by his efficient work as the Electric Vehicle Company's receiver that Mr. Nuckols attracted attention to his business when the company was in receivership, and his record earned him the addition to vancement to the presidency and general manager.

HENRY W. NUCKOLS IS SUED FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

Sept 4, 1911 —
Meriden Young Woman Brings Action for $20,000 Against President of Columbia Motor Car Company.

Meriden papers contain an announcement of a suit for $20,000 damages for breach of promise brought against Henry W. Nuckols, president of the Columbia Motor Car company of this city, by Miss Edith L. Campbell of Meriden, who is described in the Meriden Journal as "well known in society in Meriden and vicinity." Joined as defendant with Mr. Nuckols is Mrs. Anna M. Bradley of Meriden, wife of a prominent manufacturer. The action is made returnable for the fall term of the superior court in New Haven, which opens Tuesday.

The suit follows the announcement of the engagement of Mr. Nuckols to Miss Florence N. Belding, daughter of A. N. Belding of Rockville.

Miss Campbell says in her complaint that on February 5, 1910, she and Mr. Nuckols made mutual prom-

ROCKVILLE.

BRILLIANT SOCIETY WEDDING.

Oct 19, 1911 —
Miss Florence Belding Married to Henry W. Nuckols, Hartford Business Man.

The marriage of Miss Florence May Belding, daughter of Mr and Mrs Alvah Norton Belding of Rockville, and Henry Wade Nuckols of Hartford, was performed last evening at 7 o'clock at the Belding home, Castle Sunset, on Talcott avenue. It was the most notable and brilliant society wedding ever held in Rockville. About 700 invitations were issued to friends of the families in various parts of the country, and the spacious home was filled with over 300 guests. The bride's father, A. N. Belding, is one of the prominent silk manufacturers of the country, a member of the firm of Belding Bros & Co. The guests included members of the firm, officials of the company connected with the various mills and prominent business and professional men from Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., Buffalo, N. Y., New York city, Boston, Mass., Albany, N. Y., Montreal, P. Q., Philadelphia, Pa., Washington, D. C., Northampton, Mass., Springfield, Mass., Hartford and many other cities, with a limited number of Rockville people.

Castle Sunset presented a radiant appearance, resplendent in electrical and floral decorations. It was an amethyst and opal wedding, these colors prevailing with yellow in the decorations. The general background of the decorations in all of the rooms was in southern smilax, with yellow chrysanthemums and other choice flowers in great profusion, palms, ferns and plants. The east porch was made into a palm room. The wedding ceremony was performed in the drawing room under a magnificent floral canopy of smilax and yellow chrysanthemums. The Hatch orchestra of Hartford furnished music. The bride was attended by Mrs. George L. Baird of Lee, Mass., the matron of honor, who wore a beautiful gown of yellow satin and yellow chiffon, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were Miss Stanley of New Britain, Miss Grace Hill of Hartford, Miss Marian Merriek of Shelburne Falls, Mass., Miss Alice Young of Chicago, and Miss Edith Harwood of Rockville. They wore gowns of yellow satin, draped with amethyst chiffon, with gold lace trimming, and carried bouquets of

OMISE
Action
of Co.
an-0 dam-brought resident company
mpbell
in the
own in city."
Nuckols
eriden, cturer.
for the
In New
cement
kols to inter of
com-10, she prom-EDDING.
11-married to ford Busi.
rene May Mrs Alrah
and Henry was per-sack at the ing Talcott
table and held in us were is-in various spacious pests. The
is one of eys of the of Bolding members
pany con-
and prom-men from Buffalo, N.
Albany,
dia, Pa.
n, Mass.
not many number of plaint ap-cial and anethist perilous. The ations is n simila
e other a, palms
eck was wedding
drawing ramp. The furnish-
by Mo-
the ma-
first sevtion, an-hampshire
pany of
of Han-Shenango
of Che-
of Rock-
low cars,
with gold ingues of yellow chrysanthemums. The bride was attired in a gown of white satin with point lace and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of choice flowers. The best man was W. S. Doll. The ushers were H. M. Peck, T. A. Bridgman of Peoria, and F. Ingram of Chicago and F. Rockville. The ceremony

AUSTRIAN ROYAL WEDDING.
Oct 24 1911
Archduke Karl Franz Josef Married to Princess Zita.

5

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT, 3

ADDRESS ZITA IS ABOUT THE NEW EMPRESS.

ABANDON PLANT OF COLUMBIA AUTO

Aug 23, 1913.
Well Motor Co., Owners
Stock, Closing Hartford
Automobile Plant.

END OF COLUMBIA
MOTOR CAR CO. HISTORY

Control Outgrowth of Electric Vehicle Co.,
Formed In 1897.

the whirring of its thousands of lines lushed; only a handful of left working, where 1,200 forwere employed, and unfinished and special machinery being
d, or crated, and shipped away.
variations are being completed
ely for the abandonment of the ant at the corner of Park and

HENRY W. NUCKOLS.

of Columbia Motor Car ny, Which is Nearing End of Its History.

Wife of Charles Francis Accomplished Musician and Dancer With CORONATION OF CHARLES IV

New King of Hungary Will Be Crowned After Funeral of PLANS FOR CORONATION
Dec 30 1916
King Charles Will Be Crowned in Budapest the 30th

Correspondence of Associated Press
ZURICH, Switz., December, 1916

According to present arrangemets, King Charles IV will be crowned in the Matthias church in Budapest on December 30. The ceremony will be of a most elaborate character and will follow the ritual of the coronation of Francis Joseph in 1867. The crown of St Stephen will be taken to the church on the previous afternoon. The coronation proceedings will begin at 8 o'clock in the morning and the king and queen will start from the palace at 9 o'clock.
The prince-primate of Hungary and the representative of the palatine will place the crown on the king's head,
after which the queen will be crowned.
The primate will just touch her right shoulder with the royal crown and the bishop of Vesprim will then place
the house crown on her head. After this the king will knight 12 pages with golden spurs.

The oath of allegiance to the new monarch will be taken on the Fischer bastion behind the church, and afterward a procession will be formed to St George's square, where, in front of the Honved ministry, the so-called "coronation mound," composed of earth
brought from every county in Hungary, has been built up. Standing on on this the king will wave his sword toward each of the four corners of the earth.

At the coronation dinner to be served afterward in the palace the king and queen will be waited upon by the lord high steward, Count Julius Czokinics, and the royal cup bearer, Prince Nicholas Esterhazy. The dishes will be handed round by members of both houses of Parliament. The crown and royal insignia will be exposed to public view in the Matthias church for three days after the coronation.

which his father was a victor in the battles at Aslero and Aslago in Italy.

the Siemens-Maske Electric Company
of Chicago, the Motor Vehicle Company of Elizabeth, N. J., and the Columbia Automobile Company (the automobile branch of the Pope Manufacturing Company) of this city. The company's product was distributed through a dozen subsidiary companies.
In 1900 the concern secured the entire capital stock of the Riker Motor Vehicle Company, thus getting control of valuable patent rights.

M. J. Budlong later became president of the company and was at its

TA
ress
n at
and

AL PAIR.

ible successor to the throne of Aus-Princess Zita of Parma, of the ike Otto and nephew of the heir
v to Emperor Francis Joseph. He and the 12th of a family of 19

on place, Los Angeles, be at home after De-berlin-Black. 25

n Black of New York Chamberlin of this city yesterday in New York.

recent death of the
ther, S. D. Chamberlin, hamberlin took no wed-returned last evening to will remain at the Ally.
heir home at No. 54
reet is ready for occu-

ed-
South
Wild in
city,
s at

BOOTH TARKINGTON'S WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Charges the Hoosier Literary Man With Cruelty and Wants Custody of Their Child.

Indianapolis, October 21.—Mrs.
Booth Tarkington, wife of the novelist

TARKINGTON HAS

PRA

Hoosier Wr Devotion
Divorce &

SURE THA
WAN'

New York,
not try to pre
suit for divor against me Booth Tarkit
wright, at th
ercy Park N Tarkington l
to get this d
be the part difficulties in file any ans defend the pl
plaint is, acc
patches, that than five

DeWITT C. SKILTON.

President of the Phoenix (Fire) Insur-
created MRS. BOOTH TARKINGTON

GETS HER DIVORCE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13.—A depree of absolute divorce today was granted in the superior court of this county to Mrs. Louisa Fletcher Tarkington, wife of Booth Tarkington,
the novelist and playwright. Mrs.
Tarkington had not asked for alimony.

In its decree the court said
the matter of compensation to Mrs.
Tarkington had been satisfactorily arranged in a private agreement. The custody of Mr. and Mrs. Tarkington's
5-years-old daughter is given to Mrs.
Tarkington, but Mr. Tarkington is permitted to have the child for one month each year and "at such other times as the court may approve after application has been made to it."

Mrs. Tarkington in her complaint had alleged that the defendant treated her with cruelty and that they had lived apart for the last several months.

After the decree of divorce was of record, Mrs. Tarkington made public through her lawyer, this signed statement:—

"In justice to both of us I will say that I fully acquit Mr. Tarkington of any intentional unkindness to me.
The differences between us are of temperament and habit, and after nine years of effort it is apparent to both of us that we cannot reconcile our views of life. The fact that we have not been able to come to the same viewpoint does not mean that either of us approves of divorce for any light reason."

Mrs. Tarkington is the daughter of the late Stoughton J. Fletcher, a wealthy banker and capitalist of this
city.

PRESIDENT SKILTON OF THE PHOENIX COMPLETES FIFTY YEARS.

On October 24, 1861, fifty years ago yesterday, DeWitt C. Skilton went to work with the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, having previously been a clerk with C. S. Weatherby, who kept a leading dry goods store. Today
Mr. Skilton is the president of the Phoenix (fire) Insurance Company with its capital of $2,000,000 and assets exceeding $10,000,000 and a leading position among the companies of the world. He enlisted in the Twenty-second C. V. in August, 1862, and after the war in December, 1867, he entered the service of the Phoenix as secretary. In 1888 he became vice-president, and in 1891, twenty years ago, he was made its president. The arrival of the fiftieth anniversary was known only to a few, but it was quietly celebrated in the company's office yesterday. The officers sent to the president fifty American Beauty
roses and the clerks gave him a clock, reminder that there was plenty of time left.

Mr. Skilton casually mentioned the fact on Monday that the following day would see him complete fifty years of insurance work and, unbeknown to him, the matter was quickly taken up by the office force. Yesterday morning he found a handsome clock with its mercury balanced pendulum on his desk with a fitting inscription while the officers of the company, as stated above, gave him fifty American Beauty roses. He was especially pleased with the clock saying, "I had rather have it than a peck of diamond pins."

During the day officials of other insurance companies came in to extend their congratulations, for the news of the anniversary had traveled. President Skilton announced that he wished the office force to assemble at 3:45 o'clock when he made a few remarks thanking them for the gift and telling him that they had touched him in a tender spot. He then described his first work with the Hartford Fire Insurance Company and closed by thanking them again for their remembrance of him.

No outsiders heard President Skilton's remarks save President W. B.
Clark of the Aetna (fire) Insurance Company, who had come in to offer his congratulations and was just in time to hear Mr. Skilton's words of thanks. President Skilton said later that President Clark is the only man in a Hartford insurance office who was in one the day he began work, but President Clark's period of service ante-dates President Skilton's by four years.

President Skilton, who is a native of Thomaston, was forced to leave school when 14 years old, owing to the death of his father, and secured work in a factory in his native town. He left there in April, 1855, when 16 years old and came to this city where he was employed by C. S. Weatherby & Co., whose store was at the corner of Main and Morgan streets. He remained there until, as has been said,
he entered the employ of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company as errand boy on October 24, 1861.

His record in the Twenty-second
C. V. has already been alluded to. On December 1, 1867, he was elected secretary of the Phoenix Insurance Company. In August, 1888, he was elected vice-president and acting president of the company and became its president in February, 1891. He has thus been with the company through all the great fires which have taxed the Hartford insurance companies from the Chicago fire to the conflagration and earthquake in San Francisco in 1906. It was whether pleased with his office for

Mathewson
Bride's

Special to The

The m

Thompson

Mathewson

Mathewson

R. I., too

nesday at bride's co

Enfield.

with palm

themums.

was arrang

of cedar b

Philharmonic

MORRISON

Thompson

Miss Flor

of Mr and

Rev Georg

The United

First and

Y., were

bride on C

Tuesday at

ceremony w

of the bride

ber of invit

sion formed

of the "Loh

James Morr

the bride, t

the front p

Tate, pastor

church of T

to perform

Presbyterian

The bride

Miss Edna

McClelland

groom, was gown of wh

mings of flet

bouquet of valley. The crepe de chin

mings of blu

carried a b

mums. The arch of oak built in the

The parlor w

floral dell,

leaves, chys

age, and the reception pa

During the

played select

eras. Immed

the reception

sisted by h

wedding dir

Springfield

number of g

Enfield high and since about five in the publ were prese New Brita from all pa

The Hartford Times.

Established as a Daily 1841.

Monday, June 9, 1913.

A HALF CENTURY IN INSURANCE.

JUNE 4, 1913.—24 PAGE

PRES'T. SKILTON OF PHOENIX RESIGNS

The Hartford Courant

JANUARY 2, 1914.

THE LATE D. W. C. SKILTON.

Resolutions of the Phoenix Insurance Directors.

At their meeting yesterday noon the directors of the Phoenix (fire) Insurance Company by a rising vote adopted the following minute upon the death of DeWit C. Skilton, chairman of the board and long-time president of the company:—

Mr. Skilton was born in Plymouth, Connecticut, on January 11, 1839. His death occurred at his residence in Hartford on the night of Friday, December 26, 1913.

In 1855 he removed from Litchfield county to Hartford, where he secured employment in a well-known mercantile establishment, a place he relinquished in October, 1861, to enter the employ of the Hartford Fire

A BRILLIANT RECEPTION.

Mrs C. H. Tenney and Miss Bertha Milliken Entertain. 23/19/11

The old Ely mansion in Longmeadow, now the home of Charles H. Tenney, never sent a more beautiful scene than that yesterday afternoon when Mrs Tenney and her sister, Miss Bertha Milliken, gave a reception from 4 to 6. From 300 to 400 invitations were issued and the lovely afternoon was favorable for a large response and the long line of automobiles down the Ely road indicated somewhat the number of guests, for whom the spacious rooms afforded ample accommodation. The decorations were by Ostermann & Steele, each room having a different color scheme, but all in harmony. The large, hospitable living-room Mrs. Tenney, Mrs. Tenney and Miss Bertha Milliken received the guests standing between banks of palms and ferns. The mantels were piled with cosmos and ferns and large bowls of yellow chrysanthemums about the room. In the drawing-room the decorations were green and red, principally of ferns, American beauty and larkspur roses. At the west end of the room the Holland trio enlivened the scene with many charming selections. The punch table at the east side of the room was sided over by Mrs William Kimball of Springfield and Mrs S. L. Barbour of Hartford.

The hall, as visitors entered, was much admired. On either side were several large baskets overflowing with trailing vines of scarlet berries, while brilliant red peonies peeped from behind their green leaves. At the further end of the hall bright low chrysanthemums made a cheery splash of golden color. The dining-room attracted a merry crowd. The Hotel Kimball red, serving a dainty and delicious luncheon. The table held a magnificent centerpiece, a basket in which orchids, violets, and flowers of the valley and maiden hair ferns were artistically arranged. The large bay windows were also banked with ferns, giving a pretty effect. Those pouring at table were Mrs Frederick Small and Mrs Charles O. Britton of Hartford and Mrs Truman David Cowles of West Hartford.

Of 26 - 1911 - Truman David Cowles and Miss Margaret Cecilia Curry Married.

In the presence of a large number of friends and relatives Miss Margaret Cecilia Curry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curry of No. 67 Congress street, and Truman David Cowles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman

Cowles of South Windsor, were married yesterday morning at the Church at 9 o'clock. The bride, Miss Anna McAlenney, was given away by her father, Mr. McAlenney, and the bridesmaid was Miss Anna Hayes. During the ceremony the late Thomas Curry of Congress street sang, "The Church's One Foundation," during the offering. The bride wore a blue suit of blue and white, with a blue hat with white ribbons. The bride's maid wore a white dress with a white sash. Following the ceremony the bride and groom had breakfast at the home of the bride. The bride's father, Mr. McAlenney, is a teacher in the Lawrence street school, and Mary and Theresa, students at St. Mary's college, South Bend, Ind.; also four brothers, William and Edward Curry, engaged in the real estate business in this city, and James and Thomas, students at Notre Dame university, South

COWLES—In this city, April 16, 1914, Margaret Curry, wife of Truman W. Cowles, funeral from the family home, West Hartford, Saturday morning at nine o'clock, with solemn requiem mass at St. Joseph's cathedral at half-past ten o'clock. Burial in Mt. St. Benedict cemetery.

Oct 26 Arnold-Beckley. 1911 -

Miss Etta Maria Beckley, older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Linus Beckley of No. 351 Wethersfield avenue, and Clifton Hall Arnold, only son of Probation Officer and Mrs. Frank A. Arnold of No. 118 Standish street, were married at the South Baptist Church at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Newton Lackey, acting pastor of the church, in the presence of many friends and relatives. The Episcopal form of service was used. The marriage was solemnized in St. Mary's Catholic church this morning at 9 o'clock in the presence of a very large assemblage of relatives and friends of the popular young couple. The Rev. Jeremiah Curtin, uncle of the bride and pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church in Waterbury, performed the marriage ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass following. A number of priests were present in the sanctuary.

The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, was played as the bride entered the church. Mayor Joseph M. James Curtin, brother of the groom, and Patrick M. a cousin of the bride, were in the aisle with Irene Cur who is a sister of the groom. The bride wore a white crepe duchesse lace and a white hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and a white bow tie. The ceremony was a beautiful messaline. She wore a white tulle hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were presented to the guests. The bride's father, Mr. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's father, Mr. C. H. Arnold, were present. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. H. Arnold, were also present. The ceremony was a beautiful messaline. She wore a white tulle hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were presented to the guests. The bride's father, Mr. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's father, Mr. C. H. Arnold, were present. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. H. Arnold, were also present.

The bride wore a white crepe duchesse lace and a white hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and a white bow tie. The ceremony was a beautiful messaline. She wore a white tulle hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were presented to the guests. The bride's father, Mr. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's father, Mr. C. H. Arnold, were present. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. H. Arnold, were also present.

A largely attended reception followed at the bride's parents' home. The bride and groom were surrounded by friends and relatives. The reception was a beautiful messaline. She wore a white tulle hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were presented to the guests. The bride's father, Mr. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's father, Mr. C. H. Arnold, were present. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. H. Arnold, were also present.

The bride and groom were surrounded by friends and relatives. The reception was a beautiful messaline. She wore a white tulle hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were presented to the guests. The bride's father, Mr. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's father, Mr. C. H. Arnold, were present. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. H. Arnold, were also present.

The bridegroom is a ring set with diamonds. His gift to the bride is a ring set with diamonds. The bride's gift to the groom is a ring set with diamonds. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. H. Arnold, were also present. The ceremony was a beautiful messaline. She wore a white tulle hat and carried a bouquet of white roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bride and groom were presented to the guests. The bride's father, Mr. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's father, Mr. C. H. Arnold, were present. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. A. Beckley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. C. H. Arnold, were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roche of Whitmore Street Receive Congratulations of Many Friends, To-Day.

Oct 27, 1911 -
NUMEROUS GIFTS OF SILVER

To-day is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roche of No. 99 Whitmore street, and they are observing it in a manner befitting so happy an occasion. They have been keeping open house all the afternoon and will continue this hospitable proceeding this evening. Scores of friends and neighbors have already called to tender congratulations and are expected to-night. No formal invitations were sent out, but Mr. and Mrs. Roche let it be known that everybody within their circle of relatives and friends and the neighbors would be welcomed. And they have been in a delightful way.

Mr. Roche is a native of Bloomfield and Mrs. Roche, who before marriage was Miss Minnie A. Carroll, was born in a house on Maple avenue not far from her present home. She is a sister of the late John A. Carroll, for many years of the town clerk's office. Mr. and Mrs. Roche were married at St. Peter's church on October 27, 1886, by the Rev. Charles McElroy, now pastor of St. Augustine's in Bridgeport. Of the ten children born to them six are living and intensely interested in to-day's anniversary celebration. They are Dr. John J. Roche, Jr., Carroll F., William T., Philip G., Paul J., and Gertrude Helen Roche.

MINISTER SHENG DEPOSED.

Oct 26, 1911 -

THRONE SURRENDERS PREMIER.

The Chinese throne surrendered yesterday to the Tzu Cheng Yuan, China's national Assembly, and in compliance with the demands of the Assembly dismissed Sheng Hsuan-Huai, minister of posts and communications; ordered Prince Ching, the president of the cabinet, before a board of inquiry, where he will doubtless be severely dealt with; released from custody the president of the Szechuen Provincial Assembly and other leaders in the riots at Chengtu, and, indeed, agreed to all that the Assembly asked, with a lack of dignity inconceivable to western observers. The edict in which these orders were promulgated has been read with regret by the foreigners, especially those who were associated with Sheng Hsuan-Huai in the negotiations for the loans and for reforms, which brought about his downfall.

A year ago the throne treated the National Assembly at times almost with contumacy. The ministers refused to appear before the Assembly, and the budget and other bills submitted to the Assembly for consideration were subsequently put aside for others more suitable to the palace and the grand councillors. Until even a month ago, the throne, defiant of the people, issued edicts embodying drastic measures, one of which in September was directed against the anti-foreign railway agitators in Szechuen.

Now the first resolution of the newly convened Assembly, carrying consequences of irremediable character, has been granted without a single day's consideration. Sheng Hsuan-Huai has been stripped of his rank; Prince Ching, the prime minister, and Na Tung and Hsu Shih-Chang vice-prime ministers, as well as several viceroys who only obeyed the throne's commands, have been handed over to an inferior board for consideration as to their guilt in causing the present rebellion, while

TONG A BOY IN SPRINGFIELD.

New Chinese Minister of Posts and Communications Studied in Public Schools—His Career—Two Nephews Now in the City.

The appointment of Tong Shao Yi to succeed Sheng Hsuan Huai as Chinese minister of posts and communications has an interest to Springfield people, since he came to this city as a boy a little over 35 years ago and spent a number of years here in his education under the care of E. C. Gardner of Atwater road. Four detachments of Chinese students were sent over by their government on successive years, beginning about 1870. These detachments were of 30 students each, and Tong Shao Yi was in the third detachment, coming to this country about 1873. He was not able to speak a word of English when he arrived and he was taught at the home of Mr Gardner until he knew enough of the language to attend the grammar school.

He studied in the Springfield schools, living with Mr Gardner until he was ready to enter high school, and then went to Hartford, Ct. At this time Hartford held the headquarters of the Chinese mission, and was a center for Chinese students. Tong Shao Yi studied at the Hartford public high school to prepare himself to enter college. This ambition was never realized, for about 1880, just as he was nearly ready to begin his university studies, the Chinese government decided that it was best to recall all the students who had been sent over. Some of those in the earlier detachments entered college, and these were to finish their courses. As a having been in a later detachment Shao Yi had not yet entered. It is frequently stated that he attended university and even that he graduated, but this is a mistake. Some of the students in the recalled detachments turned to America afterward, but Shao Yi was not among them and never entered an American college.

He was advanced rapidly in the military service, and was the immediate successor of Sheng Hsuan-Huai, who now to succeed as minister of communications. About three years ago he came to the United States as a special envoy of his government to the president for the return to China of the Chinese indemnity. At this time he spent a week in Springfield with Mr Gardner, his former patron. It was during this absence from his country that the empress of China died and a change of rulers occurred, with an attendant changing of the government officials. Yuan Shi Kai, with whom Tong Shao-Yi was closely associated as a reformer, was degraded at this time. Tong Shao-Yi held his post until his return to China, when he was deposed. Since that time he has held no important government position until he entered on his present one.

He has five nephews in this country now, who have come here during the past eight years. Three of them came eight years ago, and are now students under the guardianship of the government. Two others came three years ago and are now in Springfield, under the care of Mr Gardner, although not living with him. Two daughters of Tong Shao Yi have also been in this country for the past year, and have been staying with Mr Gardner at his home until last month, when they left to return to China.

A daughter, Marion Collins, was born Friday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew G. Ely of New York. Mrs. Ely is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atwood Collins of this city.

NOVEMBER 30, 1913.

ELLY—In this city, Friday, January 18, 1918, a son to Lieut. and Mrs. Matthew G. Ely of 81 Gillett street.

Washington, October 26.—Tang Shao-Yi, who succeeds Sheng, the deposed Chinese minister of posts and communications, is a graduate of Yale university, and is well-known in this country. He came to the United States as the special envoy of his government to thank the president for the return to China of a portion of the Chinese indemnity. He is both the immediate predecessor and the successor of Sheng Hsuan-Huai as minister of posts and communications. Tang Shao-Yi has risen rapidly in the government service. He was made governor of Mukden in 1903.

ELY-COLLINS—The marriage of Miss Marion Atwood Collins, daughter of Atwood Collins of this city, and Matthew Griswold Ely of New York city, took place at the Asylum Hill Congregational Church at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 28, 1913.

New York Man Takes a Hartford Bride.

Miss Marion Atwood Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atwood Collins of Asylum avenue, and Matthew Griswold Ely of New York, son of Mrs. Horace S. Ely, were married at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon before near relatives and invited friends at the Asylum Hill Congregational Church by the pastor, Rev. Joseph H. Twichell. Immediately following the ceremony, the attendants at the wedding withdrew to the home of the bride, where was held the wedding reception. Mr. and Mrs. Ely departed Saturday afternoon. After an extended journey they will make their home at No. 235 West 75th street, New York. They will be "at home" after January 1. They will travel for three or four weeks. Mr. Ely is a son of the late Horace S. Ely, who was engaged in a large real estate business in New York, which the son has entered, and is connected with the well-known Griswold family of the state.

The church and the home of the bride were ornate with smilax and white chrysanthemums. The bride wore white satin and carried white orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Eleanor Collins, one of the bride's sisters, was maid of honor. She wore pink chiffon over pink satin, and a hat of pink tulle. She carried a bouquet of Taft roses. Horace G. Ely, a brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Trowbridge of New Haven, Miss Kathryn Shultz of Kingston, N. Y., Miss Emily Collins of Hartford, a sister of the bride, Miss Marjorie Howe of Hartford, Miss Sarah Dunham of Hartford, and Miss Ruth Collins of Hartford, a cousin of the bride. They wore shaded pink satin gowns and pink tulle hats. They carried baskets holding pink Killarney roses and lavender orchids.

The ushers were Donald Goodrich of Minneapolis, Minn., Southgate Freeman of Morristown, N. J., John Wells of Providence, R. I., Havens Grant of New York, Loomis Havemeyer of Hartford and William Hamersley of Miss Marjorie Howe was hostess at a luncheon given for the bridal party in Hartford Golf club at 1:30 Friday afternoon. At 7:30 in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Atwood Collins gave a dinner for the bridal party in the Hartford club. The groom is a graduate of the Sheffield Scientific school in the class of 1911 and is a connection of the well known Griswold family of Connecticut.

A son was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Ely, of New York. Mrs. Ely was formerly Miss Marion Collins, of this city, and with Mr. Ely spent much of the summer at Old Lyme and Black Hall, where they have a new country home.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1916.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1922

New Britain, October 28.—The marriage of Theodore George Natzke, of 411 South Main street and Miss May Elizabeth Stoddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Stoddard of 64 Seymour street, took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the bride's home. A large assemblage of relatives and friends of the popular young couple were present. The Rev. Henry W. Maier, pastor of the Center Congregational church, officiated at the nuptials. The bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Bessie Stoddard as maid of honor and Miss Nettie Stoddard as bridesmaid. Albert Natzke, a brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Leon Cowles, a cousin of the bride; Wilbur Stoddard, the bride's brother, and Lewis W. Lloyd.

As the bridal party entered the living room in which the ceremony took place the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Ethelyn Fairbanks. She rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march softly during the ceremony and for the recessional. The ceremony took place beneath a beautiful arch of yellow and white chrysanthemums and ferns. The color scheme of the decorations in the living room was yellow and white, chrysanthemums being used in abundance. In the parlor, where the wealth of handsome gifts were displayed, the color scheme was pink and white, roses being effectively used.

The bride's gown was white satin, trimmed with pearls. She carried a handsome bouquet of Killarney roses. The maid of honor wore white silk mulle, trimmed with duchess lace and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore white marquissette over yellow silk and carried white chrysanthemums.

The reception will follow until 7 o'clock and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Natzke will leave on an extended automobile tour, Washington, D. C., being their destination. They will go in Former Mayor George M. Landers's automobile, which has been placed at their disposal, Mr. Natzke being the chauffeur for Mayor Landers for several years.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful diamond pendant. The gift to the maid of honor was a turquoise ring and to the bridesmaid a beautiful brooch. The gift to the best man was a set of diamond studded cuff links and to the ushers stick pins.

The wedding gifts were numerous and costly. Former Mayor and Mrs. George M. Landers presented a large cedar chest, filled with imported linen. There were about 150 pieces in the collection. Several pieces of gold and checks for $150 were noticed. Haviland china tea and chocolate sets, cut glass water sets and separate pieces of cut glass and an abundance of silverware attracted notice. The girls in the office of the North & Judd Manufacturing company, where the bride was a clerk, presented a handsome easy chair. Several valuable pieces of furniture were included.

After their wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Natzke will reside on Roberts street, where they have a home already furnished.

Attendants Married at Noon.

Lewis W. Lloyd and Miss Bessie Alice Stoddard, who were to be attendants at the Natzke-Stoddard nuptials this afternoon, surprised their friends to-day by taking out a marriage license this morning and by being married at the First church parsonage at noon by the Rev. Henry W. Maier. They succeeded for a few hours in keeping their intentions secret. The event was a surprise to some of the members of the bride's family. As the bride is only 19 years of age it was necessary to obtain the consent of the bride's mother. It was secured and was attached to the marriage license. When the reporter called up the Stoddard home on the telephone, one of the bride's sisters was amazed and puzzled. She took the matter as a joke, and when she questioned her mother regarding the permission being given failed to get a satisfactory answer. The young couple planned to keep their marriage a complete secret until after the Natzke-Stoddard wedding, when they proposed to inform the assembled guests that they would be pleased to accept their congratulations. Mr. Lloyd, in securing his marriage license, forgot to request the withholding of the information of the fact until later, and in that way the fact became known. Mr. Lloyd is the superintendent of the Boys' club in this city, having come here about a year ago from Germantown, Penn. He is a native of London, Eng., and is 31 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd will join Mr. and Mrs. Natzke on their wedding tour to Washington, leaving this evening. They were attended by Miss Louise Andrus and Leon Cowles. The bride wore a blue traveling suit and the bridesmaid a gray gown.

Mr. Natzke is one of the best known local chauffeurs. He has a large circle of friends. He has been in ex-Mayor Landers's employ for several years.

Ed—Burnham-Newton 28/194

Raymond M. Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Burnham of Southbridge, Mass., and Miss Majorie Ludington Newton, daughter of Charles E. Newton of No. 19 Marshall street, who is treasurer of the Jewell Beiting Company, were married at noon Saturday at the South Congregational church.

Friday and Saturday afternoons Rev. Dr. E. here mother. Mrs. Bernard T. Williams introduced her mother, Mrs. Bernard T. Williams, to Hartford society. Two receptions were given, Mrs. Williams introducing her daughter on each occasion, while a number of debutantes of this season and last assisted at the tea table. The house was simply but attractively decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. On Thursday afternoon those who assisted at the tea table were the Misses Eleanor Bulkeley, Louise Roberts, Emily Collins, Katherine Cooke and Elinor Brewster. On Friday afternoon the young ladies who assisted were the Misses Julia Allen, Eliza Cheney, Helen St. John, Esther Lyman, Bertha Lyman and Beatrice Cooke. Mrs. Williams will give a small dance for her daughter at her home on Friday evening, November 7. Miss Frances Williams is the third daughter of Mr. Williams who has made her bow to Hartford society. Miss Elizabeth Trumbull Williams was a popular debutante two years ago and Miss Margaret Williams has been popular in society for several seasons. Miss Frances Williams is the first debutante of the season, though she is one of several to come out this year. Burnham is a graduate of the class of 1909. Mr. and Mrs. Burnham will live at No. 10 Summer street, Southbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin P. Hewitt of Mystic have sent out invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Sarah Louise, to Colonel Attmore Arnold Tucker of Providence, R. I. The wedding will take place at Pequotsepos, Saturday, October 28, at 1:30. Miss Hewitt belongs to one of Mystic's oldest families, having for several years taught school in New London. Colonel Tucker is one of the famous bachelor staff of former Governor Higgins of Rhode Island and is one of the best known young men in his state. He is connected with the Hope Webbing company of Pawtucket being one of the owners and acting as its purchasing agent.

Mrs. Fairbairn Weds Capt. Stewart.
Springfield, Oct. 31, 1911

A wedding of considerable local interest took place in Boston yesterday at high noon. Mrs. Robert B. Fairbairn, a sister of Mrs. Henry M. Phillips and Miss Amy Alexander of the bride of Capt. Bernard T. Williams of No. 15 Woodland street has issued cards for the ceremony taking place at her youngest daughter, Miss Frances Welch Williams, on Thursday, October 30, and relatives and a day, October 31, from 4 until 7 p.m.

at West Point, Mass. Miss Frances Welch Williams, 28, and resigned her position at the West Point, N. Y., academy, where she was introduced to some of the Philippines, on Thursday and Friday afternoons. She had served in the Philippines. Mrs. Williams gave the reception at her home, 15 Woodland street, yesterday afternoon for the coming out of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Trumbull Williams. The second reception comes this afternoon.

Oct 1911
No. 15 Woodland street, yesterday afternoon for the coming out of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Trumbull Williams. The second reception comes this afternoon.

Oct 30 Gunn-Mullen. 1911
William F. Gunn, jr., son of Chief of Police William F. Gunn and Mrs. Gunn, and Miss Nellie A. Mullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullen of No. 42 Cone street, were married in St. Joseph's Cathedral yesterday morning. Mr. Gunn was graduated from Rockville.

McLEAN-ROWLEY WEDDING.
Oct 31 1911
Prominent Rockville Girl Becomes Wife of Hartford Physician.

A society wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. McLean on Pleasant street last evening, when their daughter, Miss Clara Bell McLean, was married to Dr. Robert Lee Rowley of Hartford. Prominent Rockville people were present, with guests from Hartford, Boston, New York, Manchester and other cities, about 175 in all. The residence was decorated with autumn foliage, palms, plants and a lavish display of choice flowers, with brilliant electrical illuminations. The ushers were Dr. E. A. Wells of Hartford and Charles R. McLean of Rockville.

Thou hast the sheen, where the sun shines
Thou hast the light of the morning dew
Give me of thy glory, oh red tree!
Give me of thy glory, oh red tree!
[The Boston Transcript.]

RED LETTER DAYS.

In memento see thee:
She's welcomed him, Child Dyring,
And his young bride him w.
Now joys attend Child Dyring,
Sae leal but and sae bold;
His bride here to his castle,
His bride here to his castle,
(His leave the page takes to-day frae his master.)

WISE-BALLERSTEIN.
Oct 31 1911
Dinner and Reception Follow Wedding at Hotel Garde.

Miss Irma Regina Ballerstein, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ballerstein of No. 44 Sumner street, and Nathan Wise of New York were married last evening at 6 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry W. Ettelson of the Congregation Beth Israel in the pink parlor of the Hotel Garde.

DR. R. L. ROWLEY NOW

Feb 1 1913
WITH PHOENIX LIFE
He Became Associate Medical Inspector on February 1.

To meet the increased work and responsibility of its medical department, the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company has added the services of Dr. Robert Lee Rowley, who on February 1 became associate medical director of the company. Dr. Rowley's work now supplements that of Dr. W. D. Morgan and Dr. E. R. Lampson in the medical department of the company.

Dr. Robert Lee Rowley.

Dr. Rowley was born in Bloomfield, August 15, 1879, and is a graduate of the Hartford High School and the Yale Medical School, having been of the class of 1903 in the latter institution. He is at present assistant attending physician at the Hartford Hospital and has been for several years medical director of the Hartford Life Insurance Company. It is likely that during the year he will visit some of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company agencies and thus "become acquainted."

His grandfather was a chaplain in the navy and his great-grandfather was commissary-general on Washington's staff in the Revolution.

Miss Henshaw, sister of pink satin ice. She d's roses. d of New attended f the two e friends. he bridal the pro-subdued ony, and arch" for as served mediatly he color ningroom ite. From pink and open for ns were ally from 'congrat-he bride-ride was - mother, e, shaded lace and he recep- gave a l by the ar C. Bal-stein of ride, and York, a

HISTORY ON BLUE CHINA

Early American Scenes and Heroes Immortalized in Pottery

People interested in old china will greet with enthusiasm Ada Walker Camehl's volume "The Blue-China Book" (E. P. Dutton & Co; $5). It is a large and showy volume, and there are over 200 fine half-tones in color, illustrating the plates, platters, pitchers, etc., which are described in the text. Mrs. Camehl has not presented blue china here indiscriminately, but has specialized on Staffordshire historical pottery and in this field has further limited herself to early American history. It is a book that will delight the general reader as well as the collector. While dealing with blue china, the author has often let in a picture of red or mulberry or black pieces, without detriment to the theme.

The volume consists mainly of two parts, a tour of the country and five leading cities, and the nation's builders and their work. Besides these 15 chapters, there are three more called supplementary, the first of which describes and illustrates quite fully the collection of presidential china in the White House, while the third takes up the famous willow pattern and some other important blue series. After a short tour of the young nation's domain, the reader is taken successively to "the crooked but interesting town of Boston," old New York, the Philadelphia of Penn and Franklin, early Baltimore and Washington, the new capital.

The second part begins with Columbus, the Pilgrims and Penn, then Washington and the Revolution are shown, Franklin and his precepts, Lafayette's visit, naval heroes, the Erie canal, the new railroads, etc. The chapter on the presidential china is one of the most interesting. The public is probably aware of the custom of refurnishing the White House for each new occupant, and it is interesting to note the changing fashions of a century or more in table porcelains. At last a satisfactory design destined to some permanence was installed by Mrs. Roosevelt and continues in use to this day.

The text of the volume is, within its limits, a handbook of American history, and the antiquarian will find much of interest preserved here in the verses and other inscriptions that adorn the pottery under consideration. The publishers have co-operated well with the author in making a book that is a delight to the artistic sense in every respect.

A Boston Wedding of Interest in Oct 31, Springfield, 1911

The wedding of Mrs Edith Alexander Fairbairn and Capt Cecil Stewart at Boston yesterday has a special interest for Springfield, being the wedding of a prominent family. The ceremony took place at the home of Mrs. Fairbairn, 451 Beacon street, and was attended by a large number of intimate friends. The bride and groom were married in the parlor, which was decorated with flowers and greenery. The bride wore a white gown and the groom a dark suit. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. A. Jump. The guests included Mrs. Fairbairn's family, the Stewarts, and many friends. The reception was held in the dining room, where a large number of guests were entertained. The bride and groom left for their honeymoon trip on Monday morning.

The guests following: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Jump, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bowles, his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bowles, Sherman H. Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kirkham, Mr. and Mrs. George Dwight Pratt and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Chamberlain of this city, Arthur F. Dakin of Amherst, Dr. and Mrs. Suter of New Castle, N. H., and Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Billerica.

REV. H. A. JUMP.

New Britain, October 2.—The Rev. Herbert A. Jump, pastor of the South Congregational church, will probably leave New Britain. A telegram was received by the Rev. Mr. Jump this morning, extending to him a call to the pastorate of the First Congregational church at Oakland, Cal.

A special meeting of the members of the church at Oakland was held Sunday, 300 members being present, and it was unanimously voted to extend the call to the Rev. Mr. Jump. The Rev. Mr. Jump stated, since receiving the telegram, that he has not come to a decision in regard to the extended call. It is expected, however, that he will accept, as the charge is a very important one. During the summer the Rev. Mr. Jump supplied the pulpit in the Oakland church for three Sundays and it was not a supply in the capacity of a candidate. Since returning east a number of letters have been exchanged between prominent members of the church and the Rev. Mr. Jump.

The First Congregational church of Oakland is one of the best-known churches in the denomination. It ranks fifth in size, being surpassed by Plymouth church and two other churches in Brooklyn, and by the First church of Los Angeles. Its membership is nearly 2,000. The Sunday-school numbers nearly 1,100. There are a Chinese church and a mission Sunday-school also connected with the church. The young men and boys have a large armory used for drills and athletics. The Men's league numbers 250 men and includes many of the leading men in public life around

San Francisco Bay. The annual expense and benevolent budget averages about $35,000. But its uniqueness comes more from its influence in the community than from its size. No pulpit in the denomination has a more outspoken liberal than was Dr. Charles R. Brown, who resigned last winter and is now dean of Yale Divinity school. A modern in theology and in social method he built up a following that used to fill the church with two audiences aggregating 3,000 people every Sunday. He was a fraternal member of the trades' unions in Oakland, and not long ago a printers' strike was averted by arbitration, in the course of which Dr. Brown was the representative of the laboring men and the hearings were held in the chapel of his church. At the time of the San Francisco earthquake this church became a beehive of industry and thirty sewing machines were buzzing in the sacred edifice on the Sabbath. During two pastorates aggregating forty years, this church has stood in the forefront on all matters of civic interest. During the graft persecutions a few years ago it was almost the only large church that opened its doors to Heney, the prosecuting attorney, and listened to his plea for civic righteousness.

The nearness of the University of California in Berkeley with 3,000 students has made this pulpit in many respects a college pulpit. The democracy of the church organization is shown, though, by the fact that no one pays more than $100 a year toward the church expenses, the millionaire and the working man sit side by side.

Friends of Rev. Herbert A. Jump, the retiring pastor of the South Church, presented him, Saturday night with a testimonial album, containing the names of several hundreds of his friends, including prominent citizens, city officials, members of the Commonwealth Club and the Fortnightly Club. Superintendent of Schools Stanley H. Holmes took the album to Mr. Jump's home and gave it to him on behalf of the signers. The introductory penmanship in the book was the artistic work of Professor J. C. Moody, instructor in the public schools.

Gift to the Rev. Mr. Jump.

The members of the Persian Assyrian Brotherhood of the South church have presented the Rev. Herbert A. Jump, the retiring pastor, with a handsome loving cup. The cup stands ten inches high and is of handsome design with stag handles. It is engraved by Ephraim Jones of Waltham, Mass., a former South church Sunday-school boy with the words "Presented to Rev. H. A. Jump by the Persians of New Britain, November 3, 1911."

Resignation of Mr. Jump

The resignation of the Rev. Herbert A. Jump as pastor of the South church, was read at the morning service on Sunday. The resignation will take effect on Sunday, November 12. The Rev. Albert J. Lord of the First church of Meriden read the resignation. Mr. Jump, he said, had been a close friend of his, and he did not like to see him depart. He said that the call was to the largest Congregational church on the Pacific coast. The resignation was listened to with great regret by the members of the South church, who realize that Mr. Jump is one of the ablest men that has been pastor of the church. The letter of resignation follows:

in this in doing
ever, we record our teem for him, both as a pastor and in our personal relations with him. We realize in severing the relations the church is losing an ardent and zealous pastor who has striven to do what he considered best for the general good of the church. The city is being deprived of a citizen always on the alert
for its welfare and one who has done much to elevate the standard of Christian living among its people.

"While we rejoice in all the good he has accomplished we shall ever pray
that the blessing of God may attend him in his future work and a wider field may be opened to him and still larger usefulness be accorded him."

The following were appointed to act
with the committee from the church in calling a council, W. H. Hart, H.
Dayton Humphrey and C. E. Wetmore.

To members of the South Church and Society.

Dear Sirs: Two years ago your pastor came to New Britain to assume the leadership of the South Congregational church. He now resigns that responsibility in order that he may be free to accept an invitation to become leader of the First Congregational church in Oakland, Cal. If agreeable to you, the resignation will take effect Sunday, November 12, 1911, and he requests that before that date a council may be called in accordance with the usage of our church, to take under formal consideration the severance of the pastoral relation.

The years of this pastorate in New Britain have been busy, varied and profitable years. He has tasted the pastoral joys of near fellowship with little children; of intimate and deep conversation with souls in sorrow, distress and loneliness; and of welcoming into the life of the church with Christian hospitality persons who came to the city as strangers. He has known the satisfaction of attempting to interpret in the pulpit the mind of the Master as an inspiration to the religious life of the church and to the social and civic life of the community; and he has discovered how many and how new are the avenues of service that open up before the Christian church in these days whenever it obeys the command of Jesus, "Go ye into all the world," and moves with sacrificial and helpful ministry into the needy regions of society.

He has rejoiced in the opportunity of serving the poor and the alien and the common people who heard Christ gladly; and the affection which many such seem to bear him he carries away as one of the most precious rewards of his ministry. He has come to know the modern business world with its moral and industrial problems better than he ever knew it before; and he has found that there are men, both employers and employees, who are diligently studying these problems in

Quick Rise of Mr. Jump.

(Boston Transcript.)

His selection of the Rev. Herbert A. Jump to be pastor of the Congregational church at Oakland, Cal., to succeed the Rev. Charles R. Brown, now pastor of the Yale Divinity school, was the rather quick rise of a minister in the last few years. Mr. Jump was formerly pastor of the church in Brunswick, Me., where Bowdoin College is situated. He was then transferred to New Britain, Conn., where he is. Mr. Jump has long been a contributor to the Transcript on various subjects. One of his articles on "The Trees of Bowdoin College" attracted considerable attention, particularly because by a curious freak of the printer the article under that title was on an altogether different subject, a calamity that occurs even in the best regulated newspaper office. Mr. Jump has the best of qualifications for the new position, even so able and brilliant a man, and devoted a minister as the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Jump.

As he faced rapidly increasing problems in the parish, he now willingly relinquishes his pastorate to another; and he is confident that any work of his which

Rev. Mr. Jump's Career.

Rev. Mr. Jump is a man who has made rapid strides forward in the ministry. He was graduated from Amherst College in 1896, and from Yale Theological Seminary in 1899. He first preached at Hamilton, N. Y., and then went to Brunswick, Maine, both university towns. He won a wide reputation as a college preacher. He came to this city two years ago from Brunswick. He has taken an active part in civic affairs during his short stay in this city. He was the moving spirit in the Burritt celebration, which attracted widespread attention, and he was the starter and prime mover in the Spotless Town crusade. He occupied the pulpit at the Oakland Church in August, as a vacation supply, and his call to the pastorate follows.

Resignation of Rev. Mr. Jump Accepted. 1911.

The members of the South church held a meeting Sunday afternoon at 3:30 to act on the resignation of the Rev. Herbert A. Jump from his duties as pastor of the South church on First Congregational church at Oakland, Cal. The meeting was called to order by Deacon D. N. Rogers. In the absence of Clerk George S. Talcott, who was detained at home because of illness in the family, J. Herbert Wilson was elected clerk. Deacon D. N. Camp was elected moderator. The resignation of the Rev. Herbert A. Jump as pastor of the church was read. It was voted to accept it.

The following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, The Rev. Herbert A. Jump has tendered his resignation as minister of this church to become pastor of a larger church and to enter upon a more extended field of labor; be it therefore,

"Resolved, That we as a church accept his resignation and extend to him our best wishes for his eminent success and abounding happiness in his new position and pray the Lord of the vineyard to bless him and his family and crown his ministry with abundant fruit."

It was voted to appoint a committee to call a council to release the Rev. Herbert A. Jump with his duties as pastor of the South church on November 12. The committee appointed was Deacon D. N. Camp, chairman; J. Herbert Wilson and E. B. Eddy. The matter of supplying the pulpit after the resignation of Mr. Jump and until a new pastor is appointed was left with the standing committee. The matter of appointing a committee to look up a new pastor was discussed at length. C. E. Steele said that he thought that the committee should look up a man for pastor of the church and that he should preach here before he is elected pastor. He said that a large majority of the members of the church were in favor of this plan. He said that the Rev. Dr. O. S. Davis and the Rev. Herbert A. Jump thought that the pastor of a church should be elected by the people instead of by a committee. In the past a committee has gone out and selected the pastor and the church has approved this action. The members of the church feel that this is not the right plan and prefer a change in the future. Some of the members present said that they thought it would be difficult to get a man here to preach as a candidate. The matter was discussed and at length it was finally voted not to take up the matter of securing a new pastor until the resignation of the Rev. Herbert A. Jump takes effect.

Meeting of Ecclesiastical Society.

At the close of the church meeting at the South church Sunday afternoon a meeting of the Ecclesiastical society was held. H. Dayton Humphrey presided and called the meeting to order. The resignation of the Rev. Herbert A. Jump as pastor was accepted and the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, the Rev. Herbert A. Jump, pastor of the South church, having tendered his resignation to this church and society to take effect November 12, 1911, in order to accept a call from a large and influential church in the far west,

"Resolved, that we, the South Congregational society, in compliance with his request unite with the church in calling an ecclesiastical council to consider the expediency of dissolving the pastoral relation, and that a com-

NOVEMBER 13, 1911.—18 PAC

REV. MR. JUMP

BOMB
SERMON,REV. H. A. JUMP
BECOMES WORKER
IN BIG SHIPYARD

AUGUST 12, 1918.

Says Some People Have to Disc Former New Britain Minister Investigates Conditions in War Industrial Plants.SOME OF THE DISAGRSays Polite
With Clergy
and Boy

Dr. Parker

When the Rev. M. from New Britain on his journey across take up his new duties Cal., parish, he carried an album in which several of the South church spirited testimonial Edwin Pond Parker have been given space in this

Rev. Mr. J. A. Resc...

Rev. Herbert Atchison, formerly of New Britain, stalled as pastor of the congregational Church, Mr. H., the largest body of nation in the state. clergymen and delegates the installing council. Fitch of Andover Seminary the sermon. 1917.

Rev. Herbert A. Jump of Manchester, N. H., one of the leading Congregationalist ministers in New England and for three years pastor of the South Congregational Church in New Britain, has crashed into the foreground of the news once more by effecting a metamorphosis by which he has become a mechanic in the Fore River, Mass., plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company. Mr. Jump continued the role of workingman until he was found out by an acquaintance who was employed by the company. Since his "exposure" Mr. Jump has been declaring that his experience will make him able to do more thorough and effective Christian work than he has done at any time in his ministerial career.

Mr. Jump was selected by the wartime council of churches, representing eighteen Protestant denominations with a membership of more than 2,000,000, to ascertain the real condition of workers in war industries and to make a complete report of his findings to the council, declares the "Boston Herald." It is understood that Mr. Jump would have continued to work at the Fore River plant if he could have been successful in concealing his identity. Mr. Jump also did some investigating in shipyards along the Pacific coast.

He discovered that all nationalities were represented among the employees. He came to the conclusion that he should get into a closer touch with the men. With this purpose in view he applied for and obtained a situation at the Fore River plant. He was at once set to work as a helper in the steel mill at forty cents an hour for eight hours and sixty cents an hour for overtime. He donned overalls and jumpers and became a full-fledged shipworker, receiving orders from Irish, Italian, Scotch and American bosses.

"All of these men," says Mr. Jump, "were white men." He continued working at the yard until his identity became known, when one day while he was at the office he was recognized by an official of the company through whose courtesy he had been enabled to inspect the two plants.

Rev. Mr. Jump, in relating his experience at the plant, says: "I do not

Rev. Mr. Jump Dismissed as Pastor.

Rev. Herbert A. Jump was dismissed as pastor of the South Church by the Ecclesiastical Council held for that purpose yesterday afternoon at the church. Sixteen pastoral and lay delegates were in attendance, representing the churches of this city and vicinity. Rev. David B. Hubbard of Westfield called the council to order and Rev. S. A. Fiske of Berlin was chosen clerk. Rev. Mr. Hubbard was elected moderator. George S. Talcott, clerk of the South Church, read the minutes of the meeting at which Rev. Mr. Jump's resignation was accepted. Clerk H. Dayton Humphrey read the records of the South Congregational Society. Each spoke in appreciation of the work of Rev. Mr. Jump during his pastorate in this city. Rev. Mr. Jump spoke briefly explaining that his resignation was presented to accept a call from the First Congregational Church of Oakland, Cal., and he touched on the work which he expected to do there.

The council then moved to be by itself. A roll was called and each of the delegates responded with words of praise for Rev. Mr. Jump and expressions of good will towards him in his new field of work. A motion was then passed to approve of the resignation and that his pastoral relations be dissolved November 12.

Rev. H. W. Maier, Rev. A. J. Lord of Meriden and Rev. S. A. Fiske of Berlin were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions. They reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:—

Whereas, Rev. Herbert A. Jump has resigned the pastorate of the South Church of New Britain to accept a call to the First Congregational Church of Oakland, Cal., and whereas, the resignation has been accepted by the Church and Society and the action approved by the advisory council, therefore, be it resolved:

That we commend most heartily his earnest and devoted labors as pastor of the South Church of New Britain. Faithful in the discharge of his pastoral duties, efficient in his pulpit work, he has been quick to recognize the unique opportunity of the South Church in this city and has undertaken to lead the church in a broad policy of social service.

We would express our appreciation of his interest and influence in this community. He has had a wide vision of the work that belongs properly to church in relation to the community and has constantly worked to make the Church of Christ potent in social affairs.

He has been willing to blaze a path through the intricate problems that confront modern industrial conditions and his faith has not faltered as he has led the hosts forward. He has made himself the friend and helper of all classes and conditions of society.

We also desire to express our regard for Mr. Jump as a man of genial nature and cordial christian spirit, one whose personal influence is felt in all the churches of the conference.

To the ministers, he is a brother beloved; to the laymen a man of rich interests and deep sympathies. We, therefore, heartily commend him to the confidence of the churches into whose circle his labors lead him, praying that God's spirit may attend him in all his efforts. We commend the South Church to the father's care, trusting that in his own good time a pastor may be found, who will continue to lead this church in the activities for the extension of the Kingdom of God.

Nov 1911
Middleton

SPRINGFIELD, THURSDAY, NOV. 2, 1911
SCOTT-WINTER WEDDING.

Well-Known Springfield Young People United in a Pretty Home Ceremony.

A wedding of wide social interest took place last evening at the home of Mrs. William Calkins Scott, 65 Ingersoll grove, when her only daughter, Miss Marguerite Scott, became the bride of Dwight Randall Winter, younger son of Newrie D. Winter. The ceremony was performed at 7.30, Rev. A. P. Record officiating, and the bridal party stood before a bank of palms, with which large pink chrysanthemums were mingled. At either side of the bank of palms a huge basket of the blossoms, tied with pink chiffon, was placed. Located in the hall behind a screen, the Philharmonic orchestra played the wedding marches and also played during the reception.

At 7.30, to the music of the "Lohengrin" bridal chorus, the bride, who was given in marriage by her older brother, Alfred Day Scott, descended the broad staircase, preceded by her four attendants. She was gowned in ivory white charmeuse satin, cut with a long square train and trimmed with the duchess lace which had adorned her mother's wedding gown. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and wore the groom's gift, a crescent of pearls and diamonds. Mrs. Ralph S. Graves, who was attended by the bride of yesterday at her wedding a year ago, was the matron of honor. She wore her wedding dress of white satin, trimmed with duchess lace. The maid of honor was Miss Mary Ripley, a cousin of the bride. Her gown was of salmon pink satin veiled with pink and white chiffon and trimmed with bands of pearl and crystal. She carried pink chrysanthemums. The two bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Sherwood of this city and Miss Jennie Cook of Brooklyn, wore gowns of salmon pink satin veiled with pink chiffon, and trimmed with gold and white lace. They carried white chrysanthemums. The ushers were Arthur Williams, Henry Sandman, Ralph S. Graves and Fred Howe of

A reception was held after the ceremony, the mother of the bride, Mrs. William C. Scott, and the groom's father, N. D. Winter, assisting Mr. and Mrs. Winter in receiving. Mrs. Scott wore a gown of black and white striped chiffon over white satin, with trimmings of lace and velvet bands. There were 125 guests present, the invitations having been limited to the relatives and close friends of the bride and groom. A wedding supper was served, Barr catering, and the dining-room was decorated with pink carnations, a mound of carnations and ferns forming the centerpiece. A beautiful display of gifts with which the young couple had been remembered by their friends was shown in a room on the second floor. The house at 36 Buckingham street, where they are to make their home, was furnished for them by Mr. Winter, the father of the groom.

Both the bride and groom have always lived in Springfield and both are graduates of the central high school, the bride in the class of 1906 and the groom in 1907. Mrs. Winter, who was graduated from Smith college in 1910, is the granddaughter of A. D. Day, who was well known among the older generation and was one of the firm of Day & Jobson, lumber dealers. The groom is in business with his father, Newrie D. Winter, the real estate dealer. Mr. and Mrs. Winter eluded their friends in an automobile at about 9.30 for a wedding trip of two 6d Luncheon For Miss Beaumont.

Mrs. J. William Roberts gave a luncheon at her home on Main street yesterday noon in honor of Miss Maude Beaumont, who will be married next month to Harry E. Pennell of Portland, Me. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being gold and white. Following the luncheon there was an apron shower for Miss Beaumont and later bridge was played. Habenstein catered.

Among those present in addition to Mrs. Roberts and Miss Maude Beaumont, were Mrs. William W. Trapp of Hartford, Miss Clara Beaumont, Mrs. Eugene O. Peabody, Mrs. Frederick T. B. Moore, Mrs. J. Frank Cowles, and Mrs. Arthur D. Johnson of Hartford. All the guests present were

PENNELL-BEAUMONT.

Nov. 2 - 1911 -
East Hartford' Bride Married at Sister's Home in Hartford.

Miss Maude Alice Beaumont of No. 53 Burnside avenue, East Hartford, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Beaumont and Henry B. Pennell of Portland, Me., were married last evening at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William C. Prentiss of the First Congregational Church of East Hartford, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Trapp, No. 239 Farmington avenue. Mrs. Trapp is the bride's sister. The Episcopal form of service was used with a single ring. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Charles Henry Beaumont of Lincoln, Neb. Her dress was ivory crepe de chine and princess lace, cut en traine. She wore a full length veil, caught up with orange blossoms and a diamond lavalier, a special remembrance from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. The matron of honor was Mrs. Edward Hawes of Chester, Pa. who wore pink mousseline over satin with crystal trimmings. Her arm bouquet was of Killarney roses.

The best man was Joseph C. Gorton of Hartford. The ushers were Henry B. Pennell, jr., of Portland, Me., son of the bridegroom, and Frederic D. Trapp of Hartford, a nephew of the bride. Only the immediate relatives of the two families attended the ceremony. A reception from 8 until 10 o'clock followed, to which only close friends were bidden. About 200 guests from Hartford, Worcester, Boston, New York and Portland offered best wishes and congratulatory messages to the bride and bridegroom. The wedding music was the bridal chorus from "Lohengren" for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional. The parlor decorations were of bride's roses with Southern smilax and ferns. The color scheme of the diningroom was pink, and bridesmaid's roses were the flowers used for decoration. There was a costly array of gifts, including gold, silver, cut glass, ivory, embroidery, lace, linen, paintings and portraiture. The especial remembrance was a dining set from the employees of the firm of Cook, Everett & Pennell, of Portland, Me., druggists, of which the bridegroom is the junior partner. Mr. Pennell is a member of the Portland Club and several other organizations of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Pennell left last night for an extended wedding trip, which will include points of interest South. They will be at home January 10 and 17, at No. 125 Vaughan street, Portland, Me., where the bride has hosts of friends.

J. R. HAYES CELEBRATED 90th BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

Died Sept 1914

Always Lived in the Town and One of Its Leading Men.

James R. Hayes, a resident of North Granby, celebrated the ninetieth anniversary of his birthday on Saturday, November 4, when many of his friends congratulated him on the day.

It was some-Granby, where his live, where generations or to see his own And he is still life and is an

born in Granby, at his education farm and, like his time, taught and was a suc- was before the and before the ories as to the ren, but Mr. art of teaching. a State Librarian as about to en- cher, Mr. Hayes said: "Never or pupils. Say, command is disobeyed you can then do what you think best, and if you threaten you are forced to act whether you want to or not."

In time Mr. Hayes controlled his own farm and entered the undertak- ing business, with which he has been connected many years, covering a wide area of the countryside, including his own town, the town of Hartland, and Granville and Southwick in Massa- chusetts. He has been all his life a faithful attendant of the Congrega- tional Church, is a Mason and has held many town offices. A republic- an in politics his townsmen have given about all the offices he would take, including one term in the Gen- eral Assembly, that being in the ses- sion of 1875. He has been one of the men to whom the townspeople go for advice, the sort of valuable citizen who is developed in a small town. He has been a good neighbor and, what is much the same thing, a good Chris- tian, and a successful farmer, being one of the largest tobacco growers in Granby. He had the keen, plain com- mon sense which is a Yankee at- tribute and he possessed the other Yankee knack of being an expert with a knife and he is further known through his town for the excellence of his penmanship.

He married Miss Almira Clark of Hartland, who died in 1903, and two children now living were born to them, Marshall G. Hayes of North Granby and Mrs. F. Edna Stratton of this city, who is a teacher in the Northwest District. There are also four grandchildren and a great-grand- child. Mr. Hayes is a Mason but be- longs to no other orders.

JAMES R. HAYES.
90 Years Old.

SEDGEWICK-SCHLEY MARRIAGE.

Nephew of Late Admiral of United States Navy Takes Bride in New Haven, Nov 4, 1911

James M. Schley, Jr., and Miss Bertha M. Sedgewick, both of New York, were married at New Haven, Ct., early yester- day. Schley is the son of Dr James M. Schley of New York and a nephew of the late Admiral Winfield Scott Schley. The couple arrived in the city shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and having secured a marriage license from Assistant Registrar of Vital Statistics John P. Buckley, whom they got out of bed, they went to police headquarters, where a jus- tice of the peace was summoned by tele- phone to perform the ceremony. After the wedding the couple went to a New Haven hotel where they engaged rooms.

Schley gave his age as 28 and that of his bride was given as 31. In speaking of his marriage yesterday Mr Schley said that he had been divorced on the 14th of last month. He and his bride, he said, were old friends. They went to the thea- ter Friday night and to supper afterward. While at supper the thought occurred to him of going to New Haven and getting married. He suggested the idea to his companion, and she agreed with him. They left New York on the Boston express, getting to New Haven about 1.30 o'clock yesterday morning. On their arrival they drove to the police station and there met Sergeant William Doherty, who gave them assistance in accomplishing their object, directing them to the registrar and help- ing them to find a justice of the peace to perform the marriage ceremony.

Schley is a graduate of Columbia uni- versity and was coxswain of the 1899 crew. He is a member of the New York bar.

BAKER—McCULLOCH—In New Haven, Conn., November 4, 1911, by Rev. Rob- ert C. Dennison, George William Baker of this city to Miss Shirley McCulloch.

George William Baker of this city and Miss Shirley McCulloch of Hamil- ton, Ontario, were quietly married Sat- urday at the residence of George H. Baker, No. 111 Dwight street, New Ha-

BULKELEY HOME THE SCENE OF MERRYMAKING

Nov 5, 1911
Tea To Miss Bulkeley Charming So- cial Event of the Season.

No. 136 Washington street was the center of the social activities of the city yesterday. The occasion was a tea, given by Mrs. Morgan G. Bulkeley in honor of her daughter, Miss Elinor Houghton Bulkeley. The roomy Bulk- eley homestead was tastefully decorat- ed for the event and the night.

Reception for Miss Bulkeley.

A second coming out reception for Miss Elinor Houghton Bulkeley, daughter of former United States Senator Morgan G. Bulkeley and Mrs. Bulkeley, was given yesterday from 5 till 7 p. m. at the Bulkeley home, No. 136 Washington street, Mrs. Bulk- eley and Miss Bulkeley receiving the many guests. Mrs. Henry Roberts, Mrs. John M. Holcombe, Mrs. T. Belknap Beach and Mrs. Samuel O. Prentice poured and others who as- sisted at the reception were Mrs. Leverett Brainard, Mrs. William H. Bulkeley, Mrs. C. L. F. Robinson, Mrs. J. Davenport Cheney, Mrs. George Roberts, Mrs. Morgan B. Brainard, Miss Ruth Collins, Miss Ruth Brainard, Miss Louise Roberts, Miss Frances Dunham and Miss Katherine Parker.

FOUR SCORE AND TEN; NINETY YEARS YOUNG.

James R. Hayes of North Granby Comes to Hartford to Take in the Connecticut Fair.

MEMBER OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Died Sept 1914

An interesting visitor to the Connecticut fair last week was James R. Hayes, of North Granby, who will celebrate his 91st birthday November 4. Mr. Hayes is visiting his daughter, Mrs. F. Edna Stratton, of No. 57 Blue Hills avenue, who is a teacher at the Northwest school. Although not in the very best of health, recently, Mr. Hayes insisted on visiting the fair since he is a great lover of cattle. The exhibition of Jerseys won great admiration from the old gentleman. Mr. Hayes is a visitor to the small country fairs in his vicinity annually, but he likes the Connecticut fair better since it is bigger and affords larger opportunities for seeing what one really likes.

JAMES R. HAYES.

Farmer and Undertaker.

At his advanced age Mr. Hayes has long since passed the psalmist's allotted span, but he is hale and hearty. Recently he fell down a flight of stairs at his home, and, although it was feared that serious consequences would be the result he pulled through and is again on the road to complete recovery. He was born November 4, 1821, in the days when railroads and matches were unknown, and when the housewives made the tallow candles which afforded the only artificial lights which were used on the farms. Being brought up on a farm Mr. Hayes became a successful farmer and later took up undertaking. He is still connected with his son in the undertaking business, although not actively engaged in it.

Schoolmaster.

When still a young man he taught school, and although that was in the day when the normal school was an unknown thing, he had learned how to impart knowledge to the young and he was successful at it, too. Things have changed mightily since Mr. Hayes was a young man, and he remembers traveling to New Haven on the long abandoned Northampton-New Haven canal boat line. The women took foot stoves with them to church in the winter time, on Sundays then, but now although there is all kinds of heat in the churches very few go, he said.

Republican.

Mr. Hayes has always been a republican, and he has been a member of the First Congregational church all his life. In 1875 he was a member of the legislature, and he has held various other offices in the town. Mr. Hayes has a bright outlook for the future of the United States. In a recent letter he wrote:

"The advance in scientific research of to-day bears testimony that we as a people have made greater progress since I was a boy ninety years ago, but greater things, I believe, are in store for the American people, forces being continually developed to mark our progress as a great nation."

Mr. Hayes's wife, who was Miss Almira Clark, died in 1903. He has two children, Marshall C. Hayes, and Mrs. F. Edna Stratton; also four grandchildren and a great grandchild.

The 1st Presbyterian Church.

60th anniversary, & its four ministers.

Rev Dr Thomas L. Childs

Rev J. Aspinwall Hodge.

Rev W. W. Bruckneridge

Rev J. H. Johnstone

Nov. 5, 1911.

HOSMER GRISWOLD

RESIGNS AS DEACON TWENTY-FOUR YEARS OF SERVICE AT SOUTH CHURCH, 1911

Resolutions of Sympathy For Deacon Howard C. Hayden.

At the communion service yesterday morning, at the South Church, and just before the sermon, Rev. Dr. E. P. Parker read a letter from Deacon Hosmer Griswold, in which the latter, owing to age infirmities, resigned his office and requested the acceptance of his resignation. Dr. Parker said that Mr. Griswold had performed the duties of a deacon in the church, with singular faithfulness, during a period of twenty-four years, and had commended himself to the respect, confidence and affection of the entire church.

Dr. Parker then spoke briefly and feelingly of the junior deacon of the church, Howard C. Hayden, and of his great affliction in the loss of his eyesight, adding that all who knew Mr. Hayden honored and loved him.

At the close of the communion service, Dr. Parker offered the following minute and resolutions:—

"Whereas, Mr. Hosmer Griswold, for twenty-four years past a deacon of this church, has tendered his resignation of that office because of infirmities, and has requested our acceptance thereof, therefore

"Resolved, That we hereby accept the said resignation with deep regret for the reason thereof, with great gratitude to Deacon Griswold for his faithful service during so long a period, and with a tender appreciation of his consistent and exemplary life and character.

"Resolved, That we hereby express our great sorrow at the affliction which has befallen Deacon Howard C. Hayden in the loss of his eyesight while as yet in the prime of his manhood and in the plenitude of his usefulness. We assure him, our universally esteemed, trusted, and beloved brother, of our profound sympathy with him, and of our admiration of the Christian courage and cheerfulness in which he sustains his deprivation."

Dr. Parker then said that he would like to have action upon these resolutions in the most public and impressive manner, and requested that all present, in favor of their adoption, should rise. Whereupon the whole congregation rose and remained standing for an impressive moment. It was a tender scene, not soon to be forgotten.

The closing hymn, beginning "I love thy Kingdom Lord," has been, without a single exception, the closing hymn of every communion service in the South Church during the last fifty-two years.

Deacon Hayden.

The congregation was particularly pained to learn of the condition of Deacon Hayden, who is widely respected and admired. Deacon Hayden is the youngest of the deacons in point of service. He has been employed in the establishment of G. W. Moseley &

Son on Allen street. He has been afflicted with blindness to a greater or less degree since January. He is very hopeful that the trouble is only temporary and expects to be able to resume his duties in the church and in his business at a future date.

Deacon, Colmanville Long Service.

Hosmer Griswold.

the church
old as early
Rev. Walter
Griswold well
and his eloquent. He went back. His body in the Cemetery
of his ancestor,
of the founding-70. When deacon in 1888,
George H.
died in 1900,
his senior deacon.

son is George
deacon in 1887.
In 1888 were
Charles S.
and L. Goodwin. Mr. Griswold in 1888 was the one who took the same year
me a deacon, shortly afterwards, including George F.

Hills, Hosmer Griswold, Henry C.
Dwight, Charles L. Ames, Charles L.
Goodwin, H. P. Meech, and Howard
C. Hayden.

(Dune)

Hosmer Griswold was born in Manchester, November 11, 1834, the son of Daniel and Anna Griswold. He was brought up on a farm and when a young man came to Hartford where he was a clerk for three years for R.
M. Burdick, who had a grocery store on Main street a few doors north of Church street. In 1855 he set up a grocery store of his own, with Andrew Jackson Fowler, under the name of Fowler & Griswold. The store was in the old Sisson building, now called the Worthington, at the corner of Main and Sheldon streets. Later the firm name was changed to Griswold &
Bosworth, the Bosworth being Stanley
B. Bosworth. Then Mr. Griswold launched out for himself. The store was moved in 1861 to its present location, No. 547 Main street. Neither of the partnership relations lasted more than three years. Mr. Fowler went out to Minnesota and is in a bank in Lake City in that state. Mr. Bosworth has conducted a pottery business in this city.

Although Mr. Griswold was an attendant at the South Church as early as 1856 he did not become a member until 1872. His first wife, Emily A.
Blank of Bridgeport, whom he married in 1857, became a member in 1858, two years before Dr. Parker was ordained.

For South Church Deacon, 1911

Dr. Edwin Pond Parker, at the service at the South Congregational Church yesterday, announced at a meeting of the church committee, Leonard S. Harris of No.
547 Main avenue had been nominated as deacon, to succeed Hosmer Griswold, who recently resigned. The election will be held Thursday evening.
Harris has been a member of the Church since 1895 and has taken interest in its welfare.

would has always been a republican, having voted for General Fremont for President. Although he was not a member of the Wide Awakes, he remembers turning out with them in some of their early parades. He is a descendant of Edward Griswold, who settled in Wind-

THE HATCH GOLDEN WEDDING.

Springfield, Nov. 6, 1911.

Each Couple Pleasantly Celebrate

Their 50th Anniversary at Their Home on Vassar Street.

Mr and Mrs Lawrence W. Hatch pleasantly observed their golden wedding at their home at 32 Vassar street yesterday, when a large number of relatives and friends called to extend their congratulations. An informal reception was held from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7.30
to 10 in the evening, when Mr and Mrs Hatch were greeted, not only by their numerous local friends, but by a number from out of the city. An interesting and unusual event in connection with the celebration was the fact that Mr and Mrs
H. M. Porter of Northampton, who acted as best man and bridesmaid at the wedding of Mr and Mrs Hatch 50 years ago,
and assisted them in receiving at their wedding reception, were also present yesterday to help them in receiving their guests. Mr Porter is a brother of Mrs Hatch, and there were also present yesterday her three other brothers, W. W.
Porter of Leeds, E. A. Porter of Williamsburg and L. H. Porter of West Springfield, the first two of whom were also guests at the wedding in 1861. Others who attended yesterday's celebration who were guests at the wedding were Ralph Porter, Mrs. Cornelia Porter and Miss Eliza Porter of Cummington.

All of the four children and eight grandchildren of Mr and Mrs Hatch were present at the observance, and among the relatives and friends from out of town who attended were E. A. Porter, Charles W. Porter, Howard S. Porter and Miss
Louise Porter of Williamsburg, Mrs. O. H.
Buck of Worthington, Mr and Mrs W. W.
Porter and Sarah Porter of Leeds, Mr
and Mrs Albert Stetson of Meriden, Ct., Mr and Mrs Irving L. Singer of Florence,
Mrs. Anna Porter and Misses Eva, Ruth and Esther Porter of Northampton, Miss Mabel Porter of Northampton and Harold Cook of Mount Hermon.

Mr Hatch was born in Cambridge, Vt., August 25, 1835, being the son of Don Carlos and Harriot (Pierce) Parker Hatch.
He attended the schools of his native town and in 1853 came to Springfield
to live, his parents removing to this city at that time. The family made their home on Summer street and Mr Hatch entered the employ of the old Western railroad in the shops on Cypress street.
He continued with the railroad until the civil war brought pressing need of skilled machinists at the United States armory,
when he entered the government employ,
continuing in the milling department at the armory for about six years. Mr Hatch then took up carpentering, part of the time for himself and at other times in the employ of local contractors, continuing at this work for a few years and then entering the employ of L. L. Fitts as a stair builder. During his service of 18 years with this one employer, he assisted in laying stairs in a number of the city's finest houses, where the most exacting work was required. Mr Hatch retired a few years ago and about the same time sold the house on Summer street which he had built and to which he had brought his bride in 1861, and which had been their home for 46 years, and removed to the Hill. Mr Hatch is one of the oldest members and one of the oldest past masters of Hampden lodge of Masons, which he joined in 1858. He is at present the treasurer of the lodge and during his membership of 53 years has been through practically all of the chairs. He is also a member of Morning Star chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and Springfield council, Royal and Select Masters.

Mrs Hatch was born in Cummington
in 1838, her maiden name being Sarah Huntington Porter. She is one of a fam-

My 3. Great children of Dea Enos and Eunice (Stetson) Porter, five of whom are now living. Her mother's family, the Stetsons, were early settlers of Chesterfield, while the Porters came from Abington and settled in Cummington, when it was almost a forest. The Huntingtons from whom she is descended were early settlers in Worthington, and Mrs Hatch's great-grandfather, Rev Jonathan Huntington, was the first settled minister in that town, and the house he then occupied is still standing.

Mr and Mrs Hatch were married at the Porter home in Cummington on November 6, 1861, the ceremony being performed by Rev J. Jay Dana, and at once came to make their home in this city. They have always attended the North church, of which both are members. Mr and Mrs Hatch have four children, Mrs George T. Murdough, Mrs J. Elliot Bliss and Homer L. Hatch of this city and Mrs William H. Baker of Chesterfield, and eight grandchildren.

AFTERNOON MUSICALE AT THE GOLF CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gilbert Provide Entertainment of Rare Merit.

One of the choicest society as well as musical functions of the year was the afternoon musicale given yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Gilbert at the Hartford Golf Club. Those who took part in the musicale were William G. Hammond, composer and organist of the First Reformed Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. William G. Hammond, a contralto soloist, Miss Marcella

Patience and tolerance meet, we believe, with very slight su-importing them from New York will strife by raising imaginary issues or Self-seekers who attempt to create United States senator.

which in 1913 will choose a republican will elect a republican Legislature for the state and national tickets; and ple will carry New Hampshire in 1912
session of the confidence of the peonited, successful, secure in the pos-

CASTONGUAY-McGOVERN.

Wedding Breakfast and Reception
Follow Church Ceremony.

Prominent among the social activities of the week was the marriage yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the Immaculate Conception Church of Miss Bessie E. McGovern, niece of ex-Senator Patrick McGovern, and Frederick J. Castonguay, treasurer of the Goldberg-Castonguay Coal Company. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Michael A. Sullivan, pastor of the church, and was attended by 500 guests. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Catherine McGovern, as bridesmaid. Ernest A. Castonguay, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bridesmaid wore a gown of pink crepe de chine and a white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride was handsomely gowned in white messaline over white silk, with duchess lace trimmings. Her veil was caught up with orange blossoms and she carried a bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley. The ushers were Edward M. Fitzpatrick, Wilbert Powers, Daniel W. Murphy, Frank H. Burns and Arthur Marcell. The bride's gift to her attendant was a gold bracelet and the bridegroom's gifts to the ushers were gold scarfpins.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Flynn, organist of the church, and during the ceremony Miss Elsie Longing of New

A party of young people of both sexes numbering some sixty persons sprung a complete surprise last evening on Miss Bessie McGovern at the home of her uncle, ex-Senator Patrick McGovern, on Washington street, which is also her home, the affair being a sort of ante-nuptial surprise, as Miss McGovern is to be married to Frederick J. Castonguay on November 7. The evening proved to be most enjoyable to all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Castonguay left on an afternoon train for an extended wedding trip to Washington and Virginia and they will be at home at No. 21 Allen place after January 1. The bride's going-away gown was blue serge. The couple were the recipient of many handsome gifts.

George H. Barton of the National Fire Insurance company was the guest of honor at a dinner at Bond's Monday evening. The dinner was given by several of the older clerks of the company in honor of Mr. Barton's marriage to Miss Mary C. Roberts, Thursday.

Barton-Roberts. 9/9/11

George H. Barton, head of one of the departments of the National Fire Insurance Company, and Miss Mary C. Roberts, niece of Mrs. H. C. Bingham of No. 14 Steele road, West Hartford, were married yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The ceremony took place at the Bingham home and was performed by Rev. Dr. W. A. Bartlett, pastor of the Farmington Avenue Congregational Church. Only the immediate families attended.

Miss Roberts, formerly of this city, of late has lived in Pendleton, Ore., with her sister, Mrs. Fred E. Judd. Mary Cornwall Roberts, a niece and

CHAMBERLIN PROPERTY BOUGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Storrier Stearns Sell Home to W. O. Burr.

The handsome residence, corner of Farmington avenue and Forest street, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Storrier Stearns, has been sold by them to W. O. Burr. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns contemplate a trip to Bermuda and later they will go to Mexico and to California. Possession of the property, which in location and desirability as a residence is among the best in the city, will be given December 1. Not long thereafter Mr. Burr and his family will occupy their new home.

The lot has a frontage of 197 feet on Farmington avenue and 256 feet on Forest street. Owing to the irregular formation of the lot the extreme western line has a measurement of quite 400 feet. A substantial and finely appointed garage is included.

The house, which is of stone, is one of the best built residences in this favored district. It was erected about thirty-five years ago by the late Franklin Chamberlin, a prominent lawyer of that period in Hartford, whose firm—Chamberlin, White & Mills—was one of Hartford's leading legal firms.

The house is on a street celebrated in the history of Hartford. Next adjoining on Farmington avenue is the Mark Twain house, now owned and occupied by Richard M. Bissell, vice-president of the Hartford Fire Insurance company. Immediately adjoining on Forest street is the former home of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe and further along on Forest street are the residences of the late Charles Dudley Warner, the Hon. John R. Buck, Albert P. Day, president of the Riverside Trust company; Charles Soby and Lucius and John Robinson. A large and handsome house is being built by Arthur P. Day, secretary of the Connecticut Trust and Safe Deposit company, on the south side of the street.

The sale was made through the agency of Franklin G. Whitmore & Son.

Francis Goodwin Sells Land.

The sale of a large tract of land on Prospect avenue by Francis Goodwin to Charles Storrier Stearns and Marian Weed Stearns is shown by the filing of a warrant deed in the office of the town clerk to-day. The land as described in the deed has a frontage of 150.2 feet on Prospect avenue and a depth of 400 feet. It is bounded by land of Alfred H. Pease and Jane M. Gray.

at St. Louis Hotel. 1900-

Democrat prints the following:
Eugene Allison Penn, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Penn, who reside at the Buckingham club, was married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Miss Grace Story, daughter of Mrs. A. V. Story of Glastonbury, Conn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Luther E. Todd, pastor of Centenary M. E. church, South, in his office, at Sixteenth and Pine streets. Mrs. Story, who accompanied her daughter to St. Louis, was present. All knowledge of the ceremony was kept from Mr. and Mrs. Penn. William C. Penn, father of the bridegroom, is with the Penn Oil Refining company, and is a wealthy real estate owner.

"The marriage of my son could not have taken place," said Mrs. Penn, at the Buckingham last night. "Why, he is not of age. He was only 19 years old on his last birthday, October 19. He said noth-

Gov and Mrs Dix entertained at dinner at the executive mansion in Albany, N. Y., last night for Miss Dorothea Douglas, daughter of ex-State Senator and Mrs Curtis N. Douglas and niece of Mrs Dix. Miss Douglas and George Cabot Ward Low, son of Mr and Mrs A. Augustus Low of Brooklyn, will be married this afternoon in St Peter's church. Prominent society folk from New York, Boston and other cities are in town for the ceremony and the reception which will follow at the Douglas home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Stuart Glazier attended a dinner at the executive mansion in Albany, given Friday evening by Governor and Mrs. Dix to their niece, Miss Dorothea Douglass, who is to be married November 11, to George Cabot Ward Low, nephew of the Hon. Seth Low.

Society Event Takes Place at St
Peter's Church, Albany, N. Y.

Miss Dorothea Douglas, daughter of former Senator and Mrs Curtis N. Douglas, and George Cabot Ward, were married at 4 o'clock noon at St Peter's church ceremony was performed at Battershall, assisted by Peabody, headmaster of where Mr Low prepared for Dix, uncle of the bride, accompanied by his staff in arm. Mrs William Raynurst, L. I., a sister of the groom, and the bride was Miss Gertrude Douglas. The bridesmaids were Whitney of Rye, Miss Van of Albany, Miss Franklin and Miss Malott. A. Augustus Low, was best man and the groom, 2d, of Brooklyn, Spencer, Turner of New York, a lazier of South Glassboro, Corning, Edwin Coffin and Thomson Douglas.

Glazier

3. Platt Now Wife of Atwater, the Aviator

MRS. JANEWAY PLATT ATWATER.

William B. Atwater is on her third honeymoon. She was Mrs. before marrying the late Thomas C. Platt. She separated from band some time before his death. When she became a widow second time she went to live at Central Valley. There she met aviator, William Atwater, and a few days ago she married him.

"Lady Bird." She was invited to fly whenever she was so inclined. A representative of the government went up in the machine and sent wireless messages. Mrs. Penn's picture appears on the front page of "Aero," for January 27. The picture was taken while she was in the air.

IT AGAIN A BRIDE.

nerable Former United ator From New York.

November 13.—William and his bride, who was Janeway Platt, widow of late Senator Thomas C. Platt, returned from New York yesterday morning by the Erie Railroad. They were accompanied by Mrs. Platt-Atwater's sister, Mrs. Carmody, and by Mr. Platt's brother, who stopped for dinner at Fishkill Landing soon after 6 o'clock.

ewitt-Perkins. 1911
s Balfour Connell united Tuesday evening Miss R.
kins and Arthur W. Hewla Sullivan was bridesilbur I. Newton was best ving a wedding trip to id Philadelphia, they will side. The bride was eme suit department of the Inglis Company and the
is an employee of the e been received in this cing the marriage in Lonnesday, November 22, of Blair Watkinson to Dr.
rner Marchand. Miss Wat-daughter of Mrs. Edward nson of this city.

Nov 22
1911

People of New Haven Much Interested in the Event.

A wedding of interest to many prominent society people and members of Yale university took place, this afternoon, at the home of Professor Arthur Williams Wright, former head of the department of experimental physics, at No. 77 Everit street, New Haven, when his daughter, Miss Dorothea Silliman Wright, was married to Edwin Pugsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pugsley, formerly of Buffalo, but now of New Haven.

The home of the bride where the ceremony took place at 3 o'clock was attractively decorated with quantities of palms, greens and cut flowers. The color scheme of the wedding itself was pink and blue and the floral decorations consisted of pink Killarney roses while the gowns of the bridal party carried out the same color scheme.

In the reception room where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Benjamin W. Bacon, acting pastor of the Yale university church, quantities of pink roses were used with running pine. An improvised altar for the wedding party was arranged there of palms. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Winchester Bennett, as matron of honor and her two little nieces, Misses Susan and Dorothy Bennett, as flower girls.

The best man was Thomas Wheeler of Buffalo. The bride entered the drawing room with her father where were assembled about one hundred and fifty guests. She wore a gown of white satin semi-Empire in cut with a long square train and her gown was very handsomely trimmed with rare old Duchess lace. Her long tulle veil which extended to the edge of her train was caught with a garland of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Bennett's gown was of white chiffon made over blue satin, the overdress being decorated with pink rosebuds and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses.

The little flower girls wore white frocks with broad blue sashes and they carried baskets of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given for the wedding guests and in the late afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley left for a wedding trip of several weeks, returning from which they will be "at home," Mondays during January at No. 110 Whitney avenue.

Mrs. Pugsley wore a tailored gown of invisible green and blue plaid with a toque to match.

The bride is the youngest daughter of one of Yale's most eminent professors and for several seasons has been one of the most prominent members of the younger set here in town. Mr. Pugsley graduated from Yale in 1908 and was very popular in Yale circles during his college course.

The wedding guests included many members of the university set and a large number from out of town.

Until the return from abroad next fall of Professor William Lyon Phelps, professor of English at Yale, Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley will occupy Professor and Mrs. Phelps's home.

As Viewed by a 13-Years-Old School Girl.

Mrs Annie Trumbull Slosson writes to the Hartford Courant from New York city:—

In looking over some old papers of 50 and 60 years ago I have found an old school composition which tells of an adventurous journey of mine. It was a long and trying trip, from Stonington to Hartford and back again, and was taken in the summer of 1851, when I was 13. I was a scholar at Mrs Woodbridge's school in Stonington, where I then lived. No one in my class had ever taken so long a journey or seen so many wonders, so I was asked to write an account of the expedition and read it aloud on Composition day to the assembled scholars. It has struck me that an extract relating to the Hartford state-house, lately threatened with destruction, might be appropriately printed just now as showing how one young art critic estimated the building and its architecture. I copy the first part literally, mistakes and all:—

"It was on August 12th, 1851, that I took this journey that I am going to tell you about. I woke up at 5 a. m. that morning as I had considerable to do. For my Father, Mother, two brothers and myself was to start for Hartford, one of the Capitals of our great state of Connecticut. Two of my other brothers are doing things there. Our house was to be closed while we were away. At 10 o'clock about, we went aboard the steamboat Chicopee for New London. I had never taken this voyage before, but we all stood it well, for we had been on boats many times. In about an hour we landed in New London. I did not see much of the city for we started very soon on the train which was bound for Willimantic. It was a pleasant ride but pretty hot. I did not see much of Willimantic, but think it is a nice place. We did not go out of the depot, my little brother wanted to but Father said the train would be going soon. So we took it. We arrived at Hartford at 2½ o'clock about. My brother, Henry, met us at the depot and took us in a carriage with two horses to a beautiful hotel called the United States hotel. After resting some my brother took my mother and me to the state-house, where my brother James works. It is just opposite, about, the Hotel we were boarding at. I had heard a great deal from my Father and brothers of this building, but I did not think it would be so grand. I suppose it is the finest building in the United States. I am sure it is the finest one I ever saw, but I have not seen them all. The Wadawannuck in Stonington is a splendid building, but the state-house beats it. I think it looks something like a More About Mrs. Slosson's Recent Letter.

To the Editor of The Courant:—

I have just read that piece in your paper written by Mrs. Annie Trumbull Slosson and I am much interested. I attended Mrs. Woodbridge's School in Stonington for a short time. My name was Mary Wheeler and I lived in North Stonington but stayed with my aunt, Mrs. Thayer, going home every Saturday. I remember Annie Trumbull and her brothers. She wrote very nice compositions but I do not remember that one about the State House. But I saw that building myself soon after I was married and thought it very handsome. I hope it will be preserved for many years. It gave me great pleasure to read about those old days. My brother-in-law takes "The Courant" and I see it very often when he sends it to me.

Yours truly,
M. W. L.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 20.

Carberry has written for The a series of articles dealing with ves of Connecticut-born women ave achieved an important place s and affairs, her purpose being ute the theory that such activ- are incomparable with being a maker and mother. (One article ppear each Friday.)

E. MURIEL CARBERRY.

die Trumbull Slosson, famous omologist and author, was the child in a family which has and a long period as editor of the Sunday School Times in Philadel- phia. A most conspicuous achieve- ment was the discovery, during a trip through Egypt, Syria, etc., in 1881, of the biblical site of Kadesh Barnea on the southern boundary of Palestine, which had been the object of research for many years. The artist, Gurdon Trumbull, was a still younger member of this family. Miss Annie Eliot Trumbull of this city, author of "A Cape Cod," "Life's

ANNIE TRUMBULL SLOSSON.

ed notable service in many An older brother, James and Trumbull, distinguished if as a philologist. He was ated lecturer on the Indian ages of North America at Yale '3 and subsequently compiled abulary from John Eliot's In- sible as he was reputed to be ly living American who could t. For many years Mr. Trum- as president of the Connecti- istorical society. Like his sis- was interested in entomology uring his early life assisted in guing the reptiles, fishes, etc., of this state. A second r was Henry Clay Trumbell. reer included a few years in ailroad business at Hartford, as chaplain in the Civil war, company by which Mr. Wiley is em-

Common Way", etc., is the niece of her namesake.

Mrs. Slosson was born in Ston- ington, May 18, 1838. Her educa- tion was received first in her na- tive town and later at Hartford. At the age of twenty-nine she married Edward Slosson of New York and has spent many years in that city, interspersed with sojourns at Hart- ford and Franconia, New Hamp- shire.

The interest in flowers, birds and insects has been life-long with Mrs. Slosson and she has gained a wide- spread reputation in these studies. As Harriet Proscott Spofford re- marked in "A Little Book of Friends", "many a winged and creeping thing has been named after her." The address, delivered some years ago, to children living in the approach of "the age when one should retire from active leadership."

districts of Connecticut reflects the wholesome philosophy of this scien- tist. She says in part, "I wish I could show you how easily you could make your lives full of beauty, interest and keen enjoyment. Your quiet farm life may seem to you dull, monotonous. But what a mu- seum of wonders is the piece of woods a stone's throw from your door; what books could tell you what nature's pleasant pictured pages tell? What school with its hot close rooms and weary teachers is like the free open-door life, with its lessons learned each hour so easily and well?"

As an author Mrs. Slosson made her debut in 1878 with "The China Hunter's Club," which was illus- trated by her brother, Gurdon. From then until the present her works have appeared at irregular inter- vals. The scene of many of them is laid in New England. She depicts quaint characters who have dwelt long with only their thoughts for company. Often the principal actors, who are delightfully original, tell their own tale, in dialect. So sympathetically and artistically drawn are these portraits that one wavers constantly between a smile and a tear. "Fishin' Jimmy," one of her most beloved creations, was published during 1888 in the New Princeton Review. Immediately he was preached about and quoted on both sides of the Atlantic. And could one help adoring that old New Hampshire villager who responds to the casual question, "Do you like fishing?" with a touching solemnity, "You wouldn't ask me if I liked my mother—or my wife." And later on, "I allers loved fishin', an' knowed 'twas the best thing on the hull airth; I knowed it larned ye more than books could tell ye; I knowed it made folks patienter an' common senser an' weather-wiser, an' cuter gen'ly." A lovely satire on heredity, "Butterneggs," was printed in the Library of the World's Best Literature. Many works of this fascinating writer are in the Hart- ford library and among them is a short poem that illustrates as well as anything her kindly understand- ing of human beings:

"PUZZLED."

"You ask me whether I'm High Church.

You ask me whether I'm Low.

I wish you'd tell me the difference.

For I'm sure that I don't know.

I'm just a plain, old body.

And my brain works pretty slow;

So I don't know whether I'm High Church

And I don't know whether I'm Low.

Mrs. Slosson lives in New York city now and is continuing her literary work ignation of Dr George Harris as of Amherst college was pre- the trustees of the college at attended by nearly all the mem- ber board, held at Amherst yes- ternoon. The resignation was with a cordial vote of apprecia- e valuable service rendered by Harris during his nearly 13 dce, and he will retire at com- t next June, it being his ex- esire that the resignation be- tive not later than that time. Harris assigns as the reason tirement, advancing years and approach of "the age when one should retire from active leadership."

REV DR GEORGE HARRIS.

[He has just resigned the presidency of Amherst college.]

Sketch of President Harris.

President Harris was born in East Machias, Me., on April 1, 1844. His parents were George and Mary A. (Pomeroy) Harris. He prepared for college at Washington academy, East Machias. He entered Amherst in 1862 and was graduated in 1864. The year 1866 and 1867 spent at Bangor theological seminary. From 1867 to 1868 he studied at Andover theological seminary. He was ordained on October 6, 1869, and became pastor of the High-street Congregational church, Auburn, Me. From 1872 to 1883 he was pastor of the Central Congregational at Providence, R. I. In 1883 he was appointed Abbott professor of theology at Andover theological seminary. The year 1881 he spent in touring Europe. He was president of the faculty of Andover seminary when, in 1899, he was elected president of Amherst college. He was preacher at Dartmouth college, 1894-9, and to

EX-PRESIDENT HARRIS OF AMHERST DEAD

Was Head of College From 1899 to 1912.

New York, March 2.—Dr. George Harris, president emeritus of Amherst College, died at his home here yesterday. He was 73 years old.

Born in East Machias, Maine, Dr. Harris was graduated from Amherst in 1866 and the Andover Theological Seminary in 1869. He occupied pulpits in Congregational churches of Auburn, Maine, and Providence, R. I., and was made professor of Christian Theology at Andover in 1883. He was elected president of Amherst in 1899 and held that post until 1912. He was the author of several theological works and had received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Amherst and other institutions.

Dr. Harris will be buried in Providence Saturday afternoon.

O'CONNELL BORN IN IRELAND. FARLEY GREATLY SURPRISED

At First He Scarcely Credits Report—Praises O'Connell as a Connoisseur.

A dispatch from Rome that Archbishop Farley would be created a cardinal was shown to the archbishop at the episcopal residence at New York on the evening upon his return from a day's outing out of town. "I cannot believe it," he exclaimed. "I cannot have it," he repeated, "notwithstanding that the news appears to be from a trustworthy correspondent whom I know well. However authentic they may be, you know it is entirely unsafe to credit unofficial advices in such a case as this. It is very unusual to announce such matters a whole month in advance." The archbishop excused himself, but returned a moment later with a broad smile on his face. He had in his hand a cablegram fresh from Rome, which read: "Heartiest congratulations, your eminence." It was signed "Mgr O'Kelly," an intimate friend of the archbishop and editor of the Rome, an English paper published in the Italian capital.

Notwithstanding this seeming confirmation, the archbishop was not inclined to accept the news as a fact, reiterating that while if true it was highly welcome, he could not believe it. He referred to Archbishop O'Connell of Boston, who is also to be made a cardinal, in these words: "He is one of the most eloquent bishops of the country, as well as learned. He lived in Rome a number of years as rector of the American college, and consequently had the opportunity of acquiring an extensive fund of ecclesiastical learning, which all persons long resident in Rome do acquire. He is highly esteemed by the holy father, as he was by Pope Leo XIII." The archbishop also spoke in praise of Mgr Falconio, apostolic delegate in the United States, the third American of the new cardinals to be created. "Mgr Falconio is held in high esteem by all the bishops of the country. He is a most amiable gentleman."

Archbishop Farley retired early, without any official confirmation of the news which had been brought to him by the Associated Press. In looking over the full list of those to be appointed, he exclaimed, "My, what a bunch of us." The secretary pointed out that the Jesuit, Van Rossum, would be the first Redemptionist appointed to the sacred college of cardinals in many years. In contrast with the present early announcement, the archbishop pointed out that he remembered when Cardinal McCloskey was appointed in the early '70s, no announcement was made until the week before the appointment.

Archbishop Farley was born in Ireland, April 20, 1842. He came to New York at the age of 18 years and studied in Fordham university and later in Rome. He was ordained to the priesthood in Rome in 1871 and was soon afterward made assistant at St Peter's, New Brighton, S. I. He became secretary of Cardinal McCloskey in 1872 and chamberlain to the pope in 1883. After this he was successively a pastor of St Gabriel's church in New York city, vicar-general in 1887, auxiliary bishop in 1891, and archbishop in 1902. He was assistant at the pontifical throne in 1904. The celebration of the centenary of the New York diocese was celebrated in 1908, and a year ago an elaborate consecrated service was held, at which it was announced that St Patrick's cathedral was cleared of debt. Archbishop Farley is author of the "Catholic Encyclopedia" and monthly publications, including the Cathedral College. He is vice-president of the Catholic university board of Washington, D. C., of which Cardinal Gibbons is chancellor.

Cardinals Farley & O'Connell appointed
Oct. 28, 1911. Sail Nov 13-
an 17, 1912

ARCHBISHOP O'CONNELL OF BOSTON.

[Copyrighted by F. B. Conlin, Boston.]

Cardinal Farley-

een steeplejacks were at work at ime on the 350-foot towers of the York cathedral Monday night string-ectric light wires and placing lamps
he illumination in honor of the phal return of Cardinal Farley. The phal entry into Jerusalem some 1900
ago will be put entirely in the shade.

S.

tographed On nerica Yesterday.

COVIL GOLDEN WEDDING.
Springfield Nov 26/1917
 Former Commander of E. K. Wilcox
 Post Was Once a Sailor on Fine Clipper Ships.

Mr and Mrs William B. Covil yesterday celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage at their home, 22 Belgrade place, where they were visited by many of their friends. Mr and Mrs Covil were assisted in receiving by their four children, having postponed the celebration of the anniversary from last Friday, which was the true anniversary of their marriage on November 17, 1861, in order that their oldest son, who is now living in Pittsburg and could not come to Springfield last week, might be present. In addition to their four children, there were present at the anniversary their 16 grandchildren, so that a large family circle of three generations was gathered for the celebration.

Mr Covil was born in West Dennis on Cape Cod, the son of Silvanus and Sally Chase Covil, and was one of a family of seven children. Mrs Covil was born in the adjoining town of West Harwich, and her maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Chase. Her parents were Bassett and Polly Nickerson Chase. They grew up in these towns and were married in West Harwich 50 years ago by Rev Davis Lothrop, then pastor of the South Harwich Methodist church. They have had five children, the first dying when very young. The others, two boys and two girls, were at home yesterday. The oldest of the four is Mrs William W. Gordon of Hazardville. William Covil, Jr., is the next oldest. He is now assistant auditor for the Westinghouse electric manufacturing company in Pittsburg, Pa. Clarence, the younger son, is in charge of a paper mill in Manchester, Ct. The youngest, a daughter, is Mrs George Gordon of Williamstown.

Mr Covil's career has been a most active and interesting one. When he was 11 years of age he went to sea, and he followed that calling for 20 years, until at the age of 23 he enlisted for the war. He was a seaman in the days of the old clipper ships, which were built in large numbers about 1850 to 1860 to carry the rapidly growing American commerce. These narrow, deep, full-rigged barks were the finest sailing ships that the sea has ever known, and it was the record of their builders and the men who sailed them that first made the name of the United States on the sea. Their main-

LONDON EAKHORN'S—Best thing for deaf-
A. I. L. GORDON'S, Optician, 119 State st.
ARTIFICIAL EYES AT LONDON EAKHORN'S—Best thing for deaf-
C. ROGERS & CO., Opticians
 225 LIBERTY ST. Tel. 3586.

F. M. WEST BOX CO
 ACCORDING TO DISTANCE
 WOOD FOR $2.00 AND $2.25
 OF DRY PINE KINDLING
FORTY BUSHELS
TED SHEA OAR CO Tel. 3711.
 68 UNION ST.
 Woodworking.
 Planing, Turning and General SAWING BAND AND CIRCULAR

Aug 1911
 Former Governor and Mrs. Eben S. Draper of Hopedale and No. 150 Beacon street, Boston, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Thomas B. Gannett, Jr., of Cambridge, a member of the banking firm of Parkinson & Burr, No. 29 Exchange building, State street, and a graduate of Harvard, class of 1897. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

DRAPER-GANNETT WEDDING.

Brilliant Gathering Witnesses Ceremony at Hopedale, 1911
 The wedding of Miss Dorothy Draper, daughter of former Gov Eben S. Draper, and Thomas B. Gannett, Jr., of Cambridge, took place yesterday in the Unitarian Memorial church in Hopedale before a brilliant gathering, but with a simple ceremony. Ex-Gov Draper, who had almost recovered from an attack of illness on Saturday, escorted his daughter. Miss Draper was attended by Miss Mildred Dennis of Newark as maid of honor. The bridegroom's brother, Robert, was the best man.

Yale Graduate Married, 8/1
 J. Hamilton Scranton of South Gastonbury was best man at the wedding Tuesday of Miss Ethel J. Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio M. Adams of Brooklyn to Morris U. Ely at Appledore, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Adams at Glen Cove, L. I. Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn officiated. Miss Lillian Rossiter of Brooklyn was maid of honor. Mr. Scranton and Mr. Ely were graduates.

CORTLANDT VAN RENSSELAER WEDS A MEDICAL NURSE.

Following Illness, Convalescence and Recovery of Artist Under Care of Fair Attendant.

Pittsfield, Mass., November 23.—A Cortlandt Van Rensselaer of the New York family of that name, a resident of Stockbridge, where, with his brother, P. J. Van Rensselaer, he owns Fair Acres, a fine old country seat on Field Hill near the residence of Joseph H. Choate, and Miss Mabel Louise Watts, a medical nurse of North Adams, were married in the Methodist parsonage here yesterday.

The marriage was the outcome of Mr. Van Rensselaer's illness last summer. Miss Watts was called in by a physician. During the nursing of Mr. Van Rensselaer, a bachelor of sixty years, he fell in love with his trim, blonde nurse. They were very much together in Stockbridge during the convalescence of Mr. Van Rensselaer and walked every day about the village.

The announcement that they were to be married was given out by Mr. Rensselaer himself, who sent notes to the newspapers.

Mrs. Van Rensselaer is twenty-six and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon F. Watts of North Adams and was graduated as a nurse two years ago.

Mr. Van Rensselaer was unattended when he appeared with the bride. Mrs. Van Rensselaer wore a blue travelling gown and was attended by her sister, Miss Helen B. Watts.

Mr. Van Rensselaer is an artist and has made landscape painting a specialty. He has taken a furnished house at No. 58 Hull avenue in this city for the winter.

BERG-HARTRANFT—In this city, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Berg Hartranft, November 22, 1911, by Rev. Rockwell Harmon Potter, D. D., Miss Ida T. Berg to Chester D. Hartranft. No cards.

SINNOTT-CARROLL.

Miss Catherine Agnes Carroll and Edward Mark Sinnott were married at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Patrick's Church, a very large number of friends being present. A nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. George T. Sinnott of Newtown, a brother of the bridegroom. Other priests at the altar were Rev. W. H. Rogers, pastor of the church, Rev. James Mitchell and Rev. Bernard F. McCarthy, his assistants, and Rev. Francis P. Nolan of St. Thomas's Seminary. Assisting in the music were Samuel J. Leventhal, who played "The Rosary" on the violin, with organ accompaniment by D. S. Moran, the organist of the church. Mr. Leventhal with the violin, Fred Smith with the cornet and Mr. Moran with the organ played Handel's "Largo." These three musicians also played during the reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride, No. 406 Albany avenue. This was attended only by the relatives and a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinnott left the latter

BEGAN BUSINESS.

In time the young man had a Boston bee buzzing under his hat, got a recommendation from his employer and went to the Hub, where he struck

RETIRE AS RECTOR

OF ST. JA

Nov. 23
The Rev. Dr. John

Aside the Active
er Man Will Su

WAS REC

It was a tened in the Episcopal cl
to the anno rector for years, the R ton, that th
to lay off th
sibility and
man. For
of the chur
has vitalized votions for realized tha
ing when th
to another,
that the da
Dr. Hunti
bers in find succeed him
made, he ga in the hall a mal resigna
place might sor.

Dr.

Dr. Hun
meeting an ed as clerk
Goodman, y
read Dr. F
of resignati
H. o

As I have h birthday, it a to resign to a
of our very p
by an ever k
rector twice:
1879 to 1911.

I find the re
Sunday-school
are too much my due share
the rectorship
much for so best friends o

dise, said res

the acceptance at the glee cl Wishing you the "Trinity T ing up one o tor of the colle
Hartford in o and manager
shall always r and senior yea
for your help his senior yea

Res of Medusa Her

society. He w

Phi Kappa C

Delta Phi Fra

A T
For a few tribute of sil
ized what dec
ing of the pas
be sure, Rect
going away fr
continue a m would act as the problems
develop; but s
great deal to the members disguise their ington supplen
few remarks.
period of servi
the rectorship
return at the llams, who tol
the people of S

During his
he was a lay
Church, of w
Bradin is rect
Berkeley Divi
town with th
dained priest
was assistant at Scranton, I charge of St.
caster, N. H. which was hi
Miss Louise
daughter of Seym's of street. T

October 7
cludes
ed in selection is de meets with un
city for the winter.

The church wardens, Theodore Her zer and William T. Smith, spoke briefly. They explained the condi tions which made it necessary for to relieve Dr. Hunt-

FOR ST. JAMES'S RECTOR EMERITUS

Cup Presented to the Rev. Dr. John T. Huntington on His Eighty-Sixth Birthday.

DR. HUN RETIRE
Feb 1-
The 22 Years
United St. J
by Fifty Year
PARKS
GILBERT CUE
Born Edward
The To-Day
the Church
The 30th
June 31.

To Marry Miss Sherman.

New York, July 15.—Ralph Francis Julian Stonor, Lord Camoys, usher at the Decies-Gould wedding and chum of the Hon. "Bobby" Beresford, is engaged to be married to Miss Mildred

THE REV. EDWARD C. THOMAS.

R. HUNTINGTON RETIRES AS RECTOR

Feb. 1, 1912—
82 Years of Age and Established St. James's Parish Nearly Fifty Years Ago.

IRISHIONERS GIVE HIM SILVER CUP AT RECEPTION.

Rev. Edward C. Thomas Succeeds Him To-Day in Ministering to the Church and People.

His 65th Birthday
Jan 31, 1915

Rich Babies.

(Providence Tribune.)

For the first time in the history of the family a part of the John Carter Brown millions is likely to go abroad, announcement being made that Mildred Sherman, a granddaughter

D CAMOYS WEDS

MILDRED SHERMAN

olic Ritual Used But Bride Remains Protestant.

New York, Nov. 26.—The wedding of Ralph Francis Julian Stonor, fifth Lord Camoys, to Miss Mildred Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Watts Sherman, took place at yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Watts Sherman, 838 Fifth Avenue.

The marriage was to have taken place on December 2, but the date was postponed several days ago to an earlier date on account of the serious illness of the bride's father.

The ceremony was performed by Father William Meenan, rector of St. Mary's Church, Newport, in the presence of the immediate family. It took place in Mr. Sherman's private apartment on the third floor, front, of the Manhattan town house, and Mr. Sherman, who is very feeble, witnessed the ceremony in a chair.

The Roman Catholic ritual was used for the reason that Lord Camoys is a Catholic and had received a special dispensation to marry Miss Sherman, who is a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church. It was said by a member of the family that Miss Sherman has not given up her faith and will not leave the Roman Catholic Church or even contemplating such a step.

Lord Camoys is the head of the family and has named his an-

OYS HAS A SON. Lord Camoys, on the son Henry, formerly Miss Mildred McCreery, of Rhode Island.

1912
7.—Lady Camoys, formerly Mildred Sherman, of who gave birth to a son at the English Gardens, London.

ing. Miss Mildred's old, and daughter of the late W. College, Oxford, of Rhode Island, was in Albany Francis Julian Stonor Lord Camoys, in No. 1 acres. His

Lord Camoys and his families first met at the time when she was of Lord Decies and Miss Vivien uld. Lord Camoys will take her place now as England's most exclusive hostess. She was 23 years old on July 1st, and is a devotee of open air sports. Mrs. Sherman inherited the millions of her mother, Mrs. John Carter Brown, and Lady Camoys, it is expected, will come into possession of a considerable fortune when she is 25.

William Watts Sherman Dead

New York, Jan. 22.—William Watts Sherman died today after an illness of some time. For more than a year he had been in ill health, and only recently the wedding of his daughter Mildred, who married Lord Camoys, hastened the account of his condition, which was then thought to be serious.

Mr. Sherman was 68 years of age, was well known in New York and Newport, where he was governor of the Casino. He was a member of many clubs.

included in the trust.

NATIONAL FIRE IS FORTY YEARS OLD

Nov 30 1911 -

ANNIVERSARY OCCURS ON THANKSGIVING DAY.

Wonderful Growth of Big Underwriting Organization.

PRESIDENT NICHOLS WITH IT
SINCE IT BEGAN BUSINESS.

JUDGE JAMES NICHOLS, Receives Loving Cup on Anniversary of Forty Years' Service With National Fire Insurance Company.

His 84 Birthday Dec 24 1914

JUDGE NICHOLS RECEIVES LOVING CUP FROM FRIENDS

Gift in Recognition of Forty Years' Service From Directors of the National Fire.

AT LUNCH AT HARTFORD CLUB.

Judge James Nichols, since its organization forty years ago an officer of the National Fire Insurance company, and its president since 1887, was the guest of honor this afternoon at a luncheon given by the board of directors of the company at the Hartford club.

During the luncheon Judge Nichols was given a massive and beautiful solid silver loving cup, the gift of the board. The presentation speech was made by John R. Buck, who in a few well chosen words voiced his appreciation and that of the directors and stockholders of the efforts which always have been put forth by Judge Nichols in the interests of the company.

The response was made by Judge
Nichols, in which he thanked the directors for their appreciation.

The cup bears the inscription "Judge
James Nichols, president of the National Fire Insurance company, with the congratulations of his board of directors. Presented on the fortieth anniversary of his connection with the company, November 30, 1911." On the other side are the names of the nine directors.

Flowers, Too.

Judge Nichols's room at the National Fire building was a veritable bower of beauty when he entered it this morning. On the center table was a huge bouquet of forty American roses, the gift of a stockholder. A large bunch of forty pink bride's roses, presented by C. F. Sturhahn of the Rossia Insurance company, was also in evidence, together with a profusion of chrysanthemums, the gift of the clerks in the employ of the company.

The National Fire Insurance company was formed on November 30, 1871, and the fortieth anniversary is being quietly observed to-day.

At the Luncheon.

Those present at the luncheon included the executive officers, Judge Nichols, president; George H. Tryon, assistant secretary; Colonel F. D.
Layton, assistant secretary; Colonel S.
T. Maxwell executive special agent, C.
S. Langdon, general agent, and B. R.
Stillman, secretary. The entire board of directors was also there, John R.
Buck, Henry C. Judd, Francis T. Maxwell, Charles H. Briscoe, Charles Cheney, George H. Burt, F. F. Small,
L. A. Barbour and R. H. Ensign.

C. S. Langdon, general agent, also entered the service of the company
when it was first organized, and has been with it continuously ever since.
Judge Nichols was not the only one of the company who was remembered
during the day for his service. General Agent Charles S. Langdon and Arthur C. Shumway, head of the loss department, were also with the company at the time of its founding, and the fact was not overlooked. The clerks remembered both Mr. Langdon

JOHNSON-FULLER.

Nov 28 1911
Wedding in Church and Reception at the Country Club.

Rankin Johnson of New York and Miss Kate Gilbert Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philo C. Fuller of Grand Rapids, Mich., who have a country home at Farmington, were married at St. James's Episcopal Church, Farmington, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. Robert Johnston of Bethlehem, Pa., assisted by Rev. C. Edward Roberts, rector of the church. The ceremony was attended only by the families and a few intimate friends. The best man was Burgess Johnson of New York, a brother of the bridegroom, and the maid of honor was Mrs. Robert Johnston of Bethlehem, Pa. The bridesmaids were Miss Sophie Sweet of Grand Rapids, Mich., Miss Helen Dennis of Morristown, N. J., Miss Margaret Johnson of Washington, D. C., Miss Almyra Arms of New York, Miss Eleanor Johnson of New York and Miss Mary Dimmick of Scranton, Pa. The ushers were George B. Massey of Montclair, N. J., Ernest Walker Smith of this city, Hallett Johnson, F. C. Hitchcock and Francis Gilbert of New York and Edward P. Fuller of Grand Rapids, Mich. A reception and supper followed the ceremony at the Country Club of Farmington.

Nov 28 Due-Holmes. 1911

In the presence of a gathering of friends and relatives which taxed the capacity of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, South Manchester, Miss Lucy Katherine Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmes of West Center street, South Manchester, and Christian N. Due, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neils C. N. Due of this city, were married by Rev. Manning B. Bennett, rector of the church, last evening at 7:30 o'clock. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the "Bridal March" from "Lohengrin" played by Joseph Adams, organist of the church, and proceeded to the altar, where the bride was given away by her father. The bride was attended by Miss Hilda Holmes, a sister as bridesmaid, and Arthur Holmes, a brother of the bride, was best man. The bride wore a dress of white satin, cut en train, trimmed with pearls; a bridal veil, caught up with ribbons, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's dress was blue chiffon over satin. She wore a picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. During the ceremony there was singing by the church choir, the bride having been a member of the choir. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents in East Center street, South Manchester, which was attended by relatives and intimate friends of the newly married couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Due will leave this morning for a trip to New York and on their return will live at No. 97 Babcock street, this city, and will be at home after January 1.

Mr. Due is the assistant at the new State Library, who has direct charge of the reading rooms. He has been at the library three years, and the greater part of the assistants in the library will attend the wedding.

Catherine Smay's 110th Birthday.

Oxford, Mass., November 28.—Catherine Smay, who friends believe to be one of the oldest women in New England, yesterday celebrated her 110th birthday. She spent the day in bed, as she has every day for the past six years. Mrs. Smay has smoked since she was 10 years of age and yesterday she enjoyed her pipe as usual. She was born in Canada, but has lived in Oxford for many years.

Nov 29 1911
Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Merriam and Carlos De Zafra of New York city, on Wednesday evening at 6:30 at 149 Union street north, Rochester, N. Y. Miss Merriam is a granddaughter of the late Homer Merriam, and attended school in this city. After January 1 they will be at home at 322 West Fifty-seventh street, New York city.

Nov Loveland-Newton. 30

George C. Loveland, custodian of the Hartford lodge of Elks, and Mrs. Mary J. Newton, widow of Joseph K. Newton (the manager of the old Newton's Variety theater) were married Thursday at the home of the bride, No. 453 Blue Hills avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John T. Huntington of St. James's Episcopal church. Many intimate friends of the couple were present at the wedding and several valuable presents were received. The house was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Loveland will reside at No. 453 Blue Hills avenue.

FOUR GENERATIONS AT SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY

(Special to The Courant.)

Simsbury, Dec. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Eddy celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their

Nov 30 1911
C. W. SPONSEL'S NEW POSITION.

Leaves Thursday for Racine, Wis.—
Manager for Pierce Motor Co.

Charles W. Sponsel will leave Hartford, Thursday, Thanksgiving day, for Racine, Wis., where he will become the factory manager for the Pierce Motor Co. Mr. Sponsel has gained a wide reputation as a factory organizer, having held responsible positions with the General Electric company of Pittsfield, Mass., the Pratt & Whitney company and the Capewell Horse Nail company, etc. In these positions he was very successful in organization work. In his new field in the west he will have an exceptionally good opportunity to show his ability as a mechanical engineer and manufacturing expert.

Mr. Sponsel learned his trade at Colt's and has always kept his residence in Hartford. This change, however, necessitates his moving with his family to the western city. He is a thirty-second degree Mason, a Knight Templar, a Shriner, an Elk and a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. Sponsel and their four daughters will take the 12:06 train Thursday for Racine and many of their Hartford friends will go to the station to wish them God speed.

No doubt many of Mr. and Mrs. Sponsel's friends will shower them with rice, for the day of their departure for the west will be the twenty-seventh anniversary of their marriage.

A Memory.

Thanksgiving In the New England That Was.

(John D. Long in Congregationalist.)

Poem

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Proclamation by President Taft.

By the President of the United States,
A Proclamation.

The people of this land having by long sanction and practice set apart towards the close of each passing year a day upon which to cease from their labors and assemble for the purpose of giving praise to Him who is the author of the beautiful suns they have enjoyed, it is my duty as chief executive to designate at this time the day for the fulfillment of this devout purpose.

Our country has been signally favored in many ways. The round of the sun's rays has brought rich harvests. Our industries have thriven far beyond our domestic needs and the productions of our labor are daily finding enlarged markets abroad. We have been freed from the curses of pestilence, of famine and of war. Our national counsels have furthered the cause of peace in other lands and the spirit of benevolence has brought us into closer touch with other peoples, to the strengthening of the bonds of fellowship and good will that link up to our comrades in the universal brotherhood of nations. Strong in the sense of our right and inspired by as strong a sense of the rights of others, we live in peace and harmony with the world.

Rich in the priceless possessions and abundant resources which the unstinted bounty of God has endowed us, we are unselfishly glad when other peoples pass onward to prosperity and peace. That the great privileges we enjoy may continue and that each coming year may see our country more and more firmly established in the regard and esteem of our fellow nations, is the prayer that should rise in every thankful heart.

Wherefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, designate Thursday, the thirtieth of November, next, as the day of Thanksgiving and prayer and I earnestly call upon my countrymen and upon all that dwell under the flag of our beloved country then to meet in their accustomed places of worship to join in offering praise to Almighty God and devout thanks for the loving mercies He has shown us.

In witness whereof I have here unto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Chicago, this thirtieth day of October, year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and eleven, and Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and thirty-sixth.

By the President,
P. C. Knox, Secretary of State.

By Governor Simeon E. Baldwin,
State of Connecticut.

By His Excellency Simeon E. Baldwin,
Governor.

A Proclamation.

Pursuant to a venerable custom, originating in 1639, the first year of the history of this commonwealth, I appoint Thursday, the 30th day of November, as a day of

Thanksgiving

to Almighty God for the blessings of the year.

While during its course, other countries have been and are the seat of war, and of all the sadness and suffering that war involves, our own land has been in perfect peace. For this; for the strong foundations of civil government that our fathers laid; for the long life of republican institutions in Connecticut as colony and state; and for free America, I recommend that on the date above appointed, our people gather in their homes and churches to render reverent praise and thanks to the Giver of all good.

Given under my hand and seal of the State, at the Capitol in Hartford, this first day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and eleven, and the Independence of the United States, the one hundred and thirty-sixth.

Simeon E. Baldwin.
By His Excellency's Command:
Matthew H. Rogers,
Secretary.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Gov Foss Refers to People's Belief in Incorruptible Citizenship as Greater Than Any Form of Material Wealth.

Designating Thursday, the 30th, as Thanksgiving day, Gov Foss yesterday issued the following proclamation:—

By and with the advice and consent of the council, I appoint Thursday, the 30th of November, as a day of Thanksgiving and praise.

Upon Thanksgiving day let us all go to our several places of worship, reverently reaffirming our gratitude to God and reaffirming our religious faith.

Inasmuch as Thanksgiving is a day of feasting as well as praise, it is fitting that all citizens remember the duty and the privilege of giving, in proportion as they have received.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Gov Mead of Vermont Says a Good Word for the Forefathers.

Gov John A. Mead of Vermont has issued his Thanksgiving day proclamation. It follows:—

"The world is indebted to New England for its best inspirations and to the Pilgrims for its highest ideals. Here was the first home of civil and religious liberty, for our forefathers planted in the virgin soil of an unbroken wilderness the seeds of the Christian faith which ripened into the richest harvest ever garnered. It is the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. From the crest of time's civilization, we cross the span of three centuries crowded with events and crowned with achievements. A fact stands out clear and defined. The colonist made the present and is fashioning the future. The warm and throbbing hearts of the Pilgrims are now cold and pulseless, but their unmarked graves are not forgotten. They are eternal fountains, from which with ceaseless flow comes the elevating influences which are the safeguard of the republic, and shape the destiny of mankind.

"Without New England and the Pilgrims, free government would have been a failure and liberty only a name. One custom, which they established, was to set apart a day on which to thank Almighty God for His great goodness and continued care. It was their's then; it is a nation's custom, to-day. Devout in its inception, sacred in its character, hallowed by precedent, consecrated by observance, consonant with the spirit that He who decrees a nation's rise or fall, had guided the colonist; this custom is now sanctioned by law.

"Therefore, I, John A. Mead, governor, do hereby designate Thursday, the 30th day of November as Thanksgiving day in Vermont. The bountiful harvest of the fields and the richer harvest of American institutions have been with lavish hand bestowed upon the people of this commonwealth. In the home with our loved ones and in places of public worship with neighbors and friends, let us observe the day. Bind closer the ties of kinship, strengthen the bonds which unite us as citizens of our state, draw nearer to the Divine Master, who has endowed us with that peace and plenty and that prosperity which makes the present the world's greatest epoch and American citizenship synonymous with lofty purposes, civic honor and the highest conceptions of private and public duty. As we look back, this Thanksgiving day rises from a past rich in legends and storied deeds, but let us look beyond the boundaries of success. There is want as well as plenty; there are victims as well as victors; those who suffer as well as those who rejoice. Let this day be full of good deeds and kind acts, where misfortune or sorrow darkens, for thus we manifest in the highest sense our realization of the goodness of God and make evident man's humanity to man."

One of the interested and appreciative members of the great congregation which attended the union Thanksgiving service at the First church Thursday morning was Miss Emily Howard of 99 School street. Her grandfather, Rev Bezaleel Howard, was a pastor of the First church early in the last century, and was obliged to give up the position because of his liberal religious views. He subsequently became one of the organizers of the Unitarian society here. Miss Howard was naturally impressed by the change in denominational divisions since that early period, one of the participants in the service on Thursday being the pastor of the church of the Unity.

DINNER AND LOVING CUP

FOR DR. WILLIAM D. MORGAN.

Dec 2, — 1911 —

At Hartford Club, Saturday Night—

Dr. Morgan To-day on His Way to

DR. WILLIAM D. MORGAN.

Steuerman, James C. Skinner. There was a chair at the table for former Lieutenant-Governor Everett J. Lake, but he was unavoidably absent. The autographs of the fourteen diners and that of Mr. Lake were engraved in fac-simile on the loving cup.

Warren S. Chapin has entered partnership with Charles H. De Forest of the De Forest advertising agency of this city, and will be actively identified with that company. Mr Chapin was graduated from Amherst college in 1907, and has since been engaged in advertising work in this city,—with Forbes & Wallace, the Phelps publishing company, and the Springfield board of trade Western New England magazine. The De Forest agency have moved into their new suite of office rooms, 370 and 372 in the Woods building, 389 Main street.

Miss Elizabeth Cheney, the youngest daughter of Mrs. B. P. Cheney, sr., and Carl Frederick Kaufmann of Basel, Switzerland, were married at No. 32 Marlboro street, Boston, the city home of the bride, at half past twelve o'clock, on Monday, the Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, minister of Arlington Street church, officiating. It was strictly a family wedding, those present including Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Cehney, jr. (Julia Arthur), Dr. and Mrs. William H. Baltzell (Alice S. Cheney), Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Davis (Mary Cheney) and their two boys, Masters John and George Bancroft Davis; Professor and Mrs. William H. Schofield and Mrs. Schofield's children, Charles W. Cheney, Ruth Cheney and William H. Cheney.

35
Springfield

Dec 1, 1911

Dec 4, 1911

THE GRANTS' ANCIENT HOME

OLD GRANT HOME

HOUSE AT EAST WIND

FINE COLONIAL ARCH OUT OF F TIME I

An Account of the Old Dw
the People Who Lived in stead Likely to Be Sol Preserve It as a Colonia

Henry G. L

LANDMARK

Once again
at East W
hands and th
ownership th
Grant faml maintained
on 250 year

Doorway of the Grant Mansion, South Windsor

Henry G. Lorentz, president of the Hartford Pattern and Model Company of this city, and he bought the home of Mrs. James Godfrey Wilson of Larchmont Manor, N. Y. Mrs. Wilson bought the place at auction at the time that the latest direct descendant, Ralph M. Grant, formerly of East Windsor Hill, but now of New Haven, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court. Mrs. Wilson is an aunt of Ralph M. Grant's on his mother's side, so that this sale to Mr. Lorentz makes the first time that the home has been owned completely out-

TRUSTEE SELLS THE

ROSSELL GRANT FARM

It Was Divided and Sold to Four Different People.

GEN ULYSSES S. GRANT.

[Whose grandfather was born in the East Windsor Hill homestead.]

ists.
"In the hands of his grandson, the late Colonel Frederick W. Grant, this fine specimen of colonial architecture was carefully preserved in its original state, and around it cluster many historic memories, which he was wont to narrate with ardor. The southeast front room was occupied by General Richard Prescott after his capture by the Americans during the Revolutionary War."

The house, itself, and particularly the doors of this old homestead, known far and wide in this state as the home of Roswell Grant, are fine specimens of colonial architecture. It is Mr. Lorentz's intention to maintain this colonial beauty as far as possible in remodelling the place, and the handsome doors that stand out so prominently will not be marred.

Dec. 21 1911
Daughter of an Old Springfield Family Married at St Michael's Cathedral to a Prominent Physician of Halifax, N. S.

The wedding of Miss Rebecca Miller, daughter of the late Mr and Mrs Charles P. Miller of New York, and Dr Edward Dominic Farrell, a prominent physician of Halifax, N. S., was solemnized yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in St Michael's cathedral, Rev M. A. K. Kelly officiating. The bride has recently embraced the Catholic faith and the ceremony was performed according to the ritual of the church. It was a very quiet wedding, the relatives of the bride and groom and a few of their nearest friends being the only ones present. Miss Mary B. Miller, the sister of the bride, who is a settlement worker at Greenwich house in New York, was her attendant, and the best man was Robert Farrell of Ottawa, Ont., a brother of the groom. The bride was gowned in a tailored traveling suit of black and white and carried mauve orchids. The bridesmaid wore a gown of black velvet. Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's brother, James Russell Miller of Avon place, covers being laid for 12. Mr and Mrs Farrell left on an early afternoon train for New York whence they will go to their home.

Mrs Farrell, who came home in June after a two-years' residence in Florence, Italy, with her sister, is the daughter of an old Springfield family. Her grandfather was James B. Rumrill, who owned and occupied the place at 160 Maple street, which is now the home of Mrs James W. Abbe. She is a niece of the late Col. James A. Rumrill and her father, Charles P. Miller, was a prominent New York lawyer. Mr Farrell is the son of the late Dr Edward Farrell, a noted Canadian physician, who served for two terms in the Canadian Parliament.

Mrs. Albert St. Clair Cook of No. 44 Sycamore road, West Hartford, gave a reception yesterday afternoon from 4 until 7 o'clock to introduce her daughter, Miss Beatrice Cook. A supper was served later for the younger set and the rooms, already decorated, were filled with floral gifts. Mrs. Cook was assisted by Mrs. Lucius F. Robinson, Mrs. C. H. Talcott, Mrs. James Goodwin, Miss Mary Bulkley, Mrs. T. Belknap Beach and Mrs. James P. Andrews, while Miss Cook was assisted in receiving by Miss Helen Newsome, Miss Dagmar Ladensack, Miss Ruth Dunning, Miss Kathleen Dunne and Miss Sylvia Johnstone, classmates of Miss Cook at Briarcliffe, who are also among this season's debutantes. Miss Ellnor Bulkeley, Miss Elizabeth Williams and Miss Frances Dunham served frappe.

Robert H. Chapman of Hartford,

Nov. 7, 1941
Mrs. Frank S. Carey gave a tea this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at her home, No. 630 ~~Washington~~ Washington avenue. She was assisted by Mrs. Arthur G. Woolley, Mrs. Edward B. Hatch, Mrs. Charles G. Lincoln, Mrs. John D. Candee, Mrs. Philo W. Newton, Mrs. Edgar F. Burnham, Mrs. William A. Moore, Mrs. Charles R. Hansel, Mrs. Merwin Gray, Mrs. Arthur G. Newton, Miss Helen Hatch, Miss Jane B. Watson, Miss Emma B. Lane, Miss Nettie L. Whitney, Mrs. J. M. Malory of New Haven and Miss Louise Hurlbut of Webster, Mass.

DECEMBER 4, 1911.

DEUTSCHEN DIEFFEN-IERE

FEBRUARY 1, 1912

UNITY CHURCH HAS ITS INSTALLATION

of Pitts-
ter of this
for such reed upon mmittee."
Damon, Glover and Earl about being indicted. He assured them that when the coaster brake men were incarce-ated flowers would be sent to them.
It would be more fortunate ably. It would be more fortunate

ANDREW J. STOPER.

ch of Pitts-to the Uni-it is undercept. He non at the esterday, a
to be built congregaere several

ing of the 12th Annual Society evening.
—ing call be

ety's com-authorized call to

of Pitts-
ter of this
d for such reed upon committee."
tegraph to night after h has been he resigna-erland took erland was
r five years.
is wife, Mr.
ve with his ident of the meeting.
candidates
in extendenbach fol-
the congre-dantly, a ness at a meeting that n. Rev. Dr. ers. N. Y., the Unity morning. d from the at Pitts- fe was very i which was i handful for as a mem- fenbach at- tership, pay- by reporting ceived his n 1898. He minary of Lancaster, raduated in he taught was a field by the Re- school board on. He was eport if he support a the district nd was or- le started church and led and has the directors

ty for Arbi-olds honor-
e Northside
is a writer

REV. A. C. DIEFFENBACH TO COME TO UNITY CHURCH.

Committee Receives Telegram of Acceptance From Pittsburgh Preacher—Prominent in That City.

GIFTS FROM HIS PARISHIONERS.

The Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach of Pittsburgh has accepted the call to become the pastor of Unity church, this city, to succeed the Rev. Dr. Jabez T. Sunderland who resigned September 30, 1910. The acceptance was received by Dieffenbach, to-day, chairman of the committee to select a pastor.

It is not stated whether Dieffenbach is of the Hartford family he left this morning to see his wife's former home in Penn., before his new work. How service at Unity church will be the society he has his pastoral duties.

Regret of

The Rev. Dr. J. T. Sunderland, the pulpit of the Ascension church might become a Unitarian denomination. The Ascension future plans his farewells. He received a telegraph late this morning concerning the news.

"I was chairman among the people who seeks my service a most delightful duty. At his final members of the church in the effort to hide words of the

Tribute

The high esteem in which Dieffenbach is held in Pittsburgh is shown by the fact that W. J. S. Her church consists of

"Ten years of laboring with the people has bound together our people so that it is a sense of grievance to view the service of a consistory of the people.

you, our leader, who organized us into a united and an efficient force and Mrs. Dieffenbach Remembered.

The consistory, on behalf of itself and the congregation, presented to the retiring minister sets of "Plutarch's Lives" and "De Maupassant's Works." C. A. Muehlbronner made the speech.

The friendship between the minister's wife and the women of the congregation was remembered when a pendant of sapphires and pearls with a diamond was given Mrs. Dieffenbach.

The Rev. Mr. Dieffenbach was active in the good government campaign a few years ago in Pittsburgh, north-side, and at the recent election was made a school visitor for the Twenty-seventh ward. He is a director of the Pennsylvania Society for Arbitration.

THE GIFT.

Miss Evelyn K. Dean, one of the celebrated Dean twin sisters, widely known from Bar Harbor to Palm Beach, who was courted by dukes and lords until driven to making the announcement that when she accepted a husband he would be a good American citizen, is to be a bride on December 5, next. The bridegroom will be Mr. Charles F. Kehoe of New Rochelle, and the union will bear the hallmark of a real romance, for the

DR. WILLIAMS' RECIPIENT OF SURPRISE AND SUN-DIAL.

Gift of Jeremiah Wadsworth Branch and Presented by Charles Hopkins Clark. Dec 6, 1911.

RETIRING PRESIDENT HONORED

DEDICATE SUN DIAL AT HOME OF DR. WILLIAMS.

JUNE 29, 1912.

Jeremiah Wadsworth Branch, S. A. R., Meets With President on Pleasant Occasion—Board of Managers' Doings.

MOST OF MEMBERS PRESENT.

The sun dial, presented to Dr. G. C. F. Williams, president of the Connecticut society, Sons of the American Revolution, last spring at a banquet at the Hartford club, was dedicated at the home of Dr. Williams, No. 990 Prospect avenue, Friday afternoon.

Nearly all the 250 members of Colonel Jeremiah Wadsworth branch were present. The dial is a gift from the branch to Dr. Williams and was set

The sun in his garden, on a marble shaft, Friday. The dedication was without stand, of ceremony though the Beeman and Hatch orchestra furnished patriotic music and there was a display of the

The pedestal on which the sun dial was placed was received from flag. The pedestal on which the sun dial was placed was received from flag.

Wednesday.

A brass plate is fastened to the pedestal. It contains the following inscription: Colonel Jeremiah Wadsworth, Connecticut.

Dr. G.

On the pedestal is engraved the following inscription: "The sun dial was dedicated to you."

The maker of the pedestal is Meyerowitz, a keeper will be Dr. Williams Prospect avenue.

The Rev. Dr. Williams' paper on Steiner, who was (A report of printed elsewhere James Monahan, 50 years old, a soldier, was published in the paper on February 12, 1911. Joseph L. Barbour will be the speaker.

For All Purposes.

The Best COAL

Shoes
Furnishings and Clothing, Hats,

Joseph L. Barbour will be the speaker. Secretary.

THE WILLOW-PATTERN PLATE

And its Queer Story of the Course of Oriental True Love That Didn't Run Smooth.

Among the "old blue plates" which are so treasured by people who have them not, perhaps, is more interesting than the "willow-pattern" plate. There are variations of the familiar design, but the variations are very slight. In one pattern there is one little figure on the bridge, in another two and on a third three. In other respects the picture is always the same. The very humble home of a lover is shown at the upper left-hand corner,

A WILLOW-PATTERN PLATE.

while below, to the right, is depicted the handsomer dwelling of his loved one, surrounded by walled-in gardens, the extent of which indicates great wealth. The willows are always there, as is the stream, with its bridge and boat.

The lover going over the bridge to see his lady is known as the "one man" pattern. The second output of the Caugley potteries was the "two men" pattern, which showed in reality two lovers on the bridge; they were eloping, so goes the story, with intent to hide till nightfall, when the boat should take them away.

MADE OF BLUE CHINA.

joy without canker or cark, a pleasure eternally new, float on the glaze and the mark as that's ancient and blue; ped, all the centuries through, since the chime of it rang, fashioned it, figure and hue, sign of the Emperor Hwang.

gions (their tails, you remark, inches of gillyflowers grew),—ah came out of the ark, se lie in wait for his crew? orted, they snapped, and they ir mighty of fin and of fang, portraits celestials drew, gn of the Emperor Hwang.

ot with a cot in the park, ark where the peach-blossoms lovers eloped in the dark, ed, and were changed into two birds that eternally flew he boughs of the may, as thought to take his le was undoubtedly true n of the Emperor Hwang.

ENVOY.

d at my ecstasies, do, : your tongue has a tang, e never heeded a shrew n of the Emperor Hwang.

—Andrew Lang, agic, they were turned into turtle doves, and so escaped his cruel rage. And as turtle doves we lge" design is e followed by rom whom, it the boat, are forever after ned into birds s. id, is thus re- y The Family

Chinese noble- ter named Li- cheng called In spite of the Chang wood he asked the arry his daugh- a terrible rage to give his con- e lovers, being e another, felt art, so they ar- and get mar- the mandarin

while Chang's not far distant. thought to take his the mandarin's his friend, he come one night self across the soon after the r the runaway followed them. h that he was eath when, by —Andrew Lang, agic, they were turned into turtle doves, and so escaped his cruel rage. And as turtle doves we

after!

Now, if we look at the "willow pattern," we shall see Li-chi, Chang and the friendly gardener crossing the bridge on their way to the boat, which lies in the middle of the water. The upper left-hand corner of the plate is filled with the picture of Chang's island home, while the doves which are seen flying about near the top represent the lovers after they had been transformed. On the right-hand side of the plate stands the mandarin's palace, in

FEBRUARY 28, 1916.

The Willow Pattern Ware.

To the Editor of The Times:

In reply to the inquiry by Mr. Charles Collard Adams, in your issue of February 26th, I would say relative to the "Willow Pattern," that the motive from which the pattern was adapted is found on Chinese porcelains, especially that class known as "Canton China." It was exported from Canton to England by the East India companies, as early as the middle of the eighteenth century, and from England to this country. It was also called "India China." No origin can be cited for the design in China, it is simply a conglomerate landscape in Chinese style, and varies much in detail on the different pieces. I find no Chinese example which has the two doves.

The most important pottery in Shropshire, England, was at Caughley, established about 1751. In 1772 Mr. Thomas Turner took over the works. Turner was an excellent chemist, a skilful designer and engraver. In 1780 Turner designed the "Willow Pattern," adapting it from the Chinese, and Thomas Minton engraved it.

So popular did this pattern become, that it was copied by all the leading potters of Staffordshire. Turner's plates were octagonal in shape, medium blue in color, and if marked, bore a capital S, for Salopian, the name of the factory, or a crescent mark, or the word Salopian.

The copyists varied the design slightly, changing the pattern of the fence, and the border, sometimes one, two or three persons on the bridge. One might form a considerable collection by obtaining examples of all the varieties of the "Willow Pattern." We find modern copies of it, in blue, brown, pink and black.

The English potters used it on earthenware, I have never seen the full pattern, including the doves, on English porcelain.

It has served as a theme for many writers, who have immortalized it in prose and verse. The legend is as follows:

"The mandarin had an only daughter, Li-chi, who fell in love with Chang, her father's secretary, and he lived in the island cottage at the top of the plate. The mandarin forbade the match and the lovers eloped, and lay concealed for a time in the gardener's cottage, from thence made their escape to the island home of the lover.

"The father pursued them with a whip and would have beaten them to death had not the gods changed them into turtle doves.

"At the time of the elopement the willow shed its leaves."

ALBERT HASTINGS PITKIN, Curator of Ceramics, Morgan Memorial.

YORK SOCIETY OF LATE YEARS.

HISTORY ON BLUE CHINA

Early American Scenes and Heroes Immortalized in Pottery

People interested in old china will greet with enthusiasm Ada Walker Camehl's volume "The Blue-China Book" (E. P. Dutton & Co; $5). It is a large and showy volume, and there are over 200 fine half-tones in color, illustrating the plates, platters, pitchers, etc., which are described in the text. Mrs. Camehl has not presented blue china here indiscriminately, but has specialized on Staffordshire historical pottery and in this field has further limited herself to early American history. It is a book that will delight the general reader as well as the collector. While dealing with blue china, the author has often let in a picture of red or mulberry or black pieces, without detriment to the theme.

The volume consists mainly of two parts, a tour of the country and five leading cities, and the nation's builders and their work. Besides these 15 chapters, there are three more called supplementary, the first of which describes and illustrates quite fully the collection of presidential china in the White House, while the third takes up the famous willow pattern and some other important blue series. After a short tour of the young nation's domain, the reader is taken successively to "the crooked but interesting town of Boston," old New York, the Philadelphia of Penn and Franklin, early Baltimore and Washington, the new capital.

The second part begins with Columbus, the Pilgrims and Penn, then Washington and the Revolution are shown, Franklin and his precepts, Lafayette's visit, naval heroes, the Erie canal, the new railroads, etc. The chapter on the presidential china is one of the most interesting. The public is probably aware of the custom of refurnishing the White House for each new occupant, and it is interesting to note the changing fashions of a century or more in table porcelains. At last a satisfactory design destined to some permanence was installed by Mrs. Roosevelt and continues in use to this day.

The text of the volume is, within its limits, a handbook of American history, and the antiquarian will find much of interest preserved here in the verses and other inscriptions that adorn the pottery under consideration. The publishers have co-operated well with the author in making a book that is a delight to the artistic sense in every respect.

36 38

REV. A. C. DIEFFENBACH TO
NEW CLERK OF HARTFORD
BUSINESS MEN'S ASS'N.

Dec 1911
William I. Barber, Succeeding William N. Pelton, to Begin His Duties Monday.

For 1912 and for all succeeding years, it is hoped, the Hartford Business Men's situated an members at it the best
one of the
this direct
William G. appointmer
clerk, succ
whose resig
short time
his new du engaged in every day generally o
and manufa

Mr. Barl
man, and work with a little amb ord of effici
act as clerk
meetings, a routine of thus reliev
much detail

Mr. Barb
the Traveler
the last six employ of pany. He comes to the association highly recommended, and is confidently expected to maintain the high standard which the association has set,
not only in its business matters, but in the social events which from time to time distinguish it.

Mr. Pelton's Retirement.

At a meeting of the special committee to act upon William N. Pelton's resignation and to secure his successor, the following resolutions
were adopted:

Resolved, That in the retirement of our valued and trustworthy clerk, William N.
Pelton, we, the members of the Hartford Business Men's association, part with an old and esteemed friend and official,
whose services have been faithfully and efficiently performed and who has taken an intelligent and loyal interest in the

HENRY W. CONKLIN IS LIBRARIAN EMERITUS.

Dec 13 - 1911
Chosen to Honorary Position by South
Park M. E. Sunday-School After 30 Years' Service—Is Seriously Ill.

At the annual meeting of the Sunday-school board of the South Park Methodist Sunday-school, Wednesday evening, in Boardman Memorial chapel, a resolution was passed expressing the sympathy of the board for the serious illness of Henry W.
Conklin, who has served thirty consecutive years as librarian of the school. In recognition of this long period of faithful service and the love and esteem in which he is held, he was elected, by a unanimous vote, librarian emeritus.

Mr. Conklin and Mrs. Conklin are living with their son, William E. Conklin, at No. 43 Burton street.

WILLIAM I. BARBER.

Miss Evelyn K. Dean, one of the
E. S. ELMER ILL IN HARTFORD HOSPITAL IS OLDEST FIREMAN AND LETTER-CARRIER IN
CITY

Elisha Shepard Elmer, who holds the record of being both the oldest veteran letter carrier and the oldest veteran fireman in the city, will in all likelihood spend the holiday season flat on his back in Ward 5 of the Hartford Hospital, where he is at present suffering from acute rheumatism and bronchitis. Although seventeen years over the Biblical allotment of three score and ten, his is such a wonderful constitution—due to clean living, plain food and plenty of exercise—that the physicians have every belief that he will be able to leave the institution early next year. He came there from his home, No. 66
Wooster street, on Sunday, December 3, and is daily receiving many calls from the friends made during his long life in the city.

Splendid care is being taken by Mr.
Elmer at the hospital by his children,
of whom there are three, Mrs. Mary E. Watson of No. 4 East street, Miss Lizzie E. Elmer of No. 66 Wooster street, and Mrs. W. E. Bradley of No.
36 Church street. He has also two grandchildren, Miss Mary E. Watson and Mrs. E. Lewis Upton of No. 62 Edgewood street. When a "Courant" man visited him at the hospital yesterday, he was comfortably propped up in bed, eating a baked apple, and the sound of his voice as he talked reverberated through the ward with the quality of strength much wished for by public speakers.

In Ward 5 there are many old men who have spent the most of their lifetime in Hartford, but Mr. Elmer could undoubtedly entertain them with more stories of old Hartford than they by any manner of chance remember. Mr.
Elmer was born in Bloomfield, October 26, 1825, and can remember almost everything that has happened to the city since his early childhood, beginning, perhaps, with the shower of meteors that startled astronomers in 1832.

When but 21 years old he did fire duty on the old Neptune No. 2 hand-tub, running with it to fires with Al Milton, Sam Barker of Parkville and others. He is the oldest living veteran fireman in the city and is a member of the Hartford Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association. At the display of the city's fire-fighting apparatus on September 28, Mr. Elmer was the oldest man in line, marching along behind one of the old pieces
of apparatus and receiving an occasional lift by hanging on to the tail-piece. The display of energy for a man of his years was remarkable, but to Mr. Elmer it was a very ordinary occurrence, for ever since his boyhood
he has been accustomed to taking long walks.

There was a time, in fact, when Mr.
Elmer distributed letters throughout almost the entire city. He was the third letter carrier Hartford ever had, working for Uncle Sam during the time that Postmaster Edward S. Cleveland was the post office department's representative in this city. Samuel Wiley was the first letter-carrier of Hartford, and, according to Mr. Elmer,

ERILL
FORD HOSPITAL
ST. FIREMAN
ER-CARRIER
CITY
ward Elmer, who is
being both the
carrier and the
man in the city, will
and the hospital
back in Ward 8
hospital, where he
sings from acute
chiric. Although
the Biblical alone
and ten, his is a
stitution—due to
ed and plenty of
physicians have
will be able to
early next week
om his home, 26
on Sunday, Decem
receiving may be
made during the
is being taken to hospital by his
are three, Mrs. M.
W. 4 East street, N.
No. 6 of 61st
W. E. Bradley
T. He has in
Miss Mary E. W
was Upton of N
When a "C
at the hospital
comfortably poss
of a kind ap
a voice as to strength much akers.
are many of
the most of th
but Mr. Elmer
tain them with effort than a
in blossom rem
in Elmer's
can remember
that has happen
easy childhood
with the shor
tallest astronom
ears old he did
hegune No. 2
it to free with
of Parkville
city living
old and is a rd Veterans
association. At the fire-fighting
ber 18, Mr. El
in line, m
of the old
receiving an
ing on to the
of energy for remarkable
very ordinary
sioned to take
in fact, when letters through
He was the
over had, w
during the ward's Cleve
department's
y. Samuel W
-carrier of St
to Mr. Elmer

ERILL
FORD HOSPITAL
ST. FIREMAN
ER-CARRIER
CITY
ward Elmer, who is
being both the
carrier and the
man in the city, will
and the hospital
back in Ward 8
hospital, where he
sings from acute
chiric. Although
the Biblical alone
and ten, his is a
stitution—due to
ed and plenty of
physicians have
will be able to
early next week
om his home, 26
on Sunday, Decem
receiving may be
made during the
is being taken to
hospital by his
are three, Mrs. M.
W. 4 East street, N.
No. 6 of 61st
W. E. Bradley
T. He has in
Miss Mary E. W
was Upton of N
When a "C
at the hospital
comfortably poss
of a kind ap
a voice as to strength much
akers.
are many of
the most of th
but Mr. Elmer
tain them with effort than a
in blossom rem
in Elmer's
can remember
that has happen
easy childhood
with the shor
tallest astronom
ears old he did
hegune No. 2
it to free with
of Parkville
city living
old and is a rd Veterans
association. At
the fire-fighting
ber 18, Mr. El
in line, m
of the old
receiving an
ing on to the
of energy for
remarkable
very ordinary
sioned to take
in fact, when letters through
He was the
over had, w
during the
ward's Cleve
department's
y. Samuel W
-carrier of St
to Mr. Elmer

ERILL
FORD HOSPITAL
ST. FIREMAN
ER-CARRIER
CITY
ward Elmer, who is
being both the
carrier and the
man in the city, will
and the hospital
back in Ward 8
hospital, where he
sings from acute
chiric. Although
the Biblical alone
and ten, his is a
stitution—due to
ed and plenty of
physicians have
will be able to
early next week
om his home, 26
on Sunday, Decem
receiving may be
made during the
is being taken to
hospital by his
are three, Mrs. M.
W. 4 East street, N.
No. 6 of 61st
W. E. Bradley
T. He has in
Miss Mary E. W
was Upton of N
When a "C
at the hospital
comfortably poss
of a kind ap
a voice as to strength much
akers.
are many of
the most of th
but Mr. Elmer
tain them with effort than a
in blossom rem
in Elmer's
can remember
that has happen
easy childhood
with the shor
tallest astronom
ears old he did
hegune No. 2
it to free with
of Parkville
city living
old and is a rd Veterans
association. At
the fire-fighting
ber 18, Mr. El
in line, m
of the old
receiving an
ing on to the
of energy for
remarkable.
very ordinary
sioned to his
in fact, when letters through
He was the
over had, w
during the
ward's Cleve
department's
y. Samuel W
-carrier of St
to Mr. Elmer

ERILL
FORD HOSPITAL
ST. FIREMAN
ER-CARRIER
CITY
ward Elmer, who is
being both the
carrier and the
man in the city, will
and the hospital
back in Ward 8
hospital, where he
sings from acute
chiric. Although
the Biblical alone
and ten, his is a
stitution—due to
ed and plenty of
physicians have
will be able to
early next week
om his home, 26
on Sunday, Decem
receiving may be
made during the
is being taken to
hospital by his
are three, Mrs. M.
W. 4 East street, N.
No. 6 of 61st
W. E. Bradley
T. He has in
Miss Mary E. W
was Upton of N
When a "C
at the hospital
comfortably poss
of a kind ap
a voice as to strength much
akers.
are many of
the most of th
but Mr. Elmer
tain them with effort than a
in blossom rem
in Elmer's
can remember
that has happen
easy childhood
with the shor
tallest astronom
ears old he did
hegune No. 2
it to free with
of Parkville
city living
old and is a rd Veterans
association. At
the fire-fighting
ber 18, Mr. El
in line, m
of the old
receiving an
ing on to the
of energy for
remarkable
very ordinary
sioned to take
in fact, when letters through
He was the
over had, w
during the
ward's Cleve
department's
y. Samuel W
-carrier of St
to Mr. Elmer

[illegible]

ERILL
FORD HOSPITAL
ST. FIREMAN
ER-CARRIER
CITY
ward Elmer, who is
being both the
carrier and the
man in the city, will
and the hospital
back in Ward 8
hospital, where he
sings from acute
chiric. Although
the Biblical alone
and ten, his is a
stitution—due to
ed and plenty of
physicians have
will be able to
early next week
om his home, 26
on Sunday, Decem
receiving may be
made during the
is being taken to
hospital by his
are three, Mrs. M.
W. 4 East street, N.
No. 6 of 61st
W. E. Bradley
T. He has in
Miss Mary E. W
was Upton of N
When a "C
at the hospital
comfortably poss
of a kind ap
a voice as to strength much
akers.
are many of
the most of th
but Mr. Elmer
tain them with effort than a
in blossom rem
in Elmer's
can remember
that has happen
easy childhood
with the shor
tallest astronom
ears old he did
hegune No. 2
it to free with
of Parkville
city living
old and is a rd Veterans
association. At
the fire-fighting
ber 18, Mr. El
in line, m
of the old
receiving an
ing on to the
of energy for
remarkable.
very ordinary
sioned to his
in fact, when letters through
He was the
over had, w
during the
ward's Cleve
department's
y. Samuel W
-carrier of St
to Mr. Elmer

[illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible]

ward Elmer, who is being both the doctor and the driver in the city, will take the body back to the hospital, where he is recovering from acute meningitis. Although one of the Biblical doctors and ten, his situation—due to the need and plenty of physicians have yet to be able to save his life. He is now in his home, No. 6 on Sunday, December 1, receiving many calls made during the day.

He is being taken to the hospital by his children, three, Mrs. Mary A. Elmer, street No. 6 of W. B. Bradley street. He has in his wife Mary A. Elmer was Upton of No. 6.

When a "Cure" at the hospital, comfortably placed a bed of a nurse's voice as to his strength, much to the surprise of the doctors.

He is many of the most of them, but Mr. Elmer contains them without effort than the blameless memory of a Bloomer, the one can remember that has happened to any child, but with the above-mentioned astronomer's eyes old he did to the age of 2, and it to free with a lot of Parkville, old living in the city and is a member of Veterans Association. At the time of his fighting at the battle of the river in the middle of the old place, receiving an award for his service on the battle of energy for his remarkable. He is a very ordinary person, but his history is so interesting to him.

In fact, when he returns through the city, he was the first to be met, and was during the year and a half of Cleveland's department of health. Samuel W. Elmer, the carrier of the body to Mr. Elmer.

REV. A. C. DIEFFENBACH TO
MR. AND MRS. ROBOTHAM WEDDED FIFTY YEARS.

Dec 15, 1911
Will Observe Happy Occasion at Home
of Daughter, No. 395 Sigourney Street, Friday Afternoon and Eve.

WERE BORN IN OLD ENGLAND.

Mr. and Mrs. John Robotham will celebrate Friday afternoon and evening the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding by meeting friends at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Slocum, at No. 395 Sigourney street. They are living temporarily with another married daughter in Southington, Mrs. Percy E. Shoemaker, Mr. Shoemaker being the pastor of the Southington Methodist church, but their home is in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Robotham were married in Sheffield, Eng., December 15, 1861. Mrs. Robotham was Miss Turton prior to her marriage. She was 16 and Mr. Robotham was 22. Mr. Robotham came to this country in a sailing vessel in 1863, stopping in New York. Mrs. Robotham came over two years later. They lived for a time in Bridgeport and came to Hartford about 1895 and remained for several years. Mr. Robotham was during his residence here employed at the Hartford Cycle works and the Hartford Rubber works. They were members of St. Paul's Methodist church. Mr. Robotham is a member of the order of Sons of St. George and Mrs. Robotham of the order of the Daughters of St. George, of which she is a past grand president.

The couple have five children living. They are Annie Ellnor, who is Mrs. Walter A. Trick of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mary A., who is Mrs. Charles E. Harrison, of Stratford; Alice Turton, who is Mrs. Shoemaker; Maud L., who is Mrs. Theodore W. Pomeroy of Hartford, and Eva L., who is Mrs. Slocum.

There are eight grandchildren—the son of Mrs. Trick, three daughters and a son of Mrs. Harrison, son and daughter of Mrs. Shoemaker, and the daughter of Mrs. Pomeroy.

The reception will be informal and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robotham are desired to attend without ceremonious invitation. The hours are to be from 2 to 6 and from 8 to 10 p. m.

A warrant deed recorded in the town clerk's office shows the transfer by the Security company, trustee under the will of John G. Mix, late of Hartford, to Joseph Hirth, property known as Nos. 253 and 255 Main street and No. 58 John street, the consideration being $28,000.

New Haven Groom Outwits Father-in-

Jan 11 Law Dec 16.
Ernest Franklin Tyler, son of Mr and Mrs Morris Franklin Tyler of New Haven, and well known in that city, and Miss Frances Gregory, daughter of an old New York family, were married in New York late Saturday, outwitting Charles E. Gregory, the girl's father. While Mr Gregory was on a sick-bed the couple arranged to be married and tried to at the Little Church Around the Corner, but found that Mr Gregory had heard of their plans and ordered the pastor not to tie the knot. The wedding party went to the home of friends and called in another minister who married the couple. The news was broken to the father over

Miss Evelyn L. T. REFUSED TO MARRY
FORMER NEW HAVEN MAN

Bride's Father Objected, Though Daughter Was 32 Years Old.

New York, Dec. 17.—Ernest Franklin T. a decorative artist, living at No. West Fifty-fifth street, this city, and formerly lived in New Haven, Conn., and Miss Frances Gregory, daughter of Charles E. Gregory of No. 2 Washington Square North, this city, wished to be married by Rev. Dr. George C. Haughton, rector of the Little Church Around the Corner, but he refused. Despite the fact that Miss Gregory was 32 years old and Mr. Tyler was 34, because the bride-to-be admitted that her father objected to the marriage, Rev. Dr. Haughton's secretary informed them that the clergyman would not unite them. Consequently, they went to the home of Dr. John A. Wyeth, No. 844 Madison avenue, this city, whose wife is Miss Gregory's aunt, and there were married by Rev. Howard C. Robbins, of the Church of the Incarnation.

Mr. Tyler is the son of Morris Franklin Tyler, the latter being well known in New Haven and through the state of Connecticut, having at one time been manager of the Southern New England Telephone Company.

Daniel F. Wadsworth announces the marriage of his sister, Caroline Sisson, to Orlando C. Lewis, jr., December 16, 1911. They will reside at No. 1117 Albany avenue.

SHE IS 105 YEARS OF AGE

AND SHE DANCES GAYLY.

Dec 1911
Relative of Hartford Man Proposes to Honor the President at Coming Ball in New York.

Dr. S. Herman Gittelman of this city, who attended the wedding of his cousin, Miss Molly Marcus, to Max Kleitsky in New York last Sunday, had the pleasure of dancing with his great-grandmother, Mrs. Rachel Marcus, who is 105 years old. Dr. Gittelman says that Mrs. Marcus was one of the liveliest and most enduring dancers of all the wedding party and that at the close of the dance program she said that she was not in the least tired, though she had been one of the most popular dancers of the evening.

Mrs. Marcus lives at the Daughters of Jacob home on East Broadway. For the benefit of the home there will be a ball on January 27 in the great armory on Thirty-fourth street. All the prominent Hebrews in the city are interested in the ball. Among the distinguished guests will be President Taft, Secretary Knox, Secretary Nagel and Judge Rosalsky of the New York court. Mrs. Marcus has sent the president an invitation to dance with her, and it is not likely that Mr. Taft will decline the opportunity to dance with a dear old lady who has attained the great age of 105 years.

Baltimore, Md., February 22.—It is learned here that an agreement has been signed in New York by which Dr. Smith Hollins McKim for a val-

C. HAZELTINE BASSHOR

RADLY HURT BY SHOT

Mystery Surrounds Case, T Doctor Says 'Twas Accident

ore, Aug. 20.—C. Hazeltine ore, Aug. 20.—C. Hazeltinger, and Al-husband of the former Mrs. agreement Emerson, mother of Mrs. Al-rence in New anderbilt, is in a serious con- which released Cambridge as a result of a Emerson, his wound in the head. Mrs. erick McCorwas divorced three years ago tion resultant tain Isaac E. Emerson, the ing her huscapitalist of this city. sum of money

ing to accounts received mil-annual in-mbridge, Mr. Basshor was lump sum the foot of a flight of stairs:ly for coun-
sidence, Algonquin Manor,
nbridge, at 7 o'clock last Emerson.
conscious and bleeding. The, McCormic
s empty, except for servants. it is hinted asshor, who was at the home ry Mrs. Mcl and Mrs. Ewell, eight miles secures his turned to Algonquin Manor named. She has not been e and refused to respond to ould be incalls.

MARRIED.

ice Goldsborough, who is attached to the U. S. consular office in London, declared tonight that the man was accidentally shot
while on duty.

Dec 17

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and Mrs. Smith Hollins McKim, formerly Miss Margaret Emerson of Baltimore, were married at Reigate at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the banns having been announced in the customary manner. The couple have gone on a motor wedding trip. It was said at the Vanderbilt apartments in London last night, that their destination was not known.

the names of
chief heir of sons, and Mrs
e been closely
it was report-
ried, Mr Van-richest of the

BALTIMORE SOCIETY MAN DENIES STRAINED RELATIONS

D FROM SHOTWOUNDS

Baltimore, August 22.—C. Hasselshor, prominent in Baltimore and club circles, died at his home near Cambridge, Maryland from the effects of gunshot wounds received last Wednesday.

Mrs. Basshor, who was in attendance at her husband's bedside, collapsed under the strain and was entertained for her recovery.

The divorced wife of Captain Basshor, and the mother of Mrs. J. Vanderbilt.

It is that Mr. Basshor shot himself with a suicidal intent were denied by physicians, and members of the household.

Mrs. Basshor in a statement through the doctor declared that reports of strained relations between her husband and herself were unfounded.

He had been shooting guinea and Alfred said, and accidentally shot myself for Dr. McKim after returning to the house to get gun away.

The alleged alienation of his wife's affections. It was also stated that in consideration of this release Dr McKim was

DECEMBER 20, 1915
LENOX ESTATE IS LEASED
TO MRS ALFRED G. VANDERBILT

She Takes Ventfort Hall for Two-Years' Term

Mrs Alfred G. Vanderbilt has leased Ventfort hall at Lenox of the estate of the late George H. Morgan of New York city for two years. This property has 14 acres. It has a frontage on Walker and Kemble streets and adjoins the properties of Mrs Giraud Foster and F. Augustus Schermerhorn. The manor house is of Elizabethan architecture and has 40 rooms. The villa, two lodges and stables are of brick and brownstone. The property, one of the finest in Lenox, is surrounded by a brick wall and evergreen hedge. There is an inclosed garden and greenhouses. The property is planted with magnificent trees, many imported. George H. Morgan, late owner of the estate, bought it from the heirs of Ogden Hagererty, who were among the early summer residents in Lenox. It had been the summer home of the late William C. Whitney and was celebrated for its beautiful grounds.

The house was constructed by Mr Morgan about 1890. He passed much of his time there until his death in April, 1911. The executor of his will, the late J. Pierpont Morgan, stripped the house of its rich furnishings and they were sold in a New York auction room. Since that time the house has been tenantless. Mrs Vanderbilt will be called upon to furnish the villa. There are 15 rooms in the basement, including a bowling alley, and the house has 23 bedrooms, together with 20 bath rooms. Mrs Vanderbilt, who returned to New York Saturday from a visit with Mr and Mrs William B. O. Field, will go to Lenox next month to arrange for furnishing the house. William Cameron is superintendent of the estate. The lease which was made through Curtis & Delafield is said to carry an agreement that the estate may be bought at a stated price within Mrs Vanderbilt's term as tenant.

receive a large sum of money in semi-annual instalments.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt sailed for England on the steamer Lusitania on November 29 last. Just prior to his departure he reiterated his denial that he was soon to be married.

The wedding

personal friend

from London

Reigate. On

that Mr Van

married bef

The witness

BALTIMO

WED

Bride's Pa

Divorced

Daughter

FORMER

London,

Gwynne Va

Emerson M

Isaac E. E

in A

married at noon.

Reigate

miles from

Vanderbilt

to Brighto

popular.

ple went av

rived later

lane, the L

derbilt, wh friends.

Reigate

cial town

strictly.

cial licens

strict regist

ced by t

resided fo

worth, a v

Mr. Van

rive. He

Kim, who

Betchwort

gown and feathers.

Groom

Superint

performed

Mr. Hands

riages. M

dence as

scribed him

means," to

names of hi

Mrs. McK

followed w

ents. attend

The with

Cormack, J.

Ware and R.

After the

to the resid

McKim, The

breakfast,

and Mrs. Va

don.

A marriage

Sunday is a

and can only

permission of the arrangement

Cormack t

secure priva

of the sec

would dream

large com

pany of cabi

net officers,

ing celebrat

government

officials and women of

over, the ho

their families

went by rail.

Miss Mc

is devoted to

Cormack t

the daughter

of Mrs.

the streets w

Isaac E. Emerson.

boi

G.

wol

are

A

Mrs

Mis

mor

rey,

Van

Ellen

Janu

Vand

Isaac

the c

then

The

Vand

Capt

paten

Baltir

son s

McKin

action

decre

fore h

is said

tions a

son fa

Dr. M

SECO

Newp

Gwynne

boy well

at 7 o'clock

Farm, in

This n

bilt has

performed

Mr. Hands

farm yes

riages. M

relatives

dence as

pretty g

scribed him

Wi

means," to

names of hi

Washi

Mrs. McK

followed w

inet will

ents. attend

The with

Adoo's s

Cormack, J.

Miss Eth

Ware and R.

Baltimore

WILL

Attends

Washin

Wilson le

B

by autom

a permission

of the arrangement

Cormick t

the

secure priva

of the sec

would dream

large com

pany of cabi

net officers,

ing celebrat

government

officials and

women of

over, the ho

their families

went by rail.

Miss Mc

is devoted to

Cormack t

the daughter

of Mrs.

the streets w

Isaac E. Emerson.

Miss

Both of Her Parents Pleased.

Baltimore, Md., December 18.—Captain Isaac E. Emerson of this city, wealthy drug manufacturer, received yesterday afternoon a letter from

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, of New York, stating that he was soon to be married.

The wedding

personal friend

from London

Reigate. On

that Mr Van

married bef

The witness

BALTIMO

WED

boi

G.

wol

are

A

Mrs

Mis

mor

rey,

Van

Ellen

Janu

Vand

Isaac

the c

then

The

Vand

Capt

paten

Baltir

son s

McKin

action

decre

fore h

is said

tions a

son fa

Dr. M

SECO

Newp

Gwynne

boy well

at 7 o'clock

Farm, in

This n

bilt has

performed

Mr. Hands

farm yes

riages. M

relatives

dence as

pretty g

scribed him

Wi

means," to

names of hi

Washi

Mrs. McK

followed w

inet will

ents. attend

The with

Adoo's s

Cormack, J.

Miss Eth

Ware and R.

Baltimore

WILL

Attends

Washin

Wilson le

B

by autom

a

permission

of the arrangement

Cormick t

the

secure priva

of the sec

would dream

large com

pany of cabi

net officers,

ing celebrat

government

officials and

women of

over, the ho

their families

went by rail.

Miss Mc

is devoted to

Cormack t

the daughter

of Mrs.

the streets w

Isaac E. Emerson.

MRS. VANDERBILT TO WED DIRECTOR OF U. S. MINT.

Marriage Will Take Place Early Next Month at Bride's Estate in Berkshires.

GROOM IS FRIEND OF WILSON

Washington, May 30.—Mrs. Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt and Ray T. Baker, director of the mint, will be married at Mrs. Vanderbilt's country place at Lenox, Mass., early in June. Announcement was made today by Mrs. Vanderbilt's father, Captain Isaac E. Emerson of Baltimore.

Will Go to West.

After the wedding ceremony at Homewood, Mrs. Vanderbilt's estate, Mr. Baker will take his bride for a trip to California and the west, and upon their return they will live in Washington.

Mr. Baker comes from Nevada, where he was engaged in the mining business. About four years ago he went to Russia as secretary to the American ambassador at Petrograd, and on his return here a little more than a year ago was appointed director of the mint by President Wilson. He is prominent in the White House circle and has accompanied the President and Secretary Tumulty on several trips. His father was a California lawyer, chief counsel for the Southern Pacific railway system and his brother was attorney general of Nevada.

Senator as Best Man.

Mr. Baker's best man will be Senator Key Pittman

Mrs. A. G. Vanderbilt in Marble

Nov 1916—[Copyright, Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.]

This lovely sculpture by C. S. Pietro is considered his masterpiece and has been the center of interest at the show of American sculpture in the Gorham galleries, New York, since it was put in place Monday. It shows Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt in a pose expressing delightfully her gracious carriage and splendid poise. Out of the cold marble the sculptor has brought a warm and dominant personality, and the subtle textures of flesh and hair are conveyed by the stone in a manner which proves the mastery of this artist. Mr. Pietro made his studies for the portrait at the summer home of Mrs. Vanderbilt in Lenox. He has become immensely popular with America's wealthiest and most discriminating people, his fame as a carver of marble portraits having become wide after he had executed a commission for a bust of the late J. Pierpont Morgan for Ascoli, the Italian city to which Mr. Morgan restored a famous cope stolen from one of its churches. Last year Mr. Pietro exhibited a bust of John Burroughs at the exhibition. His other recent commissions have included a memorial portrait of the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, whose widow is here shown, and of the Vanderbilt children. These last, however, were unfortunately destroyed by a fire in his studio, last spring, after they had been exhibited. A delightful portrait of one of the children in marble was reproduced on this page before the fire occurred.

Other portraits done by Mr. Pietro have included those of William Howard Taft and Elihu Root. Among imaginative pieces his study "The Mother and the Dead" ranks highest.

THE KNOX-DEW SOCIETY
AT WALDORF-ASTORIA.
Dec 20—1911
Hartford Young Man Weds New York

Miss Caroline Wellborn Dew, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Harvie Dew of No. 65 West Sixty-eighth street, New York, and George Denison Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Northrop Knox of this city, were married, Wednesday night, in the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, in the presence of about 500 persons, including a large number of relatives

er Hartford Man, Now in New eans, Charges Desertion By fe

hes Hiram Slade, formerly a member of the directorate of the New Orleans Railway & Light Company, filed petition in the civil district court, praying for separation from his wife, who was Miss Grace E. Brennen of Hartford, Conn., where they married December 20, 1911.

Slade charges abandonment and tion. He represents that, during 1912, because of business exies, he left New York, where he een living since the date of his age and came to New Orleans
ke part in the management of New Orleans Railway & Light any.

pleaded with his wife to accompany him to New Orleans and she refused, but lived here with him two years, he declared. In 1914, charged, she left him, without provocation, and since that time has refused to return, even refuse to correspond with him, he asserted.

ause of these facts, Mr. Slade that a curator be appointed to ent his wife, that she be comed by the court to return to the monial domicile, and that, if she o comply with the order, he be d a judgment of separation.

es H. Slade, who formerly lived in this city, is the son of Richmond Slade, who was for six years, senior and general manager of the New York City Gas Light Company, leaving five years ago to go to New York. He is now as general manager of the New York electric departments of the New Orleans Railway & Light Company. The younger Slade left Hartford the time his parents moved to New Orleans, returning here to be married. After the marriage he and his wife lived for a time in the West. His wife is now in this city and is living with her sister, Mrs. Thomas Slade, of No. 34 1/2 Capen street.

the ceremony
of the tempo
nated by rop suspended
tioned at the canopy and mounted by
anthemums.

The wedding party entered from the main foyer of the suite and proceeded through the reception room to the east room. They entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march and Lohengrin's was played after the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. James Harvie Dew. The bridegroom, with the Rev. Dr. Stires and his best man, entered from the left. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Knox led the way to the reception room and received the congratulations of their numerous guests. The receiving party in addition to the bride and bridegroom consisted of Dr. and Mrs. James Harvie Dew, Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Knox and the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Stires. After the reception the party repaired to the myrtle room where refreshments were served. An especially elaborate table was set for the bridal party.

The myrtle and east room suites of years. The bridegroom is one of Hartford's popular young men. He is in the automobile business, conducting the agency at No. 210 Pearl street.

Miss Caroline W. Dew.

After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Knox will reside in Hart-
FILED IN Per Oct 12 "at home" to Girard avenue

REPORT FILED IN Div 6412
KNOX DIVORCE SUIT
OCTOBER 12, 1917.

Mrs. Knox Entitled to Freedom, Grace Eliza-Committee Finds. this city and John H. Buck, who was named as ark, N. J., was a committee of the superior court to e of Mr. and hear the contested divorce action of o. 34½ Capen Caroline Dew Knox against George noon, the Rev. D. Knox of this city, has filed his re- pastor of the Congregational port, finding for Mrs. Knox, and the rs. Hills is a matter will come before Judge Ed- Josephine win B. Gager in the court today on ridesmaid and a motion that Mrs. Knox be granted of Albany, N. a divorce in accordance with the re- side, was best Miss Mae Frances Wilson of New York and George D. Knox of this city were married at noon yesterday at the First Methodist Church in this city by the pastor, Rev. Herbert V. Ross. Miss Helene Telmose of New York was bridesmaid and Dr. Charles T. Beach of this city was best man. After a wedding trip in the South, Mr. and Mrs. Knox will reside at No. 482 Farmington avenue.

JANUARY 4, 1918.

by the wedding
erous rooms
case for the enes of rare
ceilings were fers of beau-flowers were throughout rrangements
harge of Os-
r general of er of decora-
was a tri-

early 500 in gling array.
ew of the ided, besides
Mr. and Mrs.
and Mrs.
Robert Allyn
Robert Erwin,
and Mrs.
cky Hill. The ny persons
about the nent in the

The bride
old Virginia has been a city many

in is one of ng men. He ness, conduct-0 Pearl street.
dding trip Mr.
ide in Hart-
"at home" to Girard avenue

publ. 1911
Grace Eliza-
this city and
rk, N. J., was e of Mr. and
r. 34½ Capen
moon, the Rev.
stor of the Congregational
rs. Hills is a ss Josephine ridesmaid and
of Albany, N.
ide, was best
dress of white carried white
l was dressed
The house
rgreens, sug-
Mr. and Mrs.
ndsome pres-
n from their ve at No. 700
ark, N. J., after Jan-
i is the son of
New Orleans,
general man-
ty Gas Light
ted with the

44

Dec 20/1911
Mrs Priscilla Inslee used the telephone for the first time at New Brunswick, N. J., yesterday on her 100th birthday. The telephone company put in an instrument so that she could receive birthday congratulations. The old lady quickly learned its use and spent much of the day with the receiver at her ear.

The Travels of Miss Julia.
(Army and Navy Journal.)

The United States army can now probably claim the world's juvenile traveling record by virtue of the globe trotting of little Miss Julia D. Kitts, daughter of Lieut. William P. Kitts, 21st U. S. Inf. Incidentally her record sheds a strong light upon the mutations of the army officer and the frequent recurrence of "moving day." Few of those who have borne the title of "Daughter of the Regiment" have more justly earned the appellation than this wee wayfarer. The child was born at Fort Lincoln, N. D., April 29, 1904, and was the first baby born at that post. Within three weeks she had traveled 452 miles, within two months 1,250 miles, within six months 3,750 miles and within one year, 13,300 miles. In this short time the baby had traveled from North Dakota to Minnesota, to the Atlantic coast, to San Francisco and thence across the pines. It is more to add to the record, making in three years an average of more than 100 miles a year. She is present has of officers. The committee appointed her credit to prepare a suitable expression of appreciation for Frank W. Havens of Hartford, the retiring grand secretary, who has been secretary since June 16, 1908, presented the following resolution, which was adopted:—

1913-1911
Resolved, That Most Worshipful Brother Frank W. Havens be by vote of this grand body elected and given the title of grand secretary emeritus, and that an annual salary of $1,000 be paid him during the remainder of his life, the same to be paid quarterly.

RETIREMENT

YEAL

Dec 1
Frank W. H
To M

Frank W. H
ington avenue
life insurance
of over two service with t ance Company
tire time fror
of the office o
Grand Lodge,
state of Conn
he has held

Mr. Haven
the Hartford
mainly in th
departments,
publication,
cate" until it
He has of lat
vertising and ply departme
nent in Mas
state and cou
fice of Gran
as well as m considered a matters and
of a reputation
in the insurance business.

FRANK W. HAVENS.

Judge Briscoe's 80th Birthday Anniversary.

Judge Charles H. Briscoe, the veteran lawyer of Thompsonville, observed the 80th anniversary of his birth Wednesday at his home on Prospect street. The judge has always made it a practice to allow his birthday anniversaries to pass unnoticed, but his children were determined that, on the occasion of his 80th birthday some fitting recognition should be taken of the event and, although the affair was of an informal nature, the popular judge expressed his regret Wednesday that he had allowed his many birthday anniversaries to pass unnoticed. During the evening friends and relatives called at the house to extend congratulations, and scores of

MISS PULITZER A BRIDE.

Daughter of Late Joseph Pulitzer
Weds William S. Moore.

New York, December 22.—Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer's house No. 1 East Seventy-third street, was the scene yesterday of the wedding of her daughter, Edith Louise, to William S. Moore, son of the late Clement C. Moore. The ceremony took place in the ballroom and the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires officiated. The bride, who was given away by her eldest brother, Ralph Pulitzer, had as sole attendant her sister Constance, the latter arrayed in white embroidered chiffon. The gown of the bride was of white satin and Venetian lace. She carried a prayer book in place of flowers and wore around her neck a string of pearls presented to her by her father, the late Joseph Pulitzer, owing to whose recent death the invitations were restricted to members of the family and to a few very intimate friends.

Barrington Moore acted as his brother's best man, and among those present were the bride's mother, her brothers, Joseph and Herbert Pulitzer; Mrs. Barrington Moore and Mrs. Ralph Pulitzer. The newly married couple are booked to sail for Europe on December 30. Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer herself will sail for Europe about the middle of January.

Mr. Moore comes from old Colonial stock. His grandfather, Bishop Moore, was the author of "The Night Before Christmas." He is a graduate of Yale, class of 1906, and is a member of the Union and Tuxedo clubs.

MISS A. ELIZABETH HEPPE GOING TO CALIFORNIA

Dec 21, 1911
Dinner in Honor of Brown School Teacher Given by Associates.

Eighteen of the present and former teachers of the Brown School gave a dinner last evening at the Allyn House for Miss A. Elizabeth Heppe, principal's assistant at the school, who leaves the school today. Miss Heppe has been connected with the school for a number of years and will leave tomorrow for California, where she will spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. George D. Bates. Those present at the dinner were Miss Heppe, Miss Hannah Bailey, Mrs. J. J. Dwyer, Miss Katherine A. Callahan, Miss M. Matilda Kane, Miss Alida B. Clark, Miss Ryan, Miss Josephine Drago, Miss Edith H. Rosenthal, Miss Belle Elsner, Miss Babette Weider, Miss Lucy M. Parker, Miss Annie L. Guilfoill, Miss Julia C. Spellacy, Miss Adella M. Ensign, Miss Mabel H. Ela, Miss Molloy and Miss Julia W. Mansuy.

SEELYE-GRAY WEDDING.

Dec. 21, 1911
 Daughter of President L. Clark Seelye
 the Bride of a Smith College Professor.

A pretty house wedding at the home of Dr. L. Clark Seelye, president emeritus of Smith college, and Mrs Seelye, on Round hill yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, united their youngest daughter, Henrietta Sheldon Seelye, and Prof William Dodge Gray of Smith college. The ceremony was attended by only a few relatives and intimate friends, and was followed at 4.30 by a reception to about 300 guests. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, President Seelye, in a bay window in the parlor, which was trimmed with evergreen and holly. Amid the green of the arch were tiny electric lights of differing colors, and midway was a wedding bell of mistletoe, beneath which the bridal party stood. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Prof George C. Vich, with an andante movement from a Schumann sonata as prelude.

The bridal procession was led by two little nephews of the bride, each carrying ribbons to form an aisle, and one of the ushers, Prof Arthur H. Pierce. Then came two ushers, Prof John C. Hildt and Wilson T. Moog; a little nephew and niece of the bride, carrying the opposite ends of the ribbon; the groom and his brother, Clifton W. Gray of Little Rock, Ark., who was best man; the maid of honor, Miss Rose Hinckley, and the bride on the arm of her father. The bride wore a gown of white satin crepe, with Watteau train, and ropes and trimmings of Roman pearls, an antique collar of white lace and a veil of Brussels net, with orange blossoms. She carried white roses. The bride-maid wore old lace over cream satin, with red ribbon trimmings, and carried red roses. The suggestion of the Christmas season in the decorations was further indicated, by sprigs of mistletoe worn in place of boutonhole bouquets by the ushers.

The reception was from 4.30 to 6, and the parents of the bride assisted in receiving. Borden catered. Among the guests from out of town were Dr Ralph H. Seelye and family of Springfield, President Rush Rhees and family of Rochester, N. Y., Dr Charles L. Scudder and family of Boston, Dr Walter C. Seelye of Worcester, Herbert Moody of Plainfield, N. J., Mr and Mrs W. L. Thompson of Morris-town, N. J., Mrs Harriman of New Haven, Ct., Mrs Lawton of Troy, N. Y., Miss Elizabeth Gardner of Newton Center, Mr and Mrs Harry Smith of New York, Gen and Mrs Lockwood Brown of Chicago, and

Dec 21 Bishop-Miller, 1911

Miss Carrie A. Miller, for more than thirteen years assistant secretary of the Charity Organization society of this city, and the Rev. Dr. Ewell A. Bishop, principal of Montpelier seminary, at Montpelier, Vt., were married Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Annette S. Warner in Meriden. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. William H. Kidd, pastor of the First Methodist church of Meriden. The bride and bridegroom were accompanied by Dr. Bishop's daughter and son. Friends and relatives were present from Hartford, Middletown, New Haven, Montpelier, Vt., and other places. After a wedding journey Dr. and Mrs. Bishop will make their home at Montpelier. Dr. Bishop is a graduate of Wesleyan university in the class of 1878, and was recently chosen one of the trustees of that institution.

Dec 21, 1911
 Daughter of President of Collins Company Married to High School Principal.

Miss Helen Frances Hill and Seth Gurney Haley, both of Collinsville, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride at 3 o'clock by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, pastor of the Congregational Church of that place. Miss Hill is the daughter of William Hill, president of the Collins Company, and Mr. Haley is principal of the Collinsville High School. He was graduated from Bowdoin with the class of 1907 and then spent a year in New York and London in the banking business, going to Collinsville in the fall of 1908 as principal of the high school. Both are popular young people and have a large circle of friends in that village.

The bride entered the parlor from the hallway attended by her father and preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Constance Freeman of Yarmouth, Me., and were met by the bridegroom and best man, Dr. R. B. Cox.

The "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" was played by an orchestra. The bride wore a dress of ivory satin, cut entrain, trimmed with duchess and rose point lace, and a bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white brida, roses. The maid of honor wore a dress of white marquisette over green messaline and carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair ferns. The ushers were Scott C. W. Simpson of Boston, Mass., and Roscoe H. Hupper of New York, both college friends of Mr. Haley's.

The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a pearl and sapphire pin and the bridegroom's gift to the bride was gold beads. His gift to the best man was gold shirt studs and to the ushers stick pins.

The parlor was decorated with

FOR THIRTY-FIVE YEARS A

PRIEST—FATHER McALENNY.

Dec. 28, 1911
 Highly Esteemed Rector of St. Peter's

Receiving Congratulations of Clergy and Laity.

To-day marks the rounding out of the thirty-fifth year of the priesthood of the Rev. Paul F. McAlenney, rector of St. Peter's church. There was no public celebration of the event, but Father McAlenney received the congratulations of numerous friends, particularly from among the clergy. Father McAlenney was ordained at the Grand seminary, Montreal, January 23, 1876. The Rev. Thomas J. Preston of Thompsonville and the Rev. Father Gleeson of Waterbury were his classmates.

Father McAlenney's first assignment was as a curate at St. Peter's, of which he now holds the rectorate. That was before Bishop Tierney became head of the diocese of Hartford. Father McAlenney was next sent to St. Paul's, Kensington, as pastor. He spent five years there. He was later pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Mercy in Plainville and St. Rose's in Meriden. Father McAlenney came back to St. Peter's as rector in 1900. His kindly influence is felt beyond his own parish and he is highly esteemed by all who have his friendship.

IN $12,000 SUIT.

Dec 19. ————— 1911 —
Tells How He Was Thrown by Starting Trolley Car—Unable to Attend to Business He Was Promoting.

The trial of the $12,000 damage suit of George Ulrich against the Connecticut company was resumed to-day be-

$2,000 FOR ULRICH HURT BY TROLLEY CAR.

fi Judge Finds That Amount Will Not n More Than Fairly Compensate for f Injuries.

MAY REQUIRE SURGICAL AID.

A Damages of $2,000 have been awarded by Judge Gardiner Greene of the superior court to George Ulrich,
a broker, of this city, who was thrown while alighting from a trolley car in front of the Union station on December 31, 1910, shortly before 7 o'clock
P. M. in the evening, and was considerably injured. Mr. Ulrich sued for $12,000 damages and his case was presented to the court by William F. Henney.
The defendant, the Connecticut company, was represented by John T.
Robinson. In his memorandum of decision Judge Greene says:

What Judge Finds.

"The evidence shows that it was the practice, when one car alone came from west to east, for it to stop at the post opposite the tobacco store east of Union place, but when a second car was following the first it was the custom not only for the first car to stop at the post, but also for the second car to stop opposite the Union station, so as to allow a reasonable space between the two cars, and access to Union place, while the first car was standing at the post. In this case there were two cars, and the second, in which the plaintiff was, not only to accommodate the first car, but to allow passengers to alight, stopped in front of Union station.

"The conductor, before it stopped, notified the passengers that the car was about to stop at Union station by calling out Union station, and presently the car stopped in front of Union station. Several passengers, including the plaintiff, started to get off while the car was standing still, and those before the plaintiff did so. The conductor further invited the plaintiff to get off by handing him his suitcase, when he saw him about to get off.

The January meeting of the commissioners of the Past Hartford Fire

CHARLES L. SEBEN, JR., MARRIED
SPRINGFIELD

Young Composer, Whose Family Lived in This City, United to a Charming Professional Violinist of Well-Known New York Connections. Dec. 22, 1911 -

There is local interest in the news of the marriage, at New York, on the 22d, of Charles L. Seeger, Jr., grandson of the late Dr Edwin Seeger of this city, and Miss Constance de Clyves Edson, daughter of Dr and Mrs Tracy Edson, and granddaughter of the late Prof Elie Charlier, proprietor of a famous boys' school in New York, who spent his summers for years at Brattleboro, Vt. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's brother, Elie Charlier Edson, 78 East Fifty-fifth street, and was attended by a numerous company of people prominent in literary, artistic and musical circles in New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev Dr Thomas R. Slicer. The groom's parents, Mr and Mrs Charles L. Seeger of Mexico City, Mex., his sister, Miss Elsie Seeger, and his younger brother, Alan, were all able to be present. Mr Seeger, Sr., and Miss Elsie reached New York from Europe on the day of the wedding, and Mrs Seeger and her son Alan were already in town.

Young Mr and Mrs Seeger are both devoting their lives to music, and were drawn together by the common interest. Mrs Seeger had a previous marriage engagement with Marshall Kernochan, which was broken by mutual consent when she decided to become a professional violinist. She has studied in the Paris conservatoire and also in New York, and she made her professional debut about a month ago, in New York, at a concert given by Arthur Whiting, when 18th century music was played. Mr Seeger was graduated from Harvard in 1908, and then went to Berlin, Ger., to study music. He served for a time as assistant conductor at the Cologne opera house, and has done considerable work in composing music. Some of his songs have been sung in concert by Mme Alma Gluck of the Metropolitan opera house, New York. Mr and Mrs Seeger will continue their work in music together, and will live in New York.

Charles L. Seeger, Sr., will return to Mexico City, where he is the agent of several American and European automobiles, after the close of the coming automobile exhibition in New York, but his wife and daughter will remain in New York through the winter.

ORR—ATWOOD—In Portland, Ore., December 23, 1911, by Rev. Mr. Wilson, Wilson T. Orr and Miss Harriet S. Atwood, formerly of this city.

Wilson T. Orr and Miss Harriet S.
MARRIED FOR 56 YEARS.
Dec. 25 - 1911 -
 Mr and Mrs George Landon Quietly
 Celebrate Their Anniversary.

Celebrate Their Anniversary
Mr and Mrs George Landon of 56 Circular avenue were married 56 years ago yesterday, and they celebrated the anniversary in a quiet way at their home with a small family gathering. Mr Landon is 90 years of age and his wife is 76. Both of them will take place this afternoon at the residence of Belcherstown, Pa. He is survived by a widow and six children, Ernest and Albert of Ware, and Mrs. P. Ballou, 55, at Sunday night.

OLD WEDDING TUNES FOR MARRIED COUPLE

Dec 23 - 1911
Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Martin T. Rogers of Blue Hills avenue celebrated their marriage fifty years and Mrs. Martin T. Rogers of Blue Hills avenue celebrated golden wedding last night 8 o'clock the oldest daughter, Miss Asenath Rogers, sang "Lohengrin" Bridal Chorus was followed by Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played by daughter and Mrs. R. Rogers.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

MR. AND MRS. PINNEY
Dec 25 - 1911
Many Valuable Gifts Received on Golden Wedding Anniversary.

A large number of relatives gathered at the Pinney home in Stafford Hollow to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. C. Pinney to Miss Estlin. She was the daughter of a cotton manufacturer. Mr. Pinney's marriage in 1861 with the firm with Mr. Harvey, in which capacity he remained until Mr. Harvey's death. Then Mr. Pinney ran the mill. In 1881 he obtained an interest in the Riverside mill with Cyril Johnson and Richard Beebe. Soon after he sold out his interests and bought the controlling interest in the Phoenix woolen company of which firm he is now president. In 1900 he bought the Riverside mill and in 1905 he sold it to William Parks, who is now operating it. Mr. Pinney has worked his way from the lowest step of the ladder and has a wide experience in cloth manufacturing. Mr. Pinney was elected to the Senate in 1891 and served during that year and 1892. He also has the honor of having served as a member of the Connecticut constitution convention. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Norwich insane hospital. He is president of the Stafford Springs savings bank and a director of the national bank. He belongs to a number of local organizations and is prominent in all.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinney had four sons, one of whom died when but seven months old. The three sons now living are Edward H., Charles B., and Claud C., the first two of whom are still connected with the firm. Both Mr. and Mrs. Pinney are earnest members of the Universalist church at Stafford Hollow. They have lived in Stafford all their lives and have been a help and inspiration to all who have had the pleasure of their acquaintance. Mr. Pinney is a public-spirited man and is always on the lookout for some way to benefit his town and its citizens. In politics he is an enthusiastic democrat. Mr. Pinney is 73 years old and Mrs. Pinney is 72 and both are in good health. The catering for the celebration was done by Habenstein, and music was furnished by a stringed orchestra from Hartford. Guests were present from many outside places including Hartford, Springfield, Bridgeport and Norwich. They received many valuable presents including two large loving cups, one from their friends and relatives in Stafford Springs, and the other from the officers of the Norwich insane hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Pinney have six grandchildren, Harold, Richard, and Ruth, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Pinney, and Dorothy, Robert and Elizabeth, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Pinney.

SUFFIELD COUPLE MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

47

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Soper Observe Anniversary on Christmas

WILLIAM A. SOPER.

JANE R. SOPER.

They Were Married Fifty Years Ago This Christmas.

has been a successful farmer and tobacco grower all his life, and even today takes hold in the light farm work about the place. Both are in good health.

Mrs. Soper's maiden name was Jane F. Bottom, daughter of Austin and Lucy Thompson Bottom, and she was born December 29, 1836, in Peru, Mass. She was educated at the town school and later attended Hinsdale Academy. After leaving the academy she taught school in several small towns in the Berkshire Hills. She has two brothers and two sisters living, S. M. Bottom of this town, George W. Bottom of East Canaan, Mrs. Maria Chapel and Mrs. Frank Sopers, both of this place. She joined the Peru, Mass., Congregational Church, when young, and at the present time is a member of the First Congregational Church in this place.

Mr. Soper was born in Smithtown, Suffolk county, Long Island, June 18, 1838, the son of Daniel and Naomi Smith Soper. When he was young his father and mother moved from Smithtown to Rose, N. Y., which is only a few miles from the Canadian line. They made the trip from one place to the other by a canal boat drawn by horses, the trip taking just one week. Mr. Soper attends the First Congregational Church in this place. He has five brothers and sisters, Frank Soper of this place, Mrs. Phoebe Wright of Worthington, Mass., Mrs. Deborah Salisbury of Memphis, N. Y., Mrs. Nellie Colvin, and Daniel Soper of Wolcott, N. Y.

Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Soper will be assisted in receiving by their daughter, Mrs. E. J. Watkins of this place. Others who will assist are Mrs. Fred King of this place, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rising of Schenectady, N. Y., Mrs. Lawrence Kellogg of Springfield, Mass., Miss Florence Freeman of Windsor Locks, Miss Mae and Miss Erma Chapel, Miss Merle Rising and George and Murry Parks of this place.

Those who wish to attend the reception, can take the trolley to station 99, where carriages will be in waiting to take them to and from the Soper house in East street.

48

Alexander Mansion on State Street

May 26 Was Built in 1811. 1911

Linden hall, the beautiful old colonial homestead at 284 State street, occupied by

M. Phillips and her sister.

THE ALEXANDER HOMESTEAD.

Dec. 25 1911 -

LINDEN HALL IS 100 YEARS OLD.

A Family Gathering on Christmas Day in Celebration of the Anniversary.

One of the notable family gatherings in this city yesterday, was that in the Alexander-Phillips homestead, at 284 State street. The party had a special and significant interest because, in a measure, it was made a celebration of the 100th anniversary of the house itself. Mrs. Henry M. Phillips and her sister, Miss Amy B. Alexander, who now occupy the house jointly, as they have for many years, were the hostesses, and their guests from out of town were as follows: William P. Alexander, their brother, of New York; Capt and Mrs Cecil Stewart of Boston (Mrs Stewart was formerly Miss Edith Alexander); Henry Alexander Phillips of New York, the son of Mrs Phillips, and Beverly Corbin, also of New York, an old and intimate friend of young Mr Phillips. A beautiful Christmas tree was lighted in the late afternoon in the west parlor of the house, and the local relatives of the family and a few intimate neighbors were present to share in the festivities.

however, was left unchanged and preserves to this day its early distinguishing features of the colonial type. A wide hall runs through the house from east to west, and in front of this, facing the street, are the two large parlors with high ceilings, as in the hall likewise. The interior woodwork is richly ornamental in the old-fashioned style.

The house has long been known as Linden hall, taking its name from the trees among which it stood. It has been the scene of many delightful social gatherings and is interestingly associated with the older life of Springfield. Several governors, including Gov Andrew of the civil war period, and other prominent public men have been entertained at the house.

It is to be taken DECEMBER 25, 1911

MISS JONES LEAVES SOCIAL SETTLEMENT

She died — 1912,

POOR HEALTH FORCES HER TO GIVE UP WORK.

MISS RIEDELL TO BE HER SUCCESSOR.

After sixteen years of work at the

LINDEN HALL, THE ALEXANDER-PHILLIPS HOMESTEAD, 100 YEARS OLD.

This handsome colonial mansion at 284 State street, this city, was built in 1811. The late Col Henry M. Phillips and Mrs Phillips are shown in the sleigh in the foreground of the picture.

new convenient addition to the house itself. The main part of the structure younger people of the East Side for a week or two each summer.

Interesting Letter From Miss Hewins
of the Library.

To the Editor of The Courant:—

Miss Mary G. Jones.

hing to the
our first edning, about istmas Eve.
was with a oston Com-
clock, and reet, where
to shine in then went reet, where rom live to
At a corner singers in the inhabiof Bethle-
the steep
er, to the
or evening
ncient and ah Chorus
the choir,
ee boy sonces. When rector said
d too hard
out that he nd of sing-ind invited thow. The but every one waited in silence till the rector appeared, carrying a lantern, and turned up the hill. We followed with the crowd and heard the carols sung

before several houses—“While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night,” “Good King Wenceslas,” and other old friends. Meantime all the houses had been lighted. In some silver sconces were gleaming in front of red damask curtains. Fine old houses, that at one time were in danger of being let for lodgers or boarders, have been bought and restored with great good taste, and with much individuality in treatment. The streets suggest the better part of London,
but the steep hill gives them a more picturesque effect. We went up through Chestnut street and across again to Beacon, finding lights everywhere, and leaving the singers to make their rounds, stopping before the houses of clergymen and the Sisters of St. Margaret, and singing the blessed carols in front of a tenement house in Cambridge street where a little girl was dying. Like the sleigh-full of children in Edward Everett Hale's story, “Christmas Waits in Boston,” they “went to the grandest places in Boston and went to the meanest,” but I do not know where,
for by the time they were ready to go home we were out in the country
walking through a wood-path from the electric road and watching Orion climb up the sky.

The Christmas candles have burned
on Beacon Hill for several years. It is said that Alice Brown, the well-known author, and some of her friends, sent out letters to all the houses in the streets near the State House, asking that lights might be shown on Christmas Eve, and now the custom has taken root. C. M. H.

BURGESS-WASHBURN—Wednesday, December 27, 1911, at the Windsor Ave. Congregational church by the Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown, Miss Tillie Inwood Washburn of this city to Rev. Waldo Sydney Burgess of Shelburne, Mass.

Besides her work with the settlement, Miss Jones has been prominently identified with many other similar organizations of the kind. She was named as a member of the juvenile commission in 1909, has been chairman of the newsboy and newsgirl committee of the Consumers' League, a member of the East Side Workers, the tenement house committee, the domestic science and playground sections of the Civic Club, and the committee on public baths and houses of comfort of the Municipal Art Society,
in all of which her practical knowledge of East Side conditions has been of much value.

During the past year Miss Jones has felt the heavy strain of her work greatly and late in the summer saw that she would be obliged to give up a good share of her labors. The past week she has been busy helping her successor, Miss Riedell, to become acquainted with her new field. The fact that Miss Jones decided to leave the settlement is known to but a few. Miss Jones has made no plans for the future, and probably will remain in Hartford through the winter.

Miss Riedell is a graduate of Vassar College and lives in Manchester.

DECEMBER'S BEST.

Dec. 26, 1911
Weather Yesterday of Sort Which Rarely Comes in New England.

Weather Forecaster W. W. Neifert was in Washington yesterday, but his understudy, S. S. Schworm, gave Hartford folks one of the finest Christmas days from some points of view that Hartford ever had. Sleighing and skating were not indulged in, but for golf, or for planting the garden, or mowing the lawn, even, it could not be excelled.

The high temperature of the day
was 50 degrees above zero at 3 p. m.
and the lowest was 31 at 8 a. m., a wonderful record for the last week in December, when it is also considered that the sun shone all day and little or no wind was stirring. The weather seems more surprising when compared with other Christmas days. Last year, for instance, Christmas Day was clear, but the highest temperature of the day was 31 and the lowest 20,
which was seasonable weather, but a good deal different from yesterday.

The Hartford Times.

Established as a Daily 1841.

Tuesday, December 26, 1911.

A Beautiful Christmas Day.

Never was fairer weather served out for Christmas day in Hartford than that of Monday. It had been feared by the weather sharps that the storm in western Canada, which was working eastward Saturday,
would hit this section, but it missed.
Instead of snow or rain there was bright sunshine and mild and balmy air. The lowest point in temperature was 31 at 8 a. m. and the highest was 50 at 3 p. m. There was no wind and it was a delight to be out of doors. Thousands of people were on the streets at all hours of the day.
To be sure, the youngsters to whom Santa Claus brought sleds and skates were disappointed because of the absence of snow and ice, but most everybody else was well satisfied.

This year
revived the custom of
of their stream of like mighspread to every other city in the United States.

SETTLEMENT WORKERS

DEATH OF MISS MARY GRAHAM JONES

DEVOTED HER LIFE TO WORK AMONG THE POOR.

Known All Over New England—
Has Helped and Taught Thousands.

JONES—In this city, April 28, 1912, Mary Graham, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Graham and the late Frederick C. Jones. Funeral services at the residence, 998 Prospect avenue this (Wednesday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss Mary Graham Jones, for a number of years the head of the North Street Social Settlement, died at 9:45 o'clock last evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frederick C. Jones, No. 998 Prospect avenue. She was probably one of the best known settlement workers in New England. Her life of sacrifice and devotion to her work made her one of the most loved women in Hartford, and hundreds of people who were once East Side children remember gratefully the part Miss Jones had in starting them on the right path through life. She was a member of the juvenile commission, and until last November was an active worker on the East Side, living at the Social Settlement at No. 15 North street.

She was the daughter of the late Frederick C. Jones, and was born in New York. She graduated from Miss Porter's School in Farmington, and had lived in Hartford since 1890. After several years' experience with girls' clubs and the Good Will Club and various other kinds of settlement work, Miss Jones made her residence in New York and Philadelphia for short periods, in her favorite work. She became identified with the Hartford Social Settlement in 1895, and it was under her direction that success came to that organization. She was president of the settlement from 1896 to 1906, and from 1900 until last November she was the resident head worker, leaving her mother's home on Prospect avenue to live on North street with the people she was laboring for. During her long life she was

Caleb M. Saville was born in Melrose, Mass., May 27, 1865. During his

Caleb M. Saville, Engineer in Charge of the Nepaug Hartford Water Works

CALEB M. SAVILLE CHOSEN ENGINEER

DECEMBER 27, 1911

Panama Expert Choice of Water

Commissioners at Special Meeting During Noon Hour.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS

WHEN VOTE WAS TAKEN.

WATER BOARD TO NAME NEW ENGINEER

Dec 2, 1912
John Ripley Freeman to Be Added to Consultants.

HIGH HONOR GIVEN TO C. M. SAVILLE JANUARY, 22, 1915. Norman Prize for 1914-1915 Is Awarded to Hartford Engineer.

An honor accorded to a Hartford citizen for the first time was conferred upon Caleb Mills Saville, chief engineer of the water department, on Wednesday when, at the meeting of the American Society for Civil Engineers, held at No. 220 East Fifty-seventh street, New York, the Norman gold medal was awarded to him for his paper on "The Hydrology of the Panama Canal."

The medal is considered one of the highest honors to be secured by a civil engineer, and is awarded for a paper which shall be judged worthy of special commendation for its merit as a contribution to engineering science. Others in the East who have had the honor conferred upon them are John R. Freeman of Providence, R. I., Frederic P. Stearns of Boston, both of them at times consulting engineers of the local water board, and Desmond Fitzgerald of Brookline, Mass. Gardner C. Williams, professor of engineering at the University of Michigan, also has received the honor. Mr. Saville attended the meetings of the society, and in the evening, with Mrs. Saville, attend the annual banquet at the Hotel Astor.

crossings, a masonry tunnel constructed under pneumatic pressure, and considerable cofferdam work. He also

From 1905 to 1907 he was hydraulic engineer for French & Bryant of Brookline, Mass., and during that time built several masonry dams, and designed filtration systems. In August, 1907, he was appointed resident engineer for the Isthmian Canal commission, and in that capacity was in charge of the Gatun dam construction. This is an earth dam with concrete masonry spillways, and is half a mile thick at the base, is 105 feet high, and about a mile and a half long. This big dam holds back Gatun Lake, and makes the upper level of the canal. The lake has an area of 164 square miles, and contains about 1,000,000,000,000 gallons of water.

All the preliminary investigation for the earth dams on the Atlantic side of the canal and for the proposed dam on the Pacific side at Balboa were made under his direction. He carried on other extensive investigations, which included the building of a model dam for the investigation of material and methods of construction of proposed dams. This work was reported in detail in Appendix E to the report of the commission for the year ended July 30, 1908. In 1908, in the reorganization of the staff, Mr. Saville was relieved of work at Gatun and was promoted to have charge of the office of the third division engineer. Under his direction then came meteorological and hydraulic studies in connection with the canal work, and all general surveys not especially belonging to the construction division, and such investigations as were called for by the chief engineer.

In October, 1891, Mr. Saville married Miss Elizabeth Thorndike of West Newton, Mass., and they have one son, Thorndike Saville of the class of 1914 at Harvard. Mr. Saville is a member of the Masonic fraternity.

JULY 1, 1911

FRED P. HOLT QUALIFIES AND ASSUMES POSITION.

He Succeeds W. H. Corbin As Building and Loan Commissioner—Acts by Direction

Fred P. Holt
ified as bul
sioner and department

The senat
on the nom
was by the Baldwin th
the position
W. H. Corbi
sioner expir
the office.
ing, about t
keys of the
the state w
them to Mr.
them. The existence.
boards to the matt
the posit commission
ing the pow loan commi
now on the
the tabling

FRED P. HOLT

gested the recall of the un extending the term of the members of the tuber culosis commission to 1915. Lieutenant Governor Blakeslee took part in the discussion by recommending the tabling of it. Senator Spellacy, who made the motion for the recall, criti cized the lieutenant governor for his course and said that when the bill relating to the tuberculosis commis sion which affected the lieutenant governor's son-in-law was passed under suspension of rules the presid ing officer did not object. The tuber culosis commission bill was recalled from the house and it is now on the table of the senate.

Mr. Holt had a conference with the governor on the situation and after that conference he qualified by taking the oath of office.

Mr. Fred P. Holt of this city is the Building and Loan Commissioner.

Fred P. Holt, who is named to suc ceed William H. Corbin of New Brit ain as commissioner on building and loan associations, is one of the best known democrats in Hartford. He is Fred P. Holt.

Fred P. Holt, nominated by the governor to be building and loan com missioner, is active in local demo cratic politics, being a member and

Tr. F. P. Holt resigns as treasurer
the democratic town committee.
holds a state office by appointment Governor Baldwin. He conceives it be his duty not to attempt to hold a position and at the same time mix active politics with his duty to state, a very commendable posi tion. It would be well for the state if every official took so broad a view of duties.

which he remained until 1903.
Robert H. Schutz has sold the prop erty at No. 97 Elm-street to Street Commissioner Fred P. Holt, through the agency of William A. Sanborn.

FRED P. HOLT AND JAMES P. WOODRUFF

Dec 26, 1911

OCTOBER 20, 1914

LIPPITT QUILTS AS BANK COMMISSIONER

Governor May Not Name
Successor for Unexpired Part of Term.

TO BE TREASURER OF NEW HAVEN BANK

F. P. Holt Sends Letter to Bankers, Commending
His Colleague.

Norris S. Lippitt of Norwich re signed yesterday as state bank com missioner to become treasurer of the People's Bank & Trust Company, New Haven, and his colleague, Commis sioner Fred P. Holt, expressed the opinion yesterday that Governor S. E.
Baldwin would not make an appoint ment to complete Mr. Lippitt's unex

Norris S. Lippitt.

o-day made
nts:

y to be bank
e of Charles
rd, deceased.

Litchfield to nmissioner in olt, resigned.
Messrs. Holt
ie meeting of
r the session
f bank com
druff.

a prominent son of former
George M.
and a brother
editor of the
Dr. Woodruff
October 30,
ed from Am
and from the

WOODRUFF.

He was ad
county bar.
t post-grad
received the d the de erist. He is
-e law firm
-n He repre
d sessions of
-tter session
ader of the sber of local st' the Litch
-vice-presi
-a-tional bank
-sident and
-ater com
-treasurer of
as Insurance
amber of the w and of the
-le is clerk
-h of Litch
-master of St.
ions in Litch

TREADWAY-INGRAHAM.

Dec. 27, 1911 -
Ingraham Home at Bristol Crowded
By Merry Wedding Party.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Ingraham of Bristol was the scene of a wedding last evening, when their daughter, Faith, was given in marriage to Morton Candee Treadway, in the presence of friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John A. H. An uncle of Ernest L. A. The bride was accompanied by maids, Lucy, sister of the bride, cousin of the bride, all of Crawford, mate of the bride, was attended by Gillett, following acted as graham, Ful C. Galpin of mates of the S. Ingraham.

The bride, with corsage embroidered veil was carried by two in pale shadow lace. The wedding was arranged diagonally from shoulder to waist line. They carried arm bouquets of pink Killarney roses. Pink Killarney roses also formed the decorations of the large hall in which the wedding took place, and in the dining room, while an abundance of red carnations gave a holiday appearance to the living room, white roses and lilies prevailed in the reception room. There was music throughout the evening by Miss Harriett Shaw, harpist, of Boston, and a cellist and violinist from the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

To the familiar strains of the "Lohengrin" Bridal March the procession marched down the stairway through a double line of young girl friends of the bride bearing ribbon chains. The bride was given away by her father. Following the ceremony the newly wedded couple received the congratulations of their friends.

The bridegroom's gifts to the ushers and best man were silver card cases with gold monograms. The bride's gift to her attendants were bar pins set with pearls. On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Treadway will live at No. 134 Summer street, Bristol.

Dec. 27, 1911 -

Harold B. Chamberlain, son of the late Governor Abiram Chamberlain of Meriden, was married on Wednesday to Miss Georgia Myrtle Gay at

Dec. Philip Corbin Entertains. 28

Philip Corbin entertained about forty of his friends at a dinner party at the Country club in Farmington on Thursday evening. His guests were taken over to Farmington in automobiles. The dinner was served at 7 o'clock. Mr. Corbin was assisted in receiving by his sister, Mrs. George Kohn of Hartford. After the dinner dancing was enjoyed until the early hours of the morning. The affair was one of the social events of the Christmas season.

LEWIS W. RIPLEY,
Toastmaster.

CLASS OF '81 LIVES OVER

ITS GOLDEN SCHOOLDAYS.

Dec. 27, 1911
In Reunion of Thirtieth Year From Graduation From Hartford Public High School.

The class of 1881 in the Hartford High school gathered at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Pease at No. 720 Prospect avenue Wednesday evening and lived over old days with Principal Joseph Hall and Professor Frank R. Childs, whom its members held greatly in awe last century. Lewis W. Ripley acted as interlocutor and Harry D. Olmsted as historian.

Mr. Ripley told marvelous tales about the exploits of members. The Rev. William F. English of East Windsor responded for "The Husbands of the Girls" and Mrs. Myron J. Case of West Hartford for "The Wives of the Boys." The Rev. William F. English, jr., of Westbrook responded for "The Children of the Class." Mr. Ripley carefully made clear that the world was getting better and better looking and pointed to the children present to demonstrate the proposition, as the parents had endeavored to demonstrate propositions in Euclid under Professor Childs.

Mrs. Adolph P. Corbin To Work at Corbin's Factory. June 6, 1913 -
Mrs. Esther de Leeuw responded for "The Philip Corbin is to enter the employ of the Class." Miss of P. & F. Corbin Division of the Brooklyn respond American Hardware Corporation. He "The Bachelors," will join the office force and will be son made an argu employed under Manager Charles B. understood for th Parsons. Mr. Corbin is the namesake ter was read from Corbin, the founder of the house of Shipman of And Corbin, the young man is very popular and his friends are much pleased from members in that he has decided to go into the Corbin Walla Walla, Wash bin shop to work. He will be the only tant points were Corbin connected with the factory. One conversation hin after another members of the Corbin about children a family who built up the wonderful industry have dropped out. Andrew Miss Gertrude O. Corbin, brother of Philip, one of the Ulrich of Merid founders, died before Philip. He was Hutchinson and vice-president of the corporation for a number of years until his health broke Program—Miss down. The late ex-Mayor George W. and Lewis W. R. Corbin was president of the Corbin Invitation—Mr. Cabinet Lock Company for years and Knox, Harry D. was one of the main factors in building up the concern. He was the first Entertainme to disagree with Colonel Charles M. Jarvis's policies and withdrew from the cius F. Robins Corbin concerns to become head of the Bone.

P. Corbin a Union Works, of which he made a phenomenal success when he took Philip Corbin, hold. It has been a source of deep regret that he is not alive today to head the American I the great American Hardware Corporation, as he was regarded as the New Britain. Ideal man for the place. He was one of the rooms o of the brainiest and most popular cap building, where tains of industry New Britain has pro quarters, and wduced. Associated with George W. Britain Club. Corbin, the present head of the Union hall to keeping Works, a very capable factory man-home on Maple ager. Mr. Corbin was formerly su the rooms fitte rintendent of the Corbin Cabinet pense, Lock Company. Another Corbin who

A partition ihas left the Corbin industries is Wilbur P. Corbin, another member of the Corbin family, was also identified kept as a scho with P. & F. Corbin at one time, and and the school now holds a place in some out-of-town supplies to a plant. the rear on the same

Dec. 28 Deacon-Brown
Miss Virginia Chr
Deacon, daughter of J
Deacon, and Belden B of Stamford were o'clock last evening in the presence of gues
ber of 300, including friends from New Y
Morristown, N. J., C., Springfield, Mass.,
Haven, Bridgeport,
this city. The cere
formed by the Rev. J.
Portland, assisted by Monroe, D. D., rector
The bridal process
down the center aisle
the chancel rail by t
and his best man, Ge Brown of Stamford, h bride was attired in w
white lilies embroidered
over it was thread
mother's wedding gow veil crowned with old only ornament was a fastened with a diamo
from the bridegroom
her mother's wedding
and a bouquet of w
lilies of the valley.
the arm of her mot her away. Her mar
Mrs. Douglas J. Fishe
N. J., who was a clas sar, wore yellow chiff
satin and carried a low orchids and whit cinths. Her sister, M Juene Deacon, was
and was attired in Ni
in green and carried roses and green o
Brown of Stamford, s bridegroom, was flo wore pink and carrie pink roses. The Er
with a ring was used
was handsomely deco
and white. Benjami of Hartford presided
rendering a recital du val of the guests, Loh March" as the brida
vanced and Mendelso March" as it retire
were Edward L. Hatch lespie, Victor Allen and of Stamford. A recep

PATON-SCRANTON.

ast Hartford Woman Wedded in British Consulate in Seoul.
A copy of the "Seoul Press" of January 5 announces the wedding of G.
Paton, until recently British vice-nsul in Seoul, Korea, and Miss Kath-ine Scranton, third daughter of Dr.
B. Scranton, formerly of Eastur artford. The couple were married December 28, a civil ceremony taking place before the consul-general in the consulate and the religious ceremony following in the afternoon, a shop and two rectors of the Anglican church taking part. Admiral Yamanuta represented the Japanese government at the ceremony.
The bride was given away by her father, and her two sisters acted as bridesmaids, while P. D. Butler of the British consulate was the best man. A reception followed at the consulate
from 4 to 6 p. m., at which the band
His Highness, Prince Yi, furnished music. After the reception came a dinner given by the bride's parents and the couple was followed by a dance.
The couple left for a wedding trip to Bangwha and will visit Europe before turning to Korea.

FORTY-ONE YEARS A LETTER CARRIER.

Dec. 28 1811-
William H. Shaffer of This City
Is Senior of All in Connecticut and Still Carrying His Route.

A PENNSYLVANIAN AND VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR.

Appointed by Postmaster Whitaker in 1870 When Hartford Postmen Were Few in Number.

William H. Shaffer of this city, veteran of the Civil War, is the oldest in years and the senior in appointment among the seventy letter carin Hartford he was seventh on the list and the city had only ten. Now there are seventy carriers and an aggregate of about 150 persons employed in the Hartford office.

The Force of 1870.

Of the ten carriers above mentioned four are still living. Following is the list of the ten:

District No. 1--Charles H. Dailey, now of Washington, D. C., a sanitary inspector of the District of Columbia.
District No. 2--John Stoll, dead
in city, Suit and Overcoat in a backward clothing season

RE IS A REASON." A sale de
d
d li se
d
is K

This Is
Is Wo

's Clothing Sale

The PALACE AUTO STATION Co.
348 Trumbull Street. Tel. Charter 956.

and Raincoats.
We also carry a fine line of Fall and Winter Gloves, Caps
Try a can of polish or a pail of grease, or soap.

OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST AND OUR OILS, GREASES AND POLISHES ARE THE BEST.

After you have read all the BIG ADS and looked over the goods, come to us and see how much we can save you.

1046 Main St.
Cor. of Morgan
The Store of Wonderful Values

Block's
LADIES READY TO WEAR SHOP
seen office are o
sed. r secc
d b

that city Nick came to Hartford and entered St. Peter's school.

An Advertising Sheet of a Ha

ENTERTAINED WIFE AND HER SISTERS

JULIAN GLOWACKI DID IT
AND IT COST HIM $70.24.

It Happens Though He Is a Licensed Liquor Dealer.

TESTIMONY SHOWS POLICEMEN
ONTO THEIR JOBS.

If there is any liquor dealer in this city whose wife goes with her relatives to visit him at his place of business, it is up to the dealer to "shoo" them out of his saloon as soon as they get in. Otherwise he is liable to get into the police court and be fined, will have to stand for an attack upon his reputation, and his wife and her relatives will be put in the category of loiterers. Such is the experience of Julian Glowacki, who has a saloon at No. 16 Sheldon street, had yesterday and it cost him $70.24 to get away from the police court. In view of what was said at the hearing, there were some who had the courage to ask why the policeman became so active.

Glowacki was charged with allowing a minor, "John Doe," and a female, "Jane Doe," to loiter in his place, and he pleaded guilty. Policeman Edward English was the principal witness for the prosecution and, in reply to a question asked by Prosecuting Agent James W. Knox, the policeman said that on Tuesday Police Sergeant Brazil had told him that a game—"a baseball game," they called it—was being distributed in the saloons. As there was a "chance" attached to the game, the sergeant told him to visit the saloons and to tell those who were running it that it was against the law and that they were to put it out. The policeman said that his superior told him that if any of the saloonkeepers did not have it, or had not heard of it, to tell them not to take it in when it was offered to them. In accordance with the instructions, English visited the Glowacki place, where he saw three women and a boy, the boy being 11 or 12 years old. He asked Glowacki who the women were, and Glowacki told him that one of them was his wife and that other two were her sisters from New Britain and that the boy was the child of one of the sisters. They had come to the saloon to get a bundle, the policeman said. Glowacki told him. There was beer on the table before the women. English said that he told Glowacki that the saloon was no place for the

STEAK OR

Not

CENTRAL

Corner of Main

HARTFORD

Constantly supplied with

GEORGE GASSNER

HARTFORD

Through the mail

and

and

Silas Chapman, jr., the well known insurance agent, has recently found while looking over old papers, an advertising sheet published by his father. Silas Chapman, who was for many years a merchant tailor in this city. There is no date on the sheet, but the indications are that it was brought out about 1845. It has a double interest and is reproduced herewith. In of fashion of today what were the styles prevailing at that period. These are revealed by the various full-dressed and half-dressed customers who about along the edges of the publication.

The second interest attaches to the text. Mr. Chapman's place of business was at the corner of Central Row and Main street, where now stands the Hartford Trust Company's

NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION.

Held by the Cheney's in Manchester—
1,000 Invitations Were Issued.

Special to The Times.

South Manchester, December 30.

1911-

MEMORIAL PLACED NEW DINING HALL FOR CHOATE SCHOOL NOVEMBER 9, 1913.

Local Architect Designs Fine

Structure.

Francis E. Waterman of this city is the architect of the handsome new dining hall which is to be erected in the near future at the Choate School, Wallingford. This is the second building for the school and is the second in the general scheme of buildings for the school. Choate was first organized in a series of temporary frame buildings and cottages and is gradually being enlarged by the addition of handsome and permanent buildings of a type which Mr. Waterman has designed. A year or two ago he drew plans for Hillhouse Hall, which is a main office, assembly and study building of the school. The new dining hall will be 114 by forty-two feet, with an ell, twenty feet by thirty feet, which joins the new building to the Hillhouse building.

The dining hall will seat 200 students. At one end will be the serving room and opposite end will be the kitchen and serving room. The hall will be wainscoted in oak for ten feet, one end there will be a large fireplace, measuring fourteen feet across, with an opening of eight feet. This will be faced in brown stone. The exterior of the building will be given over to the kitchen and rooms for the eating apparatus. The second and third floors will be given over to dormitories, with showers and baths.

On the third floor there will be a large lavatory which will accommodate forty students.

The Hillhouse building is in the same general type as the dining hall. It contains offices, class rooms, dormitories and a large common room that is a general meeting place of the students.

The Choate School plant, when the general scheme is completed in future years, will be one of the handsomest of its kind in the state. Connecticut has a number of schools which are excellent architectural examples, as seen in the case of the Westminster school at Simsbury, the Pomfret school and the splendid new building which is nearing completion at the State School, Watertown.

The leading inter social function was the reception celebration given in the evening by Mrs. J. D. Martin Cheney, all the plans for the event were issued months ago, and the run from New cars, which were on the state, sur-

the hall eclipsed and ever seen in the more beautiful Cheney brothers, the usual hall furnished and the upturned into a winter scene from Maine and the surrounding. The little trees were made the ceiling, draped from the corners also contained the music for Choate School.

The more plans of the school are in readiness for a new building to the Choate School group, Wallingford. The institution during this structure will include the important study and sleeping rooms for the upper school. In plans of Francis Waterford architect,

EN
Charl
Cha

PRIVATE LYNCH

PRINTS HIS DIARY

Past Commander of Tyler Post Makes Interesting Book.

COVERS HIS YEARS
IN 18TH REGIMENT.

Tells of Unique Service in Memory of President Lincoln.

Jan 1916
Charles H. Lynch, past commander of Robert O. Tyler Post, G. A. R., has published for private circulation a diary kept by him while he was a member of the Eighteenth Regiment, C. V., his first entry being under date of August 17, 1862, and the last on

CHARLES
Commander-Elect
Post, G

bon, who coming He confuence ley, one Bulletin ing that splendid From enlistme try until part in skirmish gaged. T 1863, W near Wh Md., and New M

SCHOOL BUILDING FOR THE CHOATE SCHOOL AT WALLINGFORD.

with this school, that make for perfect sanitation.

REV. J. H. TWICHELL RESIGNS PASTORATE

Dec. 10, 1911

For Nearly 46 Years Pastor of Asylum Hill Congregational Church.

Read By Dr. Parker—Tributes By Clergymen—Rev.
H. A. Walter, Assistant,
Also Resigns.

The attendants at the Asylum Hill Congregational Church yesterday morning heard with unconcealed sorrow the resignation of their pastor, Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, read by his old friend, Rev. Dr. E. P. Parker, who officiated at the service, and who rendered a fitting and deserved tribute. Then the congregation learned that the resignation of their assistant, Rev. Howard Arnold Walter, was in the hands of the society's committee. It was a grieving congregation which left the church at the close of the service.

Nothing indicated what was to happen until the announcement came and probably not six persons in the church knew that Rev. Mr. Twichell had given his resignation to the committee. Before the benediction, however, the congregation was asked to remain seated for a few moments and Rev. Dr. Parker then read the following letter of resignation by Mr. Twichell:—

Mr. Twichell's Letter.

To the Committees of the Asylum Hill Congregational Church and Ecclesiastical Society, and to the Members of said Church and Society:—

Dear Friends:—Having become convinced that the time has come when, both for your sake and for my own, it is best that I should lay down the burden of the pastoral office which I have so long borne among you, I herewith tender to you, and ask you to accept my resignation of that office, to take effect not later than the end of next July. Upon the considerations that have moved me to the adoption of this course, and of the feelings with which it is attended, I will not now dwell. Only I beg you to believe that it is not without due deliberation, or without memories more grateful than I can express, of the unfailing, universal kindness you have manifested to me through all the nearly forty-six years during which I have been your minister.

Wishing you grace, mercy and peace from God our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ, I am,

Yours affectionately,

Joseph H. Twichell.

Hartford, Dec. 8, 1911.

Dr. Parker's Remarks.

The grief of the members of the congregation was evident and became even more so as Rev. Dr. Parker followed the reading of the letter by his own remarks, which follow:—

I pray you, good friends, to pardon him who brings you this sad and surprising message. My only plea is that of fidelity to the inexpressibly tender and strong ties of brotherly friendship and love which, for so many happy years, have bound together your minister and myself in the closest and choicest intimacy. Through all the stages of life, save that of boyhood, we have walked and worked together, helping, cheering, comforting each other, in absolute confidence, in undisturbed affection. I beheld the beginning of this church. I assisted at the installation of its first minister. Those were the golden days when we, with Burton, were united in the great and precious privilege of sitting together at the feet of Dr. Bushnell. With you I have witnessed the concurrent growth and development of this church and its pastor, during the forty-six years of its peaceful prosperity, due, in large measure, to the wisdom and the winsomeness and the ever-growing power, intellectual and spiritual, of your minister. What parish was ever happier in its pastor? What pastor ever happier in his parish? Doubtless you have honored him. But he has greatly honored you. What- ever renown the name of this church may have, it has a distinction by virtue of the indelible association of its name with his name, by virtue of being Mr. Twichell's church.

Therefore I beg to say that all the regrets and sorrows, all the affliction which you now experience on receiving his resignation, should be softened, if not sweetened, by a grateful and thankful remembrance of the peculiar and abounding blessings with which God has hitherto filled the cup of your mercies, even to overflowing. Hitherto, both time and tide have been with both you and your minister in your prosperous voyage. Time and tide will be with you, as a church, long years to come. But, alas! for each one of us time, at last, shifts and becomes contrary, and whether it touches us gently or rudely, we must submit, wise if we know when to "ship the oar and furl the sail." As I have said, time and tide are and will be in your favor. I know of no church in Connecticut more fortunately constituted and composed, or having greater possibilities and promises of splendid service and true success than this one. In due time you will secure a successor to Mr. Twichell, worthy to succeed him, but you will never have a better minister than your first one. I cannot refrain—and why should I?—from speaking of his mind hospitable to all light and truth and so fruitful in vital and ever fresh thoughts, to which apt illustrations flock like doves to their windows; of his depth of faith, breadth of view, largeness of hope, fulness of love, irenic spirit, and catholic sympathy; of his voice attuned to sacred mysteries and the rich and noble diction so becoming to the dignity of his discourse, and of that well-spring in him of a pure, delightful and refreshing humor; of his manly courage and courtesy, the transparent simplicity and sincerity of his character; of his universal friendliness and tender human-heartedness. How should he not be a shining figure and a gracious power in the pulpit, in the parish, and in the community, and a prince, among his beloved and loving brethren in the ministry?

Dear friends, your minister's throne is already prepared for him here and in our city. Long may he occupy and grace it, relieved by you of all worldly solicitudes. Long may this church and all our churches have the benefit of his wise counsels. Long may the light of his countenance shine among us. May the twilight and evening of his life be serene and tranquil, crowned with honor, consolations and peace.

Rev. Dr. Walter's Resignation.

The intimation that the assistant pastor, Rev. Howard Arnold Walter, was to sever his connection with the church followed at the end of his remarks. He had taken part in the service with Rev. Dr. Parker and his words upon the resignation of his senior follow:—

Perhaps it were more fitting that the words to which we have just listened, which only Mr. Twichell's friend of friends could have spoken out of the companionship of a lifetime, should be the only tribute paid him at this memorable hour in the pulpit which he, and he only, has filled and graced from the beginning even until now. And yet there is a further word, which only Mr. Twichell's assistant can speak, and which he cannot leave unsaid. Beyond all the joys and exceeding rich rewards of the year just passed, outshining even the luster of the manifold kindnesses and undeserved affection which have been lavished on me and mine by the members of this congregation, may I say that the fairest jewel in the diadem of the days of my service in Asylum Hill parish has been the privilege, so coveted when I came, of association, intimate and unshadowed with our pastor. None but his assistant can know, in just the way it has been revealed to him, what is the all-enfolding largeness of Mr. Twichell's sympathy, the generous ardour and alertness of his appreciation, the unutterable sweetness of his love. The story cannot be told of hours of communion, in conversation and counsel and prayer, by which hearts are knit together in indissoluble friendship. I would only say that the memory of those hours, and the long continuance, if God will, of that friendship, with — may I add — the friendly intercourse with the members of his family which it included, will remain a precious and enduring heritage through the coming years of a service so different and so distant."

The closing prayer, which was by Rev. Mr. Walter, contained the following reference to the resignation of Mr. Twichell:—

We ask thy blessing upon this church, as pastor and people, that it may be strengthened and girded from above for every emergency, assured, as we are, that in thy divine providence all things must be overruled for good. We praise thee for all the years of its wonderful history, and for the individuals who in days gone by have given to it their service and their love, and then passed on into the nearer light of thy glory. We praise thee for the marvelous and mighty ministry of him on whom our thoughts and affections are centered at this time, for all that he has been and meant to the generations past, and for all that his life and example and words are ministering unto us in these latter days. Grant unto him, Oh our father, length of days and fullness of joy and peace as he reaps the harvest of his long and unweary sowing, with a deepening consciousness of the love, divine and human, that encompasses him.

Rev. Mr. Walter's Letter.

After the service the society's and the prudential committee of the church held a joint meeting to hear the letter of resignation tendered by Rev. Mr. Walter, which had been in the hands of Chairman A. H. Bronson for some days. No other action was taken at the meeting save to read the letter which follows:—

"Although my contract with you expires in March so that it might seem presumptuous in me to assume the possibility of further relations between us beyond that date, the fact that it has been unofficially intimated to me that a renewal of the contract in some form would be welcomed by you, requires me in all fairness to inform you at once that I have now definitely decided to terminate my relation with this church as assistant pastor next March.

"This matter has been so frankly discussed by me with three of the members of your committee that I feel certain you understand my motive in writing you at this time and in planning to leave Asylum Hill Church at the conclusion of our original contract. From the day of my first meeting with members of your committee at luncheon a year ago last September until the present hour, from my point of view, our relations have been little short of ideal, merging very rapidly, in several instances at least, from a business basis into personal friendship on which no shadow of misunderstanding of any kind has fallen.

"I am therefore the more anxious that you should understand that in leaving a place where kindnesses have been so showered upon us and where we knew that anything we might in reason desire or need would be granted, the sole motive is an honest one."

REV. MR. TWICHELL AS PASTOR EMERITUS

Jan 10 1912

THE ASYLUM HILL CHURCH PASSES RESOLUTIONS.

Church and Society Unite in Bestowing Praise on Pastor.

MINUTES PASSED ON DEPARTURE OF MR. WALTER.

The Asylum Hill Congregational Church took formal action last night on the resignation of Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, its veteran pastor, and resolutions were passed requesting him to modify his resignation by consenting to remain as pastor emeritus. Minutes were passed concerning his resignation and concerning the termination of service of Rev. Howard Arnold Walter, the assistant pastor.

After the letters from Mr. Twichell and Mr. Walter were read before the church congregation on Sunday, December 10, they were turned over to the joint standing committees of the church and society, which met within the following week, and considered them. A sub-committee was appointed at that time to arrange for the meetings which were held last night. The members of the sub-committee were: Atwood Collins, chairman, representing the church prudential committee; Arthur H. Bronson, representing the society's committee; Professor Waldo S. Pratt, Justice Samuel O. Prentice, president of the Men's Club; Dr. Henry C. Russ, clerk, superintendent of the Sunday school, and C. J. Burnell, representing the church, which called the pastor.

The meeting of the church last night, which took place in the chapel at 7:45 o'clock, was called to order by Charles G. Case, the clerk. Colonel Charles E. Thompson was elected chairman. In accordance with the plan arranged, a committee on resolutions was then named, consisting of Atwood Collins, Arthur H. Bronson, C. J. Burnell, Waldo S. Pratt, Samuel O. Prentice and Dr. Henry C. Russ. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. James W. Cooper. The resolutions and minutes presented by the committee were passed.

At about 8:30 o'clock, after the church meeting, the meeting of the ecclesiastical society was held, the chairman of which was Charles A. Blake. The resolutions and minutes passed at the church meeting were ratified at the society's meeting.

Resolutions.

Whereas, on December 8, 1911, the beloved pastor of this church, Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, after forty-six years of consecrated and fruitful service, covering the entire history of the church since its foundation, communicated to the church and to the ecclesiastical society associated with it his desire to be released from the burden of his office, because it seems to him greater than he should longer carry, and asking that his resignation should take effect not later than the end of July, 1912; and

Whereas, with our sense of the inestimable value of all the service that he has rendered to this church in the past and of all that he is to it in the present, as well as of his relation to this whole community, it is impossible for us to consent to the breaking of the tender and sacred tie that has so long bound us together in this household of faith; therefore be it

Resolved, That we request Mr. Mr. Twichell to modify his resignation so that he consent to remain with the church as pastor emeritus, without responsibility for the direction of the parish or its services; and, if he agrees to this modification, that his resignation, as thus modified, be accepted, to take effect on July 31, 1912; and

Resolved, That we request the ecclesiastical society to unite with us in confirming the above action, with whatever further proposals seem to them appropriate.

Minute on Mr. Twichell's Service.

It was with extreme sorrow that we, the members of the Asylum Hill Congregational Church, on December 10, 1911, received the communication from our pastor, Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, in which he tendered his resignation from the office of leadership and instruction in this church which he had held since December 13, 1865—a period of forty-six years, lacking a few days.

The formal action on our part which the receipt of this resignation makes necessary has already been embodied in appropriate resolutions, by which, if they are confirmed by the ecclesiastical society, we hope to indicate a way whereby our pastor may continue in vital relation with this church for many years to come. But we feel that some further expression is demanded. It is but right that more ample utterance should be given of the sentiments and reflections in our minds, not only for the satisfaction of our own hearts, but that our pastor may be assured, by a token that represents the entire membership of the church, of the abounding esteem and affection with which he is regarded.

The relation that binds together Mr. Twichell and this church is almost without parallel. He has had no other pastorate, and we have had no other pastor. Because he and we have thus developed together, our Christian interests are intertwined at every point with a singular and most intimate sacredness. That this unique relation has continued without interruption or the least impairment for almost half a century makes it immeasurably significant. Surely the gracious hand of God has been upon us, conferring upon us a blessing which far transcends our powers of grateful expression.

It would be impossible here to describe in adequate words the magnitude of the whole service that has been rendered by him whom we are proud to count as teacher, pastor and friend. That service has had too many aspects, has concerned too many different interests and individuals, and has penetrated too deeply into those more intimate realms of experience where language fails. We can here single out but a few salient features in this long and noble ministry by way of illustration and suggestion, believing that from these, both in our minds and in his, there will radiate manifold golden threads of memory and emotion that shall duly amplify and glorify the simple brevity of this fabric of words.

At the outset, we would give notice to our sense of the worth of his splendid ministry as preacher and teacher.

Wholly without self-assertion, Mr. Twichell has always exemplified the dignity and authority of the pulpit. He has rightly measured its responsibility and its opportunity, and towards a lofty ideal for it he has always set himself with conscientious earnestness. His has been no formal or conventional message. The very truth of God, as declared through the Scriptures, as illustrated in history and providence, and as interpreted by the perpetual working of the Spirit, has so deeply permeated his own experience that the testimony he has borne to it through all the years has been not only genuine and hearty, but fresh, many-sided, and full of a progressive and abounding spiritual vitality. Its expression, also, has been extraordinarily diversified and captivating, rising again and again to an eloquent and thrilling power. That we already have so rich a store of these memories is a source of unfailing gratitude and joy. And we trust that to them are yet to be added many more.

Mr. Twichell's work as teacher has never been confined to the pulpit. In the more informal gatherings of the church, and in the numerous activities of the Sunday school, where he has always been a leader, he has impressed upon the entire circuit of the parish the unmistakable breadth and culture of his mind, the warmth of his intellectual and moral sympathies, and the sanity and urgency of his convictions. In his own heart have been enthroned thoughts upon the things that are true, honorable, just, pure, and lovely, and he has ever sought to exhibit to us how closely they are knit together in beautiful and lasting unity, and how they take hold upon the whole texture of human life.

Mr. Twichell's relation to the younger life within our borders has been exceptionally close and fruitful. From the first he identified himself with the children as one of their best friends and counselors. Not only in the Sunday school, but in the conduct of the young people's meeting and in the stimulus of every organization for fellowship and service, he has been indefatigable. Through his rare gifts of tact and geniality in winning affection and trust, the grace and force of his sturdy manliness have been enabled to impress themselves to a degree that is beyond calculation or description. During his pastorate nearly 1,700 persons have entered our membership. Of these, about 775 came upon profession, and hence may be supposed to have begun their Christian life directly under his ministry. In the process of the years, many of these, whom we may call especially the children of this church, have gone forth from us to other churches, far and near, many of them into positions of peculiar influence and leadership. But of these fruits of his ministry over 350 remain upon our roll today. From all of them, whether here or elsewhere, there is special thanksgiving that the first steps in their Christian manhood and womanhood were taken under the eye of one whose solicitude was so earnest and whose wisdom was so broad. Of all this he has doubtless had repeated evidence, but we venture to think that the fuller testimony will never be reckoned until the jewels in the heavenly crowns of rejoicing shall be counted.

We can hardly bring ourselves to speak of the countless instances and occasions in which our pastor has given himself freely and helpfully to our households and to us as individuals. He has been eager to share with us both our joys and our sorrows. He has mingled with all those events in our common life that are full of light and happiness, and he has been a stay and support in every hour of grief and darkness. It has been a joy to have his consecrating hand laid upon our little ones in baptism, to hear his lips pronounce the blessing upon our youth in the solemn act of marriage, to lean upon his sympathy and strength when sickness and infirmity or any other trials have befallen us, and to hear his words of Christian faith and hope as we bade farewell to those who have passed from these earthly homes. But, besides all these ministrations that pertain to his office, we remember the innumerable ways and times in which he has touched us, through both word and deed, with the gracious and strengthening hand of a true and precious friendship—a friendship that we have shared together, and ship that has also belonged to us one by one. Of most of this we cannot speak at length, because the hearts concerned are too many, and they are too full.

We cannot forbear, however, to make special and appreciative mention, in this connection, of the marvelous way in which, through so many years, Mrs. Twichell shared with her husband these varied pastoral cares and privileges. The overflowing goodness of her nature found incessant outlet in kindly service and gracious counsel, the memory of which mingles with that of her strong and beautiful character whenever we review the story of our life as a church.

While we thus naturally dwell upon these features of our inner experience in this immediate Christian fellowship, we do not forget that Mr. Twichell's influence as minister and man has never been limited by the bounds of this parish. He has been a power throughout the whole community, and has made for himself a peculiar place in all its activities. Whatever has made for social and civic righteousness, for intellectual and moral uplift, for true education and permanent advancement, has been sure of his support and advocacy. And his active sympathies have stretched far beyond the city of which he is one of the most distinguished and honored citizens. In his varied relations with other churches and ministers, whether of our own order or not, in his connection with educational institutions, like Yale University, not to speak of the circle of colleges where he has been stately a preacher, in his personal or official contacts with missionary and philanthropic endeavor, whether in the South, or in the West, or beyond the seas, and in his share in large undertakings for the welfare of the country or the whole world—in all these he has been enabled to express not only the warmth and largeness of his own sympathies, but the essential breadth of the corporate Christianity for which, as pastor of this church, he has stood.

These words of acknowledgment, we know, fall short of what is really fitting at such times as this. Yet we hope that, nevertheless, they may serve sufficiently to indicate along what lines and with what fulness of feeling our minds meditate upon the great history of these forty-six years. And they give point and pressure to the instinctive desire with which, on behalf of our whole membership, we urge upon Mr. Twichell that, through some change of status and title, he allow us to keep unbroken the sense of vital relation that has bound us together hitherto. If, in his judgment, the time has come for him to lay down the active responsibility, he can still remain our beloved counselor and friend. In this uninterrupted relation we shall hope and pray there may yet be many more years of fruitfulness to add to the many that are past. We believe that the presence and power of God have been with him in a peculiar degree in his ministry among us. May God's rich favor and blessing rest upon him and his family in all the days to come!

Minute on Service of Mr. Walter.

Through a communication from our assistant pastor, Rev. Howard A. Walter, we have been informed that the way has opened for the fulfillment of his longstanding wish to enter the foreign missionary service, and hence that his official relation with this church will soon be brought to an end. The receipt of this announcement leads us to put upon our records and transmit to him some special acknowledgement of our regard for him and of our appreciation of the remarkable quality of his work among us and on our behalf.

Mr. Walter came to us for his first formal pastorate, but with exceptional training and experience, so that he brought a mind richly furnished and a spirit amply tested and matured. He came with ardent desires for service, and with readiness for every variety of duty, from the greatest to the least. He at once commended himself by the energy, skill and wisdom with which he took up his part in our parish life, co-operating with our pastor almost as if he had been a son, coming into touch with both young and old with hearty friendliness, and sparing no effort in stimulus, counsel and oversight. In the pulpit and the prayer-meetings he has shown unusual powers as a preacher and inspirer, and in the direction of manifold social and practical activities he has been tactful and unwearied. We have been instructed and edified by the freshness and depth of his thought, quickened by the buoyancy of his spirit, and strengthened by the sterling excellence of his Christian manhood.

It is, therefore, with genuine regret that we regard his impending departure from our midst. But we rejoice with him and his wife that their aspiration for larger service seems likely to be gratified. We shall beg them to believe, when they shall leave us, that they will not be forgotten, wherever the future years may take them, but that our affectionate good wishes and our earnest prayers for their happiness and success will follow them always.

While so many pleasant articles are being printed about Rev. "Dr." Twichell it may be worth the while in the interest of accuracy to point out that "Mr." Twichell has never

In Appreciation of Mr. Twichell.

To the Editor of The Courant:—

It may seem presumptuous after so much has been written and said by those older and perhaps more intimately connected with Mr. Twichell, that I should seek to add anything to the many tributes of affection and esteem published this morning. But I do nevertheless ask the privilege, if you can grant me space, to add at this time of his resignation as our pastor some testimony of that rare feeling which the younger men of our community who have grown up under his care feel for him, which testimony can be given at no better time than the present.

Personally I will never cease to give thanks, as long as I live, that, as a young boy, I was welcomed into his family to receive from it the friendship and comradeship which mean so much to one of the younger generation. Later, when the head of that family drew me to him in connection with his work, and I was able better to appreciate the bigness of him, my affections warmed toward him as does a son's toward a father, and I realized how priceless a gift had been given our young men—and myself in particular—in his interest in us. And it is with all the younger men as it has been with me. Ask any one of the hundreds of boys on the Hill, many now grown up, who Hartford's largest man is, her most beloved citizen, and you will be told that it is he about whom we are now thinking. And if Mr. Twichell never had another word of appreciation at this time, it is fitting—better, it is his due, that he should go down into history as a man who, not only as pastor of the Asylum Hill Congregational Church, but as everyday person among his fellows, loved the young boys. To his teaching more than to that of any man in our generation is due the present type of straightforward, decent young manhood of our good city.

It is hard to have him leave his church. It must be hard for him—but how very hard for those young men who are so fond of him and of whom he is so fond. They have never known another pastor—and they doubt if they will ever know another like him.

Sincerely,

Heywood H. Whaples.

Hartford, Dec. 11, 1911.

TESTIMONIAL ADOPTED FOR THE REV. MR. TWICHELL

Center Church Members Send Greetings to Retiring Pastor of Asylum Hill Congregation.

A testimonial regarding the life and work of the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, pastor of the Asylum Hill Congregational church for forty-seven years, was adopted by a rising vote by the members of Center church at the service, Sunday morning. The testimonial was presented and read to the congregation by the Rev. Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter, the pastor, and was unanimously adopted.

Dr. Potter appointed the following committee to wait upon Mr. Twichell at his home and to read him the testimonial: Daniel R. Howe, chairman, Charles P. Cooley and Professor Henry A. Perkins. The appointment of Mr. Perkins was an especially appropriate one, as his father, the late Edward H. Perkins, was a classmate of Mr. Twichell's at Yale university. The testimonial was read to Mr. Twichell at his home on Woodland street at 3:30 Sunday afternoon by Daniel R. Howe, the other two members of the committee also being present.

To Be Placed on Records.

The testimonial, which will be placed on the records of Center church, is as follows:

The First Church of Christ in Hartford to the Rev. Joseph Twichell and the Asylum Hill Congregational Church of Hartford.

Greeting:

The retirement of the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell from the active pastorate of the Asylum Hill Congregational church after a service of forty-seven years is a matter of concern to all churches of the city and this church would place upon its records and convey to you its gratitude for the noble ministry thus long continued.

Mr. Twichell has given largely of his time and strength to every good cause in the life of the city, and as those who have rejoiced in his good counsel and eager sympathy in common service we thank him. He has interpreted the civil life by noble speech and inspired it in all its higher aspirations, and as citizens we recognize this service.

He has preached a large gospel from his pulpit and among us has borne eloquent testimony to his message by the life he has lived, his ministry of this gospel through personal friendships giving high purpose to youth, courage to the disheartened, strength to the tempted and comfort and hope to the sorrowing and aged has reached a great company beyond the bounds of the congregation he has served, among whom many of us rejoice to have been included.

To Mr. Twichell we send assurance of honor and love, and for him we pray that at "evening-time there may be light." With the church which is his we rejoice in the crown of honor and of love which is theirs in this ministry, thus long continued, and we pray for their increase of the prosperity of service in the kingdom of our common Lord.

THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST IN HARTFORD.

By Rockwell Harmon Potter.
Mr. Twichell's Reply.

Printed

REV. MR. TWICHELL RETIRES

Is Now Pastor Emeritus—Letter to Center Church.

Rev. Joseph H. Twichell officiated yesterday for the last time as the actual and active pastor of the Asylum Hill Congregational Church. Today he becomes pastor emeritus. It was the communion service and no especial exercises marked the incident.

Dr. Twichell has sent the following note to the committee of the Center Church in acknowledgment of the note recently sent by that church to him.—

Mr. D. R. Howe:—

Dear Sir and Brother: I address this note to you as chairman of the committee that has reported to me the action, relative to myself, taken by the congregation of the First Church of Christ in this city at morning service last Sunday.

I am at a loss how to express my profound thankful appreciation of such a token from such a source, of Christian fraternal sympathy and good will at this time. It was impossible that I should not be deeply moved by it. Yet it was indeed but one more added to the constant and countless manifestations of kindness from our dear Mother Household in Zion shown me by her ministers and her people alike, through the whole period, now drawing to a close, of my life and work in Hartford; the memory of which is more precious than can be told.

To all those of her present fellowship in whom that kindness is continued, I desire to give assurance of my abiding, heartfelt gratitude for their cheering, encouraging, helpful

"DR." TWICHELL AND OTHERS.

1912

Trinity College did a fine piece of work yesterday in distributing her well-merited honorary degrees. Hail now at last to "Dr." Twichell! All his long public life he has declined to accept a degree, but Trinity wins him at last not with D.D., but with LL.D. Dr. Parker, already wearing so fitly for thirty-seven years Yale's honorary D.D., receives now with Dr. Twichell the LL.D. of Trinity. Rev. Mr. Miel, one of Hartford's most beloved clergymen, becomes "Dr." Miel by way of divinity and Principal Hyde of the high school becomes "Dr." Hyde by way of letters. Judge Smith receives the honorary M. A., and Trinity adds five sound reasons for Hartford's affectionate interest in her welfare.

Trinity thus gives to Dr. Twichell his first honorary degree. It has been one of the settled convictions of Hartford that the close personal friend of Mark Twain and for more than a generation the pastor of the Hill church would remain undecorated by any college. Tradition has it that time and again he has refused similar honors from Yale, his alma mater, and that other prominent educational institutions have vainly sought his acceptance of their favor. That Trinity has given the first honor of this kind to the distinguished preacher and pastor will be a matter of congratulation both to the recipient and to the college. Dr. Twichell is one of the men of Hartford whose circle of friends is not confined to denominational lines and in honoring him the college has struck a responsive chord in the life of this community.

YALE CONFERS DEGREE ON JOSEPH H. TWICHELL

Jan 20 - 1913

VETERAN PASTOR RETIRES FROM YALE CORPORATION.

The Yale Corporation held its January meeting yesterday in Woodbridge Hall, New Haven. There were present President Taft, Joseph Anderson, Edwin P. Parker, Newman Smyth, James W. Cooper, Payson Merrill, Eli Whitney, Henry B. Sargent, N. W. Calhoun, Otto T. Bannard, Alfred L. Ripley, Clarence H. Kelsey, John V. Farwell and C. H. Clark, with Secretary Stokes and Treasurer Day. Those absent were President Hadley, the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, Rev. Dr. Jefferson of New York and Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Twichell of Hartford. President Hadley is suffering from a carbuncle on his cheek and was unable to attend. In his absence Mr. Whitney presided.

A letter was read from Rev. Dr. Twichell of this city, who has been on the corporation for thirty-nine years, tendering his resignation and expressing his appreciation of the labor and the associations of the position. This was accepted with regret, and the following resolutions, drawn by Rev. Dr. Parker of this city, were adopted:—

Whereas, the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, LL.D., a member of the Yale Corporation since 1874, and for a long while the senior member thereof, has presented his resignation, therefore.

Resolved, that Dr. Twichell's resignation be and hereby is accepted; and that together with this act of the corporation the following memorandum be entered upon our records:—

It is with reluctance and regret that we, the members of the Yale Corporation, consent to comply with Dr. Twichell's request, and to sever our official relations with one who, for so many years, has served on this board with distinguished fidelity and usefulness; whose name is that of one known, trusted, revered and beloved in the whole Yale world.

As in the service of the country and in that of the church he has made the soldier's uniform and the vestments of holiness honorable, so in the service of this university, by his diligent devotion to its interests and welfare, he has adorned its robes of honor worn alike with distinction and modesty. We shall sadly miss the wisdom of his counsels, the enthusiasm of his loyalty, the cordiality of his friendship and the benediction of his presence.

We hereby offer him the homage of our gratitude, esteem and affection, with the prayer, that from the eminence of his honorable age.

"With spiritual graces, like a glory, crowned"
he may long continue to look abroad upon all things with his accustomed courage and cheerfulness, and that the eventide of his bright and beautiful day of life may be prolonged in serenity and peace.

Resolved, That the degree of Doctor of Divinity be conferred upon Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, LL.D., at the next Commencement.

The voting to Dr. Twichell of the degree of D.D., at this time was an unusual proceeding and a mark of distinguished honor. The rules of the corporation were first suspended by unanimous consent.

JOSEPH H. TWICHELL, "D. D."

Courant — Jan 21, 1913
The announcement elsewhere that Rev. Dr. J. H. Twichell, the beloved "Joe" Twichell of the Yale brotherhood, has resigned from the governing board of the great university will be read with regret by every friend of Yale. He has served in that position of responsibility for thirty-nine years, and few predecessors have exceeded that length of service in the history of the college.

It is gratifying that his associates paid him the singular honor of suspending their rules by unanimous action and voting him on the spot the degree of Doctor of Divinity. This will be formally and publicly conferred at the Commencement June 18th, but it is already voted and is his. The regrets at Dr. Twichell's retirement will be mightily soothed by a reading of the beautiful resolutions, drawn up by his life-time friend, Dr. Parker. Anything "The Courant" might say of Dr. Twichell in the same issue which carried those resolutions could only be an anti-climax, and we prefer simply to call attention to them.

The Hartford Times.

Established as a Daily 1841.

Tuesday, January 21, 1913.

MR. TWICHELL'S DEGREE.

For many years the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell objected to being made a doctor of divinity, but after his resignation as a member of the Yale corporation on Monday the other members promptly voted to confer that degree on him, he being absent and unable to protest, even if he still objected. The resolutions reviewing Dr. Twichell's years of service and directing the conferring of the degree at the next commencement were written by Dr. Parker and expressed with something of the personal touch and insight inseparable from long friendship—the opinion that is shared by all of Mr. Twichell's friends. And all unite in the hope expressed in the last clause of the resolution.

May — 27, 1913.
Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Twichell, pastor emeritus of the Asylum Hill Congregational Church, celebrated the 75th anniversary of his birth at his residence in Woodland street last Tuesday. Many of his friends and parishioners sent cards of congratulation to Dr. Twichell, and many others called upon him, so that a most attractive impromptu reception was held.

TWICHELL WINDOWS AT ASYLUM HILL CHURCH

Easter 1913-
Beautiful Specimens of Art to Be Publicly Displa

The Easter

Asylum Hill
will be doubly
of the church
service will b
first time the
above the ch practical com redecorating t
which has bee
last summer.

ing of the chi 000, and will
the handsome found in the s

These wind commemorati
pastorate of Twichell, who active ministr
years, and is
is expected th
in the chancel
vice.

Under the group is this memorate the Hopkins Twi

The window
made in a sp
golden age of The principle
ated the glas
ages have bee
sincerity in t
lead and glas
orative, rathe
sentation of t ornamental s consists of fiv
one of which angel Gabriel,
emblem of U
bearing the figure is a sn decorative in
of the Magi
cular office emphasizes blem above.

The four are treated glass, which luminous qui brilliance an ter window.
an interesti group. The Charles J. C

These c
have been tribute of th
gregation.
charge of th
Welles Gros
Prentice, Ch
Clark, Char
ell, Atwood

S. G. Dunham, Charles H. Jones,
Charles C. Russ, Russell L. Jones,
Lewis E. Gordon, Merwin Gray, Guy
E. Beardsley and John H. Buck.

Infant Baptism.

An interesting feature of the service was the baptism of two infants, Jane Deyo, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Voorhees and John Cooke, son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Russ. The rite of baptism was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. Twichell.

MARCH 24, 1913.

TWICHELL COMMEMORATIVE WINDOW.

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT, THURS

Hartford Minister Was With Gen. Sickles
During Gettysburg Battle and at Reunion.

Chaplain "Joe" Twichell.

REV. DR. JOSEPH H. TWICHELL.

LOVING CUP PRESENTED TO DR. NATHAN MAYER.

Jan 1, 1912.
He is the Senior Member of the Hartford Medical Society—Doings at the Annual Meeting

of the Hartford Medical Society—Doings at the Annual Meeting
of the
Hartford Medical Society—Doings at the

The annual Medical Society evening at the was a large interest was rings. A few the present Dr. Nathan of the society Dr. Marcus president, p the officers s a thriving c appropriate the Hunt Me

The follow President—Vice-President. Secretary—Assistant Treasurer—

Member of Executive Committee for Three Years—Dr. John H. Rose. Member of Board of Censors for Three Years—Dr. John B. McCook. Trustee for Three Years—Dr. G. Pierrepont Davis

After the business meeting lunch was served, and the ancient custom of the snuff-box and the pipe of peace was carried out.

During the past year the society lost its oldest member, Dr. Horace S. Fuller. He was the holder of the loving cup, which was previously held by Dr. Gurdon W. Russell, and last night presented to Dr. Mayer.

Dr. Mayer's Acceptance.

Dr. Mayer accepted the gift in a very happy manner. He said:

Dr. Mayer Accepts.

In accepting the gift of the cup Dr. Mayer spoke as follows.

Mr. President and Members of the Medical Society:

Destiny, or perhaps chance, which regulates so many affairs in this life, but chiefly the vote of you gentlemen, has conferred a great honor on me, the honor of being the successor of Dr. Russell and Dr. Fuller in the guardianship of this loving cup. Dr. Russell stands in memory for all that's high and fine; his lofty views of life and his even, calm, practical activity were crowned by success, by appreciation, by honor and length of days. I hold him in memory with more especial reverence. He examined me for a position in the army nearly fifty years ago, and on his strong recommendation, and that of Dr. Beresford, I was appointed a surgeon of the Civil war and served three and a half years. Dr. Fuller, whose sturdy manhood and solid common sense, tempered with gentle manners and kindest intents, made him like an oak tree that affords grateful shade to those around, succeeded for all too short a term. He was my friend for over forty years.

I hold this loving cup after them, and hold it with extreme modesty and veneration. This cup typifies, in a manner, the social quality of the society. Leaving aside the scientific labors, the distinctions of learning and research, the practical accomplishments and energetic strivings of our professional life, we mark here, and by this cup, the more social and friendly quality, we typify our personal feeling, and what we think of each other, rather than what we feel for our profession. In other words, descending from the high plane on which we labor as physicians for science and humanity, we are now merely companions and friends. And the love bred by common interests and difficulties, by common likings and aversions, a love re-enforced by strong appreciation of personal quality and personal acquirement, finds vivid expression this evening by quaffing from the loving cup of the society. May the next year be a happy one to all of us. We are brothers in object, brothers in action, even brothers in means. And this brotherhood we typify in ancient manner by quaffing, at the turn of the year, from the loving cup of the society. I was with Dr. Wainwright at the inception of the idea. I was with him to carry it out and I have, year after year, heard sweet Dr. Russell, growing gracefully and beautifully older, greet the members over this loving cup. I may be then not altogether unworthy to quaff it to the well-being and scientific advancement of the Hartford Medical society, and to love and appreciation between its members. I do so now. An though my predecessors were men of rank and weight, their wishes for your success and well-being, for the brightest flowering of your scientific attainments, for the firm establishment of your commanding social position, could not have been more ardent and sincere than mine. May the kind gifts of God and the best successes of manhood be with you for many happy years. I drink to you all.

DR. NATHAN MAYER.

On January 1 Miss Polly BroSmith will be received into the Ursuline Sisterhood at the convent of that order in New Rochelle, New York. Miss BroSmith is the daughter of William BroSmith, this city, and a graduate of Mt. St. Joseph seminary. She made her college course at the college of New Rochelle, which institution is under the direction of the Ursulines.

SHERIFF AND MRS. SIBLEY MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Windham County Official and Wife
Will Celebrate Anniversary.
(Special to The Courant)

Danielson, Dec. 29.

On next Tuesday, January 2, Sheriff and Mrs. Preston B. Sibley will observe the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Invitations have been issued to their many friends to call at their home in Broad street during the afternoon and evening. Their large circle of friends insures many visitors for this occasion who will offer congratulations to the couple who are to celebrate the ending of half a century of married life.

There are few men in the state, and especially in Windham county, who are better known than Preston B. Sibley. He was born in Eastford, June 25, 1840, the son of Samuel and Rhoda (Preston) Sibley, whose ancestors came to Salem, Mass., in 1639. Samuel was of the sixth generation, who removed from Sutton to Eastford, then a part of Ashford, in 1827. He settled near the home of David Keyes, who was then sheriff, and whom many of the older residents of this part of the state will remember, because, rather than hang Oliver Watkins, whom he had brought up from childhood, he resigned his post as sheriff. This was the last execution in the county, occurring in 1831.

Sheriff Sibley received only the advantages of the common schools of the town and at the age of 17 entered the occupation of farming and continued it until 1871, when he started in a building and contracting business, which he conducted for ten years. During this time he was elected to represent his native town in the Legislature also on the committee on cities and boroughs.

In 1881 he was appointed jailer under Sheriff Osgood and at once moved to Brooklyn. This post he held for fourteen years. In 1895 he was appointed deputy state factory inspector and acted in this capacity for three years. On January 2, 1862, he was married to Kate B. Noble, daughter of Guy C. and Maria Badger Noble of Springfield, Mass., by Rev. Francis Williams of Chaplin. She was born in that city in 1842. To them were born three children, all living, two boys and a girl.

Lewis Preston, born on July 25, 1869, has a large fruit farm in New Jersey and has been for the past ten years connected with the Barrett Manufacturing Company. Frederick S., the other son, born April 11, 1873, is superintendent of the Bradstreet Commercial Agency at Providence, R. I. He married May Hall of this town. Mary Maria, daughter, born December 24, 1875, was married to Professor Herbert Loomis, is now living at Northampton, Mass., where Mr. Loomis is engaged as director of the Smith Agricultural School. They have a daughter, Katherine Noble, born January 10, 1907.

In 1898 Mr. Sibley was elected sheriff of Windham county, which office he now holds, serving his fourth term. In 1895 he moved to this borough. He has been a director of the Windham County Savings Bank, is an officer of the Windham County Agricultural Society, and is an aggressive worker in the interests of the fair held each year at Brooklyn. He is a director of the Brooklyn Creamery Association, and is closely connected with the local and state granges. He has been a member of the latter organization for over a quarter of a century. He is a member of the Westfield Congregational Church of this place and is a member of the prudential committee of that church. His long service in connection with the jail at Brooklyn has given him valuable knowledge of county matters; and under his supervision the jail has been a self-supporting institution for several years. He is identified with many inter-

STAFFORD SPRINGS. Glazier Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight J. Glazier celebrated their golden wedding at their home in West Stafford Tuesday. Friends were present from Rockville, Ellington, Somers, Stafford and other nearby towns. Mr. and Mrs. Glazier received numerous gifts at the informal reception Tuesday, including several gold pieces from the relatives, members of the church and friends. Mr. Glazier married Miss Elizabeth Howlett in Ellington, January 2, 1862. Rev. Mr. Fessenden performing the ceremony. The union was blessed with three children, two of whom are living. The children are Fred Dwight, who died when a small boy, Herbert A. and Charles D., both of whom reside in Stafford. Mr. Glazier came to Stafford with his parents when he was four years old and has since resided there. After leaving school he went to work on the farm and is to-day one of the most successful farmers in that section. He has been a member of the board of assessors and the board of selectmen and represented the town in the Legislature in 1873. He is a deacon of the West Stafford Congregational church and both he and Mrs. Glazier have been prominent in church work and have worked earnestly for the betterment of the community in which they reside. Mr. Glazier will be 75 years old February 14 and Mrs. Glazier was 77 in November. He is a member of Wolcott lodge of Masons.

Jan 2 Toelken-Steele, 1912
Miss Caroline W. Steele, second daughter of Major and Mrs. William C. Steele of No. 19 Mahl avenue, and Gustave A. Toelken were married at the home of the bride Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown of the Windsor Avenue Congregational Church.

HARTFORD INSURANCE

MAN BANKRUPT

Jan 2, 1912
Olin H. Clark Has a Big List of Creditors.

Olin H. Clark, an insurance man in this city, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court yesterday. His schedules show liabilities of $24,089, of which $18,026.33 is said to be secured. In his list of assets he claims to have $626, due him on open account, and insurance policies represent $8,392, but some of these have been pledged for loans. His unsecured creditors in this city are:—

W. C. Allen, $125; Aetna Life Insurance Company, $100; estate of J. M. Allen, $100; P. P. Bennett, $35; J. S. Burwell, $675; W. E. Baker & Son, $31.38; Brown, Thomson & Co., $17; C. C. Cook, $2; Miss F. Clark, $28; A. L. Foster, $250; W. Foxon, $32.56; L. W. Franklin, $55; Gross, Hyde & Shipman, $154.25; Gladding Drug Company, $4.25; C. M. Gaines, $25.10; George's Express, $33.40; the Luke Horsfall Company, $5; Hartford Daily Times, $16; Hartford Life Insurance Company, $18.15; Hartford City Gas Light Company, $3; Hartford Printing Company, $26.50; Hartford Electric Light Company, $3.04; C. L. Hubbard, $3.20; Hatch & North Coal Company, $46; J. M. Hayden, $165.26; Mrs. A. Haynes, $10; J. R. Hills, $10; Hungerford, Hyde, Joslyn & Gilman, $20; C. P. Knight, $42.51; A. R. McKinney, $70.50; J. B. Moore, $250; First Methodist Church, $10; Newton, Robertson & Co., $99.64; E. A. Noack, $100; M. F. Pierce, $68.43; H. J. Pratt, $105; Dr. C. W. Roberts, $16; R. Seymour, $50; C. E. Shepard, $25; C. E. Shepard, agent, $38.71; Second Ecclesiastical Society, $60; E. T. Smith, $12; F. G. Smith, $10; Tunnel Coal Company, $31; C. L. Tolles, $60; Waterman's Express, $6; Y. M. C. A., $4; W. H. Bruce, $2.31; Miss W. Dewey, $26.92; Aetna National Bank, $30; Hartford Trust Company, $660; Collectors' Club, $1.50; Children's Aid Society, $25.

RIVER CLOSES TODAY.

Jan 2, 1912
Boat Makes Its Last Trip for the Season This Afternoon.

The Connecticut River officially closes to navigation this afternoon, when the Hartford & New York Transportation Company will send down its boat for the last trip, leaving here at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The steamboats Hartford and Middletown will then go into winter quarters.

While there is not enough ice in this vicinity to cause much trouble, the floating cakes have jammed at two or three places down the river, the worst being near Deep River, so that the company thought it unwise to continue its service. There have been but few later dates in the past fifty-five years on which navigation has been suspended, the dates being January 4, 1882; January 11, 1890; January 8, 1892; January 6, 1901; January 7, 1908. The date of closing last winter was December 11.

CANNON-GARRETTSON WEDDING.

Springfield Young Man Marries a Delaware Girl.

Special Dispatch to The Republican 1912
WILMINGTON, Del., Thursday, January 4.
Miss Katherine Dale Cannon, daughter

of Mr and Bridgeville,
to-day to Eu
field, Mass.
mansion of ville and w
guests. Rev Episcopal cl performed th ing a gown
duchess lace
Mrs Frank
Mr Cannon,
the most pr
Delaware.
nee for rep
years ago a dential elect
non, was go
civil war.
Lieut-Gov
Bridgeville.
Anne Penne
newill, who ware.

The groom field high sc
is connected
the A. C. I
and Mrs Ga
at 57 High turn from t
They will

February 1. Those who attended the wedding from Springfield were the groom's mother, Mrs Richard Garrettson, his sister, Miss Helen Garrettson, Rhea K. Baker, who served him as best man, and Daniel E. Burbank, 2d.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Higgins of Washington, D. C., will observe their sixty-second wedding anniversary Saturday at their home on Massachusetts avenue in Washington. They eloped from Hollis, Me. and were married in this city, January 6, 1850. They stopped at Portland, Me., and Boston, and learned that marriages without previous notices were permitted in Connecticut. So they came on to Hartford. Mr. Higgins was formerly connected with the work of constructing telegraph lines through the country and built those running from New York to Boston by the way of Hartford. He then lived in Waterbury, where a daughter, Mrs. George B. Scoville, still lives.

105 Years Old.

Stamford, January 5.—Mrs. Maria Greaka is to-day celebrating the one hundred and fifth anniversary of her HONOR FOR F. J. V. SKIFF.

DIRECTOR OF CANAL EXPOSITION.

Springfield Boy Who Has Won Fame
as an Exposition Expert.

Frederick J. V. Skiff of Chicago, formerly a Springfield boy, has been chosen as director-in-chief of foreign and domestic participation for the Panama-Pacific international exposition, which is to be held in San Francisco in 1915. This exposition is to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal, and an appointment to the position of director-in-chief for this exposition is significant, since only the best men in their respective departments are being to have charge of this important

FREDERICK J. V. SKIFF.

project, one of the greatest expositions that has ever been undertaken. Mr Skiff has been an expert newspaper man, and has had in addition a great deal of experience as a manager of expositions in this country in the past 20 years. He is now about 60 years of age, and is known both in this country and abroad as an expert in the management of exhibitions and museums. Owing to his attainments in his

Mr Skiff was born in Chicopee November 5, 1857, the son of James Martin and Angeline C. Skiff. His father was a jeweler in Springfield. Mr Skiff was educated in the Springfield public schools, as his family came to this city to live when he was quite young. He never had any education further than that of the common schools. Leaving Springfield when he was still hardly more than a schoolboy, he went to New York, where he entered a mercantile business. He soon left that city to go West, and was on a newspaper in Kansas in 1870. He was in several cities in that state, and during his stay there he married Mary R. French, the daughter of Dr and Mrs Otis Everett French of Garnett, Kan. He has had two children, but both are dead.

Continuing his newspaper work, he became a member of the staff of the Denver (Col.) Tribune, particularly famous for the connection of Eugene Field with its columns, and in that office he was advanced to the position of manager. He was a member of the Colorado Legislature in 1885-6, and was the state commissioner of immigration and statistics in 1889. His work as a manager of expositions began at about this time. In 1890 he prepared the exhibits of the resources of Colorado for the Chicago exposition of that year, and sent the same exhibit to the St Louis exposition of 1890. He was soon appointed a member of the world's Columbian exposition commission by President Harrison. In 1893 he was a representative from Colorado to that exposition in Chicago and acted as chief of the bureau of mines and mining.

At the close of the exposition in 1894 Marshall Field established the famous Field Columbian museum, for the purpose of making permanent the more important exhibits of that year, and Mr Skiff was made director-general of the museum. He was always a close friend of Marshall Field and received a generous bequest in his will as a token of the regard in which Mr Field held him. He has held the position of director of the Field museum ever since his appointment, and will be the head of the new Field museum, which is to be built on the lake front in Chicago. His work in the managing of expositions has continued since his connection with the World's fair. He was an organizer of the Nashville (Tenn.) exposition and was a member of its jury of awards in 1897, and was director-in-chief of the United States exhibits for the St Louis exposition from 1901 to 1905.

Many foreign nations have honored Mr Skiff with the decorations of their most distinguished orders. He received the gold medal from Germany and the bronze medal from France at the time of the Columbian exposition, and among the most famous orders of which he is a member are the Legion d'Honneur, France; Red Eagle, Germany; Francis Joseph, Austria; Leopold, Belgium; and Crown, Italy. He is a member of the American institute of mining engineers, the international museum association of England, the National geographical society. The degree of M. A. was conferred on him by Colorado college.

His present appointment is the most important that he has ever held. The actual work on the site of the Panama-Pacific International exposition is to begin early this year, and the preparations for the exhibits in the exposition are already under way.

HARTFORD, CONN., MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 8, 1912.—20 PA

Excavation Made to Repair the Break In the City's 30-inch Water Main.

SECTION OF PIPE SHOWING THE BREAK.

Gas and Portable

W. W. Neffert, Local Forecaster
Connecticut Mutual Building.
Hartford, Conn., Jan. 6.
8 A. M. 8 P. M.
Barometer	30.28
Temp. (degrees F.)	2	9
Dew Point (degrees F.)	—6	3
Relative Humidity (%)	64	72
State of Weather	... Lt. Snow	Clear
Direction of Wind	... S. W.	S. W.
Velocity of Wind	2	5
Daily Summary.
Winnepes, pt. cldy.	10	29.28
Winnemucca, clear	26	29.96
		.04

HIGHBORN DIVORCE SUIT REVEALS STRANGE STORY

Erring Couple Declared to Have Returned to Each Other After Test of Separation.

Washington, D. C., January 9.—When Philip Highborn filed suit here yesterday against his young and beautiful wife public attention was again drawn to the fact of her elopement last year with Horace Wylie, who deserted his wife and children to fly with her.

The divorce suit has opened the door to the discovery that the most sensational part of the scandal that so deeply stirred capital society is being enacted now. This climax followed a remarkable series of events which Wylie-Highborn had been through the most unusual.

It is stated that Highborn and Wylie are now in Europe now steps to save the world that they reached the rest of the careful consideration of the supreme court of the first flight.

Justice Gould of the supreme court of the District of Columbia granted yesterday a divorce to Mrs. Catherine V. H. Wylie from Horace Wylie, son of the distinguished jurist who presided at the trial of Charles J. Guiteau, assassin of President Garfield. Wylie did not contest the suit. He eloped about five years ago with Mrs. Helena Hoyt Highborn, wife of Philip Highborn, Jr., son of the late Rear Admiral Highborn, for many years chief constructor of the United States navy.

Mrs. Highborn was the daughter as he might of the late Henry M. Hoyt of Pennsylvania, who had been solicitor general of the United States and a him was too federal judge, and was the first he went back to his wife of President Taft at Yale. Mrs. Highborn was beautiful and popular, amounting about half as old as Wylie. Her husband, a young Washington his personal lawyer, sued for divorce, and while to more than the suit was pending committed suicide.

Both the Wylies and the Highborns were socially prominent. The by way of Wylies lived in an old mansion on last November Thomas Circle, where Mrs. Wylie had sailed still resides with her children. A

About a reconciliation was effected between Mr. and Mrs. Wylie after the huskily wrapping and Mrs. Highborn had lived were known abroad for about a year, and he since came to Washington and resumed his residence with his family. Mrs.

A Test Highborn also returned to Washington in the metron, but remained in seclusion. It was said she had brought about the reconciliation.

After living with his wife for several months Wylie eloped again with Mrs. Highborn. They left Washington, and little has been heard of them since.

The principal testimony on which Justice Gould granted the divorce was that of Henry M. Hoyt, Jr., of Orange, N. J. Before a commissioner in New York he told of having visited Wylie and Mrs. Highborn in Burley, Hampshire, England, where caused was they were living under the name of that she was Waring.

The court gave to Mrs. Wylie the custody of her four children. The opportunity to rectify the error would be gained. If they had that each wanted the other more than they wanted the good opinion of the world, there could be a second flight.

Return to Each Other.

As a result they are together now in a union of their own making that they hope will last for life.

Wylie's return to his family was so open and the story so widely circulated that it had the desired effect of hushing gossip. He carried out the plan as conceived, but Mrs. Highborn was not so successful.

When she returned last spring it was to be reunited. Her beauty and held him a captive. He believed that receive her again the widow of his sister, M. Elaine Pearsall reconciliation.

When she found "conciliation" was the opposition to the outcome of a stay in her mother, widow Henry M. Hoyt, to Washington.

Her Wylie While Wylie test to his love finding no other to cause her his so that even if her, she would if he did return nearer marriage.

But Mr. Highborn would not say a divorce her. European society was heightened two ed to prevent years later when Highborn committed lie. Others besuicide after instituting divorce proceedings. Mrs. Wylie was wanted a separation in 1916 and Wylie and Mrs. Highborn were married.

On the complaint of Mrs. Wylie, she declared that when her husband disappeared from Washington on December 11 in 1910 he left a note that he had eloped where they boar with Mrs. Highborn. He returned twice to attempt a reconciliation, she said.

It is a matter of record on the last occasion declaring the separation was final. Wylie until recently eloped together has been connected with the shipping sorted together board here, but now lives in New Liverpool, London.

Monte Carlo and other places, and that no contradiction from any source.

Couples

Highborn married daughter of Solicitor General Taft in 1906. The ceremony by Bishop Satterthwaite in Washington was chief constructor lived not far from years.

About a block his wife, who had Hopkinson, and He was almost after Mrs. Katherine Wylie, former wife of the clubman, obtained a divorce. seemed to take her.

After the ylate H. M. Hoyt of Pennsylvania, a housekeeping classmate of W. H. Taft and counselor friendly with of the state department in the Taft administration. Her former husband, Philip Highborn, Jr., son of Rear Admiral Highborn, committed suicide in Washington about two years after Mrs. Highborn's wife's elopement and just after he loved outdoor had suit for divorce. Mr. Highborn is a quiet disposition whereas Wylie, in his forty odd years, liked the sa things that interested his young son.

MRS. HORACE WYLIE SECURES DIVORCE

Latest Episode in Famous Washington Domestic Tangle.

28.68-1923
Washington, March 28.—Another episode in the noted Wylie-Highborn domestic tangle was disclosed to-day when it became known that Mrs. Elinor Hoyt Highborn Wylie had been granted a divorce from her second husband, Horace Wylie.

The divorce was granted at Providence, R. I., on the grounds of non-support, and ended a chapter begun twelve years ago, when Mrs. Wylie, prominent in Washington society circles, left for Europe with Wylie soon after her marriage to Philip S. Highborn, son of Admiral Highborn. Wylie left behind a wife and four children. A sensation created in American and European society was heightened two ed to prevent years later when Highborn committed lie. Others besuicide after instituting divorce proceedings. Mrs. Wylie was wanted a separation in 1916 and Wylie and Mrs. Highborn were married.

In the divorce petition of the first recited. It is so Mrs. Wylie, she declared that when her husband disappeared from Washington on December 11 in 1910 he left a note that he had eloped where they boar with Mrs. Highborn. He returned twice to attempt a reconciliation, she said.

It is a matter of record on the last occasion declaring the separation was final. Wylie until recently eloped together has been connected with the shipping sorted together board here, but now lives in New Jersey.

Monte Carlo and other places, and that no contradiction from any source.

HIGHBORN-WYLIE WEDDING

Society Couple Created Scandal by Elopement Six Years Ago

Announcement was made at New York yesterday of the marriage in Boston on Monday last of Mrs. Elinor Hoyt Highborn and Horace Wylie, whose elopement six years ago caused a sensation in social circles. The marriage occurred just two weeks after Mrs. Katherine Wylie, former wife of the clubman, obtained a divorce.

Mrs. Wylie is the daughter of the ylate H. M. Hoyt of Pennsylvania, a housekeeping classmate of W. H. Taft and counselor friendly with of the state department in the Taft administration. Her former husband, Philip Highborn, Jr., son of Rear Admiral Highborn, committed suicide in Washington about two years after Mrs. Highborn's wife's elopement and just after he loved outdoor had suit for divorce. Mr. Highborn is a quiet disposition whereas Wylie, in his forty odd years, liked the sa things that interested his young son.

Mrs. Wylie a Devoted Wife.

Mrs. Wylie after the birth of her third child had been buried for all devotion to Their home had been the judge, tally.

Mr. Wylie's circumstances beyond tak

When he came time light it was gossip of Thieve. The keeping the weeks. The tion of the Mrs. Hoyt p grief at the caused Mrs sanatorium.

Hichborn ing. But th by the coup Europe.

Hichborn husband life she they need

In the thing to went to f Paris. W ter, Mrs. of the fin embassy

They t when M leave Wy separation the two with her n

After U about Eur country th mother an New York and got in wife from were carri son of a f Wylie met Washington

The ups his return parture for two days tuned to the possibility

The Wylies and the co ports were

Now com which has which has day's divor

Wylie did Mrs. Hichb trial recon were enough could not b In Septembe Mrs. Hichbo to this coun tion to end

He told h informed her ple provision chose to sue he worried a reached New tember with drew, whom school.

This time ston, havin that Hichbo Mrs. Hichbo Hoyt place near Boston ap

PHILIP HICHBORN KILLS HIMSELF

Put with social notes
Rear Admiral's Son. Whose Wife Eloped With Wylie, Ends His Troubles.

Do not put in notes
FAMILIES PROMINENT IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY

and what is of the most im- ability, ease of operation, Dur- of a sewing machine. Dur- be considered in the purchase There are many things to

Buy One You Should And Why Machine! Free

and an appropriation of $15,000. for the consolidation of four districts or three years. The new plan calls

tions will surely be required in two thrown away, as better accommoda- houses and it will be practically be required to repair the old school been found that about $8,000 will an appropriation of $20,000. It has the consolidation of six districts and recent special town meeting called for proposition that was rejected at the consolidation in South Gastonbury. The proposition in regard to school con- town meeting to vote on another

A petition has been drawn up and try. The lecture will be illustrated. lecturers on that subject in this coun- since 1894 and is one of the foremost spoken on the Passion Play constantly Overmergau Passion Play. He has evening of Easter Sunday on the ture at St Paul's Church on the Professor Timothy Drake will lec- GLASTONBURY.

band was in Connecticut.

At that time was printed the story of the transfer of the Wylie reatly to the wife "in consideration of love and affection and $10 in hand paid." This was taken to show that the re-union was permanent.

Wylie took occasion to have him- self seen in Washington, although he did not go near the places where he was well known. Through friends he spread the report that he had returned here to prepare for his wife's and children's arrival. In October he met them in New York, brought them back here and remained two weeks. He departed in November— forenoon. Perhaps it was a coincidence, or perhaps Wylie knew of the coming of the other; but one day after his departure Hichborn returned to town.

Happy at His Decision.

Mrs. Hichborn had been at her mother's place until October, when she returned to this city for the first time in almost a year. She stayed but a few days and let no friends know she was here.

She had learned of the decision Wylie had reached and she was frankly happy. She said she had never had a doubt and the step taken had been entirely for his sake. She left her home a few days before her husband came up from his mother's place.

She went straight to her steamer and waited at the rendezvous abroad they had agreed upon for Wylie to come to her.

Wylie's stay in Washington after the return of his wife was to bring conviction to the doubters that he was happily reunited to his family. Even when he went away to rejoin the partner of his flight he left behind, in artful manner, the impression that he was absenting himself on a business trip. His wife's pride made her keep up this pretense.

For the Children's Sake.

Her friends say now that at no time did she ever ask him to return for her sake, but because of the children, and that even when he did return she never resumed her position of wife to him, although they lived together outwardly.

Mr. Hichborn has shut up the house where he spent his married life and has gone to his mother's home with the baby. He will say nothing for publication. Mrs. Wylie, Mrs. Hoyt and the Hichborns naturally avoid meeting one another.

JANUARY 4, 1912.

W. S. WADSWORTH

NEW POLICEMAN

Wadsworth Appointed.

Supernumerary Policeman William of S. Wadsworth appeared before the Tihoard and was elected a regular, taking the place of Policeman George P. a hHarvey, who was retired on January in al. Wadsworth's election was unanimous.

His service card is absolutely clear," said Clerk William E. Baedor. "In all his work he has been a creditable policeman; he is a good officer and has done much work; he is now on traffic duty at Exchange corner, and he has shown such ability that I intend to keep him there permanently; I recommend him highly," said Chief William F. Gunn.

EAST HARTFORD LIKES CLERK GOODWIN TOWN CLERK HAS SERVED THIRTY-EIGHT YEARS.

(Special to The Courant)

EAST HARTFORD, Monday, Jan. 8.

In these days of
lic officials
that here and old fashioned retaining in servants. So Hartford wh
the town cle
his thirty-eh
that office a
as clerk as permit for E
the habit of
as often as oftentimes b
bear his na
town are a accuracy an
as examples
public recor
Mr. Goodwi
1874 the m
ords of the less of a ta
East Hartfo
larger towns

tate transfers and other items that go to make up the work of the office are numerous.

Joseph Olcott Goodwin, town clerk of East Hartford, was born in that town April 16, 1843, the son of Edward Scott and Jane Treat Roberts Goodwin and has resided here continually since that date making his home on the original tract purchased by his ancestor, John Goodwin, in 1697. This tract originally embraced embraced Fort Hill the site of an early Podunk Indian fort. He received his education in the public schools and entered the employ of the Calhoun Printing Company of Hartford in 1861. He has been business in all its branches in that line until the present period he was
"The Elm Leaf," printed in this contributed "ar Magazine" and

He was first 1874 and has be since that year
without opposi-
member of the tors, now the to since 1876 and latter at the p
also a member committee unt
abolished on the solidated system
ment. He was Assembly in 187
representatives.

In 1879 Mr. work entitled History and T
which are now
that date wrote
for "The Memo ford County."

Mr. Goodwin is large Improvement trustees and secondary Library

Frank W. Jones.

the East Hartford Fire District and is interested in all that pertains to the welfare of the town. He is also a trustee of the Dime Savings Bank of Hartford. He married, on October 26, 1876, Miss Harriet Jane Spencer
of Manchester, who died in 1907. Mr.
Goodwin has three children, Miss Mabel H. Goodwin, assistant librarian of the public library; Miss Jessie S. Goodwin and Ralph E. Goodwin, an instructor in the forestry department of Yale University.

FROM ENGLAND TO PARTAKE OF DINNER

Jan 10 - 1912

FRANK W. JONES COMES TO GREET COMRADES.

MR. JONES'S FINE RESIDENCE ON THE ENGLISH RIVER THAMES.

The Veteran Association of the Hartford City Guard will hold its forty-fifth annual dinner on Wednesday evening of this week at the Hartford Club. There will be a business meeting at 6:30 o'clock and dinner will be served promptly at 7. Major Henry P. Hitchcock, the indefatigable secretary of the organization, has been as busy as hitherto over the arrangements. He is still at it. The four members who have died during the year are Edwin Strong, John K.
Williams, Richard L. Eells (at Brooklyn) and Joseph L. Blanchard. The present vice-president is Frank W.
Jones of London, who has agreed to be present. It is the custom to promote the vice-president of one year to be the president the next year, and presumably this course will be followed this time.

Mr. Jones is a native of this state, was a clerk for Charles H. Smith &
Co. in the dry goods business in this

MR. JONES'S RESIDENCE ON THE THAMES, ENGLAND.

LOVING CUP GIVEN

F. W. JONES DEAD.

Was Retired Wealthy Business Man of New Hartford.

1914

New Hartford, January 28.—Fredrick W. Jones, a wealthy retired business man, is dead at his home, Woodlands, here, at the age of 71. Death was due to heart failure and occurred yesterday, but the fact did not become generally known here until to-day. He was prominently connected with the development of the telephone business in South America, and also had large business interests in England, his home for some years, having been in London. He was at one time connected with the United States patent office at Washington. A son and daughter survive.

Recently he figured in a dispute connected with the placing of telephone poles on his property. He ordered several of the poles cut down and suits growing out of the action are still pending in the courts.

BURIED ON MOUNTAIN TOP.

Frank W. Jones of New Hartford Placed in Rock-Hewn Grave.

Frank W. Jones of New Hartford was buried to-day in a rock-hewn grave on "Bare Spot" mountain, the highest peak of his country estate. The mahogany casket was placed in a sealed steel vault, for which a place had been blasted out of the solid rock. Mr. Jones's son, housekeeper and employees on the place were the only ones present at the burial and the body was laid away without services, keeping with the expressed wish of the deceased.

Mr. Jones died Tuesday afternoon. The primary cause of the death was returned as angina pectoris and the secondary cause as arterio-sclerosis. The millionaire had been confined to his home by illness about two weeks. His wife died before he began his residence in New Hartford, about ten years ago, and his son, F. W. Jones, a young lawyer, with an office in New Hartford, has been his only intimate for years.

The deceased was a brother of the late Captain Henry R. Jones, who owned the New Hartford Tribune, and Roger Jones, a lawyer living in Pine Meadow, is his nephew.

NO SERVICE AT FUNERAL.

Frank W. Jones to Be Interred in Patch of Woodland.

New Hartford, January 29.—Without services and attended only by his son, Frank W. Jones, and a half dozen employees, the body of Frank W. Jones, millionaire resident of the town and formerly prominent in the South American telephone field, who died Tuesday afternoon, will be interred to-morrow afternoon in a patch of woodland crowning an eminence on his estate. This will be in accordance with his expressed wish.

Is Been a Church

a Century—Presented to the roll meeting and support Congregational evening. The suphe Woman's Home and the Mission ling of the roster, tuss called upon Klubourne, who some memorial in the shape of a living cup. In the presentation Deacon is given me in this time, a matter unique, so far as it is. Very rarely in to be in a confifty years as deaof his native town.

on, David L. Williams, this church. Insecrated service, devotion to the ried interests. He y with councils of oral matters, of se judgment. In spiritual welfare as ever been wise, is views on the revealed steel vault, and following others; ever ready ny service of this life advisor to the ones found standing with the pastors e for years in the er meetings, and ngs; in charities generous giver to urch, even as the him. In brief a

all. e many years of oken of the love members of this illage in their beDeacon David L. tion of his fifty

at service in this this loving cup." on Williams said,

or two who were egan his labors, e carried an hon-

which was carried own church work He referred to whom he had quainted with but ople, he said, for rn long after his well advanced. ined of Deacon

to exhibit the cup table next Sun-

has been made of George S. Maslen ngsley, both of this on January 10.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

AN INSURANCE MAN

71

James L. Coyle Celebrates Long Service With the Prudential.

Superintendent James L. Coyle of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of service with that organization by entertaining about fifty of his staff Bond's rather ee features close of the congratula of Newark, his presenta Guard Ser of the long second was Vice-Presi he Travelers business asso Mr. Coyle's years, and atation of a nty-five car t of Peter close friend ed from the after a ser-

The jewel led after the Honor and is bonds. The nds was sev- owers which Coyle was veral expres- made a fitting

DEACON DAVID L. WILLIAMS.

were John B.

B. Bassett,

Peter Egenoff of Elizabeth, N. J., E. W. Hurlock of Bridgeport, Harry Vliet of Newark, N. J., W. R. Perry of Newark, N. J., R. N. Aggas of Springfield, Mass., H. B. Brice of Providence, R. I., G. C. Cameron of Pittsfield, Mass., H.

G. Sperry of Worcester, Mass., O. K. Dunkum, L. C. Robens, R. O'Byrne, of Newark, N. J., Dr. J. P. Waters, W.

G. Wiedman, Assistant Superintendents Carroll, Conant, O'Donnell, Parker, Stealing, Bisco and Johns and Agents

CONWAY.

MARRIED 69 YEARS.

Anniversary of Mr and Mrs Thomas S. Dickinson, Believed to Be the Oldest Married Couple in the State.

Mr and Mrs Thomas S. Dickinson passed their 69th wedding anniversary yesterday. Friends called and extended congratulations, but as both are in feeble health the day was observed quietly. Both are dressed every day and spend days sitting in chairs and lying down. Mrs Dickinson was about until she suffered a slight shock last October; since then she has been unable to walk. They are, it is believed, the oldest married couple in the state. Mr Dickinson was 93 last July and Mrs Dickinson will be 89 on the 27th.

Mr Dickinson is the oldest resident of Conway. He was born in Whately and as a young man learned the trade of tailor. He married Mary Smith Marsh in Hadley, January 4, 1843; they went to Conway about 66 years ago and have lived on Main street ever since. Mr Dickinson had a tailor-shop for some years and afterward for some years conducted the store now occupied by H. B. Hassell. He was postmaster for several years and served as selectman for 12 years. They have two children living, Baxter Dickinson of Chicago and Mrs Henry Bartlett of Conway.

TO DEDICATED TO BE

TELLS PARABLE OF CHANCEL WINDOW

Tower is Four

Rev. Dr. J. C. Adams Writes Verses of Christmas Morning. 1914

The dedic
monial to take place
with the church. B ster will be members of their seats 10:45 o'clock
down the n
the western cessional "G
tion." The
the warden
of the church
Miel, Rev.
Bishop Bre
In the ve Psalter will
the congreg
has been proceed into
the church
is expected
be able to cation and which will tablet will cession will hymn being Light." Ar
Bishop Bre
Holy Comm

When, in interpretation expressed in the following lines:—

THE CHANCEL WINDOW.

The shades that softly fell on Christmas Eve
Retreating westward, yield the earth to dawn;
The bells of midnight long since thrilled the air,
With herald strokes that through the silences,
Recalled the heavenly host on Bethlehem's plain
And ushered in a glad, new Christmas Day.
High in the east the lambent morning star
Sends down its beams to meet the rising grey,
The snow, new-fallen, brightens where it lies,
The leafless alms a salutation wave

Samuel H. Huntington
Edward Goodman
James Dixon
Aaron Keney
Hezekiah Huntington
Francis J. Huntington
Henry Corning

The tower now stands of the same kind of stone as that of which it is a part. Its feet and it is surmounted by pinnacles at the corners of ornamental finials. It rests

The work of building the tower, as well as that of building the church in which the congregation now worships, has been done within the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Miel. It was decided in the winter of 1891, under the pastorate of Rev. Dr. Storrs O. Seymour, now rector of St. Michael's Church, Litchfield, to build a new church, as Rev. Dr. Francis Goodwin and Mrs. Goodwin had offered to build a new parish house and chapel for the parish if the parish would undertake to build a new church. It was agreed that the work should go no faster than the money appeared to defray the expenses, and, about the time the work began, Rev. Mr. Seymour resigned, his resignation taking effect on April 15, 1893. Rev. Mr. Miel, then assistant under Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford in St. George's Church, New York, was called and entered upon his duties in the parish on May 28, 1893.

In the fall of that year the new rectory was completed and, when Rev. Mr. Miel took charge of the parish he found the walls of the new church up to the water table. The parish then raised, on an average, $15,000 a year for the work and the cornerstone ceremony took place on June 5, 1894, Bishop Niles of New Hampshire officiating.

On Sunday, January 10, 1897, Colonel Jacob L. Greene, senior warden of the parish, informed the congregation that $60,000 was then needed to finish the church and of that sum $30,000 had been promised by a member of the congregation if an equal amount could be raised. Within three months the necessary sum was pledged and the new church was open for service on Trinity Sunday, June 7, 1898.

There being then an opportunity to release the chapel and parish house from service as a place of worship, the interior of these buildings was reconstructed and formally dedicated on December 31, 1898. All outstanding obligations having been settled, the new church building was dedicated on May 31, 1899.

Rev. Mr. Miel, as has been said, came to the parish in 1893, and in October, 1895, F. W. Tilton, organist and choirmaster in St. Ann's Church, New York, was secured to take charge of the choir, now one of the best in the state. The present organ was dedicated and used for the first time on September 20, 1903, and recently, a chapel, furnished as a memorial, has also been dedicated. Mr. Miel, still a young man, has seen the rapid development of the church, the erection of its buildings and their equipment during his pastorate. According to the report made to the last diocesan convention, the parish now consists of 532 families and 902 communicants and had an income for the past church year of $21,667.04.

GRATEFUL COMMEMORATION OF THE S AND FIRST MEMBERS OF THIS PARISH

Elisha Johnson
John S. Gray
Henry A. Welton
John Hatfield
William T. Hallett
Frederick P. LePard
And Of All Others

Thomas T. Fisher
Henry K. Morgan
James Bolter
Samuel Alexander
George B. Barnes
Henry Britten
George Affleck

Who By Their Hallowed Lives, Pious Labors, And Generous Benefactions
Have Honored and Sustained This Parish
This Tower Is Set Apart And This Tablet Erected
By The Congregation Of Trinity Church
ANNO DOMINI MCMXXII

Decorating

FLAGS NOW HANG IN TRINITY CHURCH

APRIL 29, 1916.

*Trinity Church
Jubilee week -
May 1910.
Tower Dedicated
Jan 7, 1912.*

TRINITY EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

The New Steeple Graceful and in Harmony With the Church Architecture.

the decorations of the church is outlined in the "Trinity Parish Record." It advances the plan for designs on the clerestory windows. Sketches for the first of these windows have already been called for. The window plan is outlined as follows:—

"The windows will represent the groups mentioned in the Te Deum: 'The glorious company of the apostles,' 'The goodly fellowship of the prophets,' 'The noble army of martyrs,' 'The holy church throughout all the world.' Many of the twelve Wedding to Take Place in South Norwalk Next Wednesday a Subject of Lively Interest.

(New York Press.)

Invitations to a remarkable and unusually romantic wedding have been sent out by Mrs. Elwood Van Wyck Kneeland of Cherrydale Farm, South Norwalk, Conn. At the event, which will take place on next Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, the bridegroom will be Elijah Marshall Allen, millionaire lumber exporter, bachelor, 74 years old, whose office is in No. 72 Trinity place, this city. The bride will be Mattie Laura Walker, 20, daughter of Mrs. Kneeland, a relative of the Van Wycks of this city and the Hewitts of Long Island. The girl is a remarkably attractive brunette, vivacious and witty. The lumberman, who in his long life has traveled to almost every part of the world, is an expert jiu-jitsu wrestler, an all-around athlete, and is well versed in the science of biology.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the wedding. Miss Walker, whose mother is a member of a prominent Kentucky family, passed six months in Europe buying gowns and getting her trousseau. Decorators are putting Cherrydale Farm in readiness for the ceremony. Allen, the muscular bridegroom-to-be, has engaged a special train which will leave the Grand Central station at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to carry the guests to the wedding and has arranged that three Pullman cars shall be attached to a train leaving South Norwalk at 9 in the evening to bring the guests back.

The lumberman, though old in years is young in spirit. He is sparing no expense to make the event elaborate in detail and rich in sentiment. His first wedding, though long delayed, is absorbing his attention almost exclusively, and, though he yesterday denied he is to be married, his friends insisted he is the man named in the wedding invitations sent

AT 72 HE WEDS ACTRESS.

E. M. Allen, Rich Lumber Merchant, Marries Connecticut Girl.

South Norwalk, January 11.—Elijah Marshall Allen, a wealthy lumber merchant of New York and Paris, who is 72 years old, and Miss Mattie Laura Walker, formerly of the "Spring Chicken" Theatrical company, were married at Cherrydale Farm, the rural home of the bride in Cranbury, Wednesday evening. Three special cars attached to the Pittsfield express brought fifty guests up from New York, and automobiles whirled them to the farm.

The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock, the bridegroom looking as chipper and happy as the young bride. The knot was tied by the Rev. Louis B. Howell in stentorian tones, made necessary by the deafness of the bridegroom, who is a widower.

The regrets of President Taft, whose family and that of the bride are related, at not being able to be present were displayed to the guests, also a gold set of table accessories, the president's remembrance to the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will go for a trip and will then make their home temporarily at the Hotel Astor, New York.

DECEMBER-MAY

HONEYMOON SOON ENDS

New York, Feb. 25.—The honeymoon of Elijah Marshall Allen, the 74-years-old millionaire lumber trader, and his 19-years-old bride, EASTHAMPTON.

MISS COLTON'S ENGAGEMENT

Noted Linguist to Marry David B. Spooner, Superintendent of Archeological Survey in India.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth S. Colton and David Brainerd Spooner, superintendent of the archeological survey of Bengal, Eastern Bengal, Central Provinces of India and Assam. Miss Colton has been a lifelong resident of Easthampton, being the youngest child of the late Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Colton, and has always made her home in Easthampton, though she has traveled extensively in Europe, as well as in Egypt and India. Miss Colton had a beautiful soprano voice, trained in this country and in Europe, and was to have sung with Theodore Thomas's orchestra, but gave it up at her father's request and took up the study of languages, in which she has done such wonderful work that she is accounted one of the foremost linguists of the world, speaking 54 languages and dialects. Miss Colton is a member of the Royal Asiatic society, which has only two other women members in the United States. She is also a member of the society of biblical archeology and the American oriental society. Since her return from India three years ago, she has been in demand for lectures on various subjects connected with her oriental studies.

She first met Dr. Spooner when both were taking advanced courses with Harvard professors, and the acquaintance was continued in Germany and again in India. Dr. Spooner had spent several years in Japan and India in study, and had taken his degree as maîtrise in Benares. In order to get an American degree of Ph. D., he returned to Harvard, from which he received four fellowships for brilliant scholarship, and it was during that period that he and Miss Colton were associated in their studies. He was also elected a Phi Beta Kappa man by Stanford university in California. He is a New Englander by birth, but went west when a youth and attended the Leland Stanford university. He has now become a British subject. Dr. Spooner is as great a linguist as his distinguished fiancée. He was the savant who discovered the casket containing the bones of Buddha in Peshawur, India, in July, 1910, one of the greatest discoveries known to modern archeologists, and he was a prominent figure at its presentation to the king of Siam, at which the grand lama of Tibet was also present. Dr. Spooner has a fine position for life as archeologist, under the English government in India, where he has done wonderful work in his chosen field of research. Miss Colton will sail from New York December 9 for London, where she will take a steamer and will land in India, January 12, and the marriage will take place immediately thereafter.

Jan Vogel-Kashmann, 11/19/12
Miss Clara Kashmann, daughter of Health Commissioner Joseph Kashmann and Mrs. Kashmann of No. 143 Capitol avenue, and Arthur S. Vogel, who is associated with his father, Solomon Vogel, in the grocery business, were married last evening at 6 o'clock at the Hotel Garde, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. Meyer Elkin.

HEAD OF PR

PRINCETON CONGRATULATED.

POPULAR PROFF
LOGIC SUCCEEDS
VALEDICTORIAN OF C
AT PRINCETON

Princeton, N. J., Jan.
Grier Hibben, Stuart
logic, was elected president University today by trustees. He succe-

College Presidents Comment Upon the Election of Hibben.

The selection of Prof John Grier Hibben as president of Princeton is the cause of a number of congratulatory messages to of Princeton university yes- Princeton. President Butler of Columbia university sent the following dispatch to the new president of Princeton: "I am rejoiced to hear of Prof Hibben's election. In my opinion he is the best possible choice for the presidency."

This message was sent by President Lowering over half a hundred the claim soberly put forth as freshmen down to the present time. In the twenty-one years that he has been a member of the university faculty Dr. Hibben has often been a member of the committees that come in close touch with the undergraduates. His reputation of exercising authority has never been that of a lax disciplinarian, nor has it been that of an opinionated man. In the student mind he has stood for the square deal from the faculty.

FRIDAY, JAN. 12, 1912.

They Call Him "Jack."

"Jack" Hibben is the name by which the new president has been known among Princeton men from the time that his own class, 1882, entered as freshmen down to the present time. In the twenty-one years that he has been a member of the university faculty Dr. Hibben has often been a member of the committees that come in close touch with the undergraduates. His reputation of exercising authority has never been that of a lax disciplinarian, nor has it been that of an opinionated man. In the student mind he has stood for the square deal from the faculty.

It was an open secret at Princeton at the time of the internal difficulties a few years ago that Dr. Hibben

PROF JOHN GRIER HIBBEN.

[Princeton's newly chosen president.]

Dr. Hibben is the fourth president of Princeton since 1746. In the interim October 20, 1910, when Stewart of New York resigned the presidency, acting president.

Excellent Choice, Say

New Haven, Jan. 11.—ing on the election today

Grier Hibben to the Princeton, President Arthur of Yale University tonight

"Professor Hibben is a man and an interesting writer. So far as an outsider can judge it is an excellent choice for the presidency of the university."

of Harvard: "I am glad the interregnum at Princeton has been terminated by the election of a man of such personal distinction as Prof Hibben." President Hadley of Yale university said: "Prof Hibben is a charming man and an interesting writer. So far as an outsider can judge it is an excellent choice for the presidency of the university."

L. P. WALDO MARVIN, Judge. hearings. At least five days before the day set for said per having a circulation in said district, at copy of this order once in some newspaper hearing thereon be given, by publishing a tion, and of the time and place set for a he notice of the pendency of said applica-

Demurrer to the answer in the suit of Samuel H. Epstein and others against Michaela Widum and others

CITY BRIEFS.

Life Assurance company, travelers insurance company and others. The tenants of buildings destroyed on Barrington street were William S. Munnis, dry goods and furnishings store; H. Schaefer & Son, jewelers; Gregg Brothers, hardware; Miss H. Durant, ladies' tailoring; K. M. Mar- Reson, photographer; F. W. Dobson, dentist; R. B. Mulhoney, dentist; McCormack Clothing company, L. Clyde Davison, stationer.

The New Britain water department today purchased a strip of land 500 feet long and thirty feet wide, fronting on the west canal, from William Vogt.

Additional New Britain News. Sergeant-at-Arms—W. C. Cornish. Cummings, L. H. Taylor, G. A. McIntire. Executive Board—T. E. McCarthy, T. J. T. M. Smith. Trustees—T. J. Cummings, L. H. Taylor. Financial Secretary and Treasurer—T. J. Secretary—P. P. O'Reilly. President—W. H. Partridge. Hartford Building Trades Council.

other to Underhill sanatorium in Meriden. county home in Newington and the pair will be sent to the Hartford forces of Isaac R. Blumenthal. One pair purchased two pairs of business clothes from tuberculosis.

Zero weather 1812

FIRST THREE DAYS OF '76.

Beginning of Centennial Year Was Like May, Not January.

To the Editor of The Courant:—

I wonder if it will not make some shivering soul feel good to recall some weather quite different from that so graphically set forth in Forecaster Neifert's report for February, during which month the maximum temperature was 55 degrees, and a temperature of 10 above became such an everyday occurrence that many families would not have known how to keep house without it. I am not posing as the "oldest inhabitant." I cannot even lay claim to being an octogenarian, having seen barely 50 summers—and winters. But I have a very vivid recollection of the first three days of 1876. Why those days in particular should be so burned into my memory would probably interest few. It is enough that I do remember them. That far-off New Year's Day, Saturday, was almost absolutely cloudless, with a quality of middle May in the atmosphere. During the day the thermometer rose to 76 degrees above zero, and barring the early setting of the sun, there was little to recall January.

The night was a fitting companion to such a day—cloudless and mild. I was spending a few days in Haddam and East Haddam, and on New Year's night open windows and low fires were in demand.

The next day was the counterpart of New Year's—sunnier, if anything. In the afternoon there was a baptism in the Connecticut river, which was as clear of ice, or of any indications of it along its shores, as if it had been flowing under southern skies.

A large congregation from the old Haddam Baptist Church came down to the river to witness the baptism, and it was certainly a novel sight to behold ladies standing on the bank shielding themselves from the brilliant sun by parasols. Nothing but the leafless trees and the brown grass served to dispel the illusion that it was May, instead of January. Even the roads were as settled as if the frost were all out of the ground, and it goes without saying that there was no snow.

Monday, January 3, was no unworthy successor of those two delightful days. There was a slight diminution of temperature, but not enough to make it otherwise than "splendid just to be alive." Toward nightfall it grew cloudy and not long after these springlike days came real wintry ones. But with those I have naught to do. No matter what did come, during those first three days of January we were certainly blest.

W. R. Purple.

Hartford, March 5, 1912.

HALF-CENTURY WITH "THE COURANT" HENRY A. CHAPMAN CAME TO PAPER IN 1862. VETERAN PRINTER IN REMINIS- CENT MOOD.

Jan 14, 1912
Fifty years ago last Sunday Henry A. Chapman was graduated from his father's institution, the Ellington School. On the following day he drove to Hartford, and on Thursday morning, January 16, 1862, he began work on "The Courant." His father originally intended to have him go to Yale College, and to have him enter in the summer of 1861, and if that idea had been carried out, he would have been graduated with the class of 1865. The son, however, being slightly deaf and rather shy, preferred not to undertake what seemed to him a good deal of a task, and began to look around for something to do.

Somewhere about 1860, Thomas M. Day had a baby boy, with his governorship, boarded at Mr. Chapman's school, and frequently went out there to visit. Through his efforts young Chapman secured a place in "The Courant" office, Mr. Day referring him to William H. Goodrich, who was then foreman of the composing room.

"The Courant" office at that time was located over the Benjamin Bliss store, corner of Main and Pratt streets, where the C. S. Hills & Co. store is now, the entrance being on the corner, on the Main street side. The stairway was dark, and took quite a square turn at the top, with an entrance at the side to the editorial room and business office, while a door ahead led to the composing room. There were three windows in front of the editorial room, and all of the windows in the composing room were on the Pratt street side, except one, over in the southwest corner. Mr. Chapman tells his story as follows:—

"When I entered the employ of 'The Courant,' in January, 1862, the city of Hartford was very different from today. There were no street cars, but, if I remember right, there were a couple of public omnibuses, which ran short distances at stated hours. 'The Courant' force at that time, if I remember correctly was composed as follows: Proprietors, T. M. Day and A. N. Clark, Mr. Day being editor and Mr. Clark business manager. Edward G. Holden was an editor and William Fuller the city man. William J. Anderson was bookkeeper and also the daily mail clerk. In the composing room were William H. Goodrich, foreman; Samuel Eldredge, Jacob A. Turner, Charles K. Lyman, Charles R. Watrous, James Parker, Edward Belden, John Mellein, Miss Bethiah Eldredge and myself. Mellein was the office boy and 'devil.' Miss Eldredge fed the secondhand Hoe press, which stood in the same room, and, when it was going, shook the whole floor. Belden and I were the apprentices. On Fridays the weekly was printed, and on that day H. H. Dayton and 'Charley' Dodd used to come in and fold, assisted by Mellein, who also folded the daily, and quite often Asthur L. Goodrich helped to fold. Of all these I have mentioned above, I think Mr. Holden, Mr. Turner and I are the only ones living of the office force, while Charley Dodd still resides in the city. Of those I remember in any way connected with the office, still living, are N. Brigham Hall, carrier, now a real estate man in New York city, and William Cotton, registrar of voters. f the coun- a civil war. Regiment Hon. Henry After this, I off to war, went to war Lyman, of er G. Reggs, pesetting in es of enter- n Hall had Tom Hamp- e lower end there Daven- Town Hall f where the now stands. Congregation s, while up- l, where dif- a, and here tings. There rst spoke in Dr. N. J. great pianist, I had the n play, and s playing, as animents of Hartford's

VETERAN PRINTER DIES.

Henry A. Chapman Had Been With the Hartford Courant More Than Forty Years.

March 17, 1914
Henry A. Chapman, one of the oldest compositors and printers in this city, died, late Wednesday evening, at the home of his son, W. A. Chapman, No. 40 Central avenue, East Hartford, aged 68 years. Some two years ago Mr. Chapman retired from active employment and had enjoyed fair health. Last Saturday he was taken ill and a physician was called, and it was discovered that he was suffering with severe pains around the heart and his illness was diagnosed as heart disease. He gradually grew worse until his death.

Mr. Chapman was a native of Deep River, the son of the Rev. Frederick and Emily (Hill) Chapman. In his early manhood he moved to Middletown and there served his time as a printer's apprentice. Later he came to this city and entered the employ of the Hartford Courant, where he remained for over forty years until his retirement. In point of service on the Courant he was the second, John Turner being first. In speaking of Mr. Chapman this morning, Mr. Turner said that he was a man of excellent habits of character and had a wonderful memory and was well informed in genealogy. His wife, who was Miss Victorine Spencer, also of Deep River, died about two years ago. He is survived by one son, Wilfred Chapman, and one grandson, Robert Knox Chapman, and a niece, Miss Emily Chapman, all of East Hartford. The funeral will be held at the home of his son, Friday morning at 10:30, and will be conducted by the Rev. P. Miles Snyder, pastor of the First Congregational church, East Hartford. The body will be taken to Deep River for interment.

The First Baptist Church was presided over by Dr. Turnbull, and Ludlow Barker was organist. St. John's Church was recently torn down. Rev. Mr. Washburn was rector, Fred Tudor was organist. Clara Hoyt Preston, was the soprano; she had a high note.

MRS. JERUSHA W. CROSBY, 101 YEARS OLD, SUNDAY

Chaplin's Oldest Resident—$1,500
Lost and Found—Exhibition at Wil-laminant Model School.

SLID DOWN IN AN AUTOMOBILE.

Decid April 1912
Williamitic, January 13.—Miss Jerusha W. Crosby, Chaplin's oldest resident, will be 101 years old on Sunday. As she is in very feeble health no special observation will be had of the anniversary, although friends and relatives will send her flowers and cards of greeting. A year ago, on her 100th anniversary, she received numerous gifts, and friends sent her a huge birthday cake containing one hundred candles. At that time, after reading of a poem by Mrs. Mary H. Gallup, Miss Crosby blew out one of the candles and cut the birthday cake.

Miss Crosby was born in Lisbon, January 14, 1811, being the second child in a family of nine children. She has one sister living, Mrs. L. M. Davison of Brooklyn, aged 96 years; and one brother, Martin W. Crosby, 86 years. She has a large quantity of leather, while many present styles of furniture call for a more than the old-time buggy. The automobile requires more leather proportionately in the olden days, while each carriage are in use than there were automobiles. Statistics show that at present more automobiles and furniture are put in the automobile industry. It is particularly true in the leather industry, in which leather can be put to uses to which few years in the past. Furthermore, there has been a rapid increase in the last few years in the use of leather in the automobile industry.

MRS. JERUSHA W. CROSBY.

FAMOUS REVERE HOUSE, BOSTON, GUTTED BY FIRE

Boston, Jan. 16.—Boston's most famous hostelry, the Revere House, in Bowdoin Square, took fire shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. The fire started in the Grotto, a dining room on the street floor, and quickly spread up through the entire six stories. Many guests were carried down ladders by firemen, and others rushed from the building through the smoke, scantily clad.

From the Revere House the fire spread to the hall of the National Lancers on Bulfinch street and to the house of engine company 4 on Bulfinch street, but they were saved from destruction.

Four alarms called out the greater part of the city's fire department. At 2:30 the fire was under control. A man was killed by

No hotel in Boston, United States, are more popular than the Revere House. It was opened on March 1, 1880, and has since that time been the most sumptuous hotel in the city. The banquet hall is a model of splendor and is the property of Parson Stevens, one of the best hotel men of the time.

The Revere House is a famous Boston hotel. It was opened on March 1, 1880, and has since that time been the most sumptuous hotel in the city. The banquet hall is a model of splendor and is the property of Parson Stevens, one of the best hotel men of the time.

It was a great loss to the city. It is the good fortune of Harvard University that Robert Bacon of the class of 1880 is willing to leave the post of ambassador to France in order to serve on the governing board of his alma mater. It is expected that Mr. Bacon's duties as a member of the Harvard corporation will take a very large part of his time. He will bring to the service of the university trained business judgment and a wide outlook acquired through experience in public affairs. That he can think of no more important post of service is an assurance of his loyalty and willingness to devote his strength to the new work.

Here, too, in Albert of Wales, Edward VII., of England, look acquired through experience in public affairs. That he can think of no more important post of service is an assurance of his loyalty and willingness to devote his strength to the new work.

Robert Bacon.

PROCTOR, SOAP MAN, SUES FOR DIVORCE

Action Brought with Consent of the Baroness de Klifus, 1912
Cincinnati, O., Jan. 16.—Percy Proctor, wealthy soap manufacturer of this city, filed suit for divorce late today from Madine Proctor, formerly the Baroness de Klifus. He charges her with gross neglect of duty. They were married in London on October 14, 1904, at which time she was 26 years old.

It is understood the divorce suit is by agreement, part of the terms of the recent settlement of the legal controversy over $40,000 worth of soap stock which the baroness charged Proctor had promised to give her as a marriage dowry.

The baroness is now in Cincinnati and, it is said, will not contest the divorce.

THE BARONESS LOSES

Common Pleas Judge Woodmansee refused at Cincinnati yesterday to set aside the divorce granted last year to Percy Proctor, a wealthy Cincinnati manufacturer, from Nadine Proctor, formerly the Baroness Von Klifus. The baroness sought to set aside the divorce decree on the double ground that she was unable to attend the divorce hearing last April because she was a passenger on the ill-fated steamer Titanic and because of newly discovered evidence. In dismissing her petition yesterday, Judge Woodmansee held that no sufficient grounds for a rehearing had been shown. According to her attorney, the baroness is ill in New York city and was unable to appear at the hearing.

wedding of Miss Primrose Colt, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Lebaron and niece of Colonel Samuel Reed, to Reed Anthony of Boston, took place in Providence on Jan. 15. Bishop Perry will officiate, and by the Rev. Dr. Fiske of Washington, January 13.—President Taft to-day accepted the resignation of Robert Bacon as ambassador to France to take effect upon the appointment and qualification of a successor.

Mr. Bacon's resignation came in a personal letter to the president in which he told of his selection as a fellow of Harvard university and his desire to take up active work for his alma mater.

Taft's Reply to Bacon.

Mr. Taft replied in a personal letter in which he said:

"I greatly regret accepting your resignation, but I admit the weight of your reason for tendering it. I have a letter from President Lowell in which he insists that Harvard is en-

... authority. Even Jefferson, by birth, only safe and proper one to exercise the office which that school thought the first six presidents all belonged to the and constitutional checks. But the respect for parliamentary methods may but compatible with ingrained established a broad and liberal democ- elected by the constitution, which es- "This idea of the Hamiltonian was Theory of the Constitution.

produce. ... and intelligence are likely to be made better than the common pa- and the government must somehow be conducted on the theory

AMBASSADOR BACON ADMITS RESIGNATION.

Heretofore Diplomatic Representative of the United States at the Capital of French Republic.

FIRST HINT VIA BOSTON.

Paris, January 11.—Robert Bacon, ambassador of the United States at Paris, to-day confirmed a statement that he had resigned.

Ambassador Bacon's letter in which he announces his resignation to President Taft was sent on board the Olympic and is due to reach the president at Washington to-day. Mr. Bacon especially refrained from making his retirement public, as he desired the first announcement to come from Harvard.

The meeting of the board of overseers of Harvard university, held yesterday in Boston, confirmed the choice of Mr. Bacon to be a fellow of Harvard university in place of Judge Lowell, deceased. In discussing his retirement from the diplomatic service

Boston, January 11.—The Harvard corporation is a self-perpetuating body of fellows and the president has his office in Boston. The present corporation consists of President Lowell, Major Henry L. Higginson, Charles Francis Adams, 2d, Dr. Henry P. Walcott, Dr. Arthur T. Cabot and Thomas Nelson Perkins. The vacancy was caused by the death of Judge Francis C. Lowell. The meetings of the board are frequent as it has full charge of the administration of the university and for this reason the members are all located in or near Boston. Mr. Bacon will return to this country within a short time and take up his residence in his native city. He is the son of an old Boston East India merchant and his ancestors were closely associated with those of his leading business associate before entering diplomatic life, J. P. Morgan. He was graduated from Harvard in 1880 with Theodore Roosevelt and while in college was one of its leading athletes, being captain of both the football team and crew. He served six weeks as secretary of state under President Roosevelt, and three months after the termination of the latter's administration he was appointed ambassador to France.

The first intimation that Robert Bacon, United States ambassador to France, was about to resign his post, was received from Boston to-day. A dispatch from that city reported that the corporation of Harvard university had nominated him as a fellow yesterday, and as it has been the custom only to nominate as members of the Harvard corporation those who are able to attend each meeting, the impression was gained that Mr. Bacon was about to retire from the diplomatic service. Mr. Bacon was appointed ambassador to France on December 21, 1909. He had previously been assistant secretary of state, and was also secretary of state from January 27, 1909, until March 6, 1909. He graduated from Harvard in 1880.

No intimation had been received by officials in Washington early to-day from Ambassador Robert Bacon at Paris, that he intended to resign his position to become a fellow of Harvard university, to which he has been nominated.

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin of Windsor
Will Entertain. 19

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Chamberlin of No. 7 Preston street, Windsor, formerly of this city, will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage at their home Friday afternoon and evening. No formal invitations have been issued, but they would be pleased to have their friends call during the afternoon or evening.

Albert H. Chamberlin and Miss Annie S. Laylor, daughter of the late John and Mary E. Laylor of this city, were married in Hartford January 19, 1887, by the Rev. Charles E. Stowe, then pastor of the Windsor Avenue Congregational church. They lived in Hartford for eleven years, and then moved to Windsor, where they have since resided. Mr. Chamberlin is with Brown, Thomson & Co., in the rug department. He has been with the firm twenty years.

Six children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin. One, Albert R., died in infancy. The others are: Charles H., Alice D., George R., Anna L. and Bessie R. Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin are members of the First Church of Christ, at Wilson Station. They are both active in fraternal circles. Mr. Chamberlin is a past master of Washington lodge, F. & A. M., of Windsor; a past patron of Eureka chapter, O. E. S., of Windsor; a past noble grand of Charter Oak lodge, I. O. O. F., of this city, and also a member of B. H. Webb council, Royal Arcanum, of this city. Mrs. Chamberlin is a past matron of Eureka chapter of Windsor.

CROMWELL-STOTESBURY WEDDING

Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, social leader in Washington, was married yesterday to Edward T. Stotesbury.

MRS. CROMWELL A HOSTESS.

Entertains Daughters of E. T. Stotesbury, Whom She Weds To-Day.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17.—Mrs. Oliver Cromwell, whose marriage to Edward T. Stotesbury takes place to-morrow afternoon, was hostess at breakfast to-day complimentary to Mr. Stotesbury's two daughters, Mrs. J. Emlyn Hutchinson and Mrs. J. Kearsley Mitchell, 3d, who arrived from Philadelphia with their father this morning.

American Beauty roses were used throughout the drawing room and dining room. The company included in addition to Mr. Stotesbury and his daughters and sons-in-law, Miss Cynthia Hutchinson, Mr. Stotesbury, John Barrett, Capt. Sowerby, Naval Attaché of the British Embassy; Percy McLaren of Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Brooks, Jr.

Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, with Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., will arrive from New York to-morrow to attend the marriage ceremony which will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. As already announced no cards of invitation have been issued for the ceremony, which will be witnessed by less than thirty persons, and followed almost immediately by the departure of the bride and bridegroom for Florida. They expect to return to Washington Feb. 5 to pass several days at Mrs. Cromwell's present residence in New Hampshire Avenue, prior to going to Philadelphia, where they will open the opera season with a large box party on Feb. 11.

New Hampshire Executive to Marry
a Massachusetts Girl.

Robert Perkins Bass, governor of New Hampshire, is Miss Edith B.

Bird of East
ter of the late
well known in her exploits in last two or thi
home in New conversational striking person
public primary shire. He was Bertram Ellis
primary in whi
ported Ellis
sives, who ha
Winston Chur
Bass. He v
1910.

It is underst
to represent t
dential nomine
the progressiv
publican nation
long been inte
president of th
association. Th
small part is a state of the brother of Joh
brated war c
Bass was born 1873; graduat
class of 1896, and from the Harvard law school two years later. His home is at Peterboro, N. H.

JANUARY 21, 1912.

MARRIAGE OF GOV ROBERT BASS.

New Hampshire's Chief Executive Takes Miss Edith Bird of East Walpole as Bride.

In a temporary chapel, the walls of which were covered with hangings of royal blue silk, Robert Perkins Bass, governor of New Hampshire, was married yesterday at East Walpole to Miss Edith Harlan Bird, daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles S. Bird. The marriage was performed at "Endean," the spacious residence of the Bird family, by Rt Rev Edward M.
Parker, bishop-coadjutor of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire, assisted by Rev James A. Thompson, rector of the church of the Epiphany in Walpole. Only a few guests witnessed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white satin
with bodice of handwrought Limerick lace embroidered with seed pearls. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs Louis Agassiz Shaw, as matron of honor. The

C. M. Starkweather's New Office.

Charles M. Starkweather, for nine years connected with the Hartford Trust Company as superintendent of its trust department, in care of its real estate and personal property, has opened a real estate office in the State Savings Bank building at No. 39 Pearl street. Mr. Starkweather is well known in Hartford, having served in both branches of the common council,
and having been president of each branch during his terms of service. He solicits general care of property, the collection of rents and negotiations of mortgage loans, and he also has the agency for several insurance companies. His experience in the real estate field in Hartford for the last nine
years has been along lines that especially fit him for trusts of this kind.

MISS MARY ANN SMITH.

Miss Mary Ann Smith Has Birthday
Celebration at Home.

Miss Mary Ann Smith of No. 1,235
Main street entertained her friends,
Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock,
in honor of her ninety-third birthday.
Her mental faculties are unimpaired
and from her conversation, inter-
persed with quotations and witty sayings, no one would think her past
middle age. The parlors were decorated with potted plants and lit by
dozens of candles in antique candlesticks and candelabra. Cheerful
wood fires burned in several fireplaces and lunch was served entirely

From conver-
one learns of ance with Lyc-
riest Beecher S
teresting anec-
school days s
Beecher's "Sel
Ladies," which
the finest scho
state. At on

MISS MARY ANN

96 YEARS

Miss Mary Ann
quietly observes

in House Her

To-day marks the thirty-fifth anni-

Informed of

Died

Miss Mary Ann

to-day, quietly

anniversary at

Main street, wh

seventy-six year

eral health is v

perfectly clear,

well and can v

Smith is a won

twenty-one year

has lived with h

stead to look af

At the present

foxy there are t

Miss Smith, m

want. The old

and bids fair to

birthday annive

Miss Smith v

the daughter c

(Boardman) S

ter of the late

the Smith-Wor

the late Thoma

the Fourth ch

brother living.

years old, at W

several nephew

grand-nephews

remember the n

ers and calls c

versary.

The house M

built by her fa

residence with

fruit trees.

informed by he

to her from th

daily papers at

In her earlier

writer of poet

which she con

press. She was

friend of the la

ourney and carr

responsiveness

gone by.

Miss Smith is Congregational

communion two

woman of splen

ber of one of th

ilies of Hartford

Miss Mary Ann Smith of No. 1,235

Main street entertained her friends,

Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock,

in honor of her ninety-third birthday.

Her mental faculties are unimpaired

and from her conversation, inter-

persed with quotations and witty say-

ings, no one would think her past

middle age. The parlors were decorated with potted plants and lit by

dozens of candles in antique candle-

sticks and candelabra. Cheerful

wood fires burned in several fire-

places and lunch was served entirely

From conver-

one learns of

ance with Lyc-

riest Beecher S

teresting anec-

school days s

Beecher's "Sel

Ladies," which

the finest scho

state. At on

Miss Mary Ann

quietly observes

in House Her

To-day marks the thirty-fifth anni-

Informed of

Died

Miss Mary Ann

to-day, quietly

anniversary at

Main street, wh

seventy-six year

eral health is v

perfectly clear,

well and can v

Smith is a won

twenty-one year

has lived with h

stead to look af

At the present

foxy there are t

Miss Smith, m

want. The old

and bids fair to

birthday annive

Miss Smith v

the daughter c

(Boardman) S

ter of the late

the Smith-Wor

the late Thoma

the Fourth ch

brother living.

years old, at W

several nephew

grand-nephews

remember the n

ers and calls c

versary.

The house M

built by her fa

residence with

fruit trees.

informed by he

to her from th

daily papers at

In her earlier

writer of poet

which she con

press. She was

friend of the la

ourney and carr

responsiveness

gone by.

Miss Smith is Congregational

communion two

woman of splen

ber of one of th

ilies of Hartford

Miss Mary Ann Smith of No. 1,235

Main street entertained her friends,

Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock,

in honor of her ninety-third birthday.

Her mental faculties are unimpaired

and from her conversation, inter-

persed with quotations and witty say-

ings, no one would think her past

middle age. The parlors were decorated with potted plants and lit by

dozens of candles in antique candle-

sticks and candelabra. Cheerful

wood fires burned in several fire-

places and lunch was served entirely

From conver-

one learns of

ance with Lyc-

riest Beecher S

teresting anec-

school days s

Beecher's "Sel

Ladies," which

the finest scho

state. At on

Miss Mary Ann

quietly observes

in House Her

To-day marks the thirty-fifth anni-

Informed of

Died

Miss Mary Ann

to-day, quietly

anniversary at

Main street, wh

seventy-six year

eral health is v

perfectly clear,

well and can v

Smith is a won

twenty-one year

has lived with h

stead to look af

At the present

foxy there are t

Miss Smith, m

want. The old

and bids fair to

birthday annive

Miss Smith v

the daughter c

(Boardman) S

ter of the late

the Smith-Wor

the late Thoma

the Fourth ch

brother living.

years old, at W

several nephew

grand-nephews

remember the n

ers and calls c

versary.

The house M

built by her fa

residence with

fruit trees.

informed by he

to her from th

daily papers at

In her earlier

writer of poet

which she con

press. She was

friend of the la

ourney and carr

responsiveness

gone by.

Miss Smith is Congregational

communion two

woman of splen

ber of one of th

ilies of Hartford

Miss Mary Ann Smith of No. 1,235

Main street entertained her friends,

Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock,

in honor of her ninety-third birthday.

Her mental faculties are unimpaired

and from her conversation, inter-

persed with quotations and witty say-

ings, no one would think her past

middle age. The parlors were decorated with potted plants and lit by

dozens of candles in antique candle-

sticks and candelabra. Cheerful

wood fires burned in several fire-

places and lunch was served entirely

From conver-

one learns of

ance with Lyc-

riest Beecher S

teresting anec-

school days s

Beecher's "Sel

Ladies," which

the finest scho

state. At on

Miss Mary Ann

quietly observes

in House Her

To-day marks the thirty-fifth anni-

Informed of

Died

Miss Mary Ann

to-day, quietly

anniversary at

Main street, wh

seventy-six year

eral health is v

perfectly clear,

well and can v

Smith is a won

twenty-one year

has lived with h

stead to look af

At the present

foxy there are t

Miss Smith, m

want. The old

and bids fair to

birthday annive

Miss Smith v

the daughter c

(Boardman) S

ter of the late

the Smith-Wor

the late Thoma

the Fourth ch

brother living.

years old, at W

several nephew

grand-nephews

remember the n

ers and calls c

versary.

The house M

built by her fa

residence with

fruit trees.

informed by he

to her from th

daily papers at

In her earlier

writer of poet

which she con

press. She was

friend of the la

ourney and carr

responsiveness

gone by.

Miss Smith is Congregational

communion two

woman of splen

ber of one of th

The Travelers Insurance Company

Hartford, Connecticut

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

JANUARY 31, 1912

IT is the most agreeable duty of the President to announce to the Company's representatives in the field and to all others who are interested in its welfare several promotions made by unanimous vote by the board of directors at its annual meeting on January 24th, 1912.

The increasing magnitude of the Company's affairs has made it proper to appoint additional vice-presidents. Instead of indicating their rank by numbers it has been deemed better to leave the classification to seniority and to the assignment of specific duties in conformity with the more modern practice of large institutions.

Mr. John L. May, who has since 1903 been second vice-president, becomes a vice-president of the Company, and the duties assigned to him by the board are of a general nature, including the oversight of the agency department. Mr. May was employed by the Travelers as a clerk in 1878 and has since advanced steadily to his present position. After serving a term in the home office, he became the general agent for the states of Connecticut and Rhode Island; was afterwards assigned to a similar position in Iowa and Nebraska, and then took the general agency for the largest territory ever managed for the Company by one man, which embraced the states of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Texas, with headquarters at St. Louis. He was transferred from that field to the home office as second vice-president, which position he held until his title was changed to that of vice-president.

Mr. Louis F. Butler entered the service of the Travelers as a clerk in the ticket department in May, 1890. From there he was advanced to the actuarial department; afterwards became actuary of the accident department; then assistant secretary and secretary, from which position he is promoted to a vice-presidency and is assigned to general duties.

Mr. Bertrand A. Page became a clerk in the accident department of the Travelers in 1888, in which duty he qualified for secretary of that department, to which office he was appointed in due season, the duties of which he has discharged with such credit as to entitle him to appointment as a vice-president of the Company with the oversight of the accident department.

Mr. Walter G. Cowles was first employed by the Company in July, 1884. He was educated as a lawyer, practiced his profession in Hartford for about three years, was for some time thereafter Mr. James G. Batterson's confidential secretary and while holding that position accepted an offer from the Travelers in its investment department and in the discharge of his duties spent several years in the West. He later returned to Hartford as adjuster of liability claims, was next promoted to the secretaryship of the liability department and now takes the title of vice-president and is charged with the general oversight of the liability department.

Mr. James L. Howard entered the service of the Company soon after his graduation from Yale in December, 1898 and was employed in the actuarial department, until he was advanced to the position of assistant secretary of the Company and afterwards made its secretary.

New Director for Charter Oak Bank.
John O. Enders has resigned from the directorship of the Charter Oak National Bank, giving as a reason that he is so much out of town that it is impossible for him to undertake the work and the responsibility of the L. Howard, secretary of the Travelers Insurance Company, has been unanimously elected to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Enders's resignation.

MAY 2, 1912.

agency for several months. His experience in the real estate field in Hartford for the last nine years has been along lines that especially fit him for trusts of this kind.

communion two total
woman of splendTotal life insurance in ber of one of the force 18,333,000
ilies of HartfordTotal income 1,513,000

The Hartford Courant

TWENTY-TWO PAGES.

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 25, 1912.

Those are deserved promotions that the directors of the Travelers made yesterday. Messrs. Butler and Howard go up with congratulations and good wishes.

NEW VICE-PRESIDENT FOR TRAVELERS INS. CO.

Need of More Officers Occasioned by Continued Growth.

Evidence of the continued growth and prosperity of the Travelers Insurance Company was shown yesterday morning at the annual meeting of the company when it was decided that the company needed a new vice-president. Sylvester C. Dunham was again chosen president. Louis F. Butler, who has been secretary of the company for several years, was elected a vice-president. Walter G. Cowles, who has been secretary of the liability department, was made vice-president of that department and Bertrand A. Page, who has been secretary of the accident department, was made vice-president of that department. Vice-Presidents John B. Lunger and John L. Way were re-elected.

The other officers chosen are:—

Secretary—James L. Howard.

Assistant Secretary—Donald A. Dunham.

Secretary of Life Department—J. Stanley Scott.

Secretary of Accident Department—John E. Ahern.

Secretary of Liability Department—Robert J. Sullivan.

Assistant Secretary of Life Department—Frank H. Landon.

Assistant Treasurer—L. Edmund Zacher.

Comptroller—Levi L. Felt.

Auditor—J. W. H. Pye.

Cashier—William P. Conklin.

Assistant Cashier—Charles S. Robbins.

Mr. Butler has identified himself so intimately with the policy of the company and is connected so closely with its wonderful development that his promotion to be vice-president will be recognized as well merited.

The new secretary, Mr. Howard, has been assistant secretary since 1909.

He was born in this city, March 21, 1878, and was educated in the local schools. A graduate of the Sheffield Scientific School in the class of 1898, he entered the employ of the Travelers company soon afterwards. He was made secretary to the president after several years in the actuarial department, and was chosen assistant secretary of the life department in 1906. Mr. Howard is also captain of Troop B, Cavalry, C. N. G. Prior to holding this office, he was adjutant of the First Infantry.

Mr. Dunham, who is chosen to take Mr. Howard's place, has been second assistant secretary. The new secretary of the accident department, Mr. Ahern, has been assistant secretary in that department, while Mr. Sullivan's promotion has been a similar one in the liability department. All of the other officers are re-elections.

Preceding the election of the officers, the stockholders re-elected as directors for three years George Roberts, Charles C. Beach, John R. Hills and Francis T. Maxwell. The remaining directors are: William B. Clark, Austin C. Dunham, Charles L. Spencer, James G. Batterson and John L. Way, whose term of office will expire in January, 1913; Edward B. Bennett, Arthur L. Shipman, Sylvester C. Dunham, John B. Lunger and Louis F. Butler, who hold office until January, 1914.

Mr. John E. Ahern became a clerk in the Travelers in July, 1898. He won advancement from one position to another until he was selected as assistant to Mr. Page with the title of assistant secretary of the accident department, of which he is now promoted to the secretaryship.

Mr. Robert J. Sullivan was first employed in the liability department in July, 1899. He made such excellent progress and obtained such a comprehensive understanding of that intricate branch of the insurance business as to entitle him a little more than a year ago to the position of assistant secretary and he now appropriately succeeds Mr. Cowles as secretary.

It will be recognized by those who know the history of the Company and the principles by which it is governed that these gentlemen have won their present positions upon their merits and that their advancement is a token of recognition of their success and usefulness. While each will continue in the discharge of duties and in the exercise of authority to which he has become accustomed, and such other duties and authority as may be proper, he is given an official title that is in accord with his increased responsibilities and with the dignity of the Company.

I am confident that these promotions will meet with a most cordial reception.

S. C. Denham.
President.

Unanimous
est
The rep
yesterday an Ernest Walk
months ago
as his succe

THE M

Colonel R
young man intellectual ab
tive in the in party. His on the line of
had nothing ruptionist, a best assurance chairman of mittee, he a disposition
eds to win
was chosen
that he will tions in the
He is expect restoring har
most import was said som
that the re
ford needed
publican tow
Colonel Good
ship evident
mains to b
the hope of

In the 1910 Colonel in the Good practical ex made every
then know
ican part time to se
chairman
years ago
find among publican strength
for appoi Neutrality
difference
indifferen
party tw expected
ful tow
sary fo
stants
most av
To-da
the tow
Lake m
Lake fr
for del
in spite
the tw
One
Es
Tue

nies. His experience in the field in Hartford for the last nine
years has been along lines that especially fit him for trusts of this kind.

woman of splen	total life insurance	18,269,000
ber of one of th	force
ilies of Hartford	total income	1,513,000

Unanimously Chosen to Succeed Ernest Walker Smith.

The republican town committee yesterday acted on the resignation of Ernest Walker Smith, presented some months ago, and unanimously elected as his successor Lieutenant Colonel

THE NEW HARMONIZER.

Colonel Richard J. Goodman is a young man of high character and intellectual ability. He has been active in the interests of the republican party. His activity has always been in the line of clean politics. He has had nothing in common with the corruptionist, and his past record is the best assurance we can have that, as chairman of the republican town committee, he will save his party from disposition to employ corrupt methods to win political victories. He was chosen chairman that he will bring reforms in the republican party. He is expected to look restoring harmony to the most important duty. It was said some time ago that the republican party needed a harmonious republican town committee. Colonel Goodman for this ship evidently thought remains to be seen if the hope of the community.

In the "little unpleasure" of 1910 Colonel Goodman in the Goodwin forces practical sympathy was made every effort to be then known as Lakeland republican party. It was time to secure for the chairman a man who years ago, but it was find among the neutral republican of sufficient strength of character to for appointment to the Neutrality in politics of difference and the republican indifferent to the inter party two years ago expected to make a zealous town chairman.

It was to select a man from the batants and Colonel Goodman most available man.

To-day the question of the town committee did Lake man in view of the Lake faction in 1910 can for delegates to the state in spite of the combined the town committee and

The Hartford

Established as a Daily

Tuesday, January 2, 1912.

J. Goodman.

D. W. THRALL OUT OF HUMANE SOCIETY

Jan. 31, 1912
Fails of Re-Election as General Agent After Thirty Years in That Position.

SUCCEEDS D. W. THRALL.

Directors of Humane Society Appoint Herbert S. Wells of Bloomfield.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Connecticut Humane society, to-day, Herbert S. Wells of Bloomfield was appointed dinner to D. W. Thrall.

A dinner was given at the Garde yesterday afternoon to Dwight W. Thrall, who until recently was general agent of the humane society. It was attended by about fifty of his friends, most of whom were among the 400 agents of the society. Mr. Thrall was given a loving-cup and a watch and resolutions were adopted expressing regard for him.

AY, MARCH 30, 1912.

qualified for the important position to which he has been appointed and its many and varied duties.

Mr. Wells will remove to this city with his family about the first of May. He is to be re-elected a general agent of this society, it is

"Voted, That the relations of Mr. Thrall to this society be and they are hereby terminated, and the president, with the advice of the executive committee, is authorized to make provision for carrying on the work of said office until such time as they are prepared to recommend a successor."

Statement by President Love.

The Rev. William DeLoss Love, president of the Connecticut Humane society, gave out the following statement to the press:

"Mr. Thrall was not asked to resign, nor was such action suggested to him by any officer of the society. Realizing that the time had come for C. Morton.

AL GORDON AT 80 ED'S FORMER BEAUTY

is Once Favorite in Washington Society.

ork, Jan. 28.—Brigadier General S. Gordon, U. S. A., who has just passed his eightieth birthday, and Mrs. Belle Fleming, widow of Colonel Robert I. Fennell, married last night in the presence of a few friends at the bride's daughter, Mrs. Gordon, on Ninety-seventh street. He is 58 years old and was at the wedding by two of her children.

General David Gordon, U. S. A., late colonel of the famous cavalry and Civil War hero, married in New York on Saturday a romance of forty years. His wife, Vedder Fleming, a widow, and cousin to Nancy Hanks Lincoln's mother. He is 78 years of age and was born on April 26, 1861, when he was appointed a second lieutenant of Dragoons in the army. He came to Washington, D. C., a young man of 29, and met there the daughter of Nicholas, a capitalist, and Indiana, a capitalist, and Indiana, a capitalist, and Indiana, a capitalist. Though but a child,

PROFESSOR'S SON SECRETLY MARRIED

Lounsbury's Son Marries Former of Garage Foreman.

Camden, Jan. 23.—It was learned that Walter W. Lounsbury, professor Thomas R. Lounsbury, who was secretly married in November, his bride being Miss L. Jewell, who had been in a local market and who was the daughter of Oscar F. Jewell, a prominent Holcomb's garage.

Camden, N. J. They had been together for several years. Lounsbury is a clerk in the road office here and, with his wife, occupies apartments in a building opposite Warner Hall.

Plate King of the Mother

ateman Leeds, "King," William, in a military state in of his father's paper and 15 test wish. It who is heir to was traveling in the Leeds, in is driven to York and then which he drives buys with a woman.

As the boy, under the strictest never permit-

A few days after a snow which he played in the snow through cable and posted as and progress in

GOV ROBERT P. BASS ENGAGED.
MAJ. GEMMILL GIVES UP ACTIVE MANAGEMENT

He Ceases to be the Head of Gemmill, Burnham & Co.

Major John Gemmill, who for a half a century has been connected with the mercantile life of Hartford, has retired from the active affairs of the Gemmill, Burnham & Co., and a majority of his stock has been bought by five of the corporation who employ. Major Gemmill's stockholding was sold to Edgar F. B. Burnham, who is the original co-partner of the corporation.

Major Gemmill when a young man was in the home in Springfield, where he started as a clerk and worked with answered to the list in the Corps for service. He remained with the firm until returning to Gemmill and father, who owned the street. In 1881, he and Edgar F. B. Burnham, the co-partners, sold the clothing and business. They are now at No. 44 A.

MAJOR JOHN GEMMILL

Who Retires After a Half Century of Active Business. The present building being erected for the business. In 1887, and again in 1903, the firm acquired additional space, and in 1903 Gemmill, Burnham & Co. was incorporated.

In addition to his long career in the mercantile life of the city, Major Gemmill has always been prominent in Grand Army circles and he is a member of Robert O. Tyler Post, G. A. R., and for seven years he was a member of the Hartford City Guard. He is a member of the Veteran Corps of that organization and an ex-major of it. He is a member of Lafayette Lodge of Masons and a thirty-second degree Mason. He is a director of the Y. M. C. A. and a member of the Asylum Avenue Baptist Church.

The new stockholders of the corporation are well known to the trading public because of their long connection with the business and their service has been recognized in their being admitted as stockholders in the corporation. They are A. S. Churchill, who has been associated with Major Gemmill and Mr. Burnham since they started in business; John J. Starkey, who has been with them twenty-seven years; Pliny S. Anderson has seen twenty-one years of service; Herbert E. Burnham, nineteen years, and Henry D. Parker, seventeen years.

The sale of the former home of Major John Gemmill at No. 66 Farmington avenue to Anna C. Robertson was recorded at the town clerk's office, today. Major Gemmill purchased the residence at No. 53 Concord street from William Denison Morgan, cashier of the Aetna National bank, and removed there recently.

WEST GRANBY WOMAN NINETY YEARS OLD

Mrs. Emma L. Higgins Last of Simsbury Family of Elevent.
 (Special to The Courant.)

West Granby, Feb. 5.

On Sunday, Jan. 28, last, Mrs. Emma L. Higgins of this place celebrated her 90th birthday. Ninety years young,

MRS. EMMA HUGGINS
 94 YEARS OLD TODAY

Husband Was Blacksmith and Had General Store.

(Special to The Courant.)

West Granby, Jan. 27.

Mrs. Emma Reed Huggins, the oldest person in town, will celebrate the ninety-fourth anniversary of her birth tomorrow, at the Huggins home. She was born January 28, 1882, at the old Reed place of West Granby, the house having been torn down some years ago. She was educated in the schools of the town, and at the age of 14 years she went to Chicopee, Mass., to work in a cotton mill with other girls of West Granby. July 21, 1846, she was married to Lucius Huggins who was born in West Granby, August 24, 1821, but who also when a young man went to Chicopee and worked at the blacksmith trade. They were married at the Reed home in West Granby and began housekeeping in Chicopee where they remained for a few years, and may be was born which is of Mrs. 1822, the even, or ancestors Simsbury, and of Dr. Sil Robe. He best in this Spring

July 21, st Gran-in, Fred A son, died in in 1902. but two, of Hart- of Wind-ht years in Chi-as lived life. She to keep om her eyesight act, she RECEIVED ON REQUEST.

Additional plant to meet demands
 THAN 7 TIMES SUCH IN-REQUIREMENTS ON BOND-ending Nov. 30th, 1915 were companies, twenty-
 olas, Dictaphones and records.
 es a large well equipped plant
 and to be acquired in Bridge-
 first (closed) mortgage on all honey-
 summer.
 in this ope and uncle,
 n. She circuit,
 playing soldier"

$1,000

has delighted many audiences.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S GRANDDAUGHTER WEDS

Washington, Feb. 5.—Miss Marathena Harrison, granddaughter of President Benjamin Harrison, was married here tonight to Harry A. Williams, jr., of Norfolk, Va. Miss Harrison, who is a daughter of Major and Mrs. Russell B. Harrison, was one of the White House babies during the Harrison administration. She made her debut here last season. A company of forty persons, relatives and intimate friends, attended the wedding.

WHITE HOUSE KIDDIES.

Their Varying Fortunes When They Get to Be Grown-Ups.

(John Lorraine in Boston Advertiser.)

The announcement of the engagement and coming marriage of Marathena Harrison to Harry A. Williams of Norfolk, Va., calls for passing comment upon another White House child. Miss Harrison is the daughter of Russell B. Harrison, son of President Benjamin Harrison, and is therefore a White House grandchild rather than the direct issue of a President. But for all that the young woman was quite a White House child indeed, more so than many of the sons and daughters of the Presidents. Miss Harrison was one of the babies at the White House during the Harrison administration—1889-93—sharing public attention and notice and a grandfatherly Presidential delight with Benjamin Harrison McKee and Mary McKee, children of the daughter of President Harrison.

All are grown up now, young McKee being even a recent graduate of Yale. Miss Mathena Harrison has been a familiar figure in Washington in recent seasons, for her mother resumed residence in that city to bring her out into society. And Miss Harrison has not been alone in Washington of White House children. Probably never before in the history of the government have so many of them assembled in Washington having this distinction.

Of course, there are the Taft children—three of them. From the Roosevelt administration has been left over Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who makes her home here and is a leader in Washington society. There constitution, but no action was taken committee on recommending a new A. W. Upson made a report for the were elected. A. W. Upson. The officers S. Walter, A. W. Upson, H. Taylor, H. Mann, C. E. Steele, L. H. Taylor, H. E. G. Platt, W. L. Darnon, E. F. Neumann, B. B. Bassette, C. E. Steele, Huthbert, executive committee, E. F. Thersa A. Steady and Miss Emma Darnon; W. Labaree, missionaries, Miss Charles E. Steele, treasurer, W. L. Bassette, secretary, E. F. Neumann, vice-President, E. F. Neumann, as follows:— B. Bassette and Rev. James E. Rees, of himself, Rev. W. F. Rowlands, B. L. S. Johnson made the report for $24.65. $53.70; total, $1,606.74; balance,

CLAUDIA LIBBEY HAINS MARRIED.

Central Figure in Murder Trial Four Years Ago Becomes Wife of R. F. Bolles, Boston Artist. Feb 5-

Claudia C. Libbey Hains, who was the central figure in the tragedy of some four years ago which resulted in the murder at the Bayside yacht club at Flushing, L. I., of William E. Annis by her husband, Capt Peter C. Hains, was married last night at the home of her parents in Milton to Reginald Fairfax Bolles, a Boston artist. Capt Hains secured a divorce from his wife two years ago, naming Annis. The divorce was not contested. Mrs Hains returned to Boston to live with her parents.

The ceremony was performed by Rev Dr A. A. Berle, former pastor of the Shawmut-avenue Congregational church. The only witnesses were Mr and Mrs Charles H. Libbey, parents of the bride, and Matthew Bolles of New York, brother of the groom. Bolles is a Harvard graduate of the class of 1900 and has a considerable reputation as an illustrator. He will make his home with his bride in the Back Bay.

MIDDLETOWN, Wednesday, Feb. 8.

General surprise was expressed yesterday when it was learned that at a meeting of the directors of the Russell Manufacturing Company, E. Kent

Nov "Baby" McKee Married, 5/8/93
New York, November 17.—Miss from that Mary Lodge McKee, who was the daughter to the "Baby" McKee of the White House, when her grandfather, Benjamin Harrison, was president of the United States and who was christened in the executive mansion, was married Saturday to Curt Reisinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Reisinger and grandson of the late Adolphus Busch. The wedding took place in the Central Presbyterian church here. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McKee of this city. She took an active part in fashionable life at Washington last winter.

Since the Russell Company was organized in 1834 it has had only two presidents. The first was the late Henry G. Hubbard, and he held the office for fifty-seven years. In 1891 he was succeeded by his nephew, the man who has just resigned.

Cotton cloth, webbing and belting are manufactured by the company, which is known all over the country. Government contracts have been handled in large quantities in recent years. It is the largest manufactory in the city and employs more hands than any other factory here. The plant is located in South Farms.

Feb Sperry-Kraemer, 9/19/12
Mr. and Mrs. Herman G. Kraemer of Meriden announce the marriage of their daughter, Florence, to Francis B. Sperry, a son of Henry T. Sperry of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. T. Randall, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Meriden, last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, in the presence of relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Sperry left on an evening train for a trip to Florida and one their return will live at No. 260 Fairfield avenue, where they will be at home after May 1. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. Sperry is discount clerk at the Aetna National Bank of this city.

A CATHOLIC CONVERT.

New York Times Learns That Sister-in-Law of President Taft Has Left Protestantism.

New York

to-day say

sister-in-law

nounced that

and was a

Catholic of Students' c

rectory of Catholic of

Eighty-four

Rev. David

She was for

Bernard Va

preacher at

Although

conversion

of her friend

yesterday

step. She

church Ep

was sioned

year was

Church of succeeded

in office

by Edwin

N. Clark.

attended ser

Andrew H.

Embler was born in

the New

York city

June 29,

1834. He quent

Father was educated

in the district

schools

influence

of Orange county,

and in

the public

Catholic

schools

of New York

city. His first

duced

Mrs.

position

was that of apprentice

and

"The first

journeyman

with A. A.

Arment,

of the

New

York

city. After eight

years'

GEN. EMBLER RETIRES

FROM TELEPHONE COMPANY

Been Treasurer of S. N. E. Since It

Was Organized—Formerly in Business in Hartford.

Jan 1, 1914,

A CIVIL WAR VETERAN.

After more than thirty-one years of service as secretary and treasurer of the Southern New England Telephone company, General Andrew H.

Embler, formerly of Hartford, will retire January 1, and will be pensioned by the company. He will be succeeded in office by Edwin N.

Clark.

Andrew H. Embler was born in

New York city, June 29, 1834. He was educated in the district schools

of Orange county, and in the public

Catholic schools of New York city. His first position was that of apprentice and journeyman with A. A. Arment, of the New York city. After eight years'

association with this concern General

Embler went into business for himself in New York city and Brooklyn.

At the outbreak of the Civil war,

Mr. Embler enlisted among the first as a private in the Second Army corps, remaining in the service of the United States until the close of the rebellion, being honorably discharged with the shoulder straps of a colonel.

Major of the Foot Guard.

General Embler's war record is a brilliant one. He is a medal of honor

CORPS

FOR

Feb

NEW HA

GUEST

Less Than F

Captain Pr

At One-half

A "Major

Guard Hall

casion of a

bers of the Governor's

Corps, Capt

the guest, in

ing had been

H. Embler

some corps

sponded gra

members had

cox and Ma

briefly follow

the badge.

The rema

which were brought men

years since,

Major Em

rades:—

Although not a member of this organization—yet old enough to be one

—as the oldest member of the active

company and one who served over and

Coats, Wraps, Bl

GOWNS, DRE

Semi-Annua

Ryan's Spe

710 ASYII

under you during the whole of your service in the command, it seems to be the sentiment of our old comrades that I am the proper person to extend to you our felicitations upon the long and honorable years that have been allotted you, and, in behalf of this organization, to assure you that they ever hold you in high regard the service you rendered our loved old guard whilst with us as private and commandant, and the personal respect and esteem which is cherished for you by every member of this veteran association.

Does it seem possible, major, that, thirty-five years, over three decades, have passed since I had the good fortune to induce one to join our old Foot Guard, who proved the most worthy comrade and made the best commandant we ever had, under whose administration the drill and discipline was such it has never been excelled nor equalled by any military organization in the state.

Thirty-five years ago, as drill sergeant, I put you through the hay foot, straw foot rudiments of the drill, preparatory to our excursion to Saratoga to participate in the celebration of the anniversary of the capture of Burgoyne. We had some tall men with us then; the First Company were all six feet and over. While on the battlefield, some countrymen paused by a group of these six footers and remarked to them: "Well, you are pretty tall fellows! Are you all the same?" One replied: "Yes, all six feet or over." Just then, to substantiate the truth of the remark, our old comrade, Gus Naedele, joined the group. You can imagine the rest.

In passing, I desire to pay a tribute to one whom most of you will remember as a staunch upholder of the Governor's Foot Guard, a faithful and ever watchful body servant, Jim Hull.

Major, you and I have had what I call an honorable distinction in our relations with our loved command. We have both marched shoulder to shoulder as enlisted men; I served under you while major as a commissioned officer; afterwards, you returned to the ranks, and we marched side by side, I as captain, commanding, and you as first sergeant. Now, you have retired on your laurels, and I still carry a rifle with the active company.

What memories throng around us as we look back into the past; what changes have taken place; men have come and men have gone; very many of our old comrades have passed away. The First Company of Governor's Foot Guard, as you and I knew it, is no more, but the Foot Guard lives forever.

And now, major, in connection with these congratulatory remarks, I have a very pleasing duty imposed upon me, which is, in behalf of these veteran comrades, to present you with this company pin; not that it has any intrinsic value, but that, as you look upon it, it may remind you of the regard and esteem in which you are held by these veterans.

"These simple gifts, though poor and tiny, Will help to make things bright and shiny.

So sparkle up, old friend and trusty, And never let yourself get rusty. And may old pals like us endeavor To rub along as well as ever."

During the evening Major Embler gave an interesting talk on "The Only Regiment," which he described as the First Minnesota.

Following Major Embler's talk the members repaired to the dining room and enjoyed one of Commissary Young's clam chowders.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN

Mrs. Margaret Moore, a Near-Centenarian

Feb. 9, — 1912

Mrs. Margaret Moore's 97th Birthday Anniversary
Celebrated

Died 1912

Aug 6, 1912

The 97th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Margaret Moore of 104 Spring street which occurred on Thursday was remembered by many of her friends, and she was the recipient of a host of letters, while friends called during the day to extend their congratulations. Mrs. Moore is in excellent health, and as the years go by the interesting career of this woman, perhaps the oldest resident of her sex in the city, comes to the mind of all who have been fortunate enough to know her.

Mrs. Moore, who has been a resident of this city ever since she was 12 years of age, with the exception of a brief time in which she lived in Hartford, Ct., has witnessed many changes in the life of the city; and while she probably notes many things that she does not consider any improvement over the conditions as she knew them in the early days, still she is not at all pessimistic. She has kept abreast of the times, and is a most interesting conversationalist. In speaking of her early home life here, she once said: "Beautiful maple trees bounded in the front yard when I came here, but there came the day of gas and electricity and down came the trees as the pipes went through the street. A beautiful black cherry tree stood for years in front of the house, but it was in the days when they attended to the picking of them themselves. There came another day, later on, when the boys tried to pick them in advance, and then there was much trouble that the tree came down as the easiest way of settling the difficulties. Apple trees landed the same way, too, for children couldn't pass them by, and stolen fruit, alas, has always been the best." Mrs. Moore displays in every characteristic the strong qualities of her New England ancestry, and has won great admiration for her optimistic temperament and her strong Christian character. She was one of the 13 children of Major General and Mrs. Amariah Kibbe, and was born in Somers, Ct. Her husband, William Moore, was engaged in the bookery business for a good many years in this city. They had four children, only one of whom is living, Miss David Manwaring of New York City. Mrs. Moore belongs to a family where the age limit is extended much later to the century mark than is common, and her present condition of health would rather indicate the probability of her actually attaining distinction.

Local Resident Who Has Just Passed Her 97th Birthday Anniversary in Excellent Health

MORRISON YUNG

TELLS OF CHINA

SON OF DR. YUNG WING DISCUSSES LIFE AS A PROSPECTOR.

Morrison Brown Yung, son of Dr. Yung Wing, is with his wife spending some time in this city, being at present the guest of Rev. Joseph H. Twichell at No. 125 Woodland street. He has been for the past three years in China, leaving there with his wife last November. He had a good many interesting experiences, a few of which he related to a "Courant" man yesterday.

Mr. Yung was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School in 1898 and for three years has been prospecting in China, his work having been in the provinces of Kwang Si and Kwang Tung in southern China. The provinces compare in size with Illinois and Indiana, but, though two, are ruled by one viceroy. They are out of the flood and famine sections and Mr. Yung, fortunately, was spared the experiences which would be a part of life there.

The ferment which has resulted in the end of the Manchu dynasty, however, was felt in the two provinces and Mr. Yung said that the old dynasty is past, beyond any possibility of a return. A change of such magnitude, he said, might result in unsettled conditions for a long time, and no one can say when the new order will become stable.

He said he thought one of the immediate results would be the appearance of a great number of bright men, educated thoroughly, both from the Chinese and the Western point of view. Heretofore these men have held aloof from public life both because they could not stand for the methods and because the methods would not stand for them. The change brings to them their opportunity and Mr. Yung said he expected many of these to come to the front in the affairs of the new republic. No one, he said, could forecast what China might become under a government which interested itself in all the people and administered its affairs honestly.

Mr. Yung was employed by the Jun Wah Company of Hong Kong to prospect in the two provinces named with a view to ascertaining what minerals are found there. The provinces are not in the more mountainous section of China, where the greatest mineral wealth is assumed to exist, but he said many minerals are found there, the leading ones being antimony, tin and bituminous coal, the two latter being mined. The coal, he said, is of excellent quality and a number of mines are worked. The one thing which hinders a great demand for the coal is the difficulty of getting it to a market. The mines are on or near the West River and all the coal is shipped by water. Despite what railroads it has, China depends still upon her great waterways, and the provinces of Kwang Si and Kwang Tung are at some distance from a sea port. The railroad will reach it and it may then be used in the development of China's other mineral wealth.

The tin is mined in a more primitive manner. The government has, or rather, had a monopoly of the business and, while any of the natives might mine it they were forced to sell to the government. Any of them who cared to might carry on placer mining, and a native who handled a cubic yard of gravel a day and got two pounds of the black pebbles felt that he had done a fair day's work. The ore, oxide of tin, is smelted in crude native furnaces which use charcoal, and the metal is sold in pigs to the government. The selling price is fairly high, Mr. Yung says, as otherwise it is impossible to get the metal. The provinces are scantily wooded and charcoal is expensive. Mr. Yung remarking that China has needed a Gifford Pinchot for a long time.

It must not be supposed that Mr. Yung was free to wander about unattended. It was necessary for him to have an escort of soldiers and a guarded camp because of bands of pirates or robbers. No trouble was experienced with the villagers who greatly dreaded the robbers and pirates inasmuch as they had not the means of defense provided for Mr. Yung. He says that the Chinese houses are built with an eye to defense, when the means of the owners permit of it, and the towns, if of any size, are walled.

Mr. Yung said that the pirates frequent the rivers, robbing and carrying away property whenever it is safe to do so. He said his camp was attacked one night in 1910. At that time his laborers were encamped a little farther up a mountain side than his own camp which held eighty soldiers at that time. His camp was guarded, but the laborers were left unprotected because it was thought that the fact that they were laborers would make them immune. In this he was wrong for the robbers took what clothing the laborers possessed, stripping it from them and leaving them practically naked. The attack aroused the soldiers and a brisk skirmish followed in which several men were wounded though none was killed. The work of the prospectors was dropped at once and the robbers were pursued for two days with the result that the band was broken up and thirteen of the men were captured and turned over to the civil authorities who beheaded them at once.

The robbers were armed with breech loading guns which, though not of a recent pattern, were still dangerous weapons to face. The soldiers, he said, carried rifles of a modern pattern, made in Chinese arsenals. Mr. Yung said that it was not difficult to buy food when on his expeditions. Rice is the staple and fish could always be bought, so far as his experience went; hens, chickens and eggs were to be had in every village together with pork which is the staple meat of the country, the Chinese having it fresh, smoked and salt, like New Englanders, and, like Yankees, they make sausage. The climate of the two provinces, he said, is a little warmer than that of Connecticut, taking it through the year. There is more humidity in the air than here, though the maximum temperature is about 93. He saw no snow, he said, during the winters.

Mr. Yung said that, though he did not know when he should return, he expected to go back to China because, he says, it is bound to be a land of great opportunities. He said he knew nothing of the language when he went there, but found it not difficult to learn.

YUNG WING'S SON TORTURED IN PEKIN

Put In Chains, Dragged To Prison,
His House Searched.

(Special to The Courant.) 1913

Chicago, Sept. 15.

Gendarmes last night seized an American citizen, Bartlett Yung, son of Dr. Yung Wing, of Hartford, Conn., put him in chains, dragged him to a military prison, tortured him and searched his house, hoping to find evidence of his connection with the revolutionists, says a cable dispatch received from Pekin today by the "Chicago Daily News."

The cablegram further says Mr. Yung showed his American passport, upon which the gendarmes spat, saying that if they wished they would shoot him, in spite of his passport. Yung was not allowed to communicate with his attorney or friends.

Today he was released without explanation. Yung showed his lacerated wrists and ankles. He was born in America of a Chinese father and an American mother and was undoubtedly mistaken for a Chinese, yet it is significant that the prison authorities refused him the privilege of communicating with the legation, although he said repeatedly that he was an American and showed his passport. The American legation will protest strongly.

Bartlett G. Yung is one of the two sons of the late Dr. Yung Wing of this city, and the late Mary Louisa (Kellogg) Yung. With his brother, Morrison B. Yung, he was brought up in this city, attending the Hartford Public High School, from which he was graduated in 1898. His brother was graduated three years before him. Both attended Yale University, Morrison being graduated in 1898 from the Sheffield Scientific School. He took up civil engineering and shortly after his graduation went to China, locating in Hong Kong. His last known address was at No. 297 Des Von road in that city. Bartlett was graduated from the academical department in 1902. For several years after his graduation he remained in Hartford, going to New York about two years ago to go into the manufacturing business. His last known address was No. 200 Diamond street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dr. Yung Wing, the father of the two boys, was one of the most prominent Chinese educators in the world. He was born in Nan Ping and came to the United States in 1847, with Rev. Dr. S. R. Brown. He attended the Monson Academy in Massachusetts and was graduated from Yale University in 1854 with a degree of A.B. His college in 1876 also gave him an LL.D. He took a prominent part in the life of China, where he returned in 1854, and was instrumental in bringing a large number of Chinese youths to this country to be educated. For four years he was associate minister resident in Washington.

SAMUEL FERGUSON IN ELECTRIC LIGHT CO. 87
FEBRUARY 1, 1912.

Son of Trinity Professor to Begin His Duties Today.

Samuel Ferguson, son of Rev. Dr. Henry Ferguson, is expected to begin his duties with the Hartford Electric Light Company today, the understanding being that he will be elected to the position of general manager of the company for the year ending at the annual meeting.

Samuel Ferguson.

graduation from Columbia University. He was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ferguson, and was born in Hartford, Conn., in 1883. He was graduated from Trinity College in 1905, and from the Columbia School of Mines in 1907. He was graduated two years later with E. D. Nelson Shulte of Trinity College, now professor of physics at the Van Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

He was graduated from the Columbia School of Mines, from which he was graduated two years later with E. D. Nelson Shulte of Trinity College, now professor of physics at the Van Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

NEW HEAD FOR THE ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

Austin C. Dunham Retires After Serving More Than Thirty Years as Chief Executive.

SAMUEL G. DUNHAM, HIS BROTHER, SUCCEEDS HIM.

Remarkable Growth of a Business Which Has One of the Most Finely Equipped Plants in Country.

Samuel G. Dunham, who for eleven years has been vice-president of the Hartford Electric Light Company, was elected, to-day, by the directors of the company to succeed his brother, Austin C. Dunham, who has been the president of the concern for thirty years and one week, and some time ago made known his wish to retire from the presidency after thirty years' service. Samuel Ferguson, son of the Rev. Dr. Henry Ferguson, was elected first vice-president, succeeding Samuel G. Dunham.

Remarkable History.

The Hartford Electric Light company has had a remarkable history when it is remembered that it started in the days when practical electric lighting was considered impracticable and a resolution was even considered in the common council prohibiting the use of electric lights in the city and was only rejected in the concern of the perfectly equipped built up and Austin C. Dunham the company to succumb to the necessity of it.

Electric light experimental took hold of the city and the statements that a success of the Hartford. He persevered until to-day in fact.

A Boston plan for organizing electric light through New York about the organized a committee thought there was no faith in it and the company two years, were plant was a failure in it and stood present Pearl's business and

Mr. Dunham and seven others put in $10,000 each and were pleasantly surprised to find out in the course of time that they could make money out of their venture.

SAMUEL G. DUNHAM,
Who Succeeds His Brother as President.

The Retiring President.

Austin C. Dunham, the retiring president of the Hartford Electric Light company, is the son of Austin and M. S. (Root) Dunham, and was born in Coventry, June 10, 1833. Austin, senior, was a merchant of the old school, of high standing, who also engaged in the cotton manufacturing business. Although he had little faith in college education and training, his son, Austin C., went to Yale and graduated with the class of 1854, but it was several years before he was taken into his father's firm. The grandfather of Austin C. and Samuel G. Dunham was a woolen manufacturer in Mansfield and acquired a fortune for his time.

Though the great achievement in Austin C. Dunham's history is the development of the electric light industry he has been the head of many other enterprises and prominent in the social life of the city and has been abroad a dozen times. He is president of the Dunham Hosiery company and the Rock Manufacturing company; he was one of the founders of the Austin Organ company. He was interested in the starting of the Automatic Refrigerator company. He was one time president and director of the Willimantic Linen company. He is a director in the Aetna (Fire) Insurance company, the Travelers Insurance company, the National Exchange bank, the Cedar Hill Cemetery association, and is also a trustee of the Watkinson Juvenile Asylum and Farm school, the Watkinson library and is president of the Hartford Hospital corporation. He has one daughter, Laura Baldwin, the wife of Danford Newton Barney of Farmington.

DUNHAM ELECTRICAL LABORATORY, AT YALE.

This splendid building and its modern equipment were made possible by the contribution from Austin C. Dunham of this city.

connected with the company the company had ninety arc lights running and

$70.00

WINING CUP GIVEN PRESIDENT AUSTIN C. DUNHAM OF THE HARTFORD ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

HAS PARTY 16.

s Give
and Big

years old Dunham
his birth-erence to he terms
esent. It
at he re-quets arn Asylum
re a bas-
le of the mpany, of

DUNHAM.

Hartford Electric Light Company.

When Mr. Dunham retired from the presidency of the company after than thirty years of active service his associates in the directorate him a dinner party, notable for the cordiality of the directors to-their veteran president. The loving cup, a cut of which THE TIMES nts herewith, was the material expression of the good wishes that were ressed on the occasion.

The av
the Unit
each inha

CANE FOR MR. HEISE.

Comrades of Nathaniel Lyon Post Surprise Him on His Birthday.

Henry Heise, one of the oldest members of Nathaniel Lyon post, G.
A. R., was surprised at his home, No.
175 Lawrence street, Wednesday evening, by a party of the post

lief corps. I seventh bir
gave him a presentation
M. Parker,
Lyon post. ing response

Mr. Heise
Frank and children, we ing to see th
g SC
Wedding
Fir

Miss Elsie
of Mr. and
and Charles
the First evening at bert Judson
ted. The m
tion of Rob
of the Nor
Walter Ga
Wethersfield
where the
was at the
been singing
at the North
en of friends
church, unde Prutting, sa
from "Loher
bride enter ting is a co
singers were Houghmaster
Lamkins at Dexter, Dem
stock.

Mr. Gaylord
J. Leventhal
ceremony Mr.
bers, "Corona
and "Bridal Leventhal gav
"To a Wild R
"Swing Song"
lord rendered
as the recessio

The bride w
father. Her g meteor with s wore a white
quet of white
was Albert Sch
groom. Mrs. F
of the bride, w
and wore tan sil green. She bridesmaid Prutting a cousins of white voile carried wh
ers were W
Driscoll anri
Nearly 300
Thurs

A recepti home, No. 1
were man cluding a d clates at Schirm is a
ing he was
and butter
Yacht and
Mr. and 10:25 train
They will live
will be "at home" after April 1.

FLIGHT THROWN OF LONG P

AUGUST

Detectives From New York
Lieutenant Walter E. I
T. Redfield of This City
Officer Escaped Them a Wanted by British.

At last the mystery involving the recent activities of Pinkerton men on "the Hill" seems to be cleared up.
It comes from an apparently authen tic source that the men were look ing for ex-Lieutenant Walter E.
Ives, formerly a member of the Royal Prussian Thirteenth Dragoons, who disappeared from New York
two months ago and who evidently was expected to come to Hartford, where his wife formerly lived and has recently visited. His wife, who is living in New York, received a wireless message by way of Sayville
a few days ago, announcing that he was in Berlin.

W. T. Redfield's Son-in-Law.

Lieutenant Ives is the son-in-law
of William T. Redfield of No. 160
Collins street. Since the beginning of the war in Europe he has be come widely known as a writer on German strategy. The report is that agents working for the British gov ernment in this country, or interests in sympathy with the Allies, hired the Pinkertons to observe his move ments, or trail him after he dis appeared from New York. The reason for having detectives on watch for him in this city can be accounted for by the fact that he has relatives by marriage
here. Members of the Redfield fam ily, including Mr. Redfield, were out of the city yesterday, and it was said that they had gone to New York to visit Lieutenant Ives's wife.

Mrs. Ives Didn't Know.

Mrs. Ives, who was Miss Dorothy Redfield of this city, told New York newspaper men that she did not know how her husband had made his way to Berlin, and that she was un willing to say whether he could join the known.

been held on March 13, and the Rev.
Dr. Reese F. Alsop of Brooklyn, broth er of the groom, was to have per formed the ceremony, but the young bride herself, it was said, decided to hasten the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Ives will leave on the 10:25 train for a trip to New York.
They will live on Maple avenue and
will be "at home" after April 1.

IVES-REDFIELD

Daughter of W. T. Redfield Wedded to New York Man in Trinity Church.

Miss Dorothy Redfield, daughter of ex fie

to
NOVEMBER 7, 1919.

MRS. IVES DIVORCED AFTER DESERTION MRS. DOROTHY IVES OBTAINS DIVORCE.

Wife of ex-German Soldier and War Correspondent Gets Decree for De sertion on Cross-Complaint.

In the divorce case of Walter Edgar Ives against Mrs. Dorothy Ives of New York city, daughter of William T. Red field, a Hartford broker, a decree of divorce was granted this week in In dianapolis, Ind., to Mrs. Ives on her cross-complaint, which alleged that Ives
had deserted her and she had had to ac cept support from her parents in order to live. Ives, in his complaint, charged his wife with desertion, claiming that she refused to live with him in Indian apolis and also because he was a Ger man.

Ives has been a character of inter national prominence. He was born in Baden-Baden, Germany, in 1885, his father being a former Willimantic man who had married a German woman.
Ives grew up and was educated

Mr. and Mrs.
rk. Mrs. Ives
esterday from
Mr. and Mrs.
ork and other
nd the party is
The reception
clock at 764
st night Miss
er to sixteen
and friends, at e table decora-

get it.
for a smart trimmed
materials and work are quality. Their trim-

$12.00

cause of the temporary separation was Mrs. Alsop's health.

GOODSPEEDS NO LONGER ON THE RAILROAD MAP

After February 14 Station Will Be East Haddam—How and Why Change Was Brought About.

WHEN "WM. H." WAS A POWER.

Exit Goodspeeds as a railroad station! For more than forty years it has been appearing in Valley railroad timetables, but after February 14 it will be no more. East Haddam, which during all that time has not been known to the traveling public as having a railroad station, will come into its own, heretofore Goodspeeds is to be tables.

As a good deal of Goodspeeds East Haddam the days of Connecticut bore the landing.

William In the some time

William in the could h In addi enterpri lines, h ernment in the manage who bu as Good steambe in 1876 before a huge distanced days V a great town I dominat uary 1. He was ers in t

The speed f East H speed, a to Hart old God Landing few we posed of mission propose

The s in name Haddam railroad was br complai Haddam river. purchas Haddam average up Good Haddam Rolling having the nar The Tyl tinued a tofore.

REV. J. N. LACKEY IS INSTALLED
June 4, 1912.
BECOMES PASTOR OF SOUTH BAPTIST CHURCH.

Sermon Preached by Rev. Dr. Herbert Judson White.

WELCOME EXTENDED BY CLERGYMEN AND PEOPLE.

Rev. John Newton Lackey, acting pastor of the South Baptist Church, since October, 1910, was last evening installed as its pastor, clergymen of the Baptist and other denominations taking part in the exercises of installation at the church, which were well attended. At the conclusion of the regular installation program, the new pastor and his wife held an informal reception and Mr. Lackey will have occasion to remember last evening, not alone on account of the heartiness of the greeting which was given him by clergyman and layman, but for the lack of formality which gave to the welcome a genuineness which made it particularly deserving of being cherished in the memory.

Rev. Dr. A. B. Coats presided at the exercises and, after the voluntary and the singing of "The Church's Other Foundation," he announced that Rev. Irving H. Berg of the South Congregational Church would give the Scripture reading in place of Rev. Dr. John F. Johnstone of the First Presbyterian Church, who had not arrived. Mr. Berg also offering prayer. An anthem was followed by the sermon by Rev. Dr. Herbert Judson White of the First Baptist Church, who preceded the sermon by a few words to the new pastor, in which he expressed his

UNANIMOUS CALL TO REV. J. N. LACKEY

Rev. John Newton Lackey, for more than a year acting pastor of the last even- the pastor- meeting of H. Boyd, committee, Mr. Lackey n called to the funeral Thomas Sim- ly Monday turn before as he will Blanchard, is in poor n, chairman, has called for Tuesday tion of the oubt about understood ept the call astor of the of Rev. Dr. igned to go Mr. Lackey f the South tober, 1910, will become The pulpit Mr. Boyd, and, J. A.

John Newton Lackey.

N. LACKEY ACCEPTS SOUTH BAPTIST CALL

come Pastor of the Church From June 1.

John Newton Lackey, acting the South Baptist Church for year and a half, has accepted to become pastor of the From June 1. His letter of e, which was read last even- Thursday evening meeting arch, is as follows:— tford, Conn., March 20, 1912. k E. Tolhurst, Clerk of the Baptist Church, Hartford, other:—I have received your notice of the notice of the called the class by the church to become its day. He astor after June 1. I wish to y sincere appreciation of the class of h the church has imposed in gical Sem- action, and for this stamp al which it has placed on mye 20, 1901, acting pastor for the past They have months. e consideration and earnest old. For divine guidance, I have de- Harpe, Ill., cept the call. And I trust of the abors together as pastor and urch and ll result in the advancement, ary, a pre- interests of the South Bap- d by the h and the kingdom of our e of the Master.

Very sincerely, he fall of John Newton Lackey. e chair of history and economics by his alma mater, where he remained three years, taking his degree of master of arts in 1909.

It is safe to say that Mr. Lackey is not narrow in his views of church government, for, while a Methodist, he acted as pastor of a Presbyterian church at Ann Arbor, Mich., one summer while occupying the profes- sor's chair in College; and, during his

THIS MORNING'S NEWS

question as to the forest services.

CORPORAL HEISE, CAPITOL FLOORMAN, NOW 80 YEARS OLD

FEBRUARY 15, 1915.

Three Generations Help Him
Celebrate Anniversary.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN WHO SAW LINCOLN

At Richmond When Lee Surrendered—Once Fought In German Army.

Four generations were represented last evening at the Heise home at No. 175 Lawrence street, where they gathered in honor of the 80th birthday of "Gross Vater" Henry A. Heise, the oldest Civil War veteran employed at the Capitol, and Mrs. Heise. Corporal Heise, for he attained that rank in the days when blood ran in the great intersectional strife and when Abraham Lincoln was the man of the hour—Corporal Heise remembers seeing him—Corporal Heise does not look his 80 years, for he is still hale and hearty,

Henry A. Heise.

Fortress Monroe and later to City Point, Va. Still later they went to Chapin's Farm, Va., in front of Richmond, and there Mr. Heise—now a corporal—first saw General Grant—and that gentleman had the proverbial cigar between his teeth, although he wasn't smoking, Heise says. Before this time Heise saw many terrific engagements, notably the battles around Petersburg, but he escaped harm although always in the thick of the battle.

Reviewed By Lincoln.

Then, afterwards, came that historic review of the army before Richmond by President Lincoln, General Grant and Secretary of War Stanton. All these men Heise saw and he noticed their characteristics that now form the basis for so many stories. Lincoln was wearing that great hat at which the soldiers used to laugh when they were not cheering him, Grant bestrode a spirited charger and smoked continually and Stanton rode and talked with "Abe." The air was thunderous with cheers as the soldiers expressed their loyalty to the cause and to the man that was leading it and Lincoln's eyes were wet with tears. In speaking of scenes of this sort, he also reverts back to the time when the Confederate soldiers rode through the Union lines with downcast heads for the war was over and their great Southern general was "licked." The ill feeling, he says, between the contestants quickly disappeared and soon the Grays were a dot in an immense circle of Blues. The youth of the Southern troops quickly won the sympathies of the Northerners and both blue and gray mingled eating hardtack. "The men went awild with joy—and how they cheered," is the simple description that Heise gives of the joy and enthusiasm at the time.

Assembled Bicycles.

Before being mustered out with his regiment at Hartford in 1865, Corporal Heise saw provost guard duty on the streets of Richmond. Now he's living at his home in Hartford and working at the Capitol every day, doing his duties as conscientiously as he did them while a soldier in the Civil War and while fighting for the German cause. Before taking the Capitol job, he was employed for twenty-one years by the Pope Manufacturing Company assembling bicycles. In 1865, the year that the soldier returned from the South, he married Miss Susanna Fogel Klimpf in Hartford. His two sons, besides their connections with the Hartford police department, have been musicians in Colt's Armory Band, and Frank A. Heise is now a member of the Foot Guard Band. There are four grandchildren, George, Frank and Arthur Scheimeister and Mrs. Carrie Jaeger, all of Brooklyn, N. Y. Corporal Heise was for four years senior vice-commander of Nathaniel Lyon Post, No. 2, G. A. R., and was offered but declined the highest position within the power of the post to give him. His wife has twice been senior vice-commander of the Women's Relief Corps of the post, and is still actively connected with its work.

OBSERVED SIXTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Willimantic, February 16.—Sixty years of married life, with not a cloud to mar their happiness, is the record attained, Thursday, by Mr. and Mrs. Ira P. Sweetland, a most loveable and venerable couple residing at No. 30 Bridge street. When THE TIMES re-

Mr. and Mrs. Sweetland were married at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scranton, in Columbia on February 15, 1852, by the Rev. Cyrus Miner, who was then pastor of the Willimantic Baptist church. Mrs. Sweetland said yesterday that of the forty persons who attended their wedding only six are now living: Mrs. Carrie Clark of Columbia, Mr.

AN OLD INHABITANT CELEBRATES TODAY

Feb 16 1912

THE JOHN M. NEY COMPANY 100 YEARS OLD.

Though perhaps not generally known, it is an interesting fact that one of the very oldest business houses in the country is located right here in Hartford, with a well-seasoned record of uninterrupted business for a full century. As a prophet is not without honor save in his own country, it is probably true that only a few citizens of Hartford realize that here is the home of a product, made continuously for 100 years and known in every city and country in the world today. But such is the fact.

On February 16, 1812, Marcus Bull established in Hartford, then a town of meager size, the first American dental gold refinery and from this modest beginning has grown the J. M. Ney Company, whose products are now in daily use wherever dentistry is practiced. Thus to Hartford belongs the honor of having given American dentistry its first gold working material.

In 1828 could be found William Johnson toiling early and late in his crude little shop working out the same problems that confronted his predecessor, Marcus Bull, and yet making steady progress in his chosen field.

In 1839 James H. Ashmead, who had been in the employ of William Johnson for many years, succeeded to the business, and in 1846 Edmund Hurlbut was taken into the firm and the name changed to Ashmead & Hurlbut. This arrangement continued until 1864 when the firm was dissolved, each partner taking half of the tools, good will, etc. Mr. Ashmead with his two sons went into business under the name of J. H. Ashmead & Sons (this firm has entirely passed out of existence) while Edmund Hurlbut joined with the late John M. Ney, then a young man in his employ, to form the firm of E. Hurlbut & Co. This firm continued until 1866 when upon the death of Mr. Hurlbut his interest was purchased by the late John M. Ney, the firm becoming J. M. Ney & Co.

In 1882 Edward M. Ney was admitted to an active partnership and in 1893 Harry C. Ney, who up to that time had been in the Hartford National Bank under Colonel James Bolter, New England's greatest banker, was admitted as a partner. Paul S. Ney was taken into the firm in 1902. John M. Ney's death occurred at his residence in Hartford on September 26, 1907, after a continuous service of more than half a century in dental gold manufacture, during which time he also served his city and state in many ways.

In April, 1909, the J. M. Ney Company was formed to carry on and further develop the manufacture of precious metals that Marcus Bull had started ninety-seven years before. From its inception the business has never generalized, but has specialized solely in the precious metals with its varied branches and has bent its energy to improving them every day for 100 years with the significant and pleasing result that the growth has not been spasmodic, but steady and very uniform from its infancy in Marcus Bull's cradle to its ripened age in the century closing today.

It is now taken for granted among dentists the world over that "Ney" on dental goods is a guarantee of high quality. Ney's gold plates, gold discs, gold shells, gold solders, gold wires of all karats, gold foils, gold cylinders, etc., comprise the choicest of the old and the best of the new things in dental gold manufacture. Each item has been perfected with the experience of nearly a century beyond the point reached by any other manufacturer.

From 1812 to the present this company has kept well abreast of the latest things in the art of dentistry, which in turn has grown from a comparatively insignificant and retrogressive profession to one whose activities are now felt in a national way. By thorough going scientific research and improvement during the last hundred years it has attained to a position in the forefront of the older professions and in numbers has increased from a mere handful in 1812 to 47,000 dentists in 1912, practicing in the United States alone.

In its long life of five score years, Ney's gold has often found itself in queer places. After one of the desperate battles of the Civil War there was found on the body of a Southern hero a book of Ney's gold foil. This book has been purchased by a Southern agent at Havana, run the blockade, sold at a large premium and carried through the dangers and privations of war by this officer, who was a dentist in civil life. This shows in what esteem Ney's golds were held by men who made both dental and national history.

They have also figured in many a robbery, particularly when they were sent across the plains by stage coach. An incident is on record of a Sioux warrior who was shot while holding up a mail coach near Green River, Wyo. It was discovered that his bright buttons and various ornaments were made of some of Ney's dental gold obtained in a previous robbery.

Lately in Arkansas, after a train robbery, some $2,000 worth of Ney's gold was thrown into a swamp, being evidently regarded as worthless by the train robbers. On the eve of the San Francisco earthquake a large shipment was delivered to an agent in that city and was not unpacked. After the fire this conglomerate mass was sent back to the factory and included melted gold, silver, nails, stones, glass and cinders.

The building at No. 265 Asylum street, where Ney's goods have been made for so many years, is an old one and often presents difficult problems when it becomes necessary to several years, coming here from New York, where he made a name for himself in the selling end of the American Hardware Corporation. Previous to that time he was connected with Landers, Frary & Clark of New Britain

Militia Officer Commended.

THE LATE JOHN M. NEY.

August 1914 COMMANDER EBENEZER HILL, JR.

Commander Ebenezer Hill, jr., commanding officer of the Naval militia, C. N. G., is at present enjoying the distinction of public commendation from Captain Bennett, U. S. N., commanding officer of U. S. S. Rhode Island, the battleship aboard which Commander Hill and the Connecticut militiamen are now cruising. Captain Bennett, talking to the war correspondents, complimented Commander Hill, not only as an expert navigating officer, but for the general excellence of the Connecticut Naval Militia organization, which Commander Hill has brought up to a high pitch of efficiency.

Commander Hill, who is a nephew of former Congressman E. J. Hill and who in civil life is a manufacturer at South Norwalk, Conn., has been in command of the Naval militia since the retirement of Commander Cornell in 1911. He has been most enthusiastic in his work, having taken several courses of instruction at Washington. He was a soldier before he was a sailor, having served on the old brigade staff of General Russell Frost in the days before the brigade organization was abolished. He was graduated from Yale in '97 and afterward studied in the law at Cornell. He was captain of the football team at Yale and played basketball at Cornell, although, strangely enough, it isn't on record that he ever rowed in the Cornell navy or drilled in the Ithaca university's cadet regiment.

has been in the company's employ for

h leaders in their endeavor. Edward has been connected for a great many ability of a high ting duties of his sition. Miss F. E. ed assistant secre- 12, is one of the ss women of Con- ntial secretary for irst under the late nd since his death president, she has ity.

has come to this no small degree to and keen interest yees in every de- ivities. That this d is appreciated by without saying. ers today upon its ter equipped than fully serve the den- oughout the world eds of other custo- loyally supported ring the first cen- CE GRANTED.

d Residence of Mrs. at Reno. 1912

Well y 17.—Judge oon granted a urrie Hill from reene of Norwalk. anted alive Ebenezer r., of The husband Hill, default. to., ontified she was 901, her name Navalone Currie be- i that the separation 1910. Hill alleged on thell's uncle, Ed- couple, it of Reno for At $250,000 when Hill Celesteley, Cal. She est, are as Mrs. M. dian oft to prevent her ., and took the of languages and lit-

Hill, jr., is a wealthy uth Norwalk, Conn.

Divorce mestic trou- wife of n the furni- former he home at orwalk, and divorce the Martha February, York city. S. Priest re was any d her hus- she was in atment. She on extended him. The music in hat Mr. Hill r owing to his country. e lost sight 1913, Hill, jr., Reno last E. J. Hill, residence, ought di- fled. In that Mr. the action, ing to win d returned before her Currie, well Mr. Hill superintendent of the Works company, of is president and chief

STANLEY K. DIMOCK MARRIED TWO YEARS

Feb 20 1912.

Son of Wealthy Manufacturer Wedded Laundress.

DIMOCK - SLATER—In Huntington, Mass., December 27, 1909, by Rev. Frank Hare, Stanley K. Dimock to Harriet B. Slater, both of this city.

The above announcement in an afternoon paper aroused interest in various parts of the city yesterday. Stanley K. Dimock is treasurer of the Allen Manufacturing Company, Incorporated, of No. 135 Sheldon street, and is the son of Ira Dimock, president of the Nonotuck Silk Company, who is a wealthy silk manufacturer and who lives in the Vanderbilt House, so called, No. 744 Farmington avenue. Mrs. Dimock, who, according to the announcement, has been Mrs. Dimock now for over two years, was for a number of years a laundress in the employ of the Sanitary Laundry, No. 103 Church street. Both young people are in the neighborhood of 28 or 30 years of age.

The romance has not been altogether secret. Some people have known of it; others have not. Chief among those who have not has been Mr. Dimock, sr. The elder Dimock and his son, Stanley, left on the 12:27 train for New York yesterday on their way to Miami, Fla. The engine had not carried their train outside of the state before the news was being set up in print. Mrs. Dimock, sr., was called up on the telephone last night and she said that the first she knew of the announcement was when she saw it in the paper. Mrs. Dimock, junior, could not be found last night.

Those who were acquainted with Miss Slater at the Sanitary Laundry have nothing but praise concerning her work there. One holding a place of responsibility with the company said last night that Miss Slater was as competent a laundress as the company ever had.

Mrs. Dimock Gets Divorce.

Mrs. Harriet Slater Dimock, wife of Stanley K. Dimock of this city, treasurer of the Allen Manufacturing Company, was granted a divorce at Reno, Nev., on Friday. The divorce was obtained on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Dimock alleging that her husband refused to live with her and advised her to go to the home of her parents to live.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1913.

It was found that she had not been there. Mrs. Edwin W. Slater said that she sent the notice for publication Monday because she thought it was time that the wedding was publicly known. She refused to disclose the present whereabouts of Mrs. Dimock, but said that until recently she had been the forelady at the Sanitary laundry on Church street and had been forelady of the laundry ever since the late E. J. Estlow started in business at the corner of Lewis and Gold streets in a building which preceded the Center Church house on that site.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Covey of Minneapolis, Minn., formerly of this city, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Louise Covey, daughter of Mr. Gillis.

Gillis-Covey.

and Mrs. William E. Covey, and Hugh C. Gillis were married recently at the home of the bride, No. 2416 Stevens avenue, Minneapolis, by Rev. William P. Remington of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Minneapolis. After a wedding trip to New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Gillis will be at home to their friends after April 1 at No. 2324 Grand avenue, south, Minneapolis. The bride's father was a former resident of this city, having been prominent in the Hartfield City Guard and at one time partner of Sheriff Edward J. Smith.

Feb 10 Tillot

Matthew H.

H. Wetherell, Hartford City Guard and at one time partner of Sheriff Edward J. Smith. 7:30 o'clock in the men's furnishing goods house of home of the bride, No. 23 Sargeant street, by Rev. Dr. Rockwell H. Potter, pastor of the Center Church. Miss Bernice Graywacz was the maid of honor. John Oppelt was the best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Nellie E. Wetherell, a sister of the bride; and the ring-bearer. The bride wore a gown of white silk poplin, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The maid of honor was dressed in lavender silk and carried white carnations. The bridesmaids wore white silk. The house was prettily decorated.

A Million for Metropolitan Museum.

Colonel Francis L. Leland, who is president of the New York County National bank, Eighth avenue and Fourteenth street, New York, yesterday wrote and delivered the following letter:

"I herewith make a gift, outright, of 1,200 shares of New York County National bank stock to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, without condition."

The stock was held yesterday at 900, so that Colonel Leland's gift exceeds in value $1,000,000. The income from it will be more than $50,000 a year. The gift is one of the largest ever received by the Metropolitan.

Colonel Leland has been a member of the museum board for many years, but he has not been known among its patrons. His most conspicuous interest outside his bank has been yachting. He owns three fine vessels, the sava-el-Bahr, in which he has been twice around the world; the Ariel, which he once sailed across the Atlantic in competition for the German emperor's trophy, and the Avalon. The New York County bank was founded by Colonel Leland's father in 1855. Ten years afterward, when the son returned from the Civil war, he was elected president, and the institution was made a national bank. Its success from that time on was conspicuous, and three times it has declared stock dividends of 100 per cent. Its present home is a beautiful white marble structure built five years ago. Colonel Leland is also vice-president of the West Side bank, and a director of the United States Life Insurance company in the city of New York, of Park & Tilford, and the Manhattan Screw and Stamping works, of which his son, Louis F. Leland, is president. Colonel Leland's only daughter, Amelia, is the wife of Captain Gambasseri of the Italian army. The Leland family for many years has spent at least a part of each winter in Florence, where Colonel Leland owns a beautiful home, Villa Tivoli. Two years ago he bought Boulder Grange, an estate of 614 acres, at Great Barrington, Mass. He has lived in River-side drive only a short time, his town house for years having been at No. 1 West Thirty-seventh street.

Feb 20 Dunn-Taft. 1912

Robert Joseph Dunn and Miss Josephine Marie Taft were married at 10 o'clock yesterday in St. Peter's Church. A nuptial high mass was celebrated by Rev. Thomas J. Laden. Rev. Michael A. Sullivan was deacon, Rev. John P. McDonald was sub-deacon, and Rev. Jeremiah J. Broderick was master of ceremonies. Music was by James J. McGovern, organist, James Flannigan, violinist, and Miss Margaret Mehegan and Miss Jennie Conway, soloists. The sanctuary was handsomely trimmed with palms, ferns and flowers. The bride was a gown of white charmeuse, with satin and point lace trimmings, and a long white veil and carried a bouquet of orchids and white roses. Miss Alice Dunn of East Hartford was maid of honor. The best man was Michael B. Dunn, the bridegroom's brother. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Louise Taft, No. 52 Capitol avenue, at which there was orchestral music. The couple left for a trip to Old

OCTOBER 28, 1912.

WEST HARTFORD NEWS.

Young Couple Surprised By Announcement of Their Marriage.

A surprise was sprung upon the friends of Miss Elizabeth May Winters and Theodore Seymour Tucker in the announcement in the Saturday papers of their marriage February 21 at Wilmington, Del., in Trinity Church by the rector, Rev. Frederick U. Kirkus. Mrs. Tucker is a granddaughter of Rev. James Ganmack and has made her home with him for many years, and "Ted" Tucker is one of the popular young men in town in athletics and basketball and is a clerk

Brookman-Marshall. Feb 21/1912

The marriage of Miss Edith Gertrude Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Marshall of No. 4 Buckingham street, and Thomas J.

SUNDAY WEDDING.

Mr. Roberts and Miss Palmer Married

Feb 23 by Justice Grant. 1912

Ernest Roberts of Springfield, Mass., son of Dr. and Mrs. James Roberts of Pasadena, Cal., and Miss C. Arelene Palmer of this city were united in marriage on Sunday by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Grant, Jr., of Glastonbury, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frederick M. Hazen, No. 39 Greenfield street.

Owing to recent death in family the wedding was quiet. Only relatives and a few near friends were present. Among them were Mrs. Robert P. Grant, Jr., of Glastonbury, Mrs. Julie L. Paulear, Mrs. John Kelly and son, Delka of Windsor, John Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Kingsley, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rollins and son Brock, Mrs. Howard Standish and daughter, Barbara of Hartford. The bride was gowned in velvet. The flowers were American Beauty roses. There were many pretty gifts, including silver, linen and gold. Dinner was served by Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley of No. 43 Greenfield street. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left Sunday for Scranton, Penn., where they will reside.

(Special to The Courant.)

NEW BRITAIN, Wednesday, Feb. 21.
Loomis-Goodwin Wedding Tonight.

95

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season will take place this evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ward Goodwin, No. 83 Prospect street, when their daughter, Margaret Adelaide, will become the bride of George Ladoran Loomis. The ceremony will be performed at 6 o'clock by Rev. Dr. James Wesley Cooper, acting secretary of the Yale Corporation, who was for twenty-five years pastor of the South Church, of which the bride is a member. The house is handsomely decorated with evergreens and mountain laurel with here and there a bow of pink ribbon to add a touch to the color scheme. The pink effect is further carried out with a large cluster of pink roses in the dining room and pink carnations in the living room, where the ceremony will take place. The front stairway is twined with white ribbon and wound with evergreens.

Councilman C. H. Barton will act as bestman. The bride will be attended by four bridesmaids, Misses Marguerite Sanger of Boston, Mass., a roommate of the bride at the Bridgewater, Mass., Normal School; Miss Dorothy Sanger of Boston, Miss Allene Wright of Cambridge, Mass., and Miss

The music will be a special feature of the wedding. Mrs. Alden Wells of Hartford will sing "O Promise Me," before the ceremony and will render the "Bridal March" from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party enters. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Ernest S. Browne, pianist, and Miss Margaret Muller, violinist. At the close of the ceremony the pianist and the violinist will play Schumann's "Traumerel," and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."

The bride's gown is made from a Goodwin family heirloom, a square shawl over 100 years old of deep cream color crepe de chine, solidly embroidered with deep fringe, made over ivory satin. She will also wear a veil with orange blossoms, and carry a bunch of eighteen Easter lilies.

The bridesmaids' gowns are all of pink, but different and they will carry maiden hair ferns tied with pink ribbons. Miss Marguerite Sanger's gown is of flowered pink muslin over pink satin. Miss Frey's is of pink messaline draped with white net and trimmed with pink fringe. Miss Dorothy Sanger's is of pink satin veiled with flesh colored chiffon, and Miss Wright's is of pink chiffon.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception and a wedding supper will be served. Guests are to be present from Hartford, Plainville, East Hartford, West Hartford, Riverton, Boston, New York, Cambridge, New Haven and Thomaston. The young people have received a large number of choice presents of solid silver, cut glass and china. A gift of silver was received from the bride's sorority. The bridegroom's gift to the bride is a string of gold beads and silver bag, and the bride's gift to him a signet ring. The tokens to the ushers and best man are stick pins and the bride's gift to the bridesmaids, Dresden silk embroidered bags.

Mr. Loomis holds a responsible place in the cost department at P. & F. Corbin's. Miss Goodwin is a graduate of the New Britain High School in the class of 1907 and took a three years' course at the Bridgewater Normal School. She has taught for the past year and a half at the Lincoln School, resigning several weeks ago. The young people will live in Harrison street.

CORNING-McANENY—At Hotel Gotham, New York city, February 28, Mrs. Mabel Mastick McAneny to John J. Corning, by the Rev. William DeLoss Love.

Hartford Man Married at the Hotel Gotham, New York.

Special to The

MRS. MABEL CORNING SUED.

OCTOBER 22, 1917

Niece of Second Husband Says Property Was Wrongfully Converted—Hartford Bequests Unaffected.

Hartford people are interested in a suit brought in the supreme court of New York state against Mrs. Mabel M. Corning of the Plaza hotel, Hartford.

New York city, widow of John J. Corning, asking for an accounting of an estate of $2,000,000, 102 Pearl street, because, under the terms of Mr. Corning's will the estate, subject to life use by the widow, will go to the Hartford hospital, the Hartford Orphan asylum, the Hartford Y. M. C. A., and the Connecticut Humane society. These bequests cannot be affected by the suit.

Mrs. Corning was married twice before her marriage to the Hartford philanthropist, and the property of which an accounting is brought alleged to have obtained from the late George B. McAneny, a California mining man, whose widow she was when she married Mr. Corning. Mr. McAneny died in San Clara county, California, in 1909, and the property for which Mrs. Corning is asked to account is alleged to have been obtained from him in 1906. The plaintiff is Anna F. Young, niece of Mr. McAneny, and residuary legatee under his will, who says in her complaint that she has a right to sue under an agreement made with the McAneny heirs in the superior court of Santa Clara county. She alleges that the property, consisting of stocks, bonds, jewelry and precious stones, was "unlawfully and wrongfully taken away and converted" by the defendant.

Mrs. Corning by her attorney, Elmer E. Cooley, denied the allegations of the suit. She was the widow of Henry A. Sisson when she married Mr. McAneny. Mr. Corning, her third husband, who died May 18 at the Plaza hotel, left an estate of about $1,500,000, of which his widow receives the income for life.

Her attorney applied to the probate court recently for an allowance of $8,000 a month to enable her to live in the style to which she has been accustomed. She mentioned a box of the Metropolitan opera as one item of expense. Judge May fixed her allowance at $6,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Prince A. Drew of Central street, Mansfield, and has been a widow for two years. She is reported to have worked in a Boston department store at the time when Mr. Corbin met her while living at Oak Bluffs.

Mr. Corbin's first wife was Lillian M. Blakeslee, who divorced him about three years ago, and she is now living in New York. According to the terms of the separation she had the use of the house in Maple street for a limited time. As soon as the period expired she closed up the home and went to New York. Mr. Corbin has two children by his first wife, Philip Corbin, the namesake of his honored grandfather, and Mrs. George Kohn of Hartford.

Mr. Corbin's first wife was Lillian M. Blakeslee, who divorced him about three years ago, and she is now living in New York. According to the terms of the separation she had the use of the house in Maple street for a limited time. As soon as the period expired she closed up the home and went to New York. Mr. Corbin has two children by his first wife, Philip Corbin, the namesake of his honored grandfather, and Mrs. George Kohn of Hartford.

Mr. Corbin's first wife was Lillian M. Blakeslee, who divorced him about three years ago, and she is now living in New York. According to the terms of the separation she had the use of the house in Maple street for a limited time. As soon as the period expired she closed up the home and went to New York. Mr. Corbin has two children by his first wife, Philip Corbin, the namesake of his honored grandfather, and Mrs. George Kohn of Hartford.

Mr. Corbin's first wife was Lillian M. Blakeslee, who divorced him about three years ago, and she is now living in New York. According to the terms of the separation she had the use of the house in Maple street for a limited time. As soon as the period expired she closed up the home and went to New York. Mr. Corbin has two children by his first wife, Philip Corbin, the namesake of his honored grandfather, and Mrs. George Kohn of Hartford.

A FATHER'S WILL AND

A COMING WEDDING.

Charles F. Corbin Reported Engaged to a Boston Widow, Thereby Saving $75,000.

Special to The Times.

Boston, Mass., February 2.

The wedding of Charles F. Corbin of New Britain and Mrs. Mona Babbitt of Boston, by which the groom keeps $75,000 in the family, will be celebrated this month, probably in Mansfield, Mass., where the bride lived before her first marriage.

Mrs. Babbitt has many friends in Boston and, while she is not having anything to say herself, friends say for her that, although the $75,000 is not overlooked and will come in very handy, the widow hadn't even heard of that stipulation in the elder Corbin's will when she said "Yes," and that it was not until after Cupid had sped his arrow that she heard about the tidy sum which goes with the marriage. It was only a few months ago that Mrs. Babbitt and Corbin had their first meeting at the home of a mutual friend and while not exactly a case of love at first sight Mr. Corbin did not delay in pressing his suit.

When Mrs. Babbitt learned of the stipulation in the Corbin will she had

GETS $75,000 FOR GETTING MARRIED.

C. F. Corbin of New Britain Takes Widow For Bride.

(Special to The Courant.)

Mansfield, Mass., Feb. 28.

Charles F. Corbin, son of the late Philip Corbin, of New Britain, Conn.,

reaped a $75,000 addition to his fortune today by taking unto himself a bride—the provision made necessary under the will of his father. The bride was Mrs. Mona Drew Babbitt, widowed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prince Albert Drew of this town. Friends of the couple declare that the $75,000 reward for a wedding within a year had nothing to do with Mr. Corbin's courtship and that he had known Mrs. Babbitt for ten years.

The greatest secrecy was attempted in the wedding ceremony today, the couple "endeavoring to keep this affair quiet," according to the bride. Even the nearest neighbors and some of the closest friends of the Drew family were ignored. It is said that Philip Corbin, son of the bridegroom, left for South America a short time ago merely to avoid being present at the wedding. The ceremony took place at 2 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Almon M. Hutchins, pastor of the Mansfield Baptist Church. Ira Drew, a brother of the bride, was best man, but the bride was unattended. Only a few intimate friends of the couple were present and almost immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Corbin left on an extended trip through the Southern states.

Mr. Corbin got $200,000 by the will of his father, with the stipulation that he would receive $75,000 more if he married within a year. Mrs. Corbin's first husband died about two years ago. The newly-wedded couple will upon their return live in New Britain, Conn.

STANLEY HOUSE HOME OF HARDWARE CO.
NEW QUARTERS OF AMERI.

during its formative period, hangs on the wall facing the entrance. The windows open to the south and west, and the room is flooded with light, tempered by heavy shades. The room has a friendly, corial aspect, and its very atmosphere induces a kindliness in dealing with the policy of the work

97

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT, THURS

New Britain Office of American Hardware Corporation, Formerly the Stanley Mansion.
Superintendent of P. & F. Corbin for many years

OLD CORNING RESIDENCE, NO. 102 PEARL STREET.

CORNING—At the Plaza Hotel, New York city, Friday morning, May 17, 1917, John J. Corning, of Hartford, Conn., husband of Mabel M. Corning, and son of the late John B. Corning. Funeral will be held at the Allyn Memorial Chapel, Spring Grove Cemetery, Hartford, Conn., Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend.

Donor of Corning Fountain Was Member of Old Hartford Family.

BORN ON PEARL STREET, THIS CITY.

Long A New Yorker, But Kept Residence Here.

John J. Corning, donor of the Corning fountain in Bushnell Park and a member of one of the oldest families in Hartford, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at his apartments in the Hotel Plaza, New York, after an illness of several months. He was born in Hartford in 1844, a son of John Benton Corning and Lavinia Porter (Benton) Corning. The house in which he wa

John J. Corning.

MR. AND MRS. LOW MARRIED 50 YEARS FEBRUARY 28, 1912.

Married in Scotland; Mr. Low

Form

Mr. and M
85 Hamilton
the congrati
the occasion
versary of th
the intencio
make their nounced soc
death of the
who died si
last month, changed. T pleased to r friends in an
call during t

William F
who was Mis
ous to her Scotland an gow Februar
Leopard. O
tides the bri

is but one l tailor of thi
of the bride
It is expecte
couple today.

Eight children were born to them,
of whom six are living. They are Messrs. Robert, William, John and James, and the Misses Jean and Mar garet Low, all of whom live in this city. Their youngest daughter, Miss Jessie Low, died in 1910. They also have ten grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Low came to this city in 1869 and settled in Hartford where Mr. Low established his business as contractor and builder and his handi work is to be found in a number of well known residences and public buildings. He retired from active busi ness life about ten years ago. He is a

ROBERT O. MORRIS TO RETIRE

FROM FIVE C

Has Been Pres
—One of the
to Succeed I

Robert O. Mor
county superior
his intention of the Springfield
His resignation
next meeting o
which will be he
this action, he s
legal duties cor
clerk of the cou
of the bank for sidered one of
that the bank h
of his successor speculation. It i the new presiden
present number vice-presidents a
A. Nichols and trustees are Mr
Marsh, Mr Wint
Bagg, Ralph W
land James H. Pyncheon, George Leonaru, Henry D. Marsh, William H. Gray,
Thomas F. Cordis, William W. Tapley and Donald Birnie. Daniel J. Marsh is treas ter and Theodore B. Winter is clerk.

William B. Low.

Mrs. William B. Low.

HIRAM CLARK, 88, HAS TWENTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

Chester Man Was Born February 29, 1824, and a Member of General As sembly Back in '57.

Special to The Times.

Chester, February 29.

Although Hiram H. Clark is one of the oldest residents of this town he has had only twenty-one birthdays and to-day is one of them. He was born February 29, 1824, and is there fore 88 years of age. He should have had a real birthday every four years, making twenty-two in all, but he missed it in 1900 because in order to keep the calendar straight the 29th of February had to be left out that year.

Mr. Clark is the oldest living ex member of the legislature in the town, representing Chester in that body in the session of '57—fifty-five

CHEERS MOTHER AND 21 SONS.

Audience in London Pays Tribute to Family Theater Party.

(London Cable to the New York Her ald.)

"Twenty-two Cornfields, 'all of a row,'" made a spectacle even more in teresting than the pantomime itself at the Kensington theater the other even ing. It was the birthday party of an octogenarian Lincolnshire woman named Mrs. Cornfield, who, with her twenty-one sons, occupied the front row of the dress circle.

The party met by appointment in London, and the eldest son, who had just arrived from Australia, and had arranged some months ago this novel method of celebrating his mother's birthday, had never before had the op portunity of meeting his three young est brothers, who were now strapping,
well-proportioned young men in their early prime.

Firts came Mrs. Cornfield, who still retains all the freshness and vivacity of middle life. She was surprised to be received with gentle courtesy by the manager, who had learned of the odd event when the seats were booked.
A succession of finely built fellows filed along at short intervals in twos
and threes, and took their seats along side their mother. The family re semblance soon became apparent to others in the audience, and the arrival of four big men wearing the king's uniform, representing the Horse Guards, the Lanciers, and the Army Service corps, kindled a still lively in terest.

In some subtle fashion the whisper gradually went around from ear to ear that a family gathering of unusual magnitude was comprised in the long rows of stalwarts which formed the personal bodyguard of the silvery haired, stately woman in black, and when "Jack" Pleasants, the popular comedian, struck up a favorite ditty
with a lilting refrain, "Twenty-one To-Day," the entire house responded with a cheer.

Mrs. Cornfield is a native of the Ork ney Islands, her children—all boys—are alive, and eight of them are in the king's service, civil and military. They had arrived from all parts of the col onies to celebrate their mother's birth day. Asked if there had never been any daughters in the family, one of the boys smilingly replied, "None, but a dozen or so that we have adopt-

BURLEIGH COFFIN WEDDING.

Springfield March 2, 1912
The wedding of Miss Gertrude Florence Burleigh, only daughter of Mrs. Ida A. Burleigh, and Winthrop Coffin of 433 Walnut street, Brookline, was solemnized at 12.30 Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride, 82 Belmont avenue. Rev Arthur Coar, pastor of the Unitarian church, of Holyoke, and a family friend of long standing, performed the ceremony, and the couple were unattended. The bride wore a gown of embroidered white crepe de chine, with point lace, and her bouquet was of cream-white fresias. The house was decorated by Ostermann & Steele with smilax and jonquils. Only the members of the immediate families of the bride and groom were bidden to the wedding, which was followed by a breakfast. Spare catering. Mr and Mrs Coffin left after the ceremony and wedding breakfast, and are to sail next week for southern Europe for a leisurely trip of four months or more on the continent. They will make their home in one of the Boston suburbs on their return. Mrs Coffin received her early education in the public schools of Springfield and prepared for college at "The Elms." She was graduated from Vassar with the class of 1901. She taught for a year in Greenwich, Ct., and later went to Hosmer Hall, a private school in St. Louis. She gave up teaching to take the three-years' social service training with the Boston

STAFFORD IS PROUD OF ITS NEW HOSPITAL

99

Description of Johnson Memorial Opened On Thursday.

(Special to The Courant, 1912)
Stafford Springs, March 1.

The residents of Stafford and Stafford Springs are growing more and more proud of their new institution, the Johnson Memorial Hospital, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Johnson, which was dedicated yesterday. The ground for the building was broken last April and the cornerstone was laid on June 17, 1911. The total cost, including equipment, is about $75,000 and in addition to this, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson gave it an endowment of $200,000 and it is now one of the best equipped hospitals in the state and the only one in Tolland county.

The building, which is of brick with granite trimmings, is two stories high with a basement and attic and is designed to accommodate thirty patients. The building stands about 100 feet east of East street and granite steps, bordered with brass, lead to the entrance. On the basement floor are located the receiving room, diningroom, employees' diningroom, orderlies' room and other accessories.

There are three wards on the first floor together with the office, superin-

Stafford March 1912

THE JOHNSON MEMORIAL HOSPITAL
Stafford Springs Conn.

NEW MEMORIAL

HOSPITAL OPEN

Stafford Springs Dedicates the Johnson Memorial Hospital.

(Special to The Courant, 1912)
Stafford Springs, Feb. 23.

The dedication of the Cyril and Julia C. Johnson Memorial Hospital took place this afternoon with appropriate ceremonies. The hospital was open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. and during the day and evening many people visited it. Many were present from out of town, including twenty woolen manufacturers, friends of Mr. Johnson, from various towns in the state. Rockville sent a delegation of forty people. The trustees met at the hospital this morning at 9:30 o'clock and gave to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson a beautiful hall clock. This gift was from the residents of Tolland county. The out-of-town guests were given a lunch at the Congregational chapel at noon and the dedicatory exercises took place at the Congregational church at 2 o'clock.

An organ prelude by Dr. G. P. Barr opened the services. The doxology was sung by all present. The invocation was given by Rev. Raymond G. Clapp, pastor of the church. An address on "Human Brotherhood" was given by Rev. Eddson P. Marvin, a former pastor of the local Universalist church. The Apollo Quartet rendered several selections. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Lyman G. Horton of the Methodist church.

The new hospital will accommodate from thirty to thirty-five patients. The cost including equipment was $75,000. In addition to building and equipping the hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have endowed it with a fund of $200,000. The building is located on East street and is a two-story structure with basement and attic, built of brick with granite trimmings. On the basement floor are located a receiving room and a regular dining room.

actor, who died in 1895.

75th Birthday.
 William Dean Howells,
 A gold medal 1915

MARCH 1, 1912.

WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS IS 75 YEARS

OLD TO-DAY and the event richly deserves notice, so worthily does he fill and ornament his post—his by common consent—as dean of American letters. In a time when so much fiction is streaked with vulgarity palmed off as realism, and when so little of it, particularly in this land of “best sellers,” makes any pretense of literary form or finish, there is added reason for paying all honor to one whose pages have ever marked the literary artist, and which, though they satirize the follies of American life, do so in a manner which gives tone and refinement rather than a weary sense of having been dragged through the mud. Born in Martins Ferry, O., editor at 21 of the Ohio State Journal of Columbus, and coming East to be later editor of the Atlantic Monthly, the Cosmopolitan, and now the author of the “Easy Chair” in Harper’s magazine, Howells brought the admiring discipleship of his youth for the New England group of Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier, Holmes and the others, and he is to-day the only surviving figure of importance who links us with that golden age. John D. Long, ever an apt literary critic, has lately written of Mr Howells: “He has done for his time what Anthony Trollope did for his—photographed with fine touch the various phases of the everyday life around him. For no photographic art could portray Silas Lapham and many another type of the American man or woman more vividly or more to the life than Howells has done with his pen. His characters talk as real men and women talk, and not on stilts or in the dialect of melodrama.” Mr Howells’s admirers who hope for his permanent fame may take reassurance from the fact that in spite of idle flings at Trollope he is read to-day more than he was 15 years ago, and that there seems to be a turning back to the stories of Mrs Proudie and the rest. But old Anthony, writing like a human automaton for exactly three hours each morning and methodically turning out 3000 words in that period, never achieved, among other things, that rare felicity of phrase which characterizes all of Mr Howells’s works, whether of travel or fiction, and which grows only more striking with the flight of time. And though he is 75 the good news is that he has two more books now under way.

The other sale was that of the Dr. H. D. Fisk place, also on Windsor Heights, which Mr. House has sold to Imri M. Wilcox, cashier of the Aetna

New York, March 19.—Edward R. Thomas, former turfman and banker, was made defendant in a suit for absolute divorce filed in the supreme court today by Mrs. Linda Thomas. Acts committed by Thomas abroad are alleged as grounds for the suit.

Mrs. Thomas declares that she has not seen her husband since September last, when he went abroad. The Thomases were married in this city June 29, 1901, and have no children.

d God

circumstance not so great as to tempt their thought from the other world and fix them

OHIO EIGHTY YEARS AGO

As Described in the New Novel of William Dean Howells

"The Leatherwood God," William Dean Howells's new novel, the first serial instalment of which appears in the Century, opens with an interesting description of backwoods life in the Middle West eighty years ago. The scene is laid in Ohio and reflects to a considerable extent the circumstances into which the famous novelist himself was born. "Already in the third decade of the nineteenth century," writes Mr. Howells, "the settlers in the valley of Leatherwood Creek had opened the primeval forest to their fields of corn and tobacco on the fertile slopes and rich bottom-lands. The stream had its name from the bush which grew on its banks, and which, with its tough and pliable bark, served many uses of leather among pioneers: they made parts of their harness with it, and the thongs which lifted their door-latches or tied their shoes or held their working clothes together. The name passed to the settlement, and then it passed to the man who came and went there in mystery and obloquy, and remained lastingly famed in the annals of the region as the Leatherwood God.

"At the time he appeared the community had become a centre of influence, spiritual as well as material, after a manner unknown to later conditions. It was still housed, for the most part, in the log-cabins which the farmers built when they ceased to be pioneers, but in the older clearings and along the creek a good many frame-dwellings stood, and even some of brick.

"The population, woven of the varied strains from the North, East and South which have mixed to form the Middle Western people, enjoyed an ease of circumstance not so great as to tempt their thoughts from the other world and fix them on this. In their remoteness from the political centres of the young republic, they seldom spoke of the civic questions stirring the towns of the East; the commercial and industrial problems which trouble modern society were unknown to them. Religion was their chief interest, and the seriousness which they had inherited from their Presbyterian, Methodist, Lutheran and Moravian ancestry was expressed in their orderly and diligent lives; but the general prosperity had so far relaxed the stringency of their several creeds that their distinctive public rite had come to express a mutual toleration. The different sects had their different services, their ceremonies of public baptism, their revivals, their camp-meetings; but they gathered as one Christian people under the roof of the log-built edifice, thrice the size of their largest dwelling, which they call the Temple."

Now you for a common scoundrel that tried my sister against my will, and took on her money till it was gone, and left her and let her believe he was

GOLFERS GIVE A DINNER TO CAPTAIN PRATT

March 5, 1912
Surprise Grooms Him on His Fiftieth
Birthday Anniversary.

Walter W. Pratt ran into a distinct surprise party at the Hartford Golf Club last evening. Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of his birth, and, though he thought little about it, his friends were thinking a good deal. He was invited to take dinner at the clubhouse last evening with H. S. Redfield, but when he arrived at the appointed time he found thirty of his friends gathered around a banquet table with a regular special menu card and a toastmaster. The menu card boasted a picture of Mr. Pratt on the front cover, and the following alleged list of toasts: "Our Venerable Guest," William BroSmith; "Old Golfing Days," J. Carolus Stirling; "The Future of the Game," Percy Rothwell; "League or Association, Why the Change?" R. H. Hovey.

The celebration was about equally divided between congratulations tendered to Mr. Pratt on the occasion of his reaching the half-century mark, and on the success of his captaincy of the club golf team, which he has lately resigned.

CAPTAIN PRATT DINED.

Observance of His Fiftieth Birthday Anniversary at Golf Club.

March 5, 1912
A dinner was tendered at the Hartford Golf club last night to Walter W. Pratt, who, for the last three years has been golf captain of the club, the dinner being in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his birth.

The dinner was entirely a surprise to Mr. Pratt. During the dinner a handsome silver loving cup was presented by Mr. BroSmith as a testimonial of the interest that Captain Pratt had shown in the golfing matters at the club.

As a result of the dinner Captain Stirling, the first captain of the Hartford Golf club, issued a challenge for a match between a team of eight of the Gray Hairs to a team of equal number of the Youths. The challenge was accepted, and Mr. Bissell Carey was appointed captain of the younger team. A referee and committee were duly appointed. The match and the resulting dinner will be held in May.

$2,500,000 GIFT

FOR BOSTON "TECH."

One of Largest Ever Made to a New England Institution.

Boston, March 13.—A gift of two and a half million dollars to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was announced to the board of trustees today by President Richard C. MacLaurin. The identity of the donor will remain secret for the present.

In describing the gift as one of the largest ever made to a New England educational institution, President MacLaurin said it will be sufficient to erect the buildings required for strictly educational purposes on the site recently selected on the Cambridge side of the Charles River basin.

The donor gives as reasons for making the gift his belief in the need of the highest technical education today and of its growing importance in the future.

Grandma Ott's Hundredth Birthday.

March 5, 1912
New York Herald. Mrs.
Waynesburg, Pa., Thursday.

Harriet Wildman Ott, a great-great-grandmother, whose chief delight until but a very few months ago was in spinning her own yarn, with which she made stockings for her hundreds of descendants to the fifth and sixth generations, will be honored by Greene county, March 8, at which time she will be the full five score years. She is a resident of Springhill township.

Mrs. Ott was the mother of eleven children, eight of whom are living, and she has been a resident of Greene county all her life. She has living seventy grandchildren, 209 great-grandchildren, fifty-three great-great-grandchildren and one great-great-great-grandchild. Four of her sons

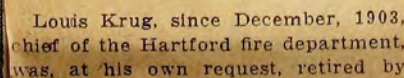

JUDGE GREENE FINDS

FOR FRANK H. MATHER

March 14, 1912
He is Exonerated From Charges Mrs. Cole Made.

The suit for $5,000 damages which Mrs. Nora E. Cole brought against Frank H. Mather of the upper Windsor avenue section, because of an alleged criminal assault, has been disposed of, Judge Gardiner Greene yesterday filing a decision which is in favor of Mr. Mather. The assault was alleged to have been committed on March 11 of last year and the case has been held up an unusually long time. It was tried before Judge Greene in the early part of December, but because of the illness of some of the lawyers, it was not argued until Friday of last week and the decision which exonerates Mr. Mather was filed yesterday. Sidney E. Clarke and Josiah W. Levy were lawyers for Mrs. Cole and Joseph P. Tuttle and Joseph L. Barbour for Mr. Mather. In the memorandum of decision filed in the case Judge Greene says:—

"This is an action brought by the plaintiff to recover damages from the defendant for an alleged assault and attempt to commit rape upon her person. The proof of the plaintiff's case depends mainly on her own testimony and that of her husband. The defendant denies, both in his pleading and in his testimony, all the charges against him. The plaintiff's story is contradicted in several particulars by different witnesses, but the testimony which seems to me most fatal to her case is that of herself and her husband as to their own conduct. It appears from this that they lived on amicable terms with the defendant for eight days after the alleged assault, and only then began to institute proceedings against him immediately after a quarrel or disagreement with him about moving from the tenement they occupied to another on defendant's premises. Before this quarrel, plaintiff testifies to having told of the assault to only one person, Mrs. Lamoy, while after the quarrel, the neighbors and even the driver of the butcher's wagon were informed of it. It would have been natural to have called the doctor immediately, but the plaintiff will not swear that his visit was less than a week after she was assaulted, and the doctor can only say, as to the time of his visit, that it was in the spring. The conduct of the plaintiff and her husband, is inconsistent with the existence of such an assault as is alleged. The plaintiff has not proved her case. The issues are found, and judgment rendered in favor of the defendant."

It was decided to hold "open house" at the new building on Tuesday, March 26. The hours of the reception were set from 3 o'clock and on in the afternoon and evening and an invitation is extended to the public to inspect the premises. Notice of the inspection will be sent to council at the meeting on Monday evening.

commissioners decided to employ stenographer, who will have headquarters at the fire commission office. The services of a stenographer are now required to care for clerical work of the electrical

BY A FEW OF HIS GOLFING FRIENDS

HARTFORD GOLF CLUB
FRIDAY, MARCH THE 8TH, 1912

JOHN C. MORAN,
First Deputy Chief.

for and for other business of apartment. It was decided to keep Mrs. Polk at $10 a week and entitled "Uncle Ike, Marvel of
In an article in the Sun:
the editor of the Sun:

First Unitarian Church of Ha

Wishes and heartiest support."

A note from former Mayor Sullivan said "Too much."

Very truly yours,
ROBERT D. DODD

most cordial greetings, along with a

Give in person of their interest at

of these friends will be w

...that you will receive
...now launching the full
...democratic support the full

...with it, like myself, with
...personal feeling; and it

ends of mine, who support of long standing will prevent not living to know that

GOLFERS GIVE A DINNER TO CAPTAIN PRATT

March 8 1912
Surprise Greet Him on His Fiftieth
Birthday Anniversary.

Walter W. Pratt ran into a distinct surprise party at the Hartford Golf Club last evening. Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of his birth, and, though he thought little about it, his friends were thinking a good deal. He was invited to take dinner at the clubhouse last evening with H. S. Redfield, but when he arrived at the appointed time he found thirty of his friends gathered around a banquet table with a regular special menu card and a toastmaster. The menu card boasted a picture of Mr. Pratt on the front cover, and the following alleged list of toasts: "Our Venerable Guest," "William BroSmith," "J. Carolus S," "League or Assoc Change?" R. H. Ho

The celebration v divided between con ered to Mr. Pratt o his reaching the h and on the success o the club golf team lately resigned.

CAPTAIN PRATT

Observance of His

March 8
Anniversary a

A dinner was tenc ford Golf club last r Pratt, who for the has been golf club, the dinner be of the fiftieth an birth.

The dinner was o to Mr. Pratt. Dur handsome silver lo sented by Mr. Bro monial of the inte Pratt had shown in at the club.

As a result of t Stirling, the first ca ford Golf club, issu a match between a the Gray Hairs to number of the You was accepted, and was appointed capt team. A referee a duly appointed. T resulting dinner

May
$2,500,000 GIFT

FOR B

One of Largest E
England

Boston, March and a half millio Massachusetts Institut announced to the day by President Laurin. The ident remain secret for

In describing t largest ever mad educational instit Laurin said it wil the buildings req educational purposes selected on the C Charles River bas

The donor give ing the gift his the highest technical e and of its growing im ance in the future.

Grandma Ott's Hundredth Birthday.

March (New York Herald.) 8-19-12
Waynesburg, Pa., Thursday—Mrs.

Harriet Wildman Ott, a great-great-great-grandmother, whose chief delight until but a very few months ago was in spinning her own yarn, with which she made stockings for her hundreds of descendants to the fifth and sixth generations, will be honored by Greene county, March 8, at which time she will be the full five score years. She is a resident of Springhill township.

Mrs. Ott was the mother of eleven children, eight of whom are living, and she has been a resident of Greene county all her life. She has living seventy grandchildren, 209 great-grandchildren, fifty-three great-great-grandchildren and one great-great-great-grandchild. Four of her sons

MENU

Hors d' Oeuvres

Cape Cod Oysters

Radishes

Olives

Clear Green Turtle

Filet Mignon-Sauce Bernaise

Sorbet - Benedictine

English Pheasant en Canape

Guava Jelly

Bread Sauce

Gaufrette Potatoes

Hearts of Lettuce-Lorette

Stuffed Celery

Coffee

Cocktails

Champagne - Vintage 1862

Cigarettes

London Dock Port

Hoyo Perfectos

Liquers

The plaintiff has not proved her case. The issues are found, and judgment rendered in favor of the defendant.

EVENING

GOLFERS GIVE A DINNER

TO CAPTAIN PRATT

March 8 1912
 Surprise Greets Him on His Fiftieth Birthday Anniversary.

Walter W. Pratt ran into a distinct surprise party at the Hartford Golf Club last evening. Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of his birth, and, though he thought little about it, his friends were thinking a good deal. He was invited to take dinner at the clubhouse last evening with H. S. Redfield, but when he arrived at the appointed time he found thirty of his friends gathered around a banquet table with a regular special menu card and a toastmaster. The menu card boasted a picture of Mr. Pratt on the front cover, and the following alleged list of toasts: "Our Venerable Guest,"

William BroSmith
 Days," J. Carolus
 ture of the Game,
 "League or Assoc Change?" R. H. H.

The celebration divided between co-ered to Mr. Pratt, his reaching the 1 and on the success the club golf tea lately resigned.

CAPTAIN PR

Observance of His

Anniversary

March 8
 A dinner was ten-ford Golf club last Pratt, who for th has been golf club, the dinner b of the fiftieth an birth.

The dinner was to Mr. Pratt. Du handsome silver lo sent by Mr. Bro monial of the int Pratt had shown in at the club.

As a result of Stirling, the first c ford Golf club, issu a match between the Gray Hairs to number of the You was accepted, and was appointed cap team. A referee a duly appointed. T resulting dinner

May.

$2,500,000 GIF

FOR B

One of Largest

Boston, March and a half million

sachusetts Institu announced to the day by President Laurin. The ident remain secret for

In describing t largest ever mad educational instit Laurin said it wil the buildings req cational purposes selected on the C Charles River ba

The donor give ing the gift his the highest techni and of its growing future.

education today portance in the Grandma Ott's Hundredth Birthday.

March New York Herald. 8-19-12
 Waynesburg, Pa., Thursday.—Mrs.

Harriet Wildman Ott, a great-great-great-grandmother, whose chief delight until but a very few months ago was in spinning her own yarn, with which she made stockings for her hundreds of descendants to the fifth and sixth generations, will be honored by Greene county, March 8, at which time she will be the full five score years. She is a resident of Springhill township.

Mrs. Ott was the mother of eleven children, eight of whom are living, and she has been a resident of Greene county all her life. She has living seventy grandchildren, 209 great-grandchildren, fifty-three great-great-grandchildren and one great-great-great-grandchild. Four of her sons

Walter W. Pratt - Adelbert 1885

and

L. B. Brainard
 William BroSmith
 E. H. Cady
 H. Bissell Carey
 John P. Cheney
 William P. Conklin
 Francis R. Cooley
 Roy P. Crary
 Ralph W. Cutler
 Robert C. Dickenson
 Harold A. Dewing
 Leonard A. Ellis
 Eugene D. Field
 Forrest L. Forbes
 William H. Foster
 Leonard W. Frisbie
 A. L. Gillett
 Arthur W. Gregory
 E. F. Harrington
 Milan P. Harlow
 J. Ellicott Hewes

Joseph K. Hooker
 Roger H. Hovey
 Alvan W. Hyde
 Philip M. Leakin
 T. U. Lyman
 Edward Milligan
 Clifford B. Morcom
 Edward B. Morris
 Howard M. Penrose
 Henry S. Redfield
 Percy Rothwell
 Frederick Samson
 F. A. Sedgwick
 Fred B. Seymour
 J. Carolus Stirling
 J. Ernest Stewart
 Henry K. W. Welch
 Heywood H. Whaples
 Herbert H. White
 W. F. Whitmore

The plaintiff has not proved her case. The issues are found, and judgment rendered in favor of the defendant."

HAS BEEN IN THE FIR
MENT SINCE 18

IS ON RETIRED LIST

Out by Own Request.

March 19, 1922
AUGUSTUS LOOMIS NEW CHIEF

Chief Louis Krug.

injury was so painful that he could hardly work at the mill. At that time his knee was so out from time to time and so much inconvenience, that when he exerted himself, the knee would give him no trouble, but when he lay in bed at night, or out of bed in the daytime in answer to the old trouble comes back. At times he is partly deprived of his leg.

Chief Krug told a "Courier" last night, that he is going to resign his position in order to make room for a report from his superior. He has already said before he finally decided. The report is unfavorable, and says that I need a rest, and the application in at the meeting of the board. I am not staying until I have to go on crutches. I want to get my joyment out of life." Chief said he had been treating me ever since it was hurt, but the results had been far from satisfactory. However, if the doctor agrees the idea that the treatment was off, he will not retire.

When asked about the retirement of the chief, President B. Clark of the fire board said:

PORTO RICO PEOPLE

of the funeral. All the followers of the hearse are men. Of course, the excursionists had opportunity to visit the forts, the cathedral, where the bones of Columbus lay and where there are some fine paintings, some of which are said to be the work of Murillo. The Columbus navigator is believed to have attended his first mass in Cuba, and all the other places where interest and curiosity might lead them through the city's narrow and cramped streets. Altogether, Havana is a very gay city, with its pink houses and its scarlet women.

[illegible]

"I don't hear so many statements saying 'the trusts must go.'"
"No," replied Mr. Dustin Stax; "for the moment most of them are too busy trying to get rid of one another."—(Washington Star.)

A Frenchman who had spent thirty years in prison was asked what changes in the world surprised him most. He passed over aeroplanes, and motors, and phonographs, and said: "When I went to prison women were quite round. Now they are flat and oblong."—(Boston Advertiser.)

Once there was a wealthy Pittsburgh steel manufacturer—the bakers powder drummer. "Now, looky here, Mr. Seliss," expostulated the landlord of the Prunty town tavern. "If you are going to tell that kind of stories I wish you'd wait till you get over to the grocery store. The door's open, and the dining-room girls can't help hearing what you say."—(Sattre.

English Tourist (in Blo Hotel).—By the way, old grizzled bear common around Landlord.—Used to be, but tinct now. Why, even Three-Fin hall!—(Puck.
gered like won't allow it in his danc

BITS OF FUN.

the glory and permanence
of the great republic. They have sacrificed their lives to repeat those sentiments to whose lives our existence is due. And among all the great, noble, and fearless men, who have ever lived, no
one has voiced these sacred promises, so fearlessly, so hearted and cool-headed, impartial, judicial, impartial, who now presides over the United States of America.

Including the cost of the land and of the entire construction, together with the cost of the new water tower, amounting to $6,500, was accomplished at a cost of $60,000, while the appropriation allowed was $65,000, leaving $5,000 to be turned back to the city. "I think the committee should be congratulated for its work," said President Clark.

It was decided to hold "open house" at the new building on Tuesday, March 26. The hours of the reception were set from 3 o'clock and on in the afternoon and evening and an invitation is extended to the public to inspect the premises. Notice of the inspection will be sent to council at the meeting on Monday evening.

To Employ Stenographer.

The commissioners decided to employ a stenographer, who will have her headquarters at the fire commissioners' office. The services of a stenographer are now required to care for the clerical work of the electrical

JOHN C. MORAN,
First Deputy Chief.

Inspector and for other business of the department. It was decided to send Mrs. Mary E. Marvel of Springfield, Mo., to the Editor of the Sun. In an article in the Sun of March 9 entitled "Uncle Ike, Marvel of Spirit World," Mrs. Marvel was quoted as saying: "I have been in the spirit world."

A note from former Mayor I. A. Sullivan said, "Too ill to attend. Best wishes and heartiest support."

"I, best of personal friends, wish to say that you will receive the fullest measure of democratic support. Doubtless every one in person of their interest and sympathy in the cause of the oppressed will be glad to give you such assistance as may be in their power. I am, Sir, very truly yours, Wm. L. Garrison."

FOUR INJURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Belonging to Son of Springfield's Mayor Wrecked on the Connecticut Boulevard.

March 19, 1912

Paul H. Lathrop, son of Mayor

Lathrop of
in police co

Judge Walt
the reckless
as the resu

Boulevard
night at th street. I Lathrop, w seriously, a tals. Lath
the charge,
ing the aut
dent. His Saturday n
$500.

Lathrop
St. James a
he was 33.
When ques
ing intoxica
accident.
front seat c
but said h
operating t

Lathrop's
Police Insp
arrived at o'clock this

Lathrop,
Pease of N
field, came Tuesday aft
cupied was wick of ex
The two spe
ing in Harl
ward Sprin o'clock, pic

quaintances
known, but it is probable that Mr Lathrop, who is said to have been driving

According to his car at a very high speed, was the accident unable to turn for the rather sharp curve

the police, witnesses, East merman of
vard, East
rounded the street at h
of the trolley
plete some
left side.
struck on mained in
the seven spilled on

AN AUTO SMASHED TO BITS

STRUCK BY A LOCOMOTIVE

March 24, 1912
After Running Off Bridge—Paul H.

Lathrop Badly Hurt—Also a Woman Passenger.

Paul H. Lathrop, son of ex-Mayor E. H. Lathrop and head of the Lathrop auto company, and Mrs Helen Hubbard had a twofold escape from death at about 9.35 Monday evening, when the touring car in which they were riding crashed through the fence of the bridge over the Boston and Albany tracks at Red House crossing, near Indian Orchard, and landed directly in the path of the oncoming eastbound train No 14. Both occupants of the car were thrown out before the car landed and lay in a semiconscious condition between the east and westbound tracks, while the train struck the hood of the car, utterly demolishing it and dragging portions of it about 400 yards up the track. The gasoline from the ruined car was set on fire in the collision and gave the train the appearance of itself being ablaze. Both Mr Lathrop and the young woman were rushed to the Hampden hospital, where it was said that, though seriously injured, they would probably recover. Mr Lathrop's chief injury was to his head, though he was badly bruised elsewhere. The woman has a broken leg and other injuries.

Just how the accident occurred is not known, but it is probable that Mr Lathrop, who is said to have been driving his car at a very high speed, was unable to turn for the rather sharp curve

the accident, and every effort has been made to find out the cause of the crash. The police, witnesses, East merman of
vard, East
rounded the street at h
of the trolley
plete some
left side.
struck on mained in
the seven
spilled on

HEIR OF UNKNOWN FATHER

Who died March 17, 1912

AFTER SEARCH OF 30 YEARS.

A chain of unusual circumstances, sufficiently striking to have formed the plot of a romance, brings to Mrs Edith O. Du Brau of this city, adopted daughter of Frank L. Childs of Union street, the inheritance of the estate of Martin Mulvey of West Brookfield, her unknown dead father, who had been searching for her for 30 years in vain. She was taken from him over 30 years ago, at the time of his divorce from his wife, and he died on March 17 at St Vincent hospital, Worcester, without ever having known where she was. During all the years since her childhood Mrs Du Brau had never known who her true father was. It was only when the news came that Mr Mulvey was dead that her adopted parents told her of her real identity and made it possible for her to put in a claim to the estate, with indubitable proof to C. C. Spellman of this city, administrator of the estate, that she was the long-lost daughter to whom the inheritance fell. The amount of the estate was not named by the administrator.

The incidents that caused the present settlement of the property of Mr Mulvey, who died intestate, date back over a quarter of a century to his early married life. Mr Mulvey had a daughter, Florence Opal Mulvey, born in the early time of his marriage. When later he was divorced from his wife, the daughter was given into her keeping and was taken away so that he never knew afterward where his child was. The mother decided to give her away into the custody of some other person, probably for the purpose of making certain that the father should never be able to find her in case he should institute a search, and this decision resulted in the giving of her to Mr Childs, who adopted her under another name than her first one. Mrs DuBrau grew up in his home as Edith Childs, always supposing that she was his own daughter and entirely unconscious of the events that had preceded her adoption, which occurred while she was still too young to remember them. During the years that intervened, while Mr Mulvey was seeking his daughter, the mother died, so that the only knowledge of the true identity of the adopted child remained with Mr Childs.

Here the affair rested, while Mr Mulvey carried on his fruitless search and his daughter was growing up as the child of Mr Childs of Springfield. She has always lived in this vicinity. She was formerly married to Gustav H. Du Brau of Holyoke, and after his death came back to her home in Springfield to live. Then in March the search of the true father ended with his death in Worcester and he was buried from the Sacred Heart church in West Brookfield on March 20. He died without making a will, so that by the laws of the probate court the estate fell to the lost daughter, for whom it was known he had been looking, and of whom it was not known whether she was living or dead. Realizing that the estate would fall to her if she was told of her birth, Mr Childs explained to Mrs Du Brau the true story of her youth, how she was not his real daughter, but had been adopted by him from her mother and was the child of the Martin Mulvey who was dead. She entered a claim for the estate and being able to prove with the aid of the testimony of Mr Childs that her claim was a just one, the end of her father's long search was accomplished with the awarding of the estate to her.

MILLER GOLDEN WEDDING.

March 20, 1912
Mr and Mrs Wilbur F. Miller Receive Their Friends in Methodist Church.

Wilbur F. Miller celebrated his 72d birthday yesterday, and with Mrs Miller celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage. The spacious home on North street was open all the afternoon and evening to their numerous friends and relatives. The house was decorated with ferns and cut flowers, and they were the recipients of a large number of flowers from their friends. In the evening a reception was held in the Methodist church, Mr and Mrs Miller were assisting in receiving by their daughter, Mrs. Hannum, and their granddaughter, Alice Louise Hannum. The church had been prettily decorated with flowers for the reception a concert program, as follows: Organ selection, by C. Causey; singing by a quartet, Dr. A. E. Wyman, first tenor, Dr. H. Hale, second tenor, C. D. Mo. bass, and Dr. E. G. Marshman, bass, all of Springfield; vocal selection, by Miss Beatrice Miller of Springfield; selection, by Edward E. Chapman; instrumental selection, by Edward Springfield; vocal selection, by Treichler; vocal solo, by Wilbur group of songs, by Mrs. H. W. North Wilbraham; vocal selection, Mevin and quartet of Springfield by the male quartet; selection, vary," by the women's chorus.

The second part of the program opened with a vocal solo by Miss Hannum; duet, Miss Beatrice Kenneth Miller of Springfield; by Edward E. Chapman; vocal, Miss Grace Sawyer; reading, by Treichler; instrumental selection, ward Porter; vocal solo, by Mr. duet, by Miss Alice L. Hannum; Mr. F. Miller; selection by the quartet. After the concert program present joined in singing an old selection, written for the occasion, tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

Mr Miller has lived nearly in Ludlow, and he remembers there were only two trains a Boston and Albany railroad between Ludlow and Springfield, the railroad had been completed when he was old. Mr Miller's farm was very extensive, and he has 125 houses in the village of it. Mr Miller is a well-known and has sung in many parts try and in Europe, but he is a profession of singing. One of the remarkable facts about his life he never has taken a music the members of his family and one of his brothers was music. In spite of this, Mr Miller not take any lessons and he had charge of church music, read music. But he studied himself, and soon was able to. He began singing in the church town when he was 10 years of age, at 18 was asked to of the music at the Indian Or

Mr Miller always sings when occasion to do so. In 1882, on a tour of Europe, he attended Spurgeon's temple in London, it was crowded and Mr Miller, in the back of the church, kept in preceptor by watching his lips, ple around him thought he preceptor. He has taken part in performances, including the corner-stone of the post-office field, the dedication of Grad

Springfield and the celebration at the re-election of President Lincoln, as well as at many Masonic functions. Mr Miller is a 32d degree Mason. During the campaign for William Lincoln, chorus, which meetings. He was detailed to serve nine months at it at Hampden, he was the

SELLS PROPERTY.

CURTIS COOK BUYS THE LINDEN AGAIN OCTOBER 22, 1914.

Valuable Main Street Block Sold
To-Day by Moses Katzenstein to Former Owner.

LARGE REAL ESTATE DEAL IS CONSUMMATED.

Nearly 200 Feet on Main Street,
Same on Linden Place, and 185
Feet on Capitol Avenue.

Curtis C. Cook, for several years former owner of the Linden on Main street, purchased the property, this afternoon, from Moses Katzenstein, Linden place on the north to Capitol avenue on the south, the Linden place frontage being 200 feet and the Capitol avenue frontage 185 feet.

In addition to ten stores facing Main street there are 100 complete apartments in the building, making it without doubt the largest structure of its kind in the state.

Sorry He Sold Before.

When asked to-day the reason for the purchase Mr. Cook said:

"I have always been sorry that I let the property go and when I heard yesterday that others were negotiating for it through Edward Newfield, I commissioned Mr. Newfield to secure it for me, which he did, closing the bargain this afternoon."

Asked if he proposed to make any changes, Mr. Cook added:

"Not immediately, but I have in mind some radical improvements and additions which I hope to carry out a little later, perhaps early in the spring. Had I appreciated sooner the rapid commercial growth to the south I should not have sold the property at the time I did. It is the ten stores that I am after; the Linden apartments have always been popular, but with the completion of the new municipal building and who bought it from Mr. Cook three years ago.

THE LINDEN BLOCK, AGAIN OWNED BY CURTIS C. COOK.

This well known central property has a frontage of nearly 200 feet on Main street and extends from other changing conditions in that neighborhood stores in my opinion are bound to be at a premium."

Solomon Elsner appeared for Moses Katzenstein and Robinson Robinson for Curtis C. Cook.

VICE-PRESIDENT LUNGER

OF TRAVELERS
March
 Has Been Chosen
 the Equitable Society of New York

A MAN OF

News of the Lungers as vice
 table Life Assur-
 United States
 morning and
 Mr. Lunger,
 the Travelers
 this city, we
 with that of York in the
 Been

In reply to THE TIMES
 report and

ning to assume his new duties at an early date; that he and Mrs. Lunger would be sorry to leave Hartford because they had made, while here,
 many dear friends and formed many pleasant associations; that before they came to Hartford they considered it
 the finest residential city in the country, and this opinion has been strongly confirmed by a ten years' residence;
 that if Hartford were nearer New

JOHN B. LUNGER.

JOHN B. LUNGER NOW

EQUITABLE OFFICER

March 21, 1912
 Elected Vice President of New York
 Company.

John B. Lunger, vice president of the Travelers Insurance Company, was elected vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society yesterday, to fill a vacancy that has existed since shortly after the death of President Paul Morton, over a year ago. William A. Day was chosen to succeed Mr. Morton at that time, but his place as vice president remained vacant until Mr. Lunger was elected yesterday.

EQUITABLE AGENTS GET
EULOGY OF MR. LUNGER

President of Insurance Company Announces the New Appointment.

President W. A. Day of the Equitable Life Assurance Society has sent out a circular letter to the agents of the company announcing the election of John B. Lunger, recently of the Travelers Insurance Company, as vice-president of the Equitable, saying that Mr. Lunger will have direct supervision over the agencies at home and abroad. President Day writes as follows:—

I need not tell you that it is very gratifying for me to have this vacancy filled, and by a man so acceptable to me in all respects. In a great public institution, such as the Equitable is, the responsibilities and burdens that fall upon the chief executive officer are

Vice-President Lunger Retires

The field representatives of The Travelers have probably learned through the press of the election of Vice-President John B. Lunger of The Travelers to the position of Vice-President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York.

Mr. Lunger came to The Travelers in 1902, after a brilliant career as actuary, first of The Prudential Insurance Company of Newark, and afterwards as Managing Actuary of the New York Life Insurance Company, and his ten years of service with The Travelers has been distinguished by the same activity and ability. He has also closely identified himself with the social and public life of Hartford in which he took an active part and gave liberally of his time and service. Mr. Lunger carries with him to his new position the good wishes of all his associates in the Home Office and the field.

tors as a

One of the Big Ones.

Hartford

about 19 years old. He showed so much ability that Mr. Fackler prophesied that he would soon become a leader in the business. The Prudential had confined itself to the industrial business, but Mr. Lunger urged the establishment of a branch to do "ordinary" business, and in 1886 the company was organized to open an LUNGER—Suddenly, on June 12, 1913, in New York city, John Bodine Lunger, husband of Jane Burnett Lunger, in his 56th year. Funeral services at eleven a. m. Saturday, June 14th, at St. Thomas's church, Fifth avenue and 53rd street, New York. Interment at Asbury, New Jersey.

John B. Lunger, vice president of the Travelers Insurance company, 1902-1912, died in New York, Wednesday evening.

He was elected vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States, in March, 1912, and had been a resident of New York since.

Mr. Lunger was one of the best known life insurance men in this country and during his connection with the Travelers had a large part in its advancement along new lines.

He was born in Asbury, N. J., April 5, 1864. When he was 16 years old he entered the home office of the Prudential Insurance company in Newark, and when 19 years old had progressed so rapidly in the mathematical work of that company as to be charged with the responsibility of creating its actuarial department. When the company, acting upon his advice, engaged in the writing of "ordinary" business in 1886, he founded that department and became its manager.

In February, 1897, he was appointed managing actuary of the New York Life Insurance company, a position especially created for him, that might express his knowledge of practical as well as technical insurance. In the five years he was associated with the New York Life he assisted in the actuarial department and was helpful in promoting its agency service in various fields at home and abroad.

His election as vice-president of the Travelers Insurance company occurred in February, 1902. He was for a while a lecturer on life insurance at Yale university.

While a resident of Hartford Mr. Lunger was president of the Hartford Tuberculosis society for some time and also a director of the Hartford National bank.

He leaves a widow.

The estate of John B. Lunger, late of New York and at one time vice-president of the Travelers Insurance Company, has been valued at $401,985, with net value of $263,180, according to the appraisal just announced. Mr. Lunger's wife, Jane Burnett Lunger of No. 39 West Fifty-fifth street, New York, will receive the entire property.

Mr. Lunger left Hartford several years ago to become vice-president of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York. As an official of the Travelers in this city he took a leading part in the work of changing from the general agency to the branch office system.

The resolutions follow:

At the annual meeting of the club, held on Tuesday evening 1912, we, by unanimous vote, were appointed a committee to express to John Bodine Lunger, resignation from the club, having regret his resignation from the Insurance company. Be it

Resolved, That we appreciate the courtesies we have received from him, the interest he has taken in our activities, the good fellow has always manifested when our privilege to have him at his help in making our enterprise successful. That our best wishes in his new work and we deprecate to tender to him this affection.

JAMES E. RHO
WALTER E. BAY
DAVID E. HUG

ANNIVERSARY OF VILLAGE ST. CHAPEL

March 24, 1912

REV. DR. GALLAUDET, AN OFFICER 60 YEARS AGO, SPEAKS.

Rev. Dr. W. A. Bartlett Delivers
Address in Evening.

NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM PLEDGED FOR THE CHAPEL.

With appropriate exercises the Village Street Mission, once the Morgan Street Sunday School, celebrated its sixtieth anniversary yesterday. The exercises started in the afternoon, when the children took part in a special program, and Dr. Edward M. Gallaudet, the founder and for many years the president of the Gallaudet College in Washington, D. C., spoke to the children. Dr. Gallaudet was a worker in the Morgan Street Sunday School, and by his concise and pungent way of speaking and by his apt and graphic illustrations. The boys called him "the clam shell man" because he once held up to their gaze the rough and polished sides of a shell to show them the rough reality of their lives, and the polished possibilities. Who can tell but much of the after devotedness of Henry Clay Trumbull and his remarkable career as a Sunday school expert, grew out of that period when he labored in all love and zeal to win those children for Christ. He was the first superintendent of the school, and his heart was won, as his eye fell on a poor little scrap of humanity who was struggling to adjust a soiled and rumpled cloth over swollen cheek. In that hour his heart went out to all the strugglers with difficulties. It may be that that great tenderness made it possible for him to endure such indignity as came to his faster, when an enraged and intoxicated youth spit in his face. He kept his temper and suffered "as seeing Him who is invisible."

"I like to remember that such men as Joel Hawes, Horace Bushnell, Walter Clarke and W. G. Patton, pastors of the Center, South, North and Fourth churches in this city, gave their Godspeed to this enterprise. It fills the heart with more than gratitude to think that this has been the training place of great preachers, authors, teachers, of youth. The unusual difficulties of the mission challenged to the utmost, the Christian grace and manly abilities of all. Talents that might otherwise have remained slumbering for life were called out and developed. I have a vivid recollection of an experience in the mission. Four of us seminary students came down to sing. Pandemonium had reigned, and several of the more unruly had been put out. Then we struck up some college songs. I have never been quite clear as to whether it was the good or poor quality of the music which charmed or stunned them into a protracted quietness. But certain it was that for a time there was almost uncanny decorum. These Hartford youths were certainly the best of their kind! When Charles P. Brace, superintendent of Five Points Mission, came here to speak, he began by saying, 'Boys, I am going to tell you two stories; one is true and the other is not.' A voice sang out, 'Don't you come here with any of your lies.' The man who thought he was familiar with all sorts and conditions confessed that he was never so much taken back.

"I speak of these things of the past, to show the real conditions then—conditions which have to a large extent passed away. It brings out the heroism of the workers. It is impossible to speak at length of the Robinsons, the Goodwins, the Gillettes and so many others who have had part in this work for Christ.

"This Sunday school and mission was not always looked upon by the churches with favor. The study of child nature was then in its infancy. The man who afterwards became president of Johns Hopkins University and of the Carnegie Institution stood in the middle of the floor of Morgan Street Mission and taught the pupils 'Little drops of water, little grains of sand.' This school and mission has drawn the sections of the city together; it has been a lesson to the churches and an inspirer of true effort; it has been a training place for students for the ministry, who could trace afterwards such strong influences in their lives, which became potent in great ministries in many fields—home and foreign.

"I can say without exaggeration, that such a Village Street Mission and church as we have today under the leadership of Mr. Harnish and Miss Bartlett, is one of the best assets Hartford's citizenship could have. Churches that are in danger of forgetting their real purpose, and are engaged in cultivating a class of well-to-do Americans, may well look to such work as this for real incentive. For here the world's work is being done. Different races and nationalities are being brought together. Those who are strangers to our institutions are in this place receiving the finest exemplification of sturdy Christian citizenship and manhood. Mothers are being helped and guided. Fathers are instructed in righteousness; children are being taught that true Americanism which must include high citizenship, useful service, temperance, and as the most beautiful in the world and as a wonderful antiquities, 's Economic Outlook modern point of view, welfare just as a nation and gifted by history Davenport Whelpley business conditions in es in the Trade of the

MISSION SERVICE IN TRINITY CHURCH

March 24, 1912.

PARISH TO RECOGNIZE CON- SECRATION OF A MEM-BER AS BISHOP.

REV. D. T. HUNTINGTON BECOMES
BISHOP OF WUHU.

CHINA'S REBELLION POLITICIANS' WORK

Missionary Bishop Talks on New Republic's Struggles.

RT. REV. D. T. HUNTINGTON
IN HARTFORD FOR SUMMER

Western Education the Sine
Qua Non of All Chinese People.

Aug 5 - 1913 -

Rt. Rev. D. Trumbull Huntington, first Episcopal bishop of Wuhu in China, is in Hartford on a furlough of several months. He arrived yesterday after a voyage of one month, and is staying at the home of his sister, Miss Sara B. Huntington, of No. 2 Atwood street. Although he left China held up. Little has been done, either to perfect a constitution or to elect a permanent president. The delay is not surprising, for it would naturally take several months to organize and get the machinery in working order, but the extreme republicans felt that things were moving too slowly, and that Yuan Shi Kai, the provisional president, was assuming too much power.

"A few months ago, a violent agitation was stirred up in the foreign settlement at Shanghai in connection with the foreign loan, and the president was freely criticized, but no general notice seemed to be taken. The people as a whole were not very greatly interested in it, and I had supposed that the agitation was over for the present. Things looked very peaceful when I left Shanghai, and indeed the governor of the province of Ngan Hui, who is one of the most radical republicans, told me that there would be no trouble. I suppose he's in the middle of it now, a leader of the revolutionists.

Patriots and Politicians.

"To my mind, the revolution is run by two sets of men, some sincere patriots who believe that Yuan aims at a dictatorship, and a much larger

Bishop Huntington, who has just arrived from China on a vacation visit, thinks that Yuan Shi Kai is doing very

BISHOP HUNTINGTON TALKS ON CHINA

Rt. Rev. Daniel Trumbull Huntington, bishop of Hankow, China, was the preacher at two local churches yesterday, being at Christ Church at the morning service and preaching at St. John's Church in the evening. At both services Bishop Huntington told of the work of the Protestant Episcopal church in China during the past ten years and of its influence on the revolution which resulted in the institution of the republican government.

Bishop Huntington brought the same message to the congregations which he recently delivered at the banquet held in his honor at Trinity parish house. He declared that he believed that never in the modern history of the Christ church has there been such an opportunity for influence and growth as China offers today. His plea was for men for the mission field, for more churches throughout the empire and for the aid and prayers of the people of the United States to whom China looks for sympathy and assistance.

Mission Work Welcomed.

said Dr. McCook, "and the foreign governments and foreign residents are beginning to realize it."

Rt. Rev. D. T. Huntington.

ity parish to the mission field, was graduated from Yale in the class of 1892 and from Berkeley Divinity School in 1895. He was admitted to the diaconate by Bishop Williams of Connecticut that same year, and volunteered service in China. At that time the financial condition of the board of missions did not warrant the appointment of another missionary in China, but at this juncture the Church Students' Missionary Association learned the facts and guaranteed the support of Mr. Huntington, and the board passed upon his appointment. After three years' work in Hankow, 600 miles up the Yangtse River, he was sent to take charge of the mission at

on. Here he le work. Mr. ang a mission- and a small thirty boarders ents, a girls' si; a large in-TON.

secrated to, d
Shanghai.

Huntington a hal to-day n
jurisdic-
Huntington is shioners of who have
by their
and do-
largely at-the event
h. Sunday
charge of deF Miel.
the Rev.
Rev. Dr.
ey Divinity
the Rev.
college.

s of Trin-
have done
ley Hooker
toberts in Tate in
er in St.
ai. China,
in Kioto,

at one who inity parish ortant part ertaken by sion of the ianizing of Huntington
discourag-Goodwin.

ne cannot has had to king trials
with what worked to missionary that this
m to-day."
tunity has
as been as ties to the
ep. Now current of
there has tington a nitless, but doubtedly
in because tunity is ntry."

the com-haries, of
nts rank.
of to-day
ry of yes-
tally and e they the ers from er were."

March 29. 1912

Wilbur Jackson of Collins Street Attempted to Pull Freshman Flag From Travelers' Roof, Misses 12-Foot Leap and Falls on Screen Below.

Wilbur Jackson of No. 143 Collins street, a sophomore at the Hartford High School, suffered painful and serious injuries last night when in an attempt to remove the 1915 freshman flag from the roof of the Travelers Insurance Company's building on Main street, he fell four stories.

A super-abundance of class loyalty led him and other classmates to climb the fire escape in the rear of the building and when he reached the roof, to capture the flag, necessitated leaping across the opening of the light shaft, a distance of some twelve feet. He was warned not to make the mid-air leap, but, determined to capture the

March 27. 1912

Mittineague Young Woman the Bride of a Hartford Physician.

A pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr and Mrs William J. Crosier, 306 Westfield street, when their eldest daughter, Elsie Mary, was united in marriage to Dr Leon Irving Madden. The ceremony was performed by Rev James G. Phillips, pastor of the Mittineague Congregational church. The library, in which the ceremony took place, was beautifully decorated with palms and pink carnations, and the reception-room and dining-room in daffodils. The ushers were Raymond Squires and William Johnson. Promptly at 7 o'clock the bridal party entered the library to the strains of the wedding march played by Walter Best of Providence, R. I. The bride and groom were accompanied by the maid of honor, Miss Florence E. Crosier, sister of the bride, and best man, Fred W. Tyler of Hartford, Ct. The bride was given away by her father. She wore ivory messaline, veiled with ivory chiffon, and carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The veil was caught with orange blossoms. The maid of honor wore pale pink crepe meteor, and carried pink sweet peas. During the reception music was furnished by Miss Muriel Lovett. Barr catered. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, including a Wallace Nutting picture. "The Birch Hill Tops," from the Philathea class, of which she was president for some time, and a Navajo rug from Dr L. W. Bortree of Colorado Springs. The bride is a graduate of the Framingham normal school, and for the past few years has been a successful teacher in the Chestnut-street grammar school. The groom is a graduate of Clark university and Harvard medical college, and has been connected for a year and a half with the Hartford hospital. He has now severed his connection with the hospital and has opened an office on Pearl street, Hartford. After a short wedding trip, Dr and Mrs Madden will be at home to their friends at 151 Retreat avenue, Hartford.

March 27. 1912

Famous Pitcher of the Aetna Life Base-ball Team.

Much to the surprise of their many friends, it was announced last evening that Miss Gertrude A. Buck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Buck, and Samuel S. Speers, both of this city, were married at the parsonage of the First Congregational Church in Norwich on Thursday, February 1, by Rev. Herbert J. Wyckoff.

Mr. Speers has been connected with the accident claim division of the Aetna Life Insurance Company of this city for the past four years and has a host of

April 1910

PURCHASE INCREASES MAIN ST. FRONTAGE TO 205 FEET.

Through the purchase by Isidore Wise and Solomon Youngman, for Wise, Smith & Co., of the land and building No. 909 Main street, just south of their present store, the firm will have property with a Main street frontage of 205 feet, which exceeds that of any other business house in the city. The real estate was bought of John J. Corning and the new owners take possession today. The Corning building is a three-story brick structure, having a frontage of thirty-six feet and running back 125 feet. It was built by John B. Corning, in whose memory his son, John J. Corning, gave the Corning fountain in Bushnell Park tailored Suits, sizes 13, 15, $4.00

 until sample trimmed hats $6.98
 ubberized rain coats for . . . 3c.
 orting at . . . 3c.
 Silk Co. sample squares, doilies $15.
 tailor made suits for . . . $15.

h & Co.

Of The Many.

AY

the Store

Specials

Scientific electrical

If so, use the Autophone

Are You Deaf?

Don. from Sumner 1913

108 WISE, SMITH & CO.'S FINE NEW BUILDING

ORD CONN., THURSDAY, MARCH 28. 1912—

the building will rise to 125 feet. The front on Main street will be of stone, light brick and granite and be a most imposing front, and when completed Wise, Smith & Co.'s frontage on Main street will be over 160 feet. The H. H. Lines company of Meriden has waters will ing, mak-

use. The d in the d steel lined doors
air

CITY

For Other Late Ne

AVERAGE DAILY CIRCULATION for Week ending March 23.

LOCAL WEATHER FOR

Increasing cloudiness, fol-
by rain late to-night or Fridrising temperature.

[Detailed Report on Page 6.]

WISE SMITH & CO'S NEW NINE STORY BUILDING

AS IT WILL APPEAR WHEN COMPLETED.

of the structure of upward of 20,000 square feet. Wise, Smith & Co. were quick to fore-see the natural value of the west side of Main street for retailing purposes and their foresight has been well re-warded.

The New Structure.

Several years ago they purchased the Corning property directly south of their main building and on this lot it is proposed to erect a nine-story steel frame building, also to raise their central main building to the same height. Isaac A. Allen, jr., is the architect. The new structure will be 132 feet deep and from sidewalk to the handsome electroliers on top of

at the parish house field Episcopal church of the Rev. Henry S. Hart. Mr. Bickford came to Har- from New York about two years ago as the associate editor of the Journal of American History, and is well known as a writer. He is now connected with the editorial staff of the ten volume Photographic History of the Civil War, which has just been com-pleted in this city in association with a board of fifty historians from vari-ous parts of the country. Miss Gard-ner has for several years been secre-tary to Francis Trevelyan Miller, the author. Mr. and Mrs. Bickford will spend the summer at Bolton.

B. R. S.
G.
HAS BEEN
TIVE
Mar
A well s
made its af insurance
Benjamin National retire from Monday, th
year of his impaired
and rumo
vice of his rest that h
der his re
has served 1891—two
Mr. Stil
the Natio
since Jan
years afte
pany as been pro success to perienced
and a go reputatio
foundatio Insurance
ing that
him. H feet acc company
indeed r
from bu
resignat
Mr. S
N. Y., fore jus
was ex
(N. Y.)
the em
shipper
ance ag
vation.
firm af
formed firm go & Still special Insura
later, i
of assi Insura
until genera
& Mar
he wa
Insura
come Comp
retary
It
direct the o alter Stille
at th

B. R. STILLMAN TO GIVE RESIGNATION

HAS BEEN WITH COMPANY FOR TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

March 30, 1912

A well substantiated rumor that made its appearance yesterday in local insurance circles is to the effect that Benjamin R. Stillman, secretary of the National Fire Insurance Company, will retire from active insurance work on Monday, the first day of the sixty-first year of his life. His health has been impaired during the past few years, and rumor has it that it was the advice of his physicians that he take a rest that has made him decide to tender his resignation to the company he has served so faithfully since March, 1891—twenty-one years ago.

Mr. Stillman has been secretary of the National Fire Insurance Company since January, 1900, a little over eleven years after he had entered the company as assistant secretary. He has been prominently identified with the success that the company has experienced during the last twenty years and a good part of the credit for the reputation for fairness and a solid foundation that the National Fire Insurance Company has built up during that period deservedly belongs to him. He has worked always in perfect accord with the policy of the company and his brother officers will indeed regret his decision to retire from business, if the rumor of his resignation proves to be correct.

Mr. Stillman was born in Adams, N. Y., March 31, 1852. He is therefore just 60 years old tomorrow. He was graduated from the Oswego (N. Y.) High School in 1868, entering the employ of Mollison & Hastings, shippers, flour merchants and insurance agents, immediately upon graduation. He received an interest in the firm after three years. In 1875 he formed a partnership of his own, the firm going under the name of Shepard & Stillman. In 1877 he became a special agent for the Watertown Fire Insurance Company and five years later, in 1882, he accepted the position of assistant general agent of the Sun Insurance Company, holding that office until 1883, when he was appointed general agent of the Springfield Fire & Marine Insurance Company. In 1889 he was president of the New England Insurance Exchange and in 1891 he came to the National Fire Insurance Company in this city as assistant secretary.

It is understood that the board of directors of the company will meet at the offices on Pearl street on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and that Mr. Stillman will present his resignation at that time. No announcements have

NEW OFFICERS OF NATIONAL FIRE

April 4, 1912.

GEORGE H. TRYON SUCCEEDS
SECRETARY STILLMAN.

Fred B. Seymour Chosen First Treasurer of Company.

as caused by falling

28-111
DIRECTOR

S. S. LANGDON NEW AS-
TANT SECRETARY.

Fire Names Assistant Treasurer.

Frederick has been made asreasurer of the National Fire
e Company. He was for ars secretary of the Under-Association of New York
d has had other experience
ing in the fire insurance busi-
The "Journal of Commerce"
him: "His ability as an office and systematizer will be very
to the National of Hartford."

bles its Stock,

BENJAMIN R. STILLMAN.

Secretary National Fire Insurance Company, Who Will Retire.

as to the board
vacancies caused Charles H. Briscoe
gn. The other dire-elected, as fol-
Maxwell, Lucius A.
S. James, H. A.
Cheney, George H.
F. Small, Edwin Y.
Buck, and George

ent Tryon said to-day
mpany had enjoyed a ear's business. The anent, he added, would be approved within a few

*He died
Nov. 1912*

WISE, SMITH & CO.
MAKE BIG PURCHASE
ON PRATT STREET

Old Way House on Pratt Street
Bought by Wise, Smith & Co.

joins the property formerly known as the Samuel Childs property, also owned by Wise, Smith & Co., giving this firm a total property frontage on Pratt street of seventy-three feet, running from the east end of the former Childs property west to the walk leading to the entrance of Unity Church. When asked what the price paid for the property just acquired, Mr. Wise, who represented his firm in the transaction, declined to say, but it is thought to have been in the neighborhood of $1,800 a front foot, which would make the purchase price close to $100,000.

This is the sixth piece of adjoin-

ris!

A LOVESOME THING," AS THIS VIEW OF THE SUNKEN GARDEN SHOWS

Dr Williams' Home

"Ce
Com
And
Com
V
been Geo
ful
of P AV
the rou
beg flow into gar hot ora
afte
Han
thei doo beth
com
hear

F yard aver
only ose
of a B
a p tee
pr
a f

PREPAR
T ASTUM
TO New Struc
Date
IS
opie
n pic
Jep
MO
are in d with phenom
ay poss
temp
mon
de to up ABLE TENS
FROM

PREPARING FOR THE HOTEL BOND

ASYLUM STREET BUILDINGS TO BE RAZED.

How Structure Will Be Up To Date in All Details.

floor and can be reached by a separate entrance from the street or from the main lobby. There will also be a private passage from the parlor to the office so that ladies can reach the office without passing through the lobby. This is featured quite prominently in the plan. The lobby is 35 by 35 feet.

An ell adjoining the first floor at the extreme rear, 46 by 35 feet, will be set apart for the kitchen. This department will be built of tile and concrete and will contain no woodwork. Particular attention has been paid to its lighting, which will be by skylight and windows. Stairways and elevators, front and rear, connect with corridors on all floors, affording ample means of egress. The building will be as nearly fireproof as modern construction can make it. It will be con-

Previous Ownership.

The early records show that the buildings or at least one of them was built by William Edwards in 1837. Edwards was a joiner. He bought the land, which has a fifty-one foot frontage and is 185 feet deep, from Joseph B. Gilbert in 1837. In the following year Gilbert released to Edwards the right he had on the property by mortgage and in his deed of release mentioned the "brick building standing thereon, lately erected by said William Edwards." In the same year Ezra Strong released his mortgage on the property and Caleb Pond released his mortgage. The release of Ezra Strong mentions the "house thereon standing."

Charles G. Arnold of West Hartford bought the property in 1853 and it remained in his family until recently. He bought it of Charles H. Brainard, who bought it of Edwards in 1842. Brainard was a coppersmith on Main street and had a stove business. Mr. Arnold had a meat market at No. 134 Asylum street, where the Popular Restaurant is, for many years. The firm became Arnold & McKeown. When Mr. Arnold died in 1865 his will gave the Asylum street property to his daughter, Mary Elizabeth, who married Major James P. Allen. Mr. Arnold paid $5,000 for the property in 1853. When it was inventoried after his death the value was $15,000. This would look as if the large warehouse in the rear was built during his ownership and that it was the brick dwelling house which Edwards built in 1837. There was a market on the premises at the time of Mr. Arnold's death.

Major James P. Allen was in possession at No. 328 Asylum street and he remained there with his carriage business until 1893, when he became the proprietor of the United States Hotel and Club stables. Major Allen was agent for the Brockett & Tuttle carriages, and the warehouse was filled with a fine line of carriages. He represented also the Boston Buckboard & Carriage Company, and the H. H. Babcock Buggy Company. According to some of the old time Asylum street people, the Adams Express Company occupied the first two floors of the building at one time and there was a joiner shop on the upper floors.

$7.98

deep sailor collar with deep roll front trimmed with contrasting colors. Cuffs to match. Equal quality would cost $8.98 elsewhere. Our special price $6.98.

Testimony Continues in the Suit of $5,000 DAMAGE SUIT
DEFENSE REACHED IN

Defense Reached In
$5,000 Damage Suit

Coats for Sizes up

h & c

Junior $9.98 Coats at Choice of fancy
length coats, deep
fancy stripe bed
buttons, regular Junior $10.98
Handsome long fancy trimmed d
back, with trim $10.98. Here at

cord and heavy
ed effect, of con-
kets to match
stores would ask
e $11.98.
$13.98
icy scarves, large with deep roll, in-
and button trim-
wo plaits in back
here at $13.98.

Typewriter
Sold in Hartford
$1

E. J. Brow
Jeweler and Optician
214 Asylum St. By the Big

Kryptoks are made to fit
near and far vision requi
ments of any individual.
They are light solid len
without the objectionable commonly associated with focal glasses. Step in and us demonstrate.

Kryptok Lens

The Stackpole-
Moore-Tryon
Cor. Asylum and Trumbull St.

LY COURANT, THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1912.

BUILDINGS ON SITE OF HOTEL BOND.

Tuesday,

FIFTY-FOUR

For two weeks Dr. Meyer Elkin, who will be vice as rabbi of Beth Israel, was of that 1

Dr. Elkin, in Hartford, for those righteousness of this corner which have better city.

For fifty years he has been a rabbi when well-ward for his him many of the cordial occasion demands.

Rev. Dr. Meyer Elkin.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

A HARTFORD RABBI DR. MEYER ELKIN HAS LONG TERM IN HARTFORD.

Is to Become Rabbi Emeritus of Congregation Beth Israel.

April 4, 1887, Rabbi Meyer Elkin was settled in this city as rabbi of the Congregation Beth Israel. April 1 of this year, he retires on a pension granted by the congregation, and becomes rabbi emeritus of the congregation, thus marking the passage of one of the last long-term ministers of the city. In recognition of these facts, and in order that the members of the congregation might show in some slight degree their deep affection for Rabbi Elkin, who in his long pastorate has become almost a father to every member of the congregation, a reception was given to him and Mrs. Elkin, following the regular service at the synagogue last evening.

As it was known that it was to be Rabbi Elkin's last appearance as rabbi, the temple was well filled with the members of the congregation long before the service began. Dr. Elkin took for his topic "The Relation of the Pew To the Pulpit and of the Pulpit To the Pew." He spoke most feelingly of his long and pleasant relations with his congregation, of the great peace that had blessed both him and the congregation during the past twenty-five years, and of the necessity of the members of the congregation and the rabbi being bound closely together. At the conclusion of his sermon, he turned to Rabbi Harry W. Ettelson, who is to take over the congregation, and in a most heartfelt manner gave his farewell charge to his successor, and his rabbinical blessing to him. Special

RABBI ETTLESON SECURES DEGREE.

JUNE 15, 1916. Yale Honors for Talented Head of Temple Beth Israel.

Special Work in Semitic Languages Makes Him Doctor of Philosophy.

The Rev. Harry W. Ettelson of Temple Beth Israel received official notification, Wednesday morning, from Yale that he had received the degree of doctor of philosophy. The Rev. Dr. Ettelson has been receiving the congratulations of his many friends since they heard of his new success.

Rabbi Ettelson has had a brilliant scholastic career during which he has been awarded medals and special scholarships. He received

At the conclusion of the service... Elkin... where... rated... plants... children... place... other... took... Elkin... the... g the... ent of... of the... gave... reso-... regret... in re-... were... pres-... on all... greet... Re-... officers... Haas.

amin L. Lyon, Miss Elkin.

REACHERS
STORS EMERITUS.
—1912
Dr. Edwin P. Parker
H. Twichell, on June fourth This Year.

will be unusual in Hartford because of witnesses the retire- of its most eminent ritual guides and the them by their loved regations of the hon- meritus. The first to ev. Dr. John T. Hunt- or many years of St. who became rector ry 1. Dr. Huntington -three years.

ged preachers of the work to younger s. Reference is made the TIMES to-day of the Rev. Dr. Parker, for fifty-two the South Congrega- The Rev. Dr. Meyer -ty-five years rabbi of eth Israel in this city a rabbi and teacher of his race, also retired well to his people was tion tendered him and the temple Friday minister to retire will be H. Twichell, whose received by the Asy- regational church, to take effect June 1, pastor of that church dization forty-six years

ree congregations have successors to their re- but the Asylum in Liver- country to ngregation There he on took his married in for her health. Two years later they went to ries Soap, 3 cakes in me Soap, 3 cakes in scented, 11c. cake.

ap 10c.
OAPS.
Face Powders 50c.
Powder 50c.
ace Powder 50c.
EXUMS.
draving Stick 19c.
erbers' Bar 30c. lb., 6
aving Cream, stick or
aving Cream, stick or
OAPS and CREAMS.
wder 15c., 24c.
Germany, to Denver, Col., for her health. Two years later they went to 35 regular with ti

laces,
even in Cre
Hounce
trimme
Whi
$3.00
ribbon seriton
trimme
and na
fresh ar
AT $1.29.
medall
pure et

Th
Mr.
Main num
order
and t
1-purch
2-purch

A Candidate to Preach Here on Sunday, January 14.

the committee of the South Con-

Rev. Irving H. Berg.

appointed to Rev. Dr. E. a good many er of preach- ty the mem- vent to New rd Rev. Irv- the 'First i of Catskill, that city that pleased with him to come to the con- do on Sun- has not been n as a recog- g is a gradu- ological Sem- ends in Hart-to take effect y 11, which two years, but will serve as ires, at which time the church year ends.

REV. H. BERG EXPECTED TO ACCEPT HARTFORD CALL

Feb 3 - 1912
Career of Probable Successor of Rev. Dr. E. P. Parker.

Rev. Irving Husted Berg, who is expected to succeed Rev. Dr. Edwin P. Parker as pastor of the South Congregational Church, his acceptance of the call being now regarded as certain, is a young man, being still under 35. He was born at Rocky Hill, N. J., in 1878, the son of Rev. Dr. Herman C. Berg and Estelle Campbell Berg, and entered Lafayette College in 1897, being graduated in 1901, with the degree of A. B. He then came to Hartford as a theological student and was graduated in 1904 from the Hartford Theological Seminary with the degree of B. D. On October 25 of the same year he married Miss Bessie Humphrey Arthur of Brooklyn, N. Y. His first pastorate was of the North Reformed Church of Watervliet, N. Y., where he remained from 1904 to 1906, when he became pastor of the First Reformed Church of Catskill, N. Y., a place which he still holds.

Mr. Berg has been a member of the board of domestic missions of the Reformed Church in America since 1905 and vice-president and ex-officio member of the executive committee since 1909. He was secretary of the religious education commission of the Reformed Church in America for 1910-11.

MR. BERG ACCEPTS.

Will Become Pastor of the South Congregational Church in April.

The Rev. Irving Husted Berg of Catskill, N. Y., has sent a formal letter to the pulpit committee of the South Congregational church, accepting the call to the pastorate of that church, and Mr. Berg suggests that he begin his ministry here the early part of April.

Evansville, Ind., where Mrs. Elkin died in 1884. Subsequently Rabbi Elkin married Miss Adelia Ancker, a school teachers of a Portuguese Jewish family, and they came to Hartford, where he was settled as rabbi of Congregation Beth Israel April 4, 1887. By his first wife Rabbi Elkin has three children living, Max Elkin, a Philadelphia merchant, Hyman Elkin, a rabbi at Alexandria, La., and Mrs. Jennie Tusch of Philadelphia. One daughter has been born to his second wife, Miss Augusta Evelyn Elkin, who lives at the family home, No. 36 Windsor avenue.

Dr. Elkin has been unusually successful in his pastorate. He is recognized by his congregation and by other clergymen in the city and throughout the state as a scholarly preacher, a student, liberal in his theology and of broad democratic views. He is charitably inclined, public spirited, genial and witty and although of foreign birth, no American citizen excels him in his genuine patriotism and love for the land of his adoption. He has decided literary ability, writing largely on theological subjects for the "Jewish Messenger." He is a member of the Get-Together Club and of the Har Mona Lodge of B'Nai B'rith of Philadelphia.

Miss Elkin to Wed Mr. Dorenbaum—

Miss Ruess and Mr. Day to Marry—

Fraser-Kearns Nuptials.

April 17, 1912

Miss Augusta Elkin, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Meyer Elkin of No. 149 Windsor avenue, and William Dorenbaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dorenbaum of No. 25 Winthrop street, will be married this evening at 7:30 at the Synagogue Beth Israel on Charter Oak avenue. The Rev. Dr. Elkin recently became rabbi emeritus of the congregation after serving it faithfully as its spiritual guide and teacher for a quarter of a century.

The ceremony will be performed by the father of the bride, and he will be assisted by Rabbi Harry W. Ettelson, of the congregation, who arrived this morning from Baltimore, where he had been attending the conference of American rabbis, for the especial purpose of officiating at the marriage. The altar will be banked with palms and white carnations. Arthur Priest, organist of the synagogue, will play the wedding march. The bride will be given away by her father.

The bride will be attired in duchess satin trimmed with real duchess lace and will carry a bouquet of white sweet peas. The maid of honor, Miss Blanche Gustafor, will wear pink mes-saline. She will carry a bouquet of pink sweet peas. A brother of the bridegroom, I. Dorenbaum, will be the best man.

Many beautiful and useful wedding presents have been received at the home of Rabbi Elkin for the young couple. The members of the congregation have taken this opportunity to show their esteem for the bride and their love for her parents.

After the ceremony the couple will leave for a short wedding trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City. On their return they will reside at the home of the bride's parents.

Both young people were born and brought up in Hartford. Mr. Dorenbaum is a Hartford High school boy and a graduate of the Sheffield Scientific school at Yale. Miss Elkin is a graduate of the Hartford High school and an accomplished musician. Mr. Dorenbaum is at present engaged as a civil engineer on the Nepaug water project.

10216

Mr Berg's first sermon
as Pastor April 7, 1912
Easter
Installation Nov 15, 1912.

MR. BERG A D. D.

OCTOBER 31, 1916.

Lafayette College Confers Honorary
Degree on South Church Pastor
and First Infantry Chaplain.

The pastor of the South Congregational church and chaplain of the First Connecticut infantry, the Rev. Irving H. Berg, is now privileged to write D. D. after his name. Lafayette college, his alma mater, at Easton, Penn., conferred the honor last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Berg motored to Brooklyn, N. Y., last week, Monday, and spent two days visiting Mrs. Berg's father. On Wednesday they went to Easton and participated in Founders' day exercises, an annual feature at Lafayette. It was during these exercises that the degree of doctor of divinity was given Mr. Berg. He is a graduate of Lafayette, class of 1901.

MR. BERG WILL PREACH.

His First Sermon as Pastor of South Church to Be Delivered Easter Sunday.

The Rev. Irving H. Berg of Catskill, N. Y., who will succeed the Rev. Dr. Edwin Pond Parker as pastor of the South Congregational church on April 1, will preach his sermon on Easter Sunday, April 7. Announcement to this effect was made at the annual meeting of the Second Ecclesiastical society of Hartford, Monday night, in the chapel of the South church.

General Henry C. Dwight was chairman and J. F. Morris was clerk. Chairman M. S. Little of the society's committee read the annual report, which showed the society free from debt, and a substantial balance in the treasury. Treasurer Charles D. Riley gave his report and the trustees of the Stanley fund, George F. Hills, General Dwight and William Waldo Hyde, gave their report. All were accepted.

Members of the society's committees were re-elected as follows: M. S. Little, Horace B. Clark, James H. Bidwell, George H. Sage and M. G. Bulkeley, jr. Dr. E. L. Lawton and Clarence H. Wickham were elected auditors and Charles D. Riley was chosen for another term as treasurer. The seating committee was chosen to consist of E. A. Giddings, L. C. Dewing, W. G. Dudley, E. P. Parker, 2d, B. E. Whitney, F. B. Farnsworth and Robert Collins. J. D. Candee was elected a member of the society.

GIVES COMMITTEE

POWER TO SELL HOUSE

May 1912
Second Church Committee Gets Formal Sanction of Society.

A meeting of the Second Ecclesiastical Society was held last evening in the chapel of the church, and it was voted to sell at private sale the present parsonage at No. 47 Buckingham street, and to authorize the committee to buy the property at No. 85 Washington street, owned by the estate of Colonel William Donahue. The committee of the society, consisting of Mitchell S. Little, Morgan G. Bulkeley, jr., Horace B. Clark, James H. Bidwell and George H. Sage, was empowered to execute the deeds for both the sale of the old property and for the purchase of the new. It is said that a purchaser has already been found for the Buckingham street property, but the sale has not been actually made, because the committee lacked the power to execute the deed. Rev. Irving H. Berg, the pastor of the church, has already moved into the new parsonage.

May Sales of Real Estate 1912

W. J. Pierce has sold to the Second Ecclesiastical society of Hartford property on the west side of and known as No. 85

FOR INSTALLATION OF

REV. IRVING H. BERG.

The South Congregational Church and the Second Ecclesiastical Society each held a meeting at the church last night and appointed a joint committee consisting of three from each organization to take charge of the installation of Rev. Irving H. Berg on November 15. The church committee consists of George F. Hills, Henry C. Dwight and Charles M. Joslyn. The society committee consists of Mitchell S. Little, Horace B. Clark and Morgan G. Bulkeley, jr.

rabbinical blessing to be rendered during the ser-

SOUTH CHURCH GIVES RECEPTION FOR PASTOR
May 8 - 1912
Many Present To Meet Rev. Irving
Berg and Mrs. Berg.

THOMAS GREEN

BRIGHT SKIES,

PRINTER

117

Second Church of Christ in Hartford
(South Congregational)
MAIN, CORNER BUCKINGHAM

INSTALLATION OF Reverend Irving Husted Berg
AS PASTOR OF THE

Second Church of Christ in Hartford--Sn. Congregational NOVEMBER FIFTEENTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED and TWELVE
at SEVEN THIRTY P. M.

December 1917
Se Lane

The gladdest of glad Risen with Christ—as (The poem with wh
sermon closes is orig
The risen Lord adoring
Glad homage bring
To Christ the King
His mercy sweet imp
Go forth with songs
Bow down and worshi
With allelulias loud
a florist's place Satur
it was to get to the ba
now generally known
the department store
linery stores, their d
imagined without the larging upon them he
The coming Sunday
at the parks, but y
day for the ordinary visit them. Of course that day;

work was the Connecticut
er in America
under the town. The bears the 29, 1764, and
sweet. ue encourage Monday,
19th of No-
other places
caves. As to spectus, which written by describing the ant," and the
of the early
that the best
se early years
udge Jedidiah
the subscri
orical Socie

BY LI-
C. BATES.
1912
ter" was the
by Librarian
the Connecti-
its meeting
very complete
Thomas Green,
necticut Cour-
764. Thomas printers, his
the second
He was born
5, 1735. From
New Haven
me of Parker
ce." He was
aper editor,
cut Gazette,"
wspaper and
in Connecti-
e was that of
as done by

f 1764 Green
etermined to his own. He had two chil-
was establish-
own name "at ar the North
he was on Main
re--south corner
s now stands
ted upstairs
e. ch may have
news center.
Boston called
here printing
probably from
and idea of having
and The device on
y numbers of
ie. at," was prob-
e. gn.

oved to "the
ayer, arch, opposite
t door to Mr.
as where the
d. In Decem-
s; moved to a
the purpose
as the Main ark River was ained for 1916

MR. BERG WILL PREACH.
His First Sermon as Pastor of South
Church to Be Delivered Easter Sunday.

Mr Berg's fir.
as Pastor of Easter
Installation

Order of Service

Organ Prelude	Selected
Reading of the Minutes of the Council
Invocation	Prof. Edwin Knox Mitchell, D. D.
Scripture Lesson	Rev. Herman C. Berg, D. D.
Hymn 329 "The Church's one foundation"
Sermon	Pres. Wm. D. Mackenzie, D. D., L. L. D.
Prayer of Installation	Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, L. L. D.

MR. BERG A D. D.

OCTOBER 31, 1916.

Lafayette College Confers Honor
Degree on South Church Pastor
and First Infantry Chaplain.

The pastor of the South Congregational church and chaplain of the First Connecticut infantry, the Rev. Irving H. Berg, is now privileged to write D. D. after his name. Lafayette college, his alma mater, at Easton, Penn., conferred the honor last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Berg motored to Brooklyn, N. Y., last week, Monday, and spent two days visiting Mrs. Berg's father. On Wednesday they went to Easton and participated in Founders' day exercises, an annual feature at Lafayette. It was during these exercises that the degree of doctor of divinity was given Mr. Berg. He is a graduate of Lafayette, class of 1901.

church, has already moved into the new parsonage.

May Sales of Real Estate 1912
W. J. Pierce has sold to the Second Ecclesiastical society of Hartford property on the west side of and known as No. 85
FOR INSTALLATION OF
REV. IRVING H. BERG.

The South Congregational Church and the Second Ecclesiastical Society each held a meeting at the church last night and appointed a joint committee consisting of three from each organization to take charge of the installation of Rev. Irving H. Berg on November 15. The church committee consists of George F. Hills, Henry C. Dwight and Charles M. Joslyn. The society committee consists of Mitchell S. Little, Horace B. Clark and Morgan G. Bulkeley, jr.

SOUTH CHURCH GIVES
RECEPTION FOR PASTOR
May 3, 1912
Many Present To Meet Rev. Irving
Berg and Mrs. Berg.

THOMAS GREEN

BRIGHT SKIES,

PRINTER

117

Order of Service

Anthem "How lovely upon the mountains" Gounod

Charge to the Pastor Rev. John Brownlee Voorhees

Right Hand of Fellowship Rev. R. H. Potter, D. D.

Charge to the People
Rev. Edwin Pond Parker, D. D., L. L. D.

Hymn 213 "O! Could I speak the matchless worth"

Benediction Rev. Irving Husted Berg

Organ Postlude Selected

Rose from his knee
The gladdest of glad souls,
Risen with Christ—as he was (The poem with which Dr.
sermon closes is original.)

The risen Lord adoring;
Glad homage bring
To Christ the King.
His mercy sweet imploring.
Go forth with songs your Lord
Bow down and worship at His
With allelulias loud and swe

a florist's place Saturday after it was to get to the bar in oth
now generally known as cafe
the department stores and linery stores, their condition imagined without the troubl
larging upon them here.

The coming Sundays will se at the parks, but yesterday
day for the ordinary nature visit them. Of course the pa

CH BY LI
C. BATES.
1912
ter" was the
by Librarian
the Connecti-
t its meeting
ery complete
Thomas Green,
necticut Cour-764. Thomas
printers, his
the second
He was born
5, 1735. From
New Haven
me of Parker
ce." He was
aper editor,
cut Gazette,"
wspaper and
in Connecti-
e was that of
as done by

f 1764 Green
termed to his own. He had two chil-
was establish-
own name "at
ar the North
he was on Main
re-south corner
s now stands
ted upstairs
ch may have
news center.
Boston called
here printing
robably from dea of having
The device on
y numbers of
at," was prob-
gn.

oved to "the
yer, arch, opposite
t door to Mr.
as where the
d. In Decem-
s moved to a
the purpose
say! as the Main arker's ark River was remained for

work was the Connecticut
er in America
under the
town. The greet," bears the t, 29, 1764, and
ue encourage-
on in every Monday.
on as the 19th of No-places"
As to spectus, which mil- written by n belescribing the en-ant," and the
of the early
people that the best
s nose early years
er to Judge Jedidiah
went the subscrip-
the Historical Society

1916

Mr Berg's for
as Pastor &
Easter
Installation

MR. BERG WILL PREACH

His First Sermon as Pastor of South
Church to Be Delivered Easter Sunday.

The Church

Deacons: Geo. F. Hills, Henry C. Dwight, Charles L. Ames, Charles L. Goodwin, Huntington P. Meech, Howard C. Hayden, Leonard S. Harris.

The Committee: (with the Deacons) Charles H. Northam, John T. Robinson, James H. Knight, Franklin L. Lawton, Charles H. Clark,
Arthur L. Shipman

Clerk: Olin H. Clark, 254 North Oxford. 'Phone Eliz. 340

Treasurer: Merrick W. Chapin

The Society

Chairman of Committee: Mitchell S. Little Horace B. Clark. James H. Bidwell, George H. Sage, Morgan G. Bulkeley, Jr.,

Clerk: John F. Morris, 1 Fenway, Eliz. 307-3

Treasurer: Chas D. Riley

The Choir

John M. Gallup, Organist and Choir Director

Soprano. Miss Josephine Simpson,

Alto, Miss Margaret A McReynolds

Tenor, C. H. Cooley, Jr.

Baritone, Charles L. Tolles

Basso, Herbert S. Bullard

Regular Appointments

Sunday—Morning Worship 10:45 Sunday School 12:00

Thursday—Prayer Meeting 8:00

Communion:—The first Sunday morning in January, March, May, July, September and November, and also on the evening of Thursday in Holy Week.

Preparatory Service—Thursdays preceding Communion

Committee Meetings—The second Tuesday of the month (except July and August)
at 4:30 in the State Bank

Annual Meeting of the Church in January

MR. BERG A D. D.

OCTOBER 31, 1916.

Lafayette College Confers Honor

Degree on South Church Pa-
and First Infantry Chaplain.

The pastor of the South Congregational church and chaplain of the First Connecticut Infantry, the Rev.
Irving H. Berg, is now privileged to write D. D. after his name. Lafayette college, his alma mater, at Easton, Penn., conferred the honor last week.

Dr. and Mrs. Berg motored to Brooklyn, N. Y., last week, Monday, and spent two days visiting Mrs.
Berg's father. On Wednesday they went to Easton and participated in Founders' day exercises, an annual feature at Lafayette. It was during these exercises that the degree of doctor of divinity was given Mr. Berg.
He is a graduate of Lafayette, class
of 1901.

church, has already moved into the new parsonage.

May Sales of Real Estate 1912
W. J. Pierce has sold to the Second Ecclesiastical society of Hartford property on the west side of and known as No. 85
FOR INSTALLATION OF
REV. IRVING H. BERG.

The South Congregational Church
and the Second Ecclesiastical Society
each held a meeting at the church last night and appointed a joint committee consisting of three from each organization to take charge of the installation of Rev. Irving H. Berg on November 15. The church committee consists of George F. Hills, Henry C.
Dwight and Charles M. Joslyn. The society committee consists of Mitchell S.
Little, Horace B. Clark and Morgan G.
Bulkeley, jr.

SOUTH CHURCH GIVES RECEPTION FOR PASTOR

May 3, 1912
Many Present To Meet Rev. Irving
Berg and Mrs. Berg.

A large number of the membe
and friends of the South Congreg
tional Church attended the rece
tion given in the church parlors la evening for the new pastor, Rev. Ir ing H. Berg, and Mrs. Berg. This w
the first reception in the church sin
Mr. Berg became its pastor, and ma of the Congregationalist clergymen
the city, embraced the opportunity meet him. The church parlors we prettily decorated with roses an palms, Mr. and Mrs. Berg receiving front of a bank of palms.

Those who assisted in receiv
were Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Mr.
George F. Hills, Mrs. Edwin H. Bin
ham, Mrs. L. H. Dewing, Mrs. Geor
H. Little, Mrs. L. S. Harris and Mr.
George H. Sage. Those who poure were Mrs. Edwin Pond Parker an Mrs. Morgan G. Bulkeley. Th
frappe table was in charge of Mr.
John M. Parker, jr., Miss Carrie Hill
Miss Marjorie Stillman, Miss Hele
Graves, Miss Daisy Best and Mis
Alice Phillips.

OCTOBER 12, 1912.

Twins were born yesterday to Re
Irving H. Berg, pastor of the Sou
Congregational Church, and Mrs. Ber

MARCH 24, 1913.

Baptismal Service.

Arthur Campbell Berg and Fre
erick Vanderveer Berg, twin sons
the Rev. Irving H. Berg, the past of the church, and Mrs. Berg, we baptized by Dr. Parker, pastor eme
tus of the church, at a baptismal se vice in the afternoon. The baptism bowl used during the ceremony w
that used by Mr. Berg's great-gran father for fifty-seven years for sim
lar purposes, in the Reformed churc
in eastern Pennsylvania.

A message of regret was receive from the Rev. Irving G. H. Berg
pastor of the South Congregationa church, a member of the board of directors. Mr. and Mrs. Berg ar in New York, celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary.

OCTOBER 27, 1914.

THOMAS GREEN

BRIGHT SKIES, BUT COLD WIND

MARCH 24, 1913.

The men and women who had new togs for Easter had a chance to wear them yesterday without fear of rain
but, at the same time, they were ex posed to a searching wind, which had a suggestion of Easter chant it and

AN EASTER CAROL. By Edwin P. Parker.

(Dedicated in love to the people of the Second Church of Christ in Hartford
by their former pastor and distribut ed at the Easter morning service at
the church.)

Ere yet the gray
Of Easter day
Had tinged the night of weeping
With eager heed
The women speed

Where their dear Lord is sleeping.
In illustration of all this most prac tical part of the Easter message, let me tell you an old story which may linger with you when other words are forgotten.

Long time ago and far away,
One Easter morn, at break of day,
Friar Francisco, strolling round
The monastery garden, found,
Among the rose-leaves at his feet
A clod of earth, surpassing sweet.
Amazed to find a common bit
Of sod so sweet, he questioned it:—
"Whence, then, or how hast thou," he cried,
Such fragrance?" And the clod re plied:—
"I was a piece of common clay
Untill God willed that where I lay,
A lovely rose should bud and bloom.
I breathed and drank in its perfume.
If any fragrance I disclose
It is the sweetness of his rose."

Francisco meekly bowed his head
And mused awhile; then knelt and said:—
"O Thou whose love embraces all Thy works and creatures, great and small,

I am the clod, the Rose is He
Who loved and gave himself for me.
By that immortal Flower of thine
Breathe on this barren soul of mine,
Bestow its fragrance upon me,
The fragrance of its purity.
Nor vain that humble, fervent prayer,
For, wafted on the morning air,
Came mingled music, minster bell,
Then joyous choirs and organ's swell.
Francisco raised, in glad surprise,
A radiant face and streaming eyes;
Rose from his knees and went his way,
The gladdest of glad souls, that day;
Risen with Christ—as he would say!

(The poem with which Dr. Parker's sermon closes is original.)

The risen Lord adoring;
Glad homage bring
To Christ the King,
His mercy sweet imploring.
Go forth with songs your Lord to greet,
Bow down and worship at His feet,
With alleluias loud and sweet.

Attention in a florist's place Saturday afternoon as it was to get to the bar in other places now generally known as cafes. As to the department stores and the mil linery stores, their condition can be imagined without the trouble of en
larging upon them here.

The coming Sundays will see people at the parks, but yesterday was no day for the ordinary nature lover to visit them. Of course the parks went

PRINTER

BY LI
C. BATES.

1912

ater" was the
by Librarian
the Connecti
t its meeting
ery complete
omas Green,
ecticut Cour 764. Thomas
printers, his
the second
He was born
5, 1735. From
New Haven
me of Parker
ce." He was
aper editor,
cut Gazette,"
wspaper and
in Connecti
e was that of
as done by

f 1764 Green
terminated to
his own. He had two chil
was establish
own name "at
ar the North
was on Main south corner
now stands
ted upstairs
ch may have
news center.
Boston called
here printing
robably from
dea of having
The device on
y numbers of
t," was prob
gn.

moved to "the arch, opposit
ct door to Mr.
as where the
d. In Decem
s moved to a
the purpose
as the Main
rk River was emained for

work was the Connecticut
er in America
under the town. The bears the 29, 1764, and
ue encourage

Monday,
e 19th of No
spectus, which
written by describing the
ant," and the
of the early
that the best
se early years
udge Jedidiah
the subscri

Easter March 20, 1913.

Season 1917

Se Lane

"The posts," bringing letters and papers from the outer world reached Hartford once a week, on Saturday, one from New York and one from Boston. They were accustomed to "wind their horns" at the post office upon their arrival and half an hour before their departure. The postmaster was instructed to deliver on the following to persons living in the "Pacquets" not received at the posts were annoyance of had to postpo post rider deli papers in the Green's plac eral bureau o books, from Iticut man and still a Connecticut man Dutch quills ink stands, sp summer home at Highland Lake, Win- paper. At on rags for the u sted, and he has recently bought a Manufactory. farm of 180 acres a few miles away umn was busy, and it is at this farm that the clergy- Mr. Bates ga man is using the manual labor meth- pense account of getting into shape for his next living in Gre season's work as rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, New York, the the bad cond of the cricket

In 1786 Ge entered Gree that Green small, but th pail of water hlm. He wa practically al to work for ownership pa 1836.

Ebenezer V hem in 1744, married Eliza ard Seymour, into partners year, and a Haven Wat proprietor in Samuel Gr was getting probably wi and in 1767 necticut Jour Boy," which College." T most of his October, 176 perhaps dur residence he the present street. He Samuel Gilb ly expressed received in Paper mil The Norwic first, the sec and Goodw Courant," at present tow from just t of the Revo established t by Thomas West River.

Thomas G and Ezra St College, said opposed the ford. The n press decreas Revolution. catalogues, e ing in his d Haven (Tho and unoblige Reason of se death of San his own son with him and the name. T 1809, when 74 years old,

REV. KARL REILAND IS WOODWORKER

New York Rector Spending Vacation at Manual Labor.

Rev. Karl Reiland, once a Connecticut man and still a Connecticut man summers, is sawing wood. He has a summer home at Highland Lake, Win- sted, and he has recently bought a farm of 180 acres a few miles away and it is at this farm that the clergy- man is using the manual labor meth- od of getting into shape for his next season's work as rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, New York, the

RECTOR SAWS WOOD

Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, of Biggest Protestant Episcopal Church in America, Building Log House.

(New York Herald.)

Instead of going to Europe or seeking other recreation in vacation time, the Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's Episcopal church, Stuyvesant square and East Sixteenth street, is sawing wood. There is nothing figurative about the activities of Dr. Reiland. He is doing the real thing to make muscle and gain strength to manage what is said to be the largest Protestant Episcopal church under one rector in the United States, which is St. George's.

Every week day finds Dr. Reiland out in the forest a few miles from his summer home, at Winsted, Conn., dressed in a lumberman's suit, axe and saw in hand, sleeves rolled up, and "on the job." Hours after hour he chops and saws great logs of cedar, fir, spruce, hemlock or pine trees.

St. George's rector has bought a farm of 180 acres several miles from Winsted, and he is now building a log house there. Meanwhile, he and his wife and little daughter, Virginia, stay at their Winsted home.

Dr. Reiland was in town for a day this week to look at suggested designs for the pulpit which the parish is erecting in memory of J. Pierpont Morgan, who for more than forty years was a vestryman.

1812. He was "a gentleman of peculiar suavity of manners, great benevolence, and universally esteemed; every house in New Haven was to him a home." He married Desire Sanford in New Haven, September 30, 1761. He married three times, his third wife being Abigail Miles.

A collection of Green's imprints was shown in connection with the reading of the paper.

GRACE CHURCH'S RECTOR.

Dr. Reiland Leaves April 15, But Successor of Dr. Huntington Not Named.

New York, March 16.—Grace church's acting rector since the death of Dr. Huntington, the Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, enters upon the duties of rector of St. Andrew's Memorial Episcopal church, of Yonkers, on April 15.

"Until that time," said Dr. Reiland yesterday, "I am in charge at Grace church. Nobody will know until the vestry meets on the first Thursday in April who is to succeed to Dr. Huntington's position."

Among those tried in the pulpit of Grace church is the Rev. Dr. Gunsaulus, of Chicago. Among parishioners the preference appears to be the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant.

THE REV. KARL REILAND RECTOR OF LARGE PARISH

Former Wethersfield Clergyman Chosen for St. George's Church, New York City—Has Risen Rapidly.

BUILT UP GRACE CHURCH.

The Rev. Karl Reiland, former rector of Trinity church, Wethersfield, has been elected rector of St. George's Episcopal church, Stuyvesant square, New York City, the election to take effect October 1 when the present rector, the Rev. Dr. Hugh Birkhead requires to become rector of Emmanuel church, Baltimore, Md.

5,000 Members.

St. George's parish has a membership exceeding 5,000, said to be the largest Protestant church in the world worshipping in one building. It is said that if Mr. Reiland accepts the rectorship he will be assured of financial changes in the management of the parish and its work.

Mr. Morgan Took Part.

J. Pierpont Morgan took part by cable in the vestry meeting which chose Mr. Reiland. Other members of the vestry are R. Fulton Cutting, Seth Low, John Seeley Ward, Henry W. Munroe, Charles S. Brown, Joseph W. Harriman, William Foulke, Dr. James W. Markoe, William E. Curtis and H. H. Pike.

St. George's church is a daughter of Trinity parish and some years ago when things were at low ebb in this east side church, J. Pierpont Morgan stood behind the Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford, then a young Canadian clergyman, and under his administration, St. George's attained a greatness second to none. Much of the credit is given, however, to the strong vestry, and their financial support.

Dr. Birkhead felt himself unduly reorganizing the to be and there that the former W. S. Rainsford parish work is a town, ought to be George's work was Dr. Rainsford's condition would be ing up the work Mr. Reiland The Rev. Mr. St. Andrew's Episcakers, N. Y., first inence because of his line up the great ereation at Grace and Broadway, New was first associated Dr. William R. B Reiland went from ter a four years' man church. He is brood in view that terprising in his was educated at St. Stephen's college, and Virginia Theological Approved by B Upon the resignation James E. Freeman of Yonkers, and after the Grace church of the L. Slater, Mr. Reiland for Yonkers rector, and came a leader in that also been named on committees of the along social service. Greer is known to have selection for St. George's some objections that St. Andrew's over the him.

MR. REILAND WOULD WILL Become Rector of St. New York October

The Rev. Karl Reiland, Wethersfield, now of Yonkers has accepted the call extend St. George's church of New in the following letter to J. Morgan, R. Fulton Cutting of the parish governing body.

This matter has, as you know, the service residence in Wethersfield, I begin in view with well work and reasonably privileges and responsibilities your invitation, I humbly and accept your invitation and am proud to be a part of the church and do not doubt I shall receive all support, advice and counsel from you and the members and people of St. George's. These assurances have been coming to me from every side. I am glad of good will and hope that you will all help me.

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Birkhead, retiring rector, leaves the church and will go to Baltimore.

Rector Reiland Accepted

Rev. Karl Reiland, former rector of Trinity Church, Wethersfield, has been elected rector of St. George's Episcopal Church in New York City. J. Pierpont Morgan is a vestry member, succeeding Dr. Birkhead. The church is the largest congregation of the Protestant Church in New York City. One of the first steps will be to build a new chapel which will Rector Resigns.

Dr. Birkhead resigned because he felt himself unfitted for the task of reorganizing the work as it now needs to be and there was some sentiment that the former rector, the Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford, now living without parish work in a small Connecticut town, ought to be asked to take up St. George's work again, but letters from Dr. Rainsford stated that his physical condition would not permit of his taking up the work again.

Mr. Reiland's Career.

The Rev. Mr. Reiland, now rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Yonkers, N. Y., first came into wide prominence because of his success in building up the great Sunday night congregation at Grace church, Tenth st. and Broadway, New York, when he was first assistant to the late Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington. Mr. Reiland went from Wethersfield, after a four years' rectorship, to Grace church. He is young, vigorous, broad in views, full of plans, and enterprising in his ecclesiastical work. He was educated at Trinity and St. Stephen's colleges, and at Berkeley and Virginia Theological seminaries.

Approved by Bishop.

Upon the resignation of the Rev. James E. Freeman of St. Andrew's, Yonkers, and after the coming to Grace church of the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Slattery, Mr. Reiland was chosen for Yonkers rectorship, and soon became a leader in that city. He has also been named on some important committees of the diocese, especially along social service lines. Bishop Greer is known to have approved his selection for St. George's, in spite of some objections that were raised by St. Andrew's over the prospect of losing him.

MR. REILAND ACCEPTS.

Will Become Rector of St. George's, New York, October 1.

The Rev. Karl Reiland, formerly of Wethersfield, now of Yonkers, N. Y., has accepted the call extended to him by St. George's church of New York city in the following letter to J. Pierpont Morgan, R. Fulton Cutting and others of the parish governing body:

This matter has, as you know, received the serious consideration it would naturally inspire in one who both loves his present work and reasonably appreciates the privileges and responsibilities involved in your invitation. I humbly and cheerfully accept your invitation and election, according to the terms of your resolutions, and do not doubt I shall receive the cordial support, advice and counsel of the officers and people of St. George's. Indeed these assurances have already been coming to me from every side, with every expression of good will.

God bless you all and help me as I shall deserve.

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Birkhead, the retiring rector, leaves the parish on June 1 and will go abroad on leave.

Rector Reiland Accepts Call.

Rev. Karl Reiland, formerly rector of Trinity Church, Wethersfield, and now in charge of St. Andrew's Church, Yonkers, N. Y., has accepted the call extended to him by St. George's Church in New York, of which J. Pierpont Morgan is a warden. He will take charge of the parish on October 1, succeeding Rev. Dr. Hugh Birkhead. The church is said to have the largest congregation of any Protestant Church worshipping under one roof. One of the first duties which will fall to Rector Reiland will be to assist in the consecration of a new chapel which will cost $100,000.

GOVERNOR ISSUES

FAST DAY PROCLAMATION

119

Governor Simeon E. Baldwin has issued the usual Fast Day proclamation, appointing Friday, April 5, as a day of fasting and prayer. The proclamation is as follows:—

State of Connecticut.
By His Excellency
Simeon E. Baldwin,
Governor.

A Proclamation.

Following the ancient custom of Connecticut, I appoint Friday, the fifth day

STATE OF CONNECTICUT.

By His Excellency
SIMEON E. BALDWIN,
Governor.

A PROCLAMATION.

Pursuant to the statutes of this state, I hereby designate Thursday, the fourth day of April next, to be observed as Arbor and Bird day, and I direct that the proclamation be read in each of our public schools that is in session, and that the teachers explain to their classes how much children can do towards protecting trees and birds from injury, and making the state from year to year still more beautiful and attractive.

I also recommend to all her people that to like end, so far as they have opportunity, they mark the day by planting or trimming some tree in garden or orchard, or in grove, that will be growing while they sleep, and may be for the good of another generation.

Given under my hand and seal of the state, at the capitol in Hartford, on the ninth day of March, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twelve, and of the independence of the United States one hundred and thirty-six.

SIMEON E. BALDWIN.

By His Excellency's Command:
MATTHEW H. ROGERS, Secretary.

HURD-WHITING—In this city, April 4, 1912, by the Rev. Irving Husted Berg, Raymond Russell Hurd and Miss Hazel Eleanor Whiting.

A pretty wedding took place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Blakesley, No. 759 Albany avenue, when Hazel Eleanor Whiting, sister of Mrs. Blakesley, and Raymond Russell Hurd, were united in marriage by the Rev. Irving Husted Berg, the new pastor of the South Congregational church. After a brief trip the couple will reside at No. 140 Adams street. Many handsome gifts were received, among them a dining room set, given by the employees of the Austin Organ company, where Mr. Hurd is employed.

April 4, 1912 Follow-Orgill. 4. 1912

Mrs. Agnes Orgill, widow of the late Adolphus J. Orgill, and Gavin S. Follow were married at 6:30 o'clock last evening at the parsonage of the Memorial Baptist Church. Rev. Dr. H. M. Thompson performing the ceremony. Mr. Follow's children Stuart J., Everett S., Myrtle E. and Guy B. Follow, were present. After the ceremony the bridal party had dinner at Bond's Cafe. Mr. and Mrs. Follow will be at home to their friends at No. 116 Allen Place.

April 8, 1912
Young-Huling.
Charles Young of New York and Mrs. Florence S. Huling, daughter of Major and Mrs. W. G. Simmons, were married at the bride's home, No. 129 Wethersfield avenue, yesterday, the officiating clergyman being Rev. B. F. Gilman of the South Park Methodist Church. After an extended wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Young will live in New York.

April 8, 1912
Beekley-Woodruff.
Waldron Cheney Beekley of Media, Pa., and Miss Jennie Almira Woodruff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

April 8, 1912
BARBER-DUNCAN.
Reception at Home Follows Marriage Service in the Church.

Miss Jessie Mary Duncan of No. 119 Madison avenue, daughter of John Duncan, and Frank Elliott Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Barber, of West Hartford, were married at Christ Church last evening at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. James Goodwin, rector of the church. As a part of the service Miss E. Grace Gilmore sang "O Perfect Love," during the betrothal stage of the ceremony, the bridal music from "Lohengren" was played for the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional, by Arthur Priest, who also played the accompaniment for the wedding song.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was of white crepe de chine over messaline satin with pearl trimmings. It was cut with fishtail train of full length. She wore a bridal veil draped from a cap of duchess lace trimmed with pearls. The veil was caught up with sprays of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Rachel Webster McGavock of Hartford was the maid of honor. She wore yellow crepe de chine over yellow messaline satin, with a lace overjacket. The dress was draped with yellow roses. She wore a picture hat trimmed with yellow and white and carried an arm bouquet of melody roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Lucy Gaffey of Hartford, who wore a dress of baby blue crepe de chine, trimmed with baby Irish lace. She wore a boudoir cap of maline and ribbon. Her bouquet was of pale pink sweetpea blossoms. Owing to serious illness, the other bridesmaid, Miss Christina Hunter of Hartford, a cousin of the bride, was unable to attend the ceremony. The best man was George T. Barber of West Hartford, a brother of the bridegroom. Charles S. Proffitt and Martin W. Morron of Hartford were ushers.

The bridal gifts were beautiful and consisted of cut glass, silver and gold, linen, gifts of art and a host of other valuable remembrances. Following the marriage ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride at No. 119 Madison avenue. Wedding guests came from Boston, Mass., New York and Dayville, but the greater part of Hartford, a cousin of the bride, gave bar pins to her attendants and the gifts of the bridegroom to the best man and ushers were stickpins. The bride was until about a month ago the cashier and accountant for the W. G. Simmons Corporation of Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. Barber will be at home after June 1 at No. 220 Mather street. The church was effectively decorated and a large number witnessed the cere-

April 9, 1912
Shaw-Burt Wedding at Brookline.
Miss Leila Root Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton Shaw of Brookline, and Frank Allen Burt (Amherst, 1908), son of Frank H. Burt of Newton and grandson of the late Henry M. Burt of Springfield, were married last evening at the Harvard Congregational church, Brookline, by Rev. Dr. Ambrose W. Vernon, pastor of the church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florilla Howe Shaw, as maid of honor, and Edwina Woods of Brookline as flower girl. The best man was Philip H. Burt of Newton (Amherst, 1908), brother of the groom. The ushers were Walter W. Dubreuil of New York, Myrle D. Graves of Cambridge (H.)
APRIL 15, 1912.

DINNER TO GEORGE GOODWIN

Former Associates At Aetna Life Wish Him Success in New Position.

A pleasant surprise was afforded George Goodwin of Burnside on Saturday evening when he entered the banquet hall of Bond's restaurant and found himself face to face with some thirty of his former office associates, who had prepared a little dinner and informal gathering in his honor as he is leaving the employ of the Aetna Life Insurance Company, where he has been for more than fourteen years. Mr. Goodwin expected to attend a little party composed of a few of his one-time co-workers, but when the lights were flashed on upon his entry into the dining hall and he beheld the majority of the clerks with whom he has been associated for the past dozen years, surprise was plainly written on his face. He has lately severed his connections with the Aetna Life Insurance Company to accept a responsible position in the office of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, where he will assist in organizing the new accident department of that concern. Mr. Goodwin has had charge of the accident underwriting division of the Aetna Life for several years and is thoroughly conversant with all the details of that branch of the business.

To his efforts the Aetna Life Club largely owes its existence, as he was one of those instrumental in bringing about its organization, and he has been one of the leading spirits in directing its progress ever since, twice having been elected to the presidency. Mr. Goodwin was also actively connected with the Aetna Life Yacht Club and did much to make the run to Saybrook and back last year a success.

At the end of the dinner Saturday the toastmaster, Harry Ford, who during the evening ably demonstrated his right to act in that capacity, in a few appropriate words presented to the guest of the evening a handsome traveling case, which was acknowledged by Mr. Goodwin, who was visibly affected. Howard P. Dunham, late president of the Insurance Tennis League, had charge of the musical end of the program and personally rendered some fine vocal selections. During the evening he gave some of his experiences as grand master of the Boy Scouts of Wethersfield, which proved very interesting.

Many of those present contributed in one way or another to make the evening a pleasant one and all were unanimous in wishing the guest of the evening success in his new business venture.

Engagement
New H
meet is CHAN
died Abundance
At As Relative
bers attend
Kathryn Bo
Mr. and
No. 15 Town
Chandler, Y
Chandler of S
took place in gational Chur
at 4 o'clock
pastor emerit
using the r
Church, with was given in
She wore whi
court train, and rose point lace
blossoms draped
of tulle and she valley in an an holder, an brides
wore a pearl bea
ornament, the gift
Miss Edith Bart
was maid of honor
green charmesse colored lace. She hat trimmed with
and carried a bouq cissus. The brides
Maude Hammon
Maas, Miss Fran
Enfield, Miss Ma
ton and Miss Al Hartford. They
mother, platinu
as brides. The
was Joseph R. D Simbury and the
S. Strong, Yale M
Dorling, Yale M
E. Ellsworth, Yale
H. Stanley Knight
Neil Braddon, Ke
bury and Josiah
of Hartford, David Tale M, played the selecting the bride
bequest" for the p
her from the said
for the betrothal
diamonds a "Weddi recessional. The m
before which the b
was blessed with bouquet, maline
and muscadelles
festive setting
Mr. and Mrs. Ch
close trip and will bury, after June 1
the marriage regis
field, Northampton
and Elder, Man, and Haven and Kenbu
grove is the pri
Elph H. Burt, pres
Chapman-Burt, Ch
bury, director of the
of Wethersfield and
ter and director of regional Church of The bride gifts
cristal and ivory
after gold, maline
conceivable for a Particular remem
either registered
from the bride of pastime. "Miss
of the Church

Engagement of Judge Cleaveland Announced.

New Haven, March 1.—Announcement is made of the engagement of

CHANDLER-RICHARDS.

Abundance of Flowers for Ceremony At Asylum Hill Church.

Relatives and friends in large numbers attended the wedding of Miss Kathryn Root Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Richards of No. 15 Townley street, and W. Woods Chandler, Yale '96, son of William B. Chandler of Simsbury. The ceremony took place in the Asylum Hill Congregational Church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. Joseph H. Twichell, pastor emeritus of the church, officiated, using the ritual of the Episcopal Church, with two rings. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore white satin, with a full court train, and the trimmings were of rose point lace and pearls. Orange blossoms draped her full length veil of tulle and she carried lilies of the valley in an antique silver flower holder, an heirloom of the family. She wore a pearl heart locket as her only ornament, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Edith Kerr Richards, a sister, was maid of honor. Her dress was of green charmeuse trimmed with cream colored lace. She wore a white picture hat trimmed with white and green and carried a bouquet of poeticus narcissus. The bridesmaids were Miss Maude Hammond of Northampton, Mass., Miss Frances W. Chandler of Enfield, Mass., Miss Charlotte W. Burton and Miss Alma M. Merriam of Hartford. They wore yellow crepe meteor, picture hats and carried daffodils as bridal flowers. The best man was Joseph R. Ensign, Yale '89, of Simsbury and the ushers were Herbert S. Strong, Yale '96, of Winsted, Robert Dowling, Yale '89, of Simsbury, Henry E. Ellsworth, Yale '00, of Simsbury, H. Stanley Knight of New Haven, J. Kell Brandon, Kenyon '02, of Simsbury and Josiah B. Woods, Amherst '05, of Hartford. David Stanley S. Yale '00, played the wedding selecting the bridal chorus from "The Song of the Lark" for the processional, a hymn for the third act of the wedding for the betrothal ceremony and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional. The rostrum of the church before which the bridal party was banded with palms, heather, boughs, maidenhair ferns, daisies and marguerites, making a most effective setting.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler take a driving trip and will be at home in Simsbury, after June 15. Guests at the marriage ceremony from Simsbury, Northampton, Hatfield, and Hadley, Mass., and Hartford, New Haven and Simsbury. The groom is the private secretary of Ralph H. Ensign, president of the Ensign-Bickford Company of Simsbury; director of the Chandler Musical Society of Simsbury and choir leader and director of music in the Congregational Church of Simsbury.

The bridal gifts included an elaborate and costly array of cut silver and gold, mahogany house furniture, rare linen and everything conceivable for a material start. Particular remembrances were leather upholstered lounging chair from the choir of the Simsbury Congregational Church and a painting "Miss Innocence," the gift of the Chandler Musical Society.

EPISCOPAL MINISTER

FOR FORTY YEARS

121

Advancing Age Causes Retirement of Rev. Otis O. Wright of Newtown. (Special to The Courant.)

Newtown, April 10.

Rev. Otis Olney Wright, one of the best known Episcopal ministers in the state and for twenty-one years rector of St. John's Episcopal Church at Sandy Hook, has resigned his pastorate, and is intending to retire from the ministry. For more than forty years in the ministry, he gives as the reason of his retirement, his advancing years.

Rev. Mr. Wright was born in Scituate, R. I., May 6, 1844, a son of Benjamin and Lucy Wells Wright of Foster.

He was the normal and which he taught of Foster and he was graduated in Biblical Institute, Y., and was of the "Christiansburg, Mass., the pastor of church at Salisbury here until 1875, in charge of the nation at Fall River. From 1876 to 1878 he was of the First West Mansfield, became candidate of the Episcopal Rhode Island; in charge of many of Providence, ordained deacon, and was rector, Swansea, R. I., from 1883 and of St. John's Church, R. I., from 1888.

Miss Annie Wright, daughter of Capt. E. Kingsbury of Amesbury, has been born a graduate of Wesleyan College in 1900 and now superintendent of the work of the Massachusetts commission on the Adult

Rev. Otis O. Wright.

Mrs. Goodwin's Home.

The residence referred to yesterday as that of Mayor Horace Goodwin was not his home, but that of his second wife after she became a widow. He never owned nor occupied the place.

TWENTY PAGES.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1912.
FOR MAYOR OF HARTFORD.

It is a matter of congratulation around that Colonel Louis R. Cheney has consented to become the can party's candidate for mayor. party makes it plain that Colonel Cheney has been one of Hartford's citizens. He was he has been president of local industry, he public eye as major Foot Guard, he is a member of local institution dent of the Hartford Avery He took an important bridge celebration and th cent reunion of all Conn ments. As a matter of fact

The Hartford

Established as a Daily

Monday, March 11

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE

As was foreshadowed in of Saturday, formal announcement made to-day of the withdrawal of Colonel Louis R. Cheney from republican nomination for

Under the peculiar conditions prevailing in republican circles, the selection of a nominee for the ticket is no easy task. for the gubernatorial nomination of 1910, the bitterness of the struggle and the successive losses at the polls, experienced by republicans, have created a situation which makes the acceptance of any nomination in some degree a sacrifice. That Colonel Cheney be able to reconcile all elements is, of course, not to be expected. He should succeed if he should succeed in the general trend of the democracy, not only in the state, but in the city.

Of Colonel Cheney's nothing but praise can be said. He is a gentleman of highest standing and fine business. He is well known in Hartford, having been associated with many of our citizens who will render their enumeration at this time. Colonel Cheney should be use of his name for the republican nomination assures a campaign in which high personal character will be the leading asset of the republicans. That he will make a better run than Senator Hooker, Dr. Williams or Mr. Ford, of course, cannot be determined.

Courant

MARCH 29, 1912. — 22 PAGES.

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

COLONEL LOUIS R. CHENEY.

he makes it clear that he cannot run Spelly and Mr. Butler to sleep, as Mr. Holt makes it easier for Senator or the state has had in a generation. toward the election of the best govern- democratic fund and so "contributed republicans," he says, contributed to the time of the last state election, as rethe city. experience would be of much service to everybody could unite on. He believed mah and a strong candidate, one that and considered Colonel Cheney a fine force Commissioner Morgan Brain-

ROMANCE OF CIRCUS RING.
April 12 - 1912
Marriage of Arthur La B. Chapin of This City to a Brooklyn Girl.

A rather pretty romance of the circus ring terminated in a quiet wedding in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Thursday evening, when Arthur La B. Chapin of 232 Dickinson street, Springfield, married Miss Linda Stevens of 385 Twelfth street, Brooklyn, at the home of Rev Dr W. S. Harper, 264

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE FANNING WEDDED FIFTY YEARS AGO.

123

Will Celebrate Anniversary at Their Residence, No. 33 Deerfield Avenue,
 Tuesday. April 16 - 1912

Wedded April 16, 1862, in the town of Ledyard, Mr. and Mrs. George Fanning, 33 Deerfield avenue will to-morrow afternoon, the anniversary of their marriage, to the number of 200 have relatives and friends and Mrs. Fanning and members will receive their guests afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fanning are old and well-known east-ticut families. Mr. Fanning, a descendant of Edmund Fanning of the eighth generation, was the first to come to this country, in 1653 and taking his place among the early pioneers. In the fourth generation of the family settled in Lantern town of North Stonington, Fanning, a member of the family located in Preston, where he was born in 1808.

George Fanning was born in Ledyard town and was named in honor of his father, Colonel William Ledyard Griswold, on October 4, April 16, 1862, he married Mrs. Spicer, also of Ledyard, daughter of Captain Edmund Spicer was also judge of the Ledyard district.

Mr. Fanning conducted a farm in Ledyard for forty-five years until he moved to Hartford in 1907, but he has been interested in educational work for thirty years he taught in the Ledyard board and for ten years was judge of probate. He was in Mystic for two years, or a year and in Poquechuogue years. It was in 1880 elected judge of probate, 1890, when he retired to give attention to his own affairs. Mr. Fanning was president of the Bill Clinton in Ledyard. He was the mate of Ledyard Bill, a well-known Bill fam-

Mr. Fanning, Mrs. Fanning was a teacher before her marriage had five children, Mary, of Walter A. Waterman, a teacher in a preparatory school in New York, and living in Ledyard; Miss Fannie Elizabeth, who lives at No. 33 Deerfield; Mrs. Hattie Eunice was the wife of William Groton and who died in Ledyard; Susan E. Lillie, wife of Lillie, principal of the school, and William E. Fanning of the Empire Steamship company of Norwich.

They have nine grandchildren. These are: Rhodes, Bethiah, Mary, and Frances Waterman;

Mrs. Everett H. Adams and Christopher Allen Brown, at college in Ohio, and Eugenia A., Esther A. and George Fanning. There is also one great-grandchild, Everett H. Adams, jr. All the children, grandchildren and the great-grandchild are expected to be present at the golden wedding celebration.

A MANY-SIDED MAN

MAYOR LOUIS R. CHENEY.

Recently Mayor Louis R. Cheney was asked by one of his friends for one of his latest photographs. Not having had one at hand, Mayor Cheney, in a spirit of fun, stepped into a photographer's gallery and sat for a "group" picture, showing his features from different points of view. The reproduction is reproduced above.

That Mayor Cheney is a many-sided man is evident from the numerous demands that are made on his time and for his co-operation. There is a provision in the city charter making it unlawful for the mayor to hold any other city office. This makes Mayor Cheney smile every time the subject is mentioned, for it would seem impossible to crowd any more duties on the shoulders of a human being than are required of the chief executive of the city.

Some of His Honor's Duties.

The mayor is president ex-officio of the board of aldermen, president of the board of finance, of the police board, the park board, the health board, the municipal building commission, the commission on city plan and the public dock commission. He is to issue warrants for the collection of certain taxes and assessments, must approve corporate acts done in the name of the city, execute conveyances of real estate, including cemeteries, lots, approve bonds of certain officials, authorize the chief of the department to demolish buildings, and must call city meetings as well as the meetings of the Court of Common Council.

He has to issue licenses for public entertainments and amusements, billboards, read the "Riot Act" to disorderly gatherings, appoint commissions and various executive officers.

His Private Interests.

In private life, Mayor Cheney finds an equally wide range of interests requiring his attention. He is a director in the Connecticut River Banking company, the Phoenix National bank, the Hartford Electric Light company and the Colt Patent Fire arms company, vice-president of the Hartford hospital, trustee of the Loomis Institute, trustee of the American School for the Deaf, trustee of the Institute for the Blind, president of the Robert O. Tyler Post Citizens' corps, trustee of the Woman's college to be established in New London, director of the Automatic Refrigerating company of Hartford, member of the commission in charge of the Connecticut river bridge, director in the Connecticut Fair association, president of the Hartford Automobile club, member of the Mayors' association of Connecticut, vice-president of the Governor's Staff association, president of the chamber of commerce building, inc., a member of the board of managers of the Sons of the American Revolution, and is on the honorary staff of the Governor's Foot Guard, having been twice chosen its major.

They will be at home Wednesdays in September at No. 101 Homestead avenue. Mr. Day is head bookkeeper in the office of the Franklin Manufacturing Company where the bride was employed as a stenographer and among the wedding gifts was a chest of silver from the office and factory force.

HANDSOME GOLD WATCH

FOR HARVEY B. BRAINERD.

Presented by Men Who Have Participated in Inter-Church Luncheons—
Address by John G. Brady.

To-day's inter-church luncheon at the Allyn house was the fifty-second and marked the anniversary of the first. There were about sixty men present. There was music by the Gibson Mandolin quartet. The men sent a greeting of fellowship to Everett Geer, who is confined to his house with sickness.

A feature of the luncheon was the presentation of a gold watch to Harvey B. Brainerd as a token of esteem from the church men who have attended the luncheons, in recognition of his efforts in arranging the luncheons. Mr. Brainerd thanked the gathering modestly. Inscribed on the inside cover of the watch was the following:

Presented to Harvey B. Brainerd at the fifty-second church luncheon in appreciation of his unselfish work for others.
April 17, 1912.

VERSES TO MR. BRAINERD.

Read by Winslow Russell When He Presented the Watch.

When I
the gold w
at the nesday, he entitled " Brainerd"
In the str busy e
When men
ever p
It is helpf
care s
And consi
brothe

For ever in and th
There are large
We shall
for th
And the when

There's so plung
That in s
find a
And the
the ch
For we oft
a bro

So when e
for ot
We are sh
ure g
It is fittir
who's name
We should give a heartfelt "thank you"
in a tone that all can tell.

And we ask him with a feeling that's as tender as it's true,
As these luncheons he has served us
number up to fifty-two,
To accept from us in earnest a slight token of esteem
That will always be a pointer to the love
we surely mean.

And as it goes on ticking out the precious hours and days,
May it never cease to bring him friends
who'll always dare to praise.
And with constancy keep pointing to the time when setting sun Shall most cheerily and merrily sing out
the words, "Well done."

She died March 15, 1913

MRS. ELLEN THORNTON.

nearly 102 yrs.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY.

April 15, 1912
Anniversary Celebrated by Mrs. Ellen Thornton — Five Generations Participate.

Mrs. Ellen Thornton of 53 Hancock street, who celebrated her 101st birthday yesterday, is probably the oldest woman in Springfield and there are few people who have had a more interesting or useful career. Mrs. Thornton was born in slavery in Caroline county, Va., 101 years ago, her father being white and her mother colored, and she and her husband and children lived as slaves until they were freed by the war. She lived with three families, all related, and was "Mammy Ellen" to all the children. She was with the family of Henry MacCauley at the time of the war and it was with great reluctance that she and her husband had to leave them. During the destructive progress of the northern troops through the South Mr. MacCauley's mills were burned to the ground. He was reduced to poverty and was too poor to keep those who had been his slaves, much as he wanted to do so. Mrs. Thornton has heard quite recently from the children of her one-time master and after she and her husband came North they often visited them.

Mrs. Thornton had 12 children, but not one of them was ever sold away from her. She says that her life in slavery days was very happy and easier in many ways than it has been since, although her freedom and independence more than make up the difference. After the war Mr. and Mrs. Thornton, who were thrown on their own resources without a penny, came north to Fredericksburg, where Mr. Thornton did chores and picked up odd jobs here and there. They came to Springfield more than 40 years ago when their youngest child, Belle, was eight years old.

Mrs. Thornton has many interesting recollections of her youth and remembers the first train that went through Virginia, when she was a young woman. Six of her 12 children are living, three of them in this city, Mrs. Louise Ellis, James Thornton and George Thornton. She has no less than nine grandchildren living and 15 great-grandchildren, one of whom, George Johnson, arranged the birthday celebration for her last evening at the home of her grandson, T. H. Johnson, 214 King street. George Johnson is a graduate of Oberlin college in the class of 1907 and taught in the high schools of Baltimore before his health gave out. He was at Amherst college for two years before going to complete his education at Oberlin.

About 50 friends were invited to the party last evening from 7 to 10, and all had reason to congratulate Mrs. Thornton on her appearance. Many a woman of 70 looks older than Mrs. Thornton and is feeble. She retains all of her faculties and, with the exception of poor eyesight, is in excellent health. She walked from her home on Hancock street yesterday afternoon spurning her grandson's offer to send a carriage for her. She is bright and interesting, and in spite of an unusually long life of almost continuous hard work, bids fair to add several more birthdays to her long list.

COLLECTION OF FINE OLD SILVER
EXHIBITION OF HEIRLOOMS
OF JOHN COTTON SMITH FAMILY.

What is probably one of the most interesting collections of "family silver" is now on exhibition at the Mor-

F. C. Welch and Wife, Dealers in Antiques and Flowers.
CELEBRATE GOLDEN WED-DING BY BUILDING A GREENHOUSE.

We hear a good deal of the ingenuity of Italians and Hebrews who come to old Connecticut and raise new crops and devise new means of

125

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT, WEDNES

DISPLAY OF FINE OLD SILVERWARE AT A THENEUM.

A. J. TEFFT,
"EVERYTHING IN PHOTOGRAPHY."
with the best results in the shortest time consistent with good work. Prices exceptionally moderate.

Developed and Printed for Amateurs

KODAK FILMS

214 Asylum St. By the Big Clock.
Jeweler and Optician.

E. J. Brown,

Because they give you the two visions you require in one pair of glasses.
Because they are to all practical purposes single, solid lenses.
Kryptok lenses must be seen to be appreciated.

Kryptoks?

Why

was Cecilia Maria Clark of Plainville, daughter of William E. and Mary Eddy Clark. She was born March 24, 1844.

It was in war times that the wedding. It took the clergyman, pastor of church of that married as a three battle of Bull intention to. After the optimism reached he enlisted in the Light Battalion for three years and saw action. He is not prone to experience and is associations of

F. C. WELCH.

Westland Street Mushroom Grower.

of ten years Welch had a and the tobacco was brought to his warehouse from various parts of Connecticut. Tobacco was grown then in places where it is not grown now and the territory covered included the Housatonic Valley and sections in Massachusetts. Welch was a member of the Mexican Government, and the Army and Navy Journal. A Society Military View.

THE HARTFORD DAILY

MARRIED 54 YEARS THEY SELL ANTIQUES

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Welch of Westland Street Active.

MAKE BUSINESS TRIP TO SOUTH.

Fresh As Daisies After Tiresome Rail Journey to
New Orleans.

The fountain of youth which DeSoto sought was in Florida. Fernando C. Welch and his wife of No. 188 Westland street, who will celebrate the fifty-fourth anniversary of their wedding, April 15, found it in New Orleans. They packed their grip early in January for the sunny South, sweltered in the hot climate that prevails at the mouth of the Mississippi River, and came back to their Westland street home in the coldest day of the winter, and now they are rejuvenated more than DeSoto ever was.

It is an odd story, for the Welches are an unusual couple. Until the 80's Mr. Welch was a tobacco buyer, then he became a collector of antiques, and in recent years he has

By 1890 they were settled here in Hartford and were established in the antique furniture business. The home on Westland street, which is near Love lane and at the head of Garden street, was built at that time and the couple have lived there since, enlarging the house four colonial houses on the side of the street swinging being a landscape.

The antique 247 and it was selling purchasing of many of furniture that time house at Westland been the "Hill" and genuine a judgment excellent, care and sought. Tious and a past year there has sire for a being the tions are not likely that there is another similar to it in the country. These curious edibles are difficult to raise because of their extreme sensitiveness. The location is the cellar under the warehouse, which was excavated for the express purpose of the mushroom garden. A heating plant is installed in the cellar, there is a cement floor, and the cellar wall is very tight. The mushroom beds are raised, being divided from the aisles by brick walls. hot water pipes run along the floor under the beds of dirt.

The mu blooming was planr

The greenhouse was built this winter and it was heated up for the first time in January. Already a considerable crop of lettuce has been sold to "antique" customers "on the Hill" and sweetpeas have been sold to local florists. Now there are other plants coming along, among them being 5,000 or 6,000 geraniums, numerous begonias, sweetpeas, kentias, etc. A few mushrooms have been raised in the greenhouse but the warehouse cellar is the ideal spot for them.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Welch are active in the greenhouse work. They have one florist, Charles Calverley, assisting them. Although not as hale and hearty as there were fifty years ago they are still pretty spry. Mrs. Welch has been an active co-operator in her husband's ventures from the time of their marriage. They did not publish the news of their golden wedding anniversary to any extent, and so friends who might otherwise have wished to commemorate it did not have the opportunity to appropriately celebrate the unusual event. Mr. and Mrs. Welch were remembered by some of their friends, however, including Mrs. Ellen Gilman and Mrs. Charles P. Cooley and one glorious wedding cake with suitable inscription and ornamentation in gold is still uneaten and rests in a conspicuous place among the antiques in the Welch home.

He died Nov 10, 1912

C. C. SEVERANCE.

LEYDEN.

C. C. SEVERANCE 100 YEARS OLD.

April 23, 1912
Pleasantly Observes His Anniversary at His Home.

Clesson C. Severance celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary yesterday surrounded by children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and other relatives and friends. He was born on April 23, 1812, in the house in which he now lives, the son of Matthew Severance and the grandson of Joseph Severance, who was the first white child born in the state of Vermont. Mr Severance was twice married, first to Miss Harriet Miner of Leyden and in 1835 to Miss Nancy Le-gate of Charlemont. He has two sons, Samuel C. and Charles F., and seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Refreshments were served on a table which belonged to Mr Severance's mother, dating from 1784, and the table cloth was made by his second wife in 1835. During the day Mr Severance received many postal cards from friends and many remembrances, including one from a grand-niece, Mrs S. L. Belden of New Orleans.

Those of the immediate family present during the day were as follows: Mr and Mrs Samuel C. Severance and family, Mr and Mrs Charles F. Severance and daughter, Mrs W. A. Smith, Mr and Mrs W. A. Campbell and son, all of Leyden, and Mrs A. G. Gallup and family of Green River, Vt. Many friends also visited him, including W. A. Barber, Mr and Mrs Wells Severance, Mr and Mrs H. E. Mowry, Mr and Mrs Charles Robertson, Mr and Mrs W. White, Mr and Mrs Bud-ington, Mr and Mrs O. E. Miller, A. Den-nison, M. D. Miner, Mrs F. Lamphear, Rev and Mrs E. C. Howell.

East Hartford, April 24.—Mr. and Mrs. James M. Noble of No. 15 Wells avenue celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Noble, with whom they reside, to-day. A dinner was served at noon at which three generations of the family were represented. During the day many neighbors and friends called to pay their respects and offer their congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble were married in Hartford by the Rev. Nathaniel J. Burton fifty years ago and have resided in this town practically ever since. Mrs. Noble was born in Manchester, April 13, 1849, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delinanna (Sencer) Brewer. Mr. Noble was born in Hartford, November 30, 1834.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble are in exceptionally good health. Mr. Noble is a conspicuous figure on the streets in East Hartford and is widely known. He is an interesting conversationalist and his pleasing personality gains him many friends. They have three children, William B. and Thomas M. of this town and Charles S. Noble of Hartford. They also have five grandchildren, Russell E., Raymond G. and Rena M., children of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Noble, and Harold W. and Donald, children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Noble. In connection with their marriage Mr. Noble tells an interesting story. On that day there was one of the largest floods in the history of Connecticut and in order to get to Hartford Mr. and Mrs. Noble were obliged to be rowed across the meadows and the river. They started at a point near Eljizar Ensign's place on South Main street. The boat was manned by Captain Hills and they landed near Market street.

GLAZIER-CHAPIN.

April 24 1912
Treasurer of Riverside Trust Company Married in Greenwich.

Robert C. Glazier, treasurer of the Riverside Trust Company, and Miss Mary Skinner Chapin were married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Chapin, No. 168 Field Point road, Greenwich. Rev. Dr. Josiah Strong of New York performed the ceremony.

Miss Inez Tolles of Plainfield, N. J.,

RD DAILY TIMES, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1912

Prominent in "the Younger Set"

— [Photo by Louis Fabian Bachrach.

aster Joseph Batterson Beach, two-and-a-half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. e. e. She is almost helpless and e Mrs. ires a constant attendant.

place will be at home... instead avenue, this city, after June 1. Many handsome gifts of silver, china, furniture, cut glass and linen have been received by the prospective bride and groom.

BEACH-ANDERSON—Married... April Paul's Church, Petersburg, Va., April 25, by the Rev. E. P. Dandridge, Joseph Watson Beach of Hartford, Conn., and Jessie Hoag Goodwyn Anderson of Petersburg, Va.

Joseph Watson Beach, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Beach of this city, and Miss Jessie Hoge Godwyn Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Jessie and the late Robert B. Anderson of Petersburg, Va., were married at 8 o'clock last Thursday evening in St. Paul's Church in Petersburg, Rev. E. P. Dandridge performing the ceremony. Mrs.

argaret Leigh the d there were eight Misses Elizabeth ellie Green and Sarah Petersburg, Miss Light-Baltimore, Md., Miss Den-of Annapolis, Md., Miss dy of Norfolk, Va., Miss Lucy thram of Richmond, Va., and Elizabeth Beach of this city. The of honor wore a dress of white ndered crepe trimmed in duchess nd carried a bouquet of roses lies of the valley. The maid of wore a white lingerie dress ed in pink ribbons and the maids wore dresses of marqui-embroidered in pink and forget-ts. The two ribbon girls, Miss Seabury Drewry and Miss Vir-Heath Lassiter, were dressed ite and carried pink sweetpeas.

bride, who entered the church her uncle, Edward W. Griggs, white satin trimmed in duchess ose point lace and her tulle veil, with lace, was caught with e blossoms. She carried Wles e valley and orchids. Charles son Beach of this city, a brother bridegroom, was the best man he groomsmen were J. B. Cook,

Mrs Sweeney of Ohio.

hington Special to New York World.)

s. Sarah Sweeney of Jacobsburg, ont county, O., who is 114 years according to authentic records, is plicant for an increase in pen-from $12 to $100 a month. 'A al bill in her behalf, introduced epresentative Frances of Ohio, ow under consideration by the nittee on invalid pensions.

s. Sweeney's first husband was les Brandon, a soldier of the can war. She bore him twenty-children. Upon his death she married to William Sweeney, who eleven children, making a com-l family of thirty-three children. en of Mrs. Sweeney's sons en-l in the Union army during the war. One son, John Brandon mpany F. Fifteenth Ohio Volun-died in Andersonville Prison. vas her chief support and on ac-t of his death she was granted nson of $12 a month. Mrs. eney is now in feeble health and e circumstances, according to the nce submitted to the House com- She is almost helpless and e Mrs. ires a constant attendant.

oil painting of the sixteen soldier sons of Mrs. Sweeney hangs in the State House at Columbus, O., as an exhibit representing the greatest number of soldiers from one family to enlist in the Union army from any state.

127

A daughter, Ann Harrison, was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Watson Beach of Asylum avenue.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1924.

DANIELS-SPENCER WEDDING.

Ceremony of Local Interest in New

April 27 York City, 1912
The marriage of A. Millard Daniels, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Daniels, and Miss Alice D. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Spencer of 1557 Pacific street, Brooklyn, N. Y., took place in the St George hotel in New York last Saturday evening. It was a pink and blue wedding, and three rooms in the hotel were reserved for the occasion. The decorations consisted of potted palms, ferns, cut flowers and Easter lilies. The ceremony took place in the ballroom at 8.30 o'clock, and was performed by Rev Dr Hillis of

April Ahern-Long 29/1912
Edward F. Ahern, son of Mrs. Matthew Ahern of Agnes L. Long morning at 6 o'clock

church.

A nuptial hi
by the Rev. V. A call to become rector of St. John's pastor of the Episcopal church in Stamford was James R. Mite given to-day to the Rev. Gerald A.
the Rev. Bern Cunningham of Wappinger Falls, N. Y.
con. Father His wife, who was formerly Miss Mary marriage cere Van Zile, is the daughter of Mr. and young couple Mrs. Edward Van Zile of New York and church. Day is a granddaughter of Mrs. William H. ist of the chf Bulkeley of Washington street. Her program of nbrother, Edward Van Zile, was formerly members of engaged in newspaper work in this and they were city.

is a member of NOVEMBER 11, 1919.

The bride was in a suit of amethyst chiffon trimmed with Irish baby lace. She carried an ivory covered prayer book. The bridesmaid was Miss Florence L. Long and her dress was similar to that of the bride.
The best man was John E. Ahern, a brother of the groom.

It was intended Mr. and Mrs. Ahern should take the 7 o'clock train for New York, but instead they boarded an automobile, that was waiting for them at the entrance to the church, and drove to New Haven, where they breakfasted at the Taft hotel. Among those present in the church at the marriage was the venerable grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Peter Berry.

The happy couple received a large number of costly and substantial presents. The bride's uncles, Former Police Commissioner James P. Berry, Dennis J., Peter M., and Thomas A.
Berry, gave her a two-tenement house at No. 21 Mansfield street, where she and her husband will live in the future, taking up their residence when they return from their wedding trip.
The groom's family practically furnished the house.

BOUCHER-BRITTON—April 29, 1912,
at St. Patrick's Church by Rev. William H. Rogers, Dr. James J. Boucher and Gertrude A. Britton:

Dr. James J. Boucher and Miss Gertrude Agnes Britton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Britton, were married at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Patrick's Church, Rev.
William H. Rogers officiating at the mass. Organist David S. Moran rendered selections before and during the service. Miss Mattie C. Murphy was the bridesmaid and the best man was Frank Smith of Thompsonville, a nephew of the bridegroom. On their return from their wedding trip Dr.
and Mrs Boucher will live at No. 429
Capitol avenue.

MISS VAN ZILE MARRIES

THE REV. G. A. CUNNINGHAM

April 29, 1912
Is Granddaughter of the Late General
William H. Bulkeley — Married Long
Nuptial at St. Patrick's.

Miss Mary Van Zile and the Rev.
Gerald A. Cunningham, senior curate
of St. George's church, New York, were married at Trinity church, New York city, this noon, the Rev. Herbert N. Cunningham of Watertown, father of the bridegroom, officiating. Bishop David H. Greer pronounced the benediction, and other clergy present in the chancel were the Rev. Dr. John Mockridge, vicar of Trinity chapel;
the Rev. Dr. William H. Vibert, ex-vicar of Trinity chapel, and the Rev.
Dr. Hugh Baker of St. George's.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Van Zile of New York, and a granddaughter of Mrs. Bulkeley and the late General William H. Bulkeley of Hartford. She was attended by her two sisters, the Misses Sallie and Harriet Lee Van
Zile, who were the maids of honor.
Raymond Cunningham was his brother-sister's best man. The ushers were the Rev. George Norton of St. George's church, the Rev. Roscoe Conkling Hatch of Tarrytown, the Rev. Mal-bone Birkhead of Tuxedo, Charles Buckingham and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cunningham more of New York of Wappingers Falls, N. Y., announce

The Rev. Mr. C. the birth of a daughter, Nancy Cunbachelor dinner, the birth of a daughter, Nancy Cun-on Friday night. ningham, last week. Mrs. Cunning-

Miss Van Zile had been before her marriage Miss in Hartford. She Mary Van Zile, daughter of Mr. and parents about ten Mary Van Zile, daughter of Mr. and New York about Mrs. Edward S. Van Zile, formerly of
No. 75 Capitol ave this city but now living in New York
uated from the H school in 1904 an OCTOBER 18, 1914.
was graduated from there in 1908.

April 3, 1918
son was born Thursday to Mr.
and Mrs. Gerald Arthur Cunningham
of Wappinger's Falls, N. Y. Mrs.
Cunningham was formerly Miss Mary Van Zile of this city.

June Scott-Van Zile. 3, 1913
Miss Sally Van Zile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Van Zile, was married to Dr. Walter F. Scott, of Birmingham, Ala., Tuesday evening at the home of her parents, 404
West Twentieth street, New York city. The ceremony was performed by Monsignor Michael J. Lavelle, of St.
Patrick's cathedral, assisted by the Rev. Father Byrne, and was followed by a reception.

The bride wore a gown of white satin made with a court train of brocade. Her veil was of tulle and she carried white roses. Her sister, Miss Harriet Lee Van Zile, who was her only attendant, was gowned in pale blue brocade trimmed with pink and blue chiffon and carried tea
roses. Dr. John Timberlake, of Baltimore, was the best man. Dr. Scott and his bride will make their home in Birmingham. He is a son of Colonel Walter F. Scott, U. S. A., retired. The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. William H. Bulkeley of this city.

Dr. Scott, who is a son of Colonel Walter S. Scott, U.
S. A., retired, and a graduate of the University of Virginia and of Johns Hopkins, will have Dr. Kimberlake of Baltimore as his best man. There will be no ushers.

Sheldon-Clark Wedding Today.

Local society is much interested in the wedding of Stanley Sheldon and Miss Marjorie Louise Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Clark, which will take place this evening at the home of the bride's parents, No. 126 Lincoln street. The wedding will be performed at 7 o'clock by Rev. Henry W. Maier, pastor of the First Church, followed by a reception at 7:15 o'clock. Only the two families will attend the wedding, and invitations to the reception have been confined to relatives and intimate friends of the young people.

The house is prettily decorated, this feature being left entirely to the charge of Robert L. Andrews of Stanley Quarter, a friend of the family. The hall is decorated with clusters of magnolia and the stairway is twined with smilax, as are also the chandeliers, producing a very pretty effect. In the dining room a large banquet of

GUIBORD-STEIGER MARRIAGE.

April 20 1912
Son of Springfield Merchant Takes a Holyoke Girl as His Bride.

A small company of relatives and a few close friends from New Bedford, Port Chester, N. Y., and New York city, were bidden to the home of Mr and Mrs Albert Steiger on Ridgewood terrace last evening for the wedding of the second son of the house, Philip Steiger, and Miss Mabel Guibord, the daughter of Mrs Louise Guibord of Holyoke. The ceremony took place at 6.30, and was performed by Rev H. O. Hannum of Holyoke with the doubling ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs Fred Moore of this city, as matron of honor, and the groom's brother, Ralph Steiger, acted as best man. The bride was gowned in white satin with duchess lace, and her long veil was caught with lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore white satin veiled with black net and trimmed with leavy lace and velvet, with touches of primrose. She carried an arm bouquet of Mrs Taft roses. The Holland trio played the wedding music and during the reception that followed. The bride's gift to her matron of honor was a gold bracelet, and the groom presented his best man with a watch charm.

The house was beautifully decorated by Osterman & Steele, and after the ceremony and the informal greeting of the bride and groom by their friends supper was served at small tables, Barr catering. The dining-room was in green and white, the effect being carried out with lilies of the valley and bride roses. At the larger center table the bridal party were seated, and this bore a large basket of roses and lilies as a centerpiece. At each small table, seating four guests, a smaller centerpiece of the same arrangement was placed. The drawing-room was decorated in pink roses and carnations, the library in dark red tulips and carnations, and the hall with palms and tall vases of Easter lilies and bouquets of yellow jonquils. In the music-room where the musicians were stationed the decorations were of American Beauty roses.

Mr Steiger and his bride will sail tomorrow on the Adriatic for a wedding trip of two months in Europe. They will meet Mrs Mary Steiger, Mr and Mrs J. H. Ashley and Mr and Mrs R. C. Hollister, who recently went over, in Switzerland, and will travel with them. On their return they will live in Holyoke, where Mr Steiger is to have the full management of the Steiger store, and will occupy the summer home which his father, Albert Steiger, is having built on Northampton street.

SALE OF MASSASOIT HOUSE.

April 20 1912 29

HISTORIC HOTEL PROPERTY

The largest real estate deal ever consummated in this city was made yesterday when after a long period of negotiations William H. Chapin and Frank L. Dunlap signed agreements for the sale of the Massasoit hotel property to the Dunlap realty trust. The sale price, which was approximately $750,000, was the largest amount ever paid for any property in this city. The negotiations for the sale were conducted by N. D. & Dwight Winter. For weeks there had been rumors that the historic old hotel property was to be sold.

The Massasoit house was for many years the principal hotel of Springfield. Its erection came as a natural result of the opening of the Western railroad from Worcester to Springfield in 1839, which brought greatly increased travel through this city. The railroad station soon became a center for activity in the city and the natural place near which to build a hotel. The Judge John Hooker homestead, next south of the old railroad station on Main street was sold at auction in 1842. Marvin Chapin and Israel M. Parsons were the buyers of this tract, which then fronted 180 feet on Main street and was 75 feet deep. The price paid was $8000, in notable contrast to the price involved in yesterday's sale. Parsons sold out his interest to Marvin Chapin before a hotel was started. A partnership was then formed by Mr Chapin with his brother, Ethan S. Chapin, and the old part of the hotel, nearest the railroad, was immediately begun. The hotel was opened June 26, 1843. A three-story wood addition was built in 1847 on Main street, joining the original brick building. This gave place 10 years later to the present brick extension. In 1853 another brick addition was built in the rear, containing the large dining-room and kitchen. This gave 130 sleeping-rooms, two large parlors and two ladies' reception-rooms. The large dining-room seated 150.

A noteworthy list of famous guests is furnished by the old directories of the hotel, all of which are still in the house. The name of Horace Mann is the first enrolled on the register. Charles Dickens stopped there twice, once in 1842 and again in 1868. President Abraham Lincoln was a guest at this old hostelry. Among other names on its registers are those of Daniel Webster, Edward Everett, Wendel Phillips, Louis Kossuth, President Johnson, President Grant, Jefferson Davis, Stephen A. Douglas, Secretary Seward, Gen Sherman, Gen McClellan, Grand Duke Alexis and James G. Blaine. Nearly all the famous actors and actresses of the period since the hotel was built have stopped there. Massachusetts has had hardly a governor of the years when the hotel was the leading hostelry of Springfield who did not stop there. The Massasoit house is also famed as the training keepers of the country got their experience and then set out to manage large houses in other cities.

William H. Chapin, the present proprietor of the Massasoit house, first became connected with the hotel when he became a clerk there April 20, 1876, working for his uncles, who owned the house. He worked as a clerk there for 10 years. Mr Chapin then leased the property and managed the hotel for a few years. He then made arrangements for buying it from the Chapin heirs, and has conducted the hotel ever since as his own property. For the present Mr Chapin will retire from active business.

PASSING OF A FAMOUS HOTEL.

UNIVERSALISTS STARTED
IN HARTFORD 122 YEARS AGO

May 1, 1912
The first Pastor, the Rev. Elhanan Winchester, is Buried in Ancient Cemetery at Rear of Center Church.

HI

NO

*1
E
T
W*

MASSASOIT HOTEL AND OFFICE BUILDING ON MAIN STREET. 1913

The church now torn down was built during the years 1858, 1859 and 1860. The Rev. Asher Moore was still pastor and conducted the first services in the new church. His successors included the Rev. Bernard Peters, who later went to Brooklyn, N. Y., and established the Brooklyn Times; the Rev. C. A. Skinner, father of Otis Skinner, the actor; the Rev. William H. Dearborn, the Rev. Frederick W. Perkins, and the present pastor, the Rev. Dr. John Coleman Adams. During Dr. Adams's pastorate the new Church of the Redeemer has been built, near the corner of Asylum street and Farmington avenue, the dedication taking place in 1906.

The church on Main street proved to be a very attractive place of worship. There were large congregations and a large Sunday-school. Special services were held in the winter and spring, with musical programs and lectures by the pastors who were able lecturers.

Some Old-Time Members.

Many members of the church were notable for their faithful services. Jeremiah Fowler was clerk of the parish more than forty years and Sunday-school librarian an equal length of time. The late Mrs. Mary J. Silloway was a pupil and later a teacher in the Sunday-school for upward of fifty years.

Where First Pastor Is Buried.

The first pastor, the Rev. Elhanan Winchester, is buried in the Ancient burying ground in the rear of the Center church. He died April 16, 1839, at the age of 47 years. In 1839

CORNERSTONE GIVES UP

ITS RECORDS OF THE PAST.

Laid in Old Universalist Church in Ante-Bellum Days—Newspapers of the Period Among the Contents.

The box that has been in the cornerstone of the old Universalist church on Main street since April 7, 1860, was opened by the Rev. Dr. John Coleman Adams, Wednesday night, at the strawberry festival of the Ladies' Social Benevolent society of the Church of the Redeemer. In the box were found:

Reports of the building committee of the church and parish meeting reports through 1859, and statements by the society's committee.

"The Charter, the Mayor's Address, Municipal Government and Reports of the City of Hartford 1859," in pamphlet form.

Geers's City Directory of 1859.

THE HARTFORD TIMES of April 5, 1860, the Hartford Courant of April 7, 1860, the Hartford Press of April 7, 1860; Hartford Post of April 7, 1860; Christian Ambassador of March 3, 1860, published in New York and Auburn; the Star of the West, published in Cincinnati and Memphis, dated March 31, 1860; the Trumpet Universalist Magazine, dated March 31, 1860; the Christian Freeman and Family Visitor of March 31, 1860; and "A Sermon Preached in the Old Universalist Church, Central Row, Hartford, Conn., Sunday evening, March 25, 1860, on the occasion of leaving that church for another place of worship, by the Rev. Asher Moore, pastor of said church."

The Travelers Insurance company recently demolished the old church, which was erected in 1860 at a cost of $33,123, including the land. The completed edifice was dedicated November 1, 1860, and on July 1, 1906, was vacated by the church organization for the present church on Asylum avenue.

OPEN CORNERSTONE AFTER 52 YEARS

MAY 23, 1912.

CONTENTS OF BOX IN OLD UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

A very interesting event to the parishioners of the Church of the Redeemer took place last evening at the annual strawberry festival of the Ladies' Social Benevolent Society, when the box which, since April 7, 1860, has reposed in the cornerstone of the old church on Main street, which has just been torn down by the Travelers Insurance Company, was opened by Rev. Dr. John Coleman Adams, and the contents exhibited. The box, which was of iron, about a foot in length, had entirely crumbled away, but the contents seemed to be in as perfect a condition as they were on the day when they were deposited in it over fifty-two years ago. The contents were as follows:—

Geer's City Directory of 1859 (a small volume in those days, which could easily be carried in the pocket.)

"The Charter, the Mayor's Address, Municipal Government and Reports of the City of Hartford 1859," in pamphlet form.

The report of the committee appointed to secure the land and build the new church, which was rendered on April 18, 1859, by Abner Church, chairman, as well as the reports of subsequent meetings of the parish held June 17, 1859, June 22, 1859, and July 11, 1859, all of which were combined in one general report and attested by Jeremiah Fowler, clerk, on April 5, 1860.

To this was appended a statement of the sale of the old church and the purchase and building of the new edifice and signed: Asher Moore, pastor; Hiram Bissell, Abijah Woodruff, Jos. B. Crosby, Abner M. Burnham, John S. Hussey, societies' committee; Jeremiah Fowler, clerk.

O. F. Jordan and Edward Behl, architects.

Hiram Bissell and Sylvester Bissell, contractors.

John R. Riden, Timothy

No definite claim was made by the Taff forces today, to the twenty-four delegates to be selected in New Jersey next Tuesday. At Roosevelt's national headquarters, Senator Dixon expressed the belief that Colonel Roosevelt would carry all districts in the state and obtain the full delegation. In a statement earlier in the day Senator Dixon declared Colonel Roosevelt would be nominated at Chicago on the first ballot. He said the only patriotic thing to be done is to elect Mr. Taff and his managers now accept the unanimous verdict of the republican primary states and to withdraw from the contest.

exercis. MAY 4, 1912.
TO ENTER SUFFRAGE PARADE.

IN NEW YORK WITH SUFFRAGISTS.
Springfield, Mass.
Local Women to Be in Line of Marchers in Fifth Avenue To-day.

MISS MARGARET CALHOUN.

The c
section of the parade, dressed in a ca
cap and gown, will be marshaled by Margaret Calhoun, formerly of this

Miss Calhoun is a graduate of Nassau College where she made noteworthy record
in athletics and dramatics, and is especially well known here. The quota from Massachusetts will march in the section given to the nonsuffrage states and the Springfield league will be represented by its president, Mrs. Charles G. Whiting, Mrs. Ann Heffernan of Northampton, formerly Miss O'Keefe of this city, and Miss Dorothea Gay, the extension worker. Among those who will be witnesses of the parade, if not marchers in it, are Mrs. Mase S. Southworth of High street, Miss Laura Mattoon, Mrs. Mary Calhoun of Mulberry street and Mrs. M. M. Davis, the milliner.

HARTFORD WOMEN IN THE BIG SUFFRAGE PARADE

Mrs. M. Toscan Bennett Standard Bearer for the Connecticut Continent—Place of Honor in the Line.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT PHELPS
MARRIED SIXTY YEARS.

Aged Hopkin
serve Anni
Once Well

WORKED

The anniv
married life,
rows, will l
Mrs. Albert
kins street
be quiet, th in robust h
pleased to h
pecially the Baptist chu noon and e
Mr. and M
idents of th
Mr. Phelps
the older pe er for man
leading chu

Mr. Phe
Albert P
Granby, No
Philo and parents mo
he was a b
15 years o
of Hermon
and learned
He was wit
years, and t ain with his
and Josiah
ploy of Aug
beginning t
Mr. Phelps
five years, a Meadow, w Chapin ag
years.

Mr. Phel
fall of 1861
Colonel Sar
gaged in t
The part o
Mr. Phelps
in 1864, ar
of Pratt & engaged fo
and finish
then made ery, which years. He in 1897, p
jury to his

ALBERT P. PHELPS.

HERMAN BEAUCHEMIN,
Teacher of Violin,

Hartford Conservatory of Music.
Voice, piano, violin, cello, harmony,
counterpoint, composition, sight-singing, English, French, German and Italian diction taught. Teachers' certificates awarded. Write for prospectus. Studios, 314 Farmington ave., Phone Elizabeth 1329.

100 PRATT STREET, HARTFORD.
Can we help you?
ciples to-day. That's why they succeed.
Morse's. They are living out these prin-ship and correct business habits at salaries. They are taught good citizen-employers satisfaction and earning good

AGED COUPLE ARE 62 YEARS MARRIED

MAY 5, 1914.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps of Hopkins Street in Frail Health, But Still Cheery.

HE WAS ONE-TIME
WELL KNOWN SINGER.

Mr. Phelps a Native of Granby and His Wife Born in Baker-ville.

Sixty-two years of married life were to-day observed by Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Phelps at their home, No. 36 Hopkins street. Despite the unpleasant weather they were remembered with calls from old friends and members of the South Baptist church, which Mr. and Mrs. Phelps have attended many years. Mrs. Phelps has been a member of the church fifty years. A niece, Mrs. Mary Barclay, has been living with the aged couple for the past few months, since their infirmities have necessitated this step. They received many flowers.

The day was quietly observed. Mr. Phelps is 84 years of age and his wife is 82. Mrs. Phelps is almost she said over and over again. "They'll be here to-day. Every year they come and cheer us. The old friends of my husband from the shop will be here, my friends from the South Baptist church will be here. But it's stormy," she added, "and they probably won't come till late in the day."

Portraits of Youth.

It was remarkable, the manner in which the little old woman was acquainted with the nooks and crannies of her home. "Look," she said, pointing to one of the walls, "there are our portraits." And the portraits she pointed to showed a young man and a sweet young woman in the glory of their youth, with clean-cut features and sparkling eyes.

"Those portraits were made before we were married," explained Mrs. Phelps. "Look," and she opened the little age-worn album in which the original portraits were encased, "how different now. Look at my affliction. I'm almost blind, I can't hear, and I'm feeble. How old are you?" she asked looking up wistfully into the faces of the callers. "And there on the other wall," she continued, pointing to a large frame which contained photographs of a former choir of the Park Congregational church, "there is my husband. Oh, he was a fine singer. He sang in all the churches in the city."

Lost Their Only Child.

The greatest affliction that has befallen the aged couple came forty years ago, when their only child, Addie, died when she was 16 years of age.

"It was a sad blow to us," said the little old woman. "We had set our hearts on developing her into a pianist. How she could play the

ALBERT P. PHELPS.

MRS. PHELPS.

BLOOMFIELD.

May 6, 1912
Mr. and Mrs. Royal C. Eddy Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary.
Mr. and Mrs. Royal C. Eddy celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home just off Hartford avenue Monday afternoon. The members of the Ladies' Whist Club planned to make a surprise on Mrs. Eddy by calling on her and offering congratulations and tokens in the way of flowers and gifts. In addition to the club members many friends and relatives were present.

ESSEX STREET AS IT LOOKS AT PRESENT.

The picture shows the street as it is through the trees. The street is rough and the trees are bare. The picture is a photograph of the street as it is through the trees. The street is rough and the trees are bare. The picture is a photograph of the street as it is through the trees. The street is rough and the trees are bare.

May TOLLAND. 1912

Miss Lila Sumner Agard, the second daughter of Judge and Mrs. Edwin S. Agard, and Dr. Henry Barnard Safford of New York city were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. T. Barnard of McIndoe Falls, Vt., grandfather of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. Robert M. French of this town in the presence of some seventy-five relatives and friends from in and out of town.

The decorations throughout the numerous rooms were very simple and beautiful, consisting of palms, potted plants, evergreens, and daffodils. The bride, gowned in white crepe meteor, trimmed with Brussels and princess lace, and carrying a shower bouquet of brides' roses, entered with the bridegroom. Miss Elizabeth Agard, sister of the bride, in blue messaline over pink, carrying pink sweet peas, was maid of honor. The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Overman of Springfield, Mass., wore pink organdie and carried pink sweet peas. The best man was Dr. J. S. Maeder, and the ushers were Dr. H. C. Sayre and Dr. J. C. Bradner all of New York city. The bridal march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Ethel Underwood of Newton, Mass. Following the reception, Dr. and Mrs. Safford left for the South. After August 1 they will live in New York city. Guests were present from New York, New Jersey, Vermont, Rhode Island, Boston, Springfield, Hartford and Holyoke.

THOMPSONVILLE.

MATHEWSON-DAVIS WEDDING.

May 7, 1912
Ceremony a Brilliant One — Many Relatives Present.

The marriage of Miss Grace Florence Mathewson, one of Enfield's most prominent young women, daughter of Mr and Mrs George T. Mathewson, and Frank Edward Davis, son of Mr and Mrs Charles E. Davis of Lynn, Mass., took place Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on old, historic Enfield street.

133

which is made necessary by the street department in cutting street which will connect Retreat and Maple avenues. The street which will connect Retreat and Maple avenues. The street which will connect Retreat and Maple avenues. The street which will connect Retreat and Maple avenues.

d will be a great accommodation to traffic in that section, the street will be rough graded, sewer, curbed and then that of the Retreat. Fourteen trees in all are laid low. They $3,500, making a total cost to the city of the improvement nt until the latter part of the summer to finish the street.

by her father. There were no attendants other than those above mentioned. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white satin with rose point lace and a full-length tulle veil, and she carried an arm shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The only ornament worn was a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom.

At the close of the ceremony the bride and groom received the congratulations of their friends and were assisted in receiving by Mrs Mathewson and Mrs Davis. After a brief journey Mr and Mrs Davis will return for a few days and will then depart for Toronto, Can., where they will make their home. The gifts consisted of a chest of solid silver, cut glass, paintings, gold lace shawls, unique clocks and bric-a-brac of all kinds, and also included a large number of $20 and $10 gold pieces which were encased in a frame and the gift of the congregation of the First Congregational church of Enfield, in which she had been the leading soprano soloist the past few years. The bride is a graduate of the Enfield high school, class of 1906. The groom is a graduate of Harvard, class of 1906, and is connected with the United drug company, limited, of Toronto. Out-of-town guests and relatives were present from Lynn, Boston, New York, South Norwalk, New Britain, Springfield, Har-

reater 11/232
ven to 1.01
o re 10.31
ch 10.31
Norton
ar 10.31
10.31

DR. A. H. WILLIAMS TO GO TO NEW MEXICO

Farewell Dinner Last Night at the University Club.

MRS. WILLIAMS TO SEEK HEALTH IN SOUTHWEST.
"FATHER OF CLUB" ELECTED
HONORARY MEMBER.

"They really say you're going away
To live with the Pueblo Indian, Whose thinking gear, you've learned to fear,

Much needs an orthopedic man,
If this bold brave of our western belt
Is to vote it straight for Roosevelt.

"Of course you'll get a Zuni scalp
And tree a grizzly bear or two;
You'll paint your face and write heap
big

About your capture of a Sioux.
But at last you'll cut your adobe hut
And back to old Connecticut."

The subject of these two verses, sung with trimmings to the ancient Yale
tune of "Boola, Boola," at the University Club last night, is Dr. Allen H.
Williams, who with his family will leave Hartford May 10 to make a home in New Mexico. Dr. Williams is well known locally as a practicing physician and has often been called the "Father of the University Club."
Mrs. Williams has been ill in Saranac, N. Y., for over a year and it is in an attempt to recuperate her health that the family is to say farewell to Hartman Adams, Principal A. D. Call, Professor H. W. Genthe, F. B. Williams,

Professor R. B. Riggs, Professor L. B.
Faton and Professor Elmer T. Merrill.
The informal gathering and several others that followed resulted in an organization meeting held at the boarding of trade rooms in the Phoenix Life building on Tuesday, January 23, 1906.
Professor Henry A. Perkins was chairman of the meeting and Captain C. W.
Burpee secretary. The first officers were: M. W. Jacobus, president; James P. Andrews, vice-president; Edgar F. Waterman, secretary, and C. M.
Starkweather, treasurer. The first executive committee consisted of Rev.
Dr. R. H. Potter, Professor W. S.
Pratt, Clement C. Hyde, W. H. Corbin and W. I. Twitchell.

The membership of the club was limited to 200 and provision was made in the by-laws whereby no one was eligible for membership when his college had 40 per cent. of the actual membership of the club. The first club smoker was held at the Hartford
Golf Club, February 27, 1906; Howard
M. Knapp, president of the Bridgeport University Club, and Samuel H. Fisher, of the Graduates' Club of New Haven, addressed the meeting. Since that time the membership of the club has increased to almost 500 and it now furnishes a meeting place and a luncheon place for the college men of the city, young and old.

The first president of the club, Professor M. W. Jacobus, made a short speech after the dinner last night and Dr. Williams was also prevailed upon to say a few words. Dr. Williams said that he did not know what part of the southwest he would settle in,
but for a while it would be Santa Fe.
He said that in 1915, when the Panama Exposition is "on" in San Francisco, he would expect the University

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT, THURSDAY

HARTFORD AS PICTURED IN OLD GERMAN PRINT.

HARTFORD LOOKED TO GERMAN EYES

Picture of City "Made in Germany."

their correspondent, David
of Tunbridge Wells, Co. of this city, recently came across certain old papers of German origin relating to Hartford. This was reported to "The Courant," which has paid for them

the trifle that was charged and they are now in its possession. The most interesting is a picture of Hartford, taken from down the river. It is not dated, but comes along with a map of Connecticut, which is dated 1825, and it is assumed that the view of the

was made about the same time.
reproduced herewith.

The map of Connecticut suffers
its foreign origin, as when "Ost ford" appears, but as a whole it pretty accurate outline of the state.
Both of these papers will be given to the Connecticut Historical Society for preservation.

WILLIAMS—Son of Dr. Allen H. Williams, formerly of Hartford, N. M., September 26, 1913. Allen Williams, eldest son of Dr. Allen H. Williams, formerly of Hartford.

Allen H. Williams, son of Dr. Allen H. Williams, formerly of this city, died at a hospital in Santa Fe, N. M., Friday, aged 7 years. Death followed an operation for intestinal trouble, and a younger brother surviving.

WILLIAMS
Mrs.
Mrs.

HARTFORD
THURSDAY

Mrs. M.
Beare
gent—

SUN
JANUARY
1906

SCENE OF HARTFORD

ON ENGLISH PLATE

MORGAN MEMORIAL HAS A QUAINT CURIOSITY.

Was Manufactured in Staffordshire Before 1845.

SCENE SIMILAR TO OLD GERMAN PICTURE.

THE HIGHEST HOME IN NEW YORK

Owner of Skyscraper Has His Residence on Top Floor.

[From the New York Times.]

L. B. NORTON'S TROUBLES

LOSE HIM HIS HOME

May 8 1912
Chattel Mortgage Holder Now Wants

135

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT, SATURDAY

Scene of Hartford on English Plate.

cing
on

OLD CITY HALL, EAST FRONT. AS IT WAS PICTURED ON AN OLD

10,000 miles, of which 3,100 were no. yard. regular price 25c. yard and 25c. ins.

ck and colored Peraline, 25c. ins.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 16, 1912.
THE OLD AND THE NEW KING.

King Frederick VIII. of Denmark, whose death was report given in yesterday's "C" man of broad cultivati cratic sympathies. Der tie country, and, in r balance of power in Eur was a little King. But he and fine all-around m use of all his opportur service to the people supposed to rule. His democratic as that of tramp. Returning from Europe, where he had health, and stopping w at one of the Hamburg Tuesday night, he went fore bedtime, for a s the neighboring streets. ways a strong touch of Hamburg, and no doub to the King the home f as if he had already reac blown coasts of Denma lieved himself to be in condition, and had gone ed, just as any ordinary have done. Suddenly h pavement, it is said by apoplexy, and was dead lice reached his body. nothing on his person to he was, his body was car pital, where it was fina early yesterday morning, be several hours later by was a dramatic and de for a man who had ma the fuss and feathers of he was alive, although in of Kings he had always mate and assured place. It appears to us that away by his shouting countrymen, and so great was the enthusiasm over the arrival of the Brooklyn explorer that the prince was forced to take refuge with his guest in the meteorological institute. When the prince was done congratulating him, Dr Cook was taken to the late king, with whom he talked for a long time before going to the crown prince's home, there to be graciously received by the princess.

KING CHRISTIAN X OF DENMARK.

Christian Charles Frederick Albert Alexander is the new king's full name. The repetition of the names Frederick and Christian in the members of Danish royalty is due to a family law that requires that each son shall bear the name of either Frederick Christian or Christian Frederick, and by this same law the monarchs are crowned alternately as Frederick or Christian. The successor of the present

The New King.

By the death of Frederick VIII there comes to rule over some 2,500,000 Danes Christian X, a prince born 42 years ago, with a knowledge of statecraft and a popularity among the people almost as deep-seated as that of his father's. Christian won the love of his people by his happy marriage with Princess Alexandrine, the eldest daughter of Grand Duchess Anastasia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, a love affair pure and simple with no political reason

Lucius B. this city, N where he the court a ter country sentenced grand larc on Tuesday tence was and on the ferred up office

Mrs. M Bear gen

HEY GO LOOK THESE

Buy The Material For A

9.85

50, $22.50 AND $25.00.

New York
e of the

HAAKEN VII OF NORWAY.

DOWAGER QUEEN ALEXANDRA.

The Danish royal family, King Christian X, Queen Alexandrine and their two children, Crown Prince Frederik and Prince Knud, photographed on the 25th wedding anniversary of the king and queen.
(U. & U.)

LUCIUS B. NORTON'S SENTENCE DEFERRED

(Special to The Courant.)
White Plains, N. Y., May 4.

Sentence was again deferred today by the White Plains, N. Y., authorities in the case of Lucius B. Norton, a former Hartford man, who was found guilty of grand larceny on Tuesday of last week. Sentence will be passed tomorrow. He was found guilty of swindling a Cos Cob grainy house out of $1,000 on a bill of $2,000 which he collected.

Norton about this time secured the option on certain oil wells in Indiana. They were wells that had been operated, but which had practically run out, and he organized the Norton Oil Company and another stock jobbing scheme was begun.

King entered into the contract with Norton to sell the oil company stock and to pay the monthly installments on the option for the oil property and a certain percentage on the stock sold, to Norton. Instead of paying the monthly installments, King allowed the option to lapse and then took the option for his own benefit. Norton then sued King for this breach of contract and a settlement was made in which Norton received $35,000 from King. Norton then turned his attention to the "easy marks" who had bought the National Mercantile Company stock from King and attempted to sell them more. King objected to this because he wanted to sell them oil stock and did not want them to put their money into the mercantile company, and also because he knew that the mercantile company by that time was in a bad way and the representations that Norton was making about it were liable not only to get Norton into trouble, but to react upon King because of the stock he had originally sold. King remonstrated with Norton and threatened to sue him and Norton retaliated by getting hold of some of the oil company stock and starting proceedings in Maine to compel King to hold the annual meeting of the oil company which he had failed to call at the proper time. This was the suit that resulted in the $35,000 settlement.

Mercantile Company Troubles.

One day King went from Boston to Portland, Me., the home state of the National Mercantile Company, and he made application to the court for the appointment of a receiver of the National Mercantile Company. Orren R. Fairfield was appointed receiver by the Maine court and as ancillary receiver in Connecticut. Then he went to the office of the company, took possession and put Norton out and that was the beginning of the end of the National Mercantile Company.

Norton Sued and Sues.

Soon after Fairfield was appointed receiver he instituted suit against Norton and his wife, in the interest of stockholders of the National Mercantile Company, claiming damages of $200,000, and subsequently this case was settled. John J. McKone was appointed receiver of the National Mercantile Company in this state.

L. B. NORTON, FORMER HARTFORDITE, GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY

Man Who Ran National Mercantile Company in Serious Trouble in New York State.

MAY 3, 1917.

JURY QUICKLY
GIVES ITS VERDICT.

Sentence To Be Passed Tomorrow in White Plains Court.

Norton, who is known in New Britain and Plainville and had lived will appear in court at White Plains, Westchester county, N. Y., tomorrow to be sentenced under a conviction for grand larceny. He was found guilty on Tuesday of last week and sentence was deferred until last Friday. That day it was further deferred until tomorrow. The probation of Westchester county was in this city during the week making inquiry as to Norton. He called on State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, Judge Walter H. Clark and others, who knew of Norton's operations here. The result of his investigation will be reported to the judge of the Westchester county court.

Norton has been living in Cos Cob, this side of the New York line. Living in that locality was a firm of grain dealers to which a wealthy New Yorker was indebted in the sum of $2,000, to which interest had been added. The bill was given to Norton for collection. He went to New York and saw the debtors. The latter said the bill was all right, that he had simply overlooked payment of it, but he thought the interest should be stricken from the bill.

Christian X of Denmark, wearing enough medals to sink a ship.

king will be Frederick IX.

The new king will reign under the oldest national ensign in Europe. Historians

EUROPE'S RULING FAMILY.

DENMARK'S PECULIAR HONOR.

KING CHRISTIAN'S DESCENDANTS.

Sovereigns of England, Greece, Russia, Norway and Denmark Look Back to Him as Their Ancestor.

Now and then an American millionaire, after years of toil and struggle in amassing riches, feels that his life has not been lived in vain when his adored daughter marries the penniless scion of some decayed European noble. He willingly comes up with the necessary cash and bears with fortitude the violent attacks of the press upon himself and his family. In the rare instances where such an American has succeeded in having his child become connected with a royal house, the cup of happiness has undoubtedly filled to overflowing. The witches in "Macbeth" predicted that Macbeth would become king, but that Banquo would be the father of kings. The recent death of Frederick VIII of Denmark calls to mind the fact that his father, Christian IX, combined in himself the remarkably good fortunes predicted for Macbeth and Banquo, and has probably set a standard which it would be hopeless for our most ambitious money-maker to reach.

It was a momentous day for the royal houses of Europe when Christian was born, April 18, 1818. His importance was far from that gained by such emperors as William I of Germany, who founded an empire, or by any of the ambitious rulers who extend their kingdoms and gratify the martial ardor of their people. His importance was due not to the efficacy of ball and powder, or to the triumphs of the battlefield, but to the victories gained by his children through the marksmanship of the god Cupid. It has been stated that Christian's queen, Louise, was the real campaigner in this respect, and that through her matchmaking skill she put the Danes in power in half the capitals of Europe. Her eldest daughter, Princess Alexandra, became the wife of the late King Edward VII of England; the second daughter, Princess Marie Dagmar, was married to Alexander III of Russia, and the third, Princess Thyra, became the wife of the duke of Cumberland. The oldest son, Frederick, who later became king of Denmark, and whose death occurred last week, married Princess Louise daughter of King Charles XV, king of Norway and Sweden. Another son William, became king of Greece under the title of George I. A son of King Frederick of Denmark is now king of that country, and a second son, Prince Charles, was elected king of Norway in November, 1905, under the title of Haakon VII. He married Princess Maud, daughter of the late King Edward VII of Great Britain, and by that same token, his cousin. The present king of England, George V, is also a cousin of King Haakon, and is the grandson of King Christian. So at the present time of the thrones of Europe, those of England, Russia, Norway, Denmark and Greece are occupied by direct descendants of this virile old Danish king.

Christian's family came from a German origin. At the middle of the last century the Oldenburg line, from which had come the Danish sovereigns since 1448, threatened to die out through the failure of heirs. In 1852 the treaty of London was drawn up by several leading European powers who feared the perils of a disputed throne and gave the Danish throne to a cavalry captain in Denmark's army. This was

KING CHRISTIAN IX OF DENMARK.

[Europe's Grandfather.]

he was compelled to abdicate the throne. A provisional government was then set up at Athens and the National Assembly after declaring that the throne had been forfeited by Otho offered it in succession to Prince Albert of England and Prince William of Denmark. The latter accepted it and was proclaimed King George I in March, 1863. Thus the Greeks are ruled by a Dane and a Lutheran. But his children have been bred in the Greek faith. This is doubtless due to the influence of his wife and to the exigencies of the royal occupation of Greece. His wife was Princess Olga, a niece of the Russian czar, Alexander III.

Of the children of King Christian probably the one in whom Americans are most interested is Alexandra, for long years the princess of Wales and now the dowager queen of England—or as she prefers to be called, the queen mother. Her full name is Alexandra Caroline Marie Charlotte Louise Julie and she was born December 1, 1844, and is therefore 68 years old. She married Edward, then prince of Wales, on March 10, 1863. Her beauty and manner at once won her the hearts of her subjects, as the phrase is, and for late years, it is whispered by the unkind, years her popularity was tremendous. Of her beauty has been kept up by artificial means, and although she still takes a beautiful picture, she is not wholly able to hide the traces of age.

Her sister, Marie Dagmar, who married Alexander III of Russia, is now dowager czarina of Russia, and is said to exercise a great influence over her son, Nicholas II.

by Apuro stannumtoos 1901
that b in the ignora rep
dead to memopad swa ti pue booklet. Director, MARILDA L. FAIR-WEATHER, 141 Greene st., New Haven, Ct.

HAS GOOD RECORD IN UNDERWRITING FIELD.

George G. Bulkeley Elected Assistant Secretary of Springfield Fire and Marine.

At the monthly
of directors of
and Marine Insur
day, George G. B assistant secretar
occasioned by the
J. Beates.

Mr. Bulkeley c
sachusetts stock,
scendant of the F Concord, and on
from Edmund F
Born at Rocky ceived his educa
schools of Hartfo
commercial schoo
He began his in clerk in the offic
ance company of
where he remai 1902, when he w
agent of the Lon
and Orient insura
ing five years in
ment, the latter
in Pennsylvania
Lancaster. In O
transferred to H
the western New
the same compan
tion of Mr. Hildr

HARTFORD MAN

George G. Bulkeley
Secretary of Springfield
Fire and Marine

George G. Bulkeley
been elected assist Springfield Fire Company of nearly a year and agent for thins
Mr. Bulkeley was 1871. He at work
there and in Trad
San
a business co
Then he too
and bookkeep Company, wh
one-half year long experien
ness, starting insurance Cor
furniture bus
the various depart
until the fall of
sent into the state
special field wor
July he became s
London & Lancas
insurance compa
William Blair, the
those companies
partment fields.
Mr. Bulkeley had c
sylvania fields fo
with headquarters
reporting to the h ford. Then he wa
city and placed in England field for
of Boston for the
was appointed sp
Springfield Fire &
Company on June quarters in this cit

The present hon
at No. 220 Collins
also a summer ho
where he expects
mers after his removal to Springfield, which will probably take place some time next fall.

HARTFORD DOCTOR VISITS PENFIELD

MAY 14, 1914.

Dr. Joseph A. Kilbourn Sees American Ambassador to Austria.

OLD "COURANT" MAN
LIVES IN PALACE

Has Not Forgotten Hartford
Friends and Inquires
About Them.

Dr. Joseph B. Kilbourn, who is studying surgery in the University of Vienna Hospital, in Austria, has written to his father, Dr. Joseph A. Kilbourn of No. 111 Collins street, that he has been received by American ambassador, Frederick C. Penfield, has seen the ambassadorial palace and is invited to dinner.

Dr. Kilbourn is a nephew of Major Michael J. Wise, and of Michael Doo-

Dr. Joseph B. Kilbourn.

Hartford Boy's Engagement.

Invitations have been received in this city for the wedding of Miss Helen Hough Van Dusen of New York to Horace Ogden Kilbourn, eldest son of Dr. Joseph A. Kilbourn of Hartford, at the church of St. Ignatius in New York, on the fifteenth day. This, it is reported, will be adding in style, with 1,000 people to the church and three hundred to the house. The groom, as of Dr. Kilbourn's sons, is a graduate of Yale college, four having been
at university and one at Trinity.
He is now a principal salesman in a real estate broker's office in Wall street,
being his specialty.

The doctor's five sons, each after university course, engaged in business except one, Joseph A., who is interning in a New York hospital,
one that is still at Yale.

Dr. Joseph A. Kilbourn expects to visit Hartford
May 15.

KILBOURN-KENT

Young Woman Groom at Notable Wedding in South
Norwalk Formerly Resident of Hartford.

Mr. and Miss Clara Vivell Kent, oldest

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kent of Brooklyn, who have summer home at South Norwalk, and Jonathan Francis Kilbourn of
New York, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Kilbourn of Collins street, were married at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's church, South Norwalk, in the presence of 300 guests. Autumn flowers, and sheers and foliage were used in the decoration of the valley church and the ceremony was followed by a reception and dance at the home of the bride's parents. The bride, Miss Clara Vivell Kent, sister of Uplands, the handsome summer home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. David J. Hickey of St. Francis church, Brooklyn. Miss Elizabeth Ward Kent, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Constance Mary Kilbourn of Hartford, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Theresa Farrell, Miss Mary Julia Carr and Miss Adelaide Moran, all of Brooklyn. They were all similarly attired, their gowns being a deep shade of pink tulle over pink satin, with purple hat and sash. The bridesmaids carried purple aspidochelone and the maid of honor carried pink roses.

The bride, attired in white satin with point de venise lace and orange blossoms, white satin court train, lace veil fastened with orange blossoms and carrying lilies-of-the-valley, was given away by her father. She was attended as maid of honor by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Ward Kent, who wore a coral chiffon dress with royal purple hat and carried a pink rose and carnations. They are married pink Ophelia roses.

The Austin Kilbourn, a brother of the bridegroom, served in the capacity of best man, while the ushers, all excellent Yale men, were Orrin Kilbourn, Dr. Arthur Nicholas, George Wilshire, all of whom graduated from Yale last year; Gerald Conolly of Boston, class of Yale and Claude Stanley Hurlbutt of Philadelphia. The groom is a member of the Yale club of New York. He received his education from Yale university. The second was graduated from Yale university in the class of 1911.

Guests from Hartford included Dr. and Mrs. Kilbourn and Miss Constance Kilbourn.

Dr. Kilbourn and Mrs. Kilbourn graduated from the Hartford High school.

Dr. Kilbourn graduated from the Hartford High school.

ing. Ventila

W JOJO DIOT

id J MAY 13, 1912.

downpour

interest

monies a larger cro

tapping o

cipal seni

Bones, Se

Head, Ir

tion agai

tem and t

of many

the societ

on the qu

There

surprises,

when Dou

lyn, N. Y.

was not t

ties. Fo

years the

did not

Jesse Spa

first mar

Walter (S

Yale fo

chard. W. Robb

, a Yale junior,

ton to the secret

Keys Thursday.

"Tap Day" exerc

us, is a graduat

high school, in tr

e in high school

e baseball team.

od record at Yale

ne Yale News in

y.

Skull

Detroit, B

York; C. S

York; C. S

Utah; A

Ill.; L. V

A. Colgate

Waters,

Andrew,

Philbin,

Brookline,

New York

Calvin D.

B. Cortel

Scroll

Chicago,

Haven; A

O.; Ray T

Cole Port

Berrick,

ner, Wash

second, N

shall, jr.

sons, New

Utica, N.

York; J.

John Cole

derbilt We

Wolf's H

ton, Pa.

field, N. J.

Mo.; D. M.

Baker, Cir

Warren, P

eck, N. Y.

Y.; E. C.

Twitchell. F

Brooklyn,

bank, N. J.

N. J.; S. B

J. M. Tine

Those w

Wolf's Hea

fore name

Greenwich, C

troit, and E. W. Freeman, New York.

Legatorial primar

at

FLYNT-MARSHALL WEDDING.

May 19, 1912
Social Event of Interest at Monson Yesterday Afternoon.

139

One of the largest and most elaborate home weddings that has taken place in Monson for some time was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr and

TAP DAY GOSSIP

FORD DAILY COURANT:

MONDAY, JULY 10, 1912

DR. J. B. KILBOURN BACK FROM WAR

Was Surgeon in Austrian Ambulance Train.

WHEN PRYZMSYL WAS BESIEGED.

Wounded Well Cared for— Scenes of Death and Suffering.

Dr. Joseph B. Kilbourn, son of Dr. Joseph A. Kilbourn of No. 111 Collins street, has returned to this city after spending nearly two years as chief surgeon of the Imperial Royal Austrian Ambulance Train, No. 60. Dr. Kilbourn was in London, attending a surgical congress, when Great Britain declared war on Germany, and he returned to Austria, where he had been taking post graduate work in the university clinics, and offered his services to the Austrian government. Dr. Kilbourn speaks interestingly of his experiences with the Austrian army on the battle front.

He says that the food situation in continually at the railroad stations, no one knowing when a train would run. Dr. Kilbourn says that it was necessary to sleep on the benches in the railroad stations and to eat at the refreshment stations of the Red Cross.

He entered Austria at Eger in Bohemia and immediately took a train to Vienna, where he offered his services to the Austrian government. He was made a surgeon at the war hospital connected with the children's hospital there. Two pavilions of this hospital were turned into a hospital for wounded soldiers suffering from infectious diseases. They have here a box system for treating infectious diseases. Each person suffering from such a disease is put into a glass box and this prevents the disease from spreading. Dr. Kilbourn stayed here until October 12, 1914, when he received an appointment to organize a royal hospital train. This train was partially equipped by the Austrian government, by the Red Cross and by private funds. It consisted of twenty-five cars not counting the cook car. It had room for ninety-nine wounded soldiers, who were unable to sit up on account of their wounds and room for 300 more, who were capable of sitting up. The cars used were from the Wiener Stadtbahn. According to Dr. Kilbourn, the ambulance trains are fitted out remarkably well, there being no regard for expense and nothing being too good for the wounded soldiers of either side. The Austrians treat their wounded prisoners as wounded men, not as enemies.

The first trip of the ambulance train was to the fortress at Pryzmsyl, which was being besieged by the Austrians. They took the fortress but were obliged to retreat because of the retreat of Hindenburg. Dr. Kilbourn saw the Austrians retreat and says that it was masterly and orderly. There was no confusion and it appeared that the troops were going to some station to entrain rather than retreating from the Russians, who were close on their heels. The ambulance train was the last train from Pryzmsyl before it fell.

The wounded were taken to Tarnow in the interior of Austria rather than into Hungary. On Christmas eve, the Russians had followed up their attack and were before Tarnow. Dr. Kilbourn says that this was the most exciting experience of his life. There was a Prussian division of cavalry here, the first that he had seen. The Austrians slowly retreated with small losses.

The ambulance train was then sent into Russian Poland. New Year's Day, Dr. Kilbourn was at Nowa Radomsk. The wounded soldiers were brought from this point to Prussian Silesia in the ambulance train. Dr. Kilbourn next saw service

Y
e
oss
as ere ria
nan ide,
d of fart-

ED

of

a a

ER.

and his

can

the

of lyn,

to een

of

and half

ong

ood

d a

He

of

rth,

boy

his

me

utly

ory

are

the 8

P

F

FOR

Washington, May 16.—With the bureau of chemistry still without a chief a possible hereditary successor to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley arrived in Washington to-day when the former chief chemist of the United States became the father of a boy. Dr. Wiley.

PURE FOOD BABY

IS DR. WILEY'S.

Former Boss Chemist of Uncle Sam Tells Just How His Offspring Will Be Brought Up.

NO WEANING TILL NEXT YEAR.

Washington, May 22.—John Harvey Wiley is to be a "pure food and fresh air" baby, says his father, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. John Harvey, named after his father and his mother's father, weighs 10 pounds, and is, of course, the "most wonderful child ever born."

"He is a fine boy," Dr. Wiley admitted, and then he told how John Harvey is to be fed. He said:

"At first he will take natural food from his mother, and it surpasses any baby food that ever has been or ever will be invented.

When to Wean Them.

"A child should not be weaned until he is fifteen or eighteen months old, and never until he had passed his second summer. Our baby will be weaned a year from the first of next September.

"Of course, he will have some light food before that time, but only a little white of egg and gruel. After he begins to eat he will have cereals, fresh meats, soft-boiled eggs, barley broth, starchy food in moderation and fruit juice. He will not have fruit until after he is three years old and has all his teeth.

"If we can obtain tuberculosis-germ-proof, perfectly clean cow's milk, he will be allowed to drink all he can. From the very first our baby will sleep in the open air, as God intended all men to do. His little lungs will be filled with life-giving ozone, taken fresh from God's great outdoors, without being bottled in close rooms and unhealthy mansions.

Clothes Few and Simple.

"His clothes will be very few and very simple. I do not intend our baby shall ever wear trailing robes many miles too long that torture and retard the proper growth of infants. From the first he will be free to kick his feet and roll and tumble all he wants to.

"All the clothes must hang from the shoulders, of course, and that cross of childhood, pins, to stick him and lacerate his tender flesh will be conspicuously absent. When he gets a little older we will put him in rompers and sandals so his growing feet will have a chance to develop properly.

"He is to learn the virtues of water early in life. He is to drink lots of it—not ice water, but water of the temperature of the blood. Milk also should be given to children at blood temperature."

Dr. Wiley has started a bank account and bought building and loan association shares for his son.

MARRIED FOR 58 YEARS.

May 20 - 1912
Mr and Mrs Isaac B. Lowell Pleasantly Observe Their Anniversary.

Mr and Mrs Isaac B. Lowell celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary at their home in Hatfield yesterday. Mr Lowell was married in Chicopee May 20, 1854, to Anna Adeline Streeter by Rev. W. H. Hatch. Mr Lowell was born in Orange, N. H., August 21, 1828, his father being Isaac Lowell of that town, a direct descendant of Percival Lowell who settled in Newbury in the year 1690.

CENTER CHURCH

GIVES UP RIGHTS

May - 1912
JOHN PORTER AND C. R. BLANCHARD HAVE FULL TITLE.

Quitclaim Deed of Gangway Adds to Main Street Frontage.

POSSIBLE NOW TO ERECT NEW BUILDING ON SITE.

At the office of the town clerk yesterday, the Center Church, through its business committee, Edward M. Day and Edwin P. Piper, filed a quitclaim deed giving up all its rights to the gangway running west from the westerly side of Main street to the Ancient Burying Ground. The quitclaim was made out to John Porter, who secures two-thirds interest in the gangway, and Curtis R. Blanchard of Worcester, Mass., who receives the remaining third interest. Mr. Blanchard, who has been Mr. Porter's partner in his restaurant and other enterprises, was formerly a resident of this city and had a restaurant on Central row. It was only a gangway, technically, that figured in the transaction, but it may mean something extensive in the building line. The quitclaim filed yesterday covers the mutual gangway on which stands the cigar store of George E. Cox at No. 697 Main street, the gangway being between what has been known as the Quinn building (from its former owner, P. H. Quinn) and the Center Church building, with the Misch clothing store on the first floor and the new Odd Fellows Hall above. In the latter building was formerly the Eckhardt art store and the Center Church had much use for part of it before the erection of the present Center Church house.

The quitclaimed gangway, which was covered over about twenty years ago, when a roof was put over it and a floor built (the side wall of those of the Quinn and Center buildings) by Mr. Quinn. It was used for a number of purposes by occupants including Mr. Quinn. It was used in connection with business next door; Tilton, the Goodacre Brothers, cigar makers. The last named were immediate predecessors of Mr. Quinn. He has had a cigar store at the about ten years.

The Porter Capitol Lunch Lanman building, just north of the Quinn building, and both buildings were bought by Mr. Porter a few years ago. On the first the Quinn building are the Porter building and the L. J. drug store. Both buildings four stories, the Quinn building the one-story annex at the corner occupied by the Cox cigar store. Mr. Porter bought the Quinn building the one-story building went and the new owner followed the footsteps of his predecessor in ownership, continuing to pay rent to the Center Church. The agreement of long standing agreement, it is understood, terminated by either party giving the notice prescribe agreement, which was a hardship on the owner of the building, who have to tear down the building. The other owner of the mutual decided to call the agreement. Consequently, Mr. Porter has succeeded to secure full title to the way, which is now given by claiming of the Center Church interests in it to him.

Mr. Porter now has contro street property extending to Waverley building to the Church property, giving a frontage of 75.2 feet, the Lanman building being 24.7 feet and the Quinn building being 50.5 feet. In the latter figure being the of about ten feet. Mr. Porter of town yesterday and could interviewed regarding his plan. It requires no particularly guesser to figure that a man enterprise does not propose one-story building occupy valuable land, now that the longer any agreement, hampers his head to prevent expansion. In fact, it has been understood time that Mr. Porter would more pretentious building on of the old Quinn and Lanman buildings, after he had succeeded moving the obstacle to his plan does not necessarily mean immediate future will see an expansion operations at the Porter and site, but the owners now title which will make it possible for them to go ahead when ready. The buildings which are known as the Quinn and buildings, extending from Main street to No. 711 Main street inclusive, are in the name of Porter and Curtis R. Blanton and are assessed for $118,600.

Leonard D. Fisk is moving his house at No. 670 Farmington street and is storing his goods in his new house which is now finished in Broadway. He will spend some time in New York and when the season will spend the summer at the farm. He is expecting to have his house in the field avenue finished in the fall. Mr. Porter of the Capitol Lunch has Mr. Fisk's Farmington avenue house and will take possession May 1.

UNUSUAL SUCCESS OF JOHN PORTER

AUGUST 20, 1913

Started Business Eleven Years Ago With Capital
of $500.

Springfield, was opened for business. The next store was opened in Worcester. The business grew with amazing rapidity and each of the three stores did a very heavy business at the outset.

The following year the store on Chapel street, in New Haven, was opened and the same year the branch store at No. 220 Asylum street, this city, opened its doors. The business continued to grow and five years ago last October Mr. Porter stretched his business into New York, opening the first store in the metropolis at No. 353 Broadway. Immediate success there was assured and the largest chair luncheon in the country was taxed to its capacity almost continually. This eating place will seat 400 people and occupies two floors.

Perpetual Roof Paint

JUMBO PEA COAL is one of our leaders. Price $6.40 per ton. Guaranteed to satisfy you. OUR COAL will minimize the cost of heating your home. We the lowest possible price, are special features of our service. Highest quality and the most careful preparation, combined with Best Coal you can buy. It is by far, the cheapest in the end. is a factor in reducing the cost of living. To economize order the

Coal Economy

G. F. Heublein & Bro.,
Hartford, Conn.

At all Dealers.
is made with Idris Ginger Beer.
In England, every REAL Shandy Gail refreshing, invigorating.
A non-alcoholic beverage — cooling, re-

(Imported)

THIRD NATIONAL'S CHANGE

Springfield.
SHATTUCK TO BE PRESIDENT.

DIRECTOR

Frederick I
and Chai
rectors.

The direct met yesterda
posal of Fre
from the pre tuck, Jr., to stitution for cessor, Mr I
and chairma
new office to took favora
changes, but
to meet agai
action on ac
by-laws. Mr institution fo
Third nation
Harris of a
the bank's a

FREDERICK HARRIS.

The Third [Who retires from the presidency of the fine reputation Third national bank.]

solid financial institutions, and it has been closely identified since it started nearly 30 years ago with the Harris family. It was projected by the late George Walker, formerly consul-general at Paris, and was organized February 20, 1864, at the office of the Springfield Fire and Marine insurance compar

dent MR
Mr. D
the Deligh
choon Hon
1878 Hon
the eric Wal Mrs
seph succ
succ large n
pres age the Ho
as : the fail
at 3 o'clock
Hi
ess in ber : daughte
ness who ac
his younger
he w Mrs G.
the Besse,
Spri Anna C
had fully do
ner, either c assis quets c
bein mums
Mori room.
ple Aaron
tion, who as day, clusion
work spread 38 y rated w
whol anthem
was lights.

The [To be president of the Third national
"Fre by Mr and Mrs David Mannes of New ly in York, and included only numbers by the
was violin and piano. The program follows:
relat "Sonata in G major, No 11," adagio-albelegro and tema con variaciones, by Mozart;
Jo: "Abentied," by Schumann; "Intermezzo," to tby Brahms; "Old Vienna Waltzes," by Kreisler; "Sonata in A major," allegretto
ben moderato, allegro, recitativo—fantasia
ben moderato and allegretto poco mosso, Cesar Franck.

JOSEPH SHATTUCK, JR.

tuck came into this position of large responsibility as a young man, being only 31
when he took charge at the institution, but he had been treasurer of the Essex savings bank at Lawrence and was considered a sound and wide-awake banker. His service at the institution has been most efficient and he is highly regarded by the financial men of the city.

Mr Shattuck, who is now 41 years old,
was born in Lawrence, where his father,
Joseph Shattuck, was for many years president of the Essex savings bank. Joseph Shattuck, Jr., was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1892. Before coming to this city he had served as clerk for two years and treas-Essex savings
national bank
brook & Co., for five years
of the Third Fire and Ma-
the Mutual Springfield an pany of Lawr
stitution for

HOLYOKE.

TWINS ARE THRIVING WELL.

Infant Girls, Who Are Joined Together, Seem Likely to Live—Medical Profession Interested.

The twin girls born to Mrs John Griggs
at the city hospital a week ago are happy and healthy and do not seem to mind the fact that nature has fastened them together for life. The case is one that is hardly ever observed in the medical profession, for while occasionally there are the employ abnormally-formed infants, yet they sel-West Indian dom live more than a few hours, even if sociated with born alive. These two little girls are Haynes, a Bjoined by a ligament just back of the one of Spir hips, and differ in this regard from th Shattuck on Siamese twins, who were joined by a much interes fleshy ligament at the breast. These two Haynes's st children, aside from the fact that they are joined together by the ligament, act
two infants, and
the present time,
ger than the other,
marked difference,
rtier than her sis-
week old, and seem favorably as any ing no particular ne Cele, who has
ast evening that reason why they
that they seemed ve of progressing infants. There
s been stated, un-
ven an operation
see in the hope of case is one that
sician in the city,
attention in the
of Holyoke.

WILL LEAVE THE CITY

JOSEPH SHATTUCK RESIGNS

THIRD NATIONAL BANK HEAD

To Join Aldred & Co of New York City
—Active in Many Local Business Interests

40 at 14. 1915
Joseph Shattuck, president of the Third national bank, at a recent meeting of the board of directors presented his resignation, to take effect December 1, when he will join the firm of Aldred & Co of 24
Exchange place, New York, fiscal agents

FREDERICK HARRIS ELECTED

Made President of Third Na-
Bank to Succeed Joseph Shattuck

Frederick Harris, vice-president of chairman of the board of directors of Third national bank, was yesterday
ed president to succeed Joseph Shattuck
when his resignation takes effect Decem-
1. Mr Harris preceded Mr Shattuck president of the bank and will simpl sump his former duties. His first a was from 1911 to 1912.

OCTOBER 21, 1915

tions. In addition to the positions stated, Mr Shattuck is a trustee and member of
as healthy and active as those who together this way.

TO CUT APART
 HOLYOKE TWINS
 APRIL 19, 1915.
 Pair of Babies Who Call to Mind
 the "Siamese" Youngsters of An Older Generation.

TAKEN DOWN TO BOSTON
 FOR CARE OF DOCTORS.

Parents Unwilling For Knife to Be Used If Life of Either Will Be Imperilled.

Holyoke, Mass., April 19.—John R. Gibb, Scotch, phlegmatic, and deeply troubled, spent yesterday alone in his home out on the edge of town, facing Mt. Tom. Down in Boston his wife was agonizing over the decision whether to consent to an operation on her twin baby girls, for the purpose of separating them from each other.

The little girls are within a month of three years old, and since birth have been joined together by a broad ligament of muscular tissue at the hips. Except for the last two inches of the intestinal canal, the children are apparently each fully equipped with the normal organs of any human being. That portion of the canal is single and is used by both the little bodies.

The severance of the ligament seems to be a very simple, safe operation; the operation to provide the needed portion of canal is comparatively easy in modern days. The proposition seems absolutely feasible. A surgeon has already been found willing to undertake it.

Demands Guarantee of Life.

This, however, is not enough for the mother. She will not risk the life of either of her babies, and before she will consent to an operation demands the guarantee of the surgeons that neither child will die.

And there, for the present, the matter stands. No surgeon can give that guarantee, at least until the children have been studied. They

President Frederick Harris

1924
 Third National Bank Building, Main Street and Harrison Avenue, Springfield,
 Mass.

HETTY GREEN APPEARS GORGEOUSLY BEJEWELLED

Guest of Honor at New York Reception at Which Cardinal Farley Is a Prominent Figure.

NEW ROLE OF RICHEST WOMAN.

New York, May 22.—Mrs. Hetty Green was the guest of honor yesterday afternoon in the home of Miss Annie Leary, a papal countess. At the reception which followed tea in the embowered salon Mrs. Green was seated on the right hand of Cardinal Farley, whose jurisdiction embraces the most populous Catholic territory on the American continent.

The two functions—tea and reception—lasted from 4 to 7 o'clock. Miss Leary's residence, No. 1,032 Fifth avenue, had been especially decorated for the occasion. All the rare Sevres china, used only on exceptional occasions, graced the tables. The house was a bower of floral beauty. Yellow and white daisies with yellow centers represented the papal colors. "Jack" roses framed the daisies and were festooned on walls and ceiling. In the salon, where the cardinal received the guests, there were special decorations. The most striking was a gilt basket, four feet high, that overflowed with thousands of Jacqueminots whose fragrance made the air heavy.

Walks With the Cardinal.

Mrs. Green walked with Cardinal Farley from the reception room to the music parlor, where four artists from the Metropolitan sang in Italian, and then by special request of the Countess Leary gave the "Last Rose of Summer" in English. Mrs. Green, who usually has been pictured as elderly and sharp visaged in rusty black and guiltless of any sort of adornment, was clad yesterday afternoon in a white satin modish skirt, with tunic effect of black satin en train, and cloudy white chiffon around the shoulders.

To the amazement of the guests she wore a pendant of diamonds, each stone the size of a pea, and set in Roman gold. A rope of precious stones—amethysts, pearls and rubies—was attached to her lorgnette. Her black hat was surmounted by long, waving black plumes.

In an Unexpected Role.

No one familiar with Hetty Green in the days when she clipped coupons in her private office in the Chemical bank, or kept in seclusion in her forty-dollar-a-month flat in Hoboken, would have recognized the same woman in the bediamonded figure who kept up an animated conversation with the prelate. Her whole manner was at variance with the generally accepted view of her personality. She, smiling, chatted with the guests who came to pay their respects to the hostess.

Cardinal Farley did not arrive at the Leary home until all the guests were assembled. A velvet carpet was spread from the curb to the threshold. As the cardinal entered the house the announcement of his presence was made by a servant. Everybody arose and stood until he had passed into the salon, where he greeted Hetty Green.

The entertainment was one of the most costly of the many given by the Countess Leary.

OLD PASTOR OF FIRST CHURCH.

Springfield
Rev Dr Henry M. Parsons, Who Will Come From Toronto for the 275th Anniversary.

One of the former pastors of the First

REV HENRY M. PARSONS.

(Pastor of First church, 1854-1870, who will attend 275th anniversary.)

this city as associate with Rev Dr Osgood. He succeeded Rev Dr Osgood as pastor, and in 1870 accepted a call from Union church, Columbus avenue, Boston, where he remained for four years. He then stayed three more years in Boston as pastor of Olivet Congregational church. After seven-years' service in Boston, Rev Dr Parsons was in 1877 called to the Lafayette-avenue Presbyterian church of Buffalo, N. Y., where he remained until 1880, when he was called to the Knox Presbyterian church of Toronto, Ont. In 1900, after 20 years of service as active pastor of Knox Presbyterian church, Rev Dr Parsons resigned the active duties to become pastor emeritus, in which capacity he still serves. His address at Toronto is 243 Beverly street.

Burbank-Thompson Wedding Festival.

May 22, Tues.

Miss Lulu Lester Burbank and her fiance, Prof Joseph O. Thompson, whose marriage to-morrow will be the Long-meadow event of the season, are just now receiving considerable attention. Miss Burbank's brother, D. E. Burbank, 2d, will give a dinner to the wedding party at the Nayasset club this evening. Besides the prospective bride and groom, there will be present the maid of honor, Laura C. Burbank, the bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Adams of Springfield and Miss Dora Titus of New York, also Miss Eunice Burbank and Miss Winnifred Jenkins of Boston, the best man, Judge Edward Estey of Worcester, and the ushers, Dr Thomas G. Alcorn of Thompsonville, Ct., Arthur H. Pierce of the college faculty of Smith college and Charles Hudson of the faculty of Amherst college. The bride-to-be was also the guest of honor at a very pretty luncheon given last week by Miss Dorothy Adams to a number of engaged young friends of whom Miss Burbank will be the first to be married. Yesterday Miss Burbank and her bridesmaids and a few others enjoyed a motor party, having luncheon at the Hotel Kimball and a ride to Northampton.

Died Jan 19/31

BURLBANK-THOMPSON WEDDING.

SOCIETY EVENT AT LONGMEADOW.

May 22, 1912.
 Prominent Young Woman the Bride of Member of Amherst College Faculty — Ceremony in Long-meadow's Old First Church, With Reception at Bride's Home.

The First church of Christ in Longmeadow and the home of Mr and Mrs James B. Burbank yesterday were the scenes of the most brilliant society event seen in Longmeadow for some time. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Lulu Lester Burbank, daughter of Mr and Mrs Burbank, and Joseph Osgood Thompson, associate professor of physics at Amherst college. The ceremony took place in the church at 4 o'clock and the reception followed at the house. The historic old church where many times in the past happy bridal parties have gathered to take their vows under its sacred roof, was once more made beautiful and filled with wedding guests.

Harry H. Kellogg, organist of the First church of Springfield, gave a half-hour recital as the guests were assembling and as the bridal party entered and passed down the south aisle played the bridal march from Lohengrin. The ushers, D. E. Burbank, 2d, Dr Thomas G. Alcorn of Thompsonville, Ct., Charles Hudson of the faculty of Amherst college and Arthur H. Pierce of the faculty of Smith college, were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Dora Titus of New York and Miss Dorothy Adams of Springfield. A dainty flower girl, Charlotte Beckwith of Stafford Springs, Ct., a cousin of the bride, came next, and made a pretty picture in white with pink ribbons and carrying a pink basket filled with apple blossoms. Miss Laura C. Burbank, the maid of honor, preceded the bride. At the altar the bridal party was met by the officiating clergyman, Rev Henry Lincoln Bailey, and Rev Edward O. Dyer, who with the groom and best man, Judge Edward T. Estey of Worcester, came from the pastor's study. A modified form of the Episcopal service was used and when the vows were about to be taken Arthur Lyon of the Amherst college glee club sang one verse of "O Promise Me," and after the ceremony, preceding the benediction, Mr Lyon sang the selection from Keble, "The voice that breathed o'er Eden."

Attention centered on the bride, who was beautifully gowned in white satin en traine, with orange blossoms, rose point lace, and pearl trimmings. She wore a long flowing veil of tulle caught up with orange blossoms to the dainty Juliet cap on her head, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was an attractive picture in light green crepe meteor with lace trimmings over a dress of mes-saline of the same color. She wore a white neapolitan picture hat with apple blossoms and carried an arm bouquet of white sweet peas and ferns. The bridesmaids were very pretty in pink crepe meteor gowns with beautiful lace trimmings. They wore black neapolitan hats trimmed with white muslin and apple blossoms, and black velvet ribbon ties. They carried arm bouquets of pink sweet peas.

After the benediction the little flower girl led the way down the north aisle, strewing apple blossoms in front of the bride and groom, who were followed by the bridal party in the reverse order of their entrance. As the guests left the church Mr Kellogg played the recessional from Mendelssohn.

The reception at the house was largely attended. Prof and Mrs Thompson received in the green room on the south, being assisted by Mrs Thompson's parents, Mr and Mrs James B. Burbank, and Prof Thompson's sister and husband, Mr and Mrs Elliot Lambert of Manchester, N. H. Mrs Lambert wore a handsome gown of black chiffon over white satin, and Mrs Burbank, the charming hostess, was in gray chiffon with rose point lace over gray satin. Miss Eunice Burbank wore a lovely gown of light blue silk and many beautiful costumes brightened the scene. The rooms with the spacious annex with canopy top, built the length of the house, were amply able to accommodate the guests. Hughes was the caterer, and the Philharmonic orchestra played during the reception.

The decorations at the church and also the house were by Osterman & Steel, and were beautiful. In the church tall palms formed a background, with a center of white lilies and delicate pink carnations. On either side were large vases of Easter lilies and pinks. The choir railing was surrounded with white birches and clusters of white lilies. At the house the mantels were banked with maiden-hair ferns, the north parlor having large bouquets of pink Killarney roses and the south room mantel a mass of pink carnations. The fireplaces were filled in with ferns and white lilies and the background where the receiving party stood was a mass of tall palms. The dining-room was decorated with roses and ferns. The stair rails and chandeliers were twined with asparagus ferns, and the whole effect was very attractive.

One room was entirely given up to the presents, which were numerous and beautiful. Besides the many gifts of cut glass, silver and china, a cherry linen chest, an heirloom of the Burbank family—well stored with damask and linen—was especially valuable. Mrs Burbank's family sent a magnificent pearl brooch and one thing of special interest was a handsome gold chain and locket containing Mr and Mrs Burbank's pictures taken at the time of their marriage over 30 years ago. The groom's gift to the bride was a harvest-moon pin of diamonds. The bride gave her maid of honor a pearl pendant, and her bridesmaids and flower girl white silk-fringed parasols. The ushers received canes with monograms from the groom. Mr and Mrs Thompson slipped away during the festivities amid showers of confetti and rose leaves, and will spend a few days in Montreal expecting to sail from Quebec on the 31st for a trip abroad. They have planned to visit friends in Germany and Switzerland and return sometime in September. They will be at home at 5 Dana street, Amherst, Tuesdays in October. Among friends from a distance attending were: Prof and Mrs David Todd, Dean and Mrs Olds, Miss Goodnow, Prof and Mrs Lawrence H. Parker, Prof William L. Cowles, Mr and Mrs W. N. Marsh, Prof and Mrs B. K. Emerson, Prof Whitaker, Herbert T. Cowles, Prof Arthur L. Kimball, all of Amherst, W. H. Medlicott of New York.

Miss Burbank was a graduate from the Springfield high school and from Miss Wheelock's kindergarten training school of Boston, and has been efficient in church and social affairs at home. Mr Thompson is the son of the late Samuel and Mary Eaton Thompson of Weymouth. He graduated from Amherst college and studied later at the university of Strasbourg, Ger., from which he received the doctor's degree. Since that time he has been a member of the Amherst college faculty, where he is associate professor of physics.

MARSH-TROWBRIDGE NUPTIALS.

A Fashionable Wedding at Center Congregational Church, New Haven.

Special to The Times.

New Haven, May 25.

The largest and most brilliant wedding of the spring and early summer season took place here this afternoon when Miss Margaret Dean Trowbridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dean Trowbridge, was united in marriage to A. Fletcher Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Marsh of Chicago.

The Center church, where the ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock, was tastefully decorated, the color scheme of green and white being used exclusively. The chancel was banked in with large palms and quantities of hydrangeas, while the front of the church was marked off for members of the two families with the usual white satin streamers.

During the arrival and seating of the hundreds of wedding guests who thronged the church, a musical program was rendered by Mr. Collins, organist of the church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Oscar E. Maurer, pastor of the church. The bride entered with her father. She was accompanied by her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Mary Brewster Trowbridge, and six bridesmaids, Miss Antille Bacon of Elizabeth, N. J., Miss Clara Baker of New Haven, Miss Francis Gamble of Havertford, Penn., Miss Jean G. Gardner of New York city, Miss Mary Morison of New York city, Miss Molly Trowbridge, a cousin of the bride, of New Haven.

The bridegroom, who graduated from the Sheffield Scientific school in the class of 1910 and from the Yale Forestry school in 1911, had for his best man Charles H. Watzek, 1910S and 1911F of Davenport, Iowa.

The ushers were: Sidney F. Brown, Yale, 1910, of Reading, Mass.; Howard F. Burns, Amherst, 1912, of Chicago, Ill.; William P. Champney, jr. 1909S of Cleveland, O.; Paul V. Harper, University of Chicago, 1906, of Chicago, Ill.

Following the church ceremony a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at No. 230 Church street. The rooms of the house were decorated very attractively, quantities of palms and wild smilax being used throughout the house.

The bridal party received the guests in the large drawing room, where was arranged a background of palms and white lilacs. White lilacs were arranged throughout the house. In the garden at the rear of the house was a large tent. The table here was very attractively decorated with a quantity of white flowers and a wedding cake.

The bride and bridegroom will leave early this evening for a wedding trip of several weeks returning from which they will go to Chicago, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Marsh's traveling gown was a dark blue serge trimmed with white.

A large number of guests were present from New York, Boston, Chicago, Hartford and other points throughout New England.

The bridegroom was one of the most popular member of his class at Yale, while the bride has been prominently identified with the social life of New Haven since leaving Dobbs Ferry on the Hudson, where she was educated.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge gave a dinner dance at the New Haven Lawn club for the members of the bridal party and this morning a wedding breakfast was given the party at the Cafe Heublein by the bridegroom.

WEDNESDAY BANQUET
BELKNAP-PARSONS — In Ellington, Conn., May 23, 1912, by Rev. D. E. Jones, Edward Leverett Belknap and Maude Mae Parsons, both of Hartford.

Miss Maude Mae Parsons, daughter of Herbert C. Parsons, proprietor of Parsons's theater, and Mrs. Parsons, of No. 91 Vine street, and Edwin Leverett Belknap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Belknap, of No. 67 Vine street, will be married at the Congregational parsonage in Ellington by the Rev. D. E. Jones, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. The wedding will be a quiet one. The Rev. Mr. Jones is an old friend of the Parsons family. The groom is an employee of the Aetna Life Insurance company. His father was for years and until recently in business under the firm name of Belknap & Warfield on Asylum street. After the wedding the young couple will leave for the Maine woods for a stay of three weeks, after which they will return to this city.

May 26 1912
Miss Sadie Dorothy Daly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Daly, of No. 165 Collins street, and Martin F. Murray, Notre Dame '96, of Columbus, O., were married at St. Joseph's Cathedral yesterday morning by Rev. Thomas S. Duggan. During the service the cathedral quartet sang. The bride was gowned in champagne colored silk and wore a large picture hat. Her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Marie K. Daly, sister of the bride, was attired in flowered chiffon and also wore a picture hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Edward P. Daly, Cornell '14, of this city, brother of the bride, acted as best man. A wedding breakfast was served, to the immediate family only, at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Murray left for a wedding trip and after July 1 they will be at home on First avenue, Columbus, O.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mather of Wethersfield Observe Their Fortieth.

May 31 1912
Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mather of Wethersfield celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their marriage to-day. They were married at Marlborough, May 30, 1872. All of their children, with their families, were present. A reception was held at the Mather home, followed by a theater party and a dinner at the Heublein.

Mr. Mather is a native of Windsor Locks. He recently retired from business, having been a merchant over thirty-five years. Mrs. Mather is a native of Marlborough. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Hall, and she is a sister of the late Ezra Hall, a lawyer.

COLONIAL DAMES ELECT.

Mrs. Williston Walker Succeeds Mrs. Holcombe as President.

Fairfield, May 29.—The Colonial Dames of Connecticut at their annual meeting here yesterday elected these officers for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Williston Walker, New Haven.

Vice-Presidents—Mrs. L. H. English, New Haven; Mrs. F. G. Whitmore, Hartford.

Board of Managers—Mrs. T. B. Beach, Hartford; Mrs. C. L. F. Robinson, Hartford; Mrs. L. M. Daggett, New Haven; Mrs. E. R. Sargent, New Haven, and Miss J. Shelton of Derby.

The meeting was held at the home of Miss Anna B. Jennings, and there were more than 150 in attendance.

OF HORTON WINDSOR LOCKS CHUCK Company

Redfield

COMPANIES UNITE TO-DAY
MAY 28, 1912.

Consolidation of the Two Horton Companies in New Organization—Richter & Co. Takes Stock Issue.

S. E. HORTON THE PRESIDENT.

An import through yest B. Bailey of his entire in Sons Compan Bailey's inte control of the a syndicate r field, presiden the law firm.

Mr. Bailey the Horton C years. He to general man time it was i was consider through his s with his fore has been ma national repu has been incro ty fold. The ever in the used. The b has steadily g now faster th works are th up-to-date mac of the chucks very highest.

Mr. Bailey business longer than any other. He has person among the wor of his activities. Mr. Bailey had usefulness outsi erous public off in the House a and for nearly collector of cust ing been appoi General Hawley.

He has had t ing himself wit work and to th of the success. Among his assi has always relie himself of great is E. E. Bell, the pany, and Mess Charles Morris, partments, have among his star like Mr. Bailey, of Windsor Locks, the oldest male Company since.

Mr. Bailey ha fortable figure, v four years in the development of the clined to name S. E. Horton Machine company.

The consolidated company has a capitalization of $267,500. The consolidated company has a capitalization of $267,500 and starts after as hitherto with a surplus of over $40,000. Of this capitalization $100,000 is divided into 1,000 shares of 7 per cent. The Horton (cumulative preferred stock. The stock is preferred as to assets as well as to dividends and is retireable at 115, if the tary E. E. Bell, company shall at any time see fit to chosen: E. D. R call it in. The entire issue has been Mrs. Frances H purchased by Richter & Co. of this Chase & Back city.

statement regar

Today (Thursda The officers of the new corporation have been laid

uniting the two Fare as follows:

in Windsor Locks. President—S. E. Horton, Windsor family has been th Locks.

manufacturing b Vice-President—E. D. Redfield, are known the w Hartford.

The complete consolidation of the old E. Horton & Son company and the S. E. Horton Machine company, of Windsor Locks, was effected to-day in the law offices of Back & Chase, of this city, where stockholders' and directors' meetings of the two old companies and of the new consolidated company were held to complete the plans that were started about two weeks ago when Mrs. Fannie C. Horton bought from E. B. Bailey of Windsor Locks his controlling interest of 51 per cent. in the old E. Horton/Son company.

S. E. HORTON.

The new consolidated company is in the complete control of S. E. Horton of Windsor Locks, the oldest male member of the Horton family, who has made a marked success in the last four years in the development of the S. E. Horton Machine company.

Capitalization $267,500.

The consolidated company has a capitalization of $267,500 and starts after as hitherto with a surplus of over $40,000.

Of this capitalization $100,000 is divided into 1,000 shares of 7 per cent. The Horton (cumulative preferred stock. The stock is preferred as to assets as well as to dividends and is retireable at 115, if the tary E. E. Bell, company shall at any time see fit to chosen: E. D. R call it in. The entire issue has been Mrs. Frances H purchased by Richter & Co. of this Chase & Back city.

Officers.

The officers of the new corporation have been laid

uniting the two Fare as follows:

in Windsor Locks. President—S. E. Horton, Windsor family has been th Locks.

manufacturing b Vice-President—E. D. Redfield, are known the w Hartford.

with the machine tool industry as lego- ers in their recent sale.

Secretary—E. E. Bell, Windsor Locks.

Treasurer—S. E. Horton, Windsor Locks.

Assistant Secretary—Warren D. Chase, Hartford.

General Counsel—Back & Chase, Hartford.

The directors are: S. E. Horton, E. D. Redfield, E. E. Bell, Warren D. Chase and William F. McCarthy, the last named of Boston.

Taken Over Old Companies.

The new company, bearing the name of the E. Horton & Son company, has taken over the assets of both the old companies and the two old ones will be wound up and dissolved. It is Mr. Horton's intention to effect an actual physical consolidation of the two old companies and to secure heavy economies in this and other ways, in the manufacturing, selling and advertising of the products turned out by both. There will be no elimination of competition, as the line of chucks turned out by the S. E. Horton Machine company is a new, improved and heavier line, much needed by the old company to supplement its earlier design.

Mr. Bell, who was the secretary of the old E. Horton & Son company, will be chief accountant in the new corporation, and the entire factory management will be in the hands of O. S. Rockwell, the present superintendent of the S. E. Horton Machine company.

Mr. Horton will at once install a complete and modern cost system and will introduce other modern methods into the old plant to increase its efficiency and to reduce operating costs.

Experts on the Value.

Prior to the sale of Mr. Bailey's stock to Mrs. Morton the financial and physical condition of the company was completely experted by Barrow, Wade, Guthrie & Co., of New York city, who are among the leaders in their line in America, and they found that the value of the E. Horton & Son company was much greater than had been conservatively estimated by its former manager.

Planned Years Ago.

This consolidation is the last step in the plans of the Horton family, formed a good many years ago, when they temporarily relinquished control of the chuck manufacturing business in Windsor Locks to Mr. Bailey until such time as Mr. Horton, then only a boy, should reach maturity and gain the experience necessary to handle the undertaking.

Choice No

To Sell From

1,500 Untrimm

GIRARD AVENUE SITE FOR SEMINARY

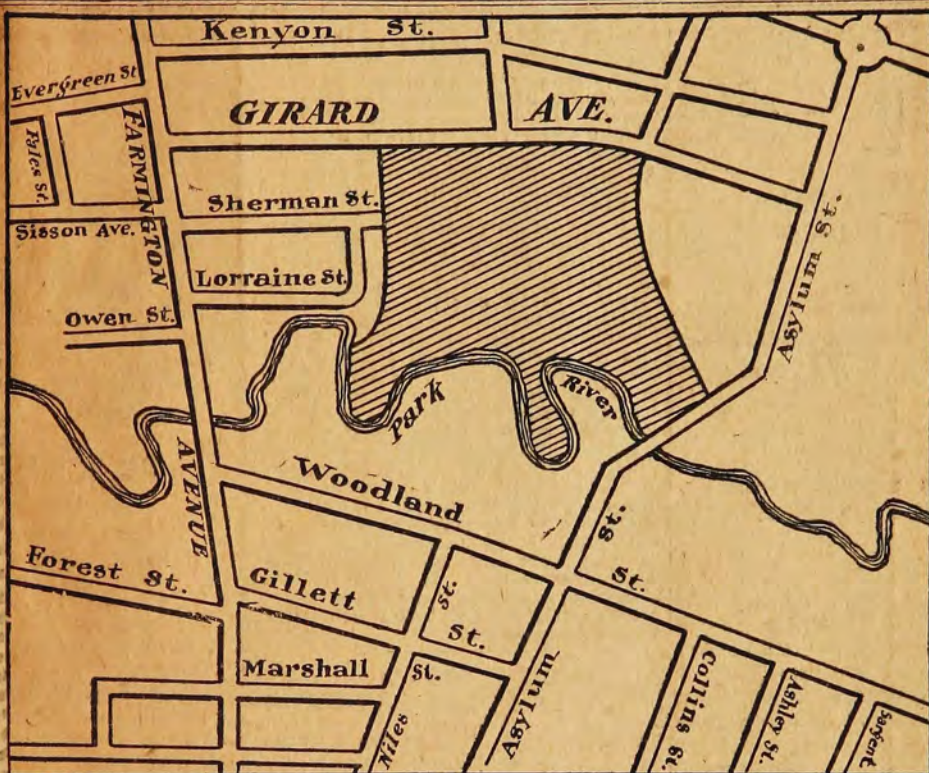

May 28, 1912.

TRACT OF THIRTY ACRES
WILL BE BOUGHT.
1,200 FEET ON GIRARD AVENUE
AND 1,000 FEET DEEP.

P. Cooley, Rev. Dr. W. Douglas Mac-kenzie, ex-Mayor Edward W. Hooker and Rev. Dr. William A. Bartlett. This committee was also authorized to dispose of the present site on Broad street, which is one of the finest pieces of real estate in the city, and which has some excellent modern institutional buildings on it. The members of the executive committee said yesterday that no plans had been formulated for the disposal of the present buildings and land. It will be a long time before the trustees are ready to take this step, anyway, as an exhaustive study will be made of university

147

THE HARTFORD DAILY COURANT.

SHADED PORTION SHOWS NEW LOCATION FOR THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

having heard the report of the committee on building and location, decided that it would be impossible to carry out the enlarged plan for groups of schools on the present site of the seminary. The reasons assigned by the committee and unanimously agreed to by the entire board were that the present buildings would prove too small; that new buildings could not be suitably erected in relation to the present ones; and that the character of the location is changing so as to become unfavorable to the work of an educational institution. Further, the committee reported that an opportunity was afforded by James J. Goodwin for the purchase of thirty acres of land, more or less, on the east side of Girard avenue, and extending back to the Park River. Having considered these reports the trustees unanimously decided to authorize the executive committee to purchase this land for the purpose of erecting new buildings for the seminary, the School of Missions, and the School of Religious Pedagogy, and such other schools as may be established in the future.

The executive committee consists of the following: Lyman B. Brainerd, chairman; Atwood Collins, Rev. Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter, Charles

James D. Houghton. The new building is 160 feet front, and has two wings 100 feet deep; also a gymnasium, all fully equipped. The Case Memorial library, which is a part of the seminary equipment, contains nearly 150,000 books and pamphlets, largely acquired through the liberality of the late Newton Case. Many of the books and papers are very rare and extremely valuable. A museum which includes hundreds of curiosities collected in foreign mission fields, is a noteworthy part of the seminary.

School of Pedagogy.

Affiliated with the seminary is the Hartford School of Religious Pedagogy, occupying buildings across the street from it. This school was incorporated in Springfield, Mass., in 1885, and was removed to this city a few years ago. It is designed to afford a professional religious training to young men and young women who wish to engage in the work other than by preaching.

School of Missions.

The Hartford School of Missions, connected with the seminary, was founded recently and, as its title indicates, prepares those who desire to become missionaries, at home or abroad for their work.

The new ty of yway.
of the
ed as secure ng out
Mr.
me as
on the ie will
The
imme-
ine on
in the tempt-shown ing in-

out of inary,
ie $1.-
h was

Sem-
y the
t. In ed the y. aeologi-
n 1834,
ie Pas-
uiling
Hill in mained
rs. The n Octo-
is city,
ore oc-
spect
e pres-
known 8, 1879.
he late

building
is 160 feet front, and has two wings 100 feet deep; also a gymnasium, all fully equipped. The Case Memorial library, which is a part of the seminary equipment, contains nearly 150,000
books and pamphlets, largely acquired through the liberality of the late Newton Case. Many of the books and papers are very rare and extremely valuable. A museum which includes hundreds of curiosities collected in foreign mission fields, is a noteworthy part of the seminary.

THEIR DIPLOMAS

May 30, 1912

TWO CLASSES GRADUATED FROM HARTFORD HOS-PITAL SCHOOL.

Two classes were graduated from the Hartford Hospital Training School for Nurses last evening before a large audience, which gathered in the ballroom of the nurses' home next to the hospital on Jefferson street. Two classes were graduated this year, as a part of the plan to bring the graduations in the spring of the year. The class of 1911 should have graduated last October, but owing to the opening of the annex to the nurses' home at that time it was deferred until the class of 1912 was ready to be graduated, and the combined exercises were held last evening. Prizes were awarded and diplomas given. The speaker of the evening was Dr. John Peters, superintendent of the Rhode Island General Hospital, who gave words of advice to the graduating nurses, and told them what their duties would be and what experience would bring them in the fulfillment of their mission. Sutherland's Orchestra played "The Queen of Sheba," by Gounod, as the graduating classes marched in and were seated in a semicircle in the front of the room around the platform. Rev. Dr. Samuel Hart, dean of the Berkeley Divinity School offered the opening prayer, and Dr. Peters was then introduced.

Dr. W. D. Morgan then spoke briefly for the executive committee of the hospital and presented the diplomas to the graduating classes. Dr. Phineas H. Ingalls presented the prizes. Those in the graduating classes were:—

Class of 1911—Abigail Elizabeth Cushman, Hattie Gamm, Edith Tate Bartlett, Eleanor Margaret Carter, Jennie Evelyn Rogers, Anna Louise Penell, Edna Augusta Munger, Harriet Ellis Oswald, Emily Louise Alquest, Gertrude Althea Cook, Pearl Evelyn Newcombe, Rosetta Josephine Watters, Maude Baillie Phipard, Emma Maude Fulton, Lucy Pratt Mitchell, Gertrude Belle Wright, Edith May Hawley, Mazie Gerow Trites.

Class of 1912—Marion Rita Carlton, Josephine Edwina Waycott, Elizabeth May Focht, Isabel Comstock McKee, Ellice May Simpson, Alice Sophie Wilson, Helen Munroe Thayer, Frances Margaret Dickson, Ruth Cordelia Webb, Clara Wright Bridgman, Effie Delia Stearns, Agnes Grant, Edna May Biggerstaff, Ruth Whitney Thoms, Constance Clark Smith, Alice Laura White, Louise Sarah Keough, Ida Jean Morrison, Lottie Leonia Kierstead, Laura Madeline Ocome, Alice Louise Mader Joudrey, Winifred Josephine McCarthy, Mary Prudence Ackerson, Marian Evelyn Smith, Annie Elizabeth Keyworth, Mary Helena Burns.

Each of the prize winners got an enthusiastic ovation as she stepped forward to receive her prize. Following are those whose work won for them special mention last evening, and a prize of money:—

Senior Year, 1911—Lucy Pratt Mitchell, first prize of $50, donated by Dr. O. C. Smith.

Intermediate Year—Ida Jean Morrison, second prize of $25, donated by Hartford Hospital Alumnae Association

Senior Year, 1912—Alice Laura White, first prize of $50, donated by Austin C. Dunham; Clara Wright Bridgman, second prize of $25, donated by a member of the executive committee.

Intermediate Year—Lenny Stuart Barton, first prize of $50, donated by Austin C. Dunham; Aida Harriet Salmon, second prize of $25, donated by a member of the executive committee.

Junior Year—Alice Marion Fanning, first prize of $25, donated by a member of the executive committee; Bertha Henrietta Uzelmeier, second prize of $25, donated by a member of the executive committee.

The closing of the exercises was marked by the marching out of the classes, while the orchestra played "Universal Peace," by Lampe. A reception followed, and refreshments were served. The evening concluded with dancing.

PROPERTY SALE NEAR

NEJOSEPH W. RUSSELL

IN NEW YORK FIRM

Kingsley & Sn MAY 2, 1915

Block on the ~~Former~~ ^{Market} man becomes Head and Arch Street of Insurance Agency.

Real estate men appreciate the adjacent to the site building on Main have been rumored. It was learned that Smith (R. J. Kit Talbot & Co., represents the Aetna Insurance Company of North America, the Alliance Insurance Company of Philadelphia.

The property of forty-nine feet and fifty-three feet, Insurance Company of Philadelphia, the Assurance Company of America and the Standard Fire Insurance Company of Hartford.

Mr. Russell is a son of the late William Russell and was for some years a stenographer in the office of the Aetna (Fire) Insurance Company.

Jerome Mayer, 47, was born in this city. In 1904 he was appointed state agent for Texas and did excellent work there for ten years. He then was made special agent and adjuster in the western New England field.

The corner has Potter of Flushing band was president railroad. Mrs. a Hartford lady, daughter of Horace

Mr and Mrs Oscar B. Ireland are preparing to vacate soon their house at 291 Maple street, which has been sold to their neighbor, Henry H. Skinner. The house was especially built for them some 29 years ago, and they have occupied it uninterruptedly since. They will hereafter make their home with Mrs Ireland's mother, Mrs S. J. Gordon, and her aunt, Miss Mary Ames, in the old David Ames homestead at the top of Ames hill. Mr Ireland entertained the literary club of which he is a member on Tuesday evening, and regret was expressed by the members at the giving up of the pleasant home in which they have been so often and so graciously entertained. Mrs Ireland has had for a guest during the past week Mrs R. R. Bowker of Stockbridge and New York, wife of the editor of the Library Journal, and gave a dinner party in her honor Thursday evening. There were eight at the table, all of them women.

TEARING DOWN FINE OLD HOUSE

OSCAR B. IRELAND RESIDENCE.

Some of the Excellent Finish Work in Building That is Being Demolished on Maple Street.

One of the finest of the older residences of the city, the home of Oscar B. Ireland on Maple court, is being torn down at present to make space for an extensive garden which is being planned to connect with the present property on Maple street of Henry H. Skinner, who has bought the Ireland property and is having the house demolished. The work of wrecking the house, which is being done by Fuller & Co. Boston, is expected to be completed in a few days.

MRS OSCAR B. IRELAND

© BACH RACH

1919.

One of the Springfield Women Interested in the Jack London Club

Oscar B. Ireland yesterday completed his 40th year as actuary for the Massachusetts Mutual life insurance company and received congratulations from many of his fellow-workers in the big building at the corner of Main and State streets. There was no formal reception, but all day long Mr Ireland's friends stepped into his office to give him a hearty handshake and to wish him many more happy years of service. A huge bunch of pink roses, the gift of one of the officers of the company, was the only outward mark of the day's observance.

When Mr Ireland joined the company it was housed in the old building at 411 Main street, now used by the Charles Hall store. This building was burned about seven months after Mr Ireland came and for over a year the company had to find temporary

B. IRELAND.

ary of the Massachusetts ed with fe for 40 years.] receipts year 1812, which were about $1.- with those for 1911, which were 000.

EPH W. RUSSELL TO RETURN FROM TEXAS

ake a New England Agency for Aetna Insurance Company.

e Aetna Insurance Company has inted as special agent for Con-cut, western Massachusetts and iont Joseph W. Russell, succeed-Ralph B. Ives, who has recently elected assistant secretary. Mr. ell has spent his entire business n the Aetna, which covers a l of twenty-one years. He d as a stenographer in the home then became an examiner in outhern field, and for the past years has been one of the com-s special agents in the state of with headquarters at Dallas, s been a very efficient and prom-field man in Texas, but his re-to his native city and the New N ORCHARD.

egs Begins Pastorate.

Briggs, who graduated ill take the Hartford theological up his duties as pastor of church yesterday and resting sermon to a large ow that the church again astor, the midweek prayer- resumed, and one will be y 1912, t. Paul's irren F. be a meeting of the church finance com-me pas-mittee, and Thursday afternoon in the Orchard, chapel there will be a meeting of the ide was ladies' benevolent sewing society. Fri-1 Theo-day from 4 to 8 p. m. the Willing Help-ers' society will conduct a sale of the books which formerly composed the li-brary of the Sunday-school, and there will also be fancy articles for sale.

149

May 29

SCENES OF 59 YEARS AGO RECALLED

Boston Express Plunged Five Lives Into

DR. ARCHIBALD WELCH
THE DROWNED

May 6

The sinking of the T called to old residents catastrophes, the memory can not be shaken away from them there is none, ranks greater in "melancholy" as "The Courant" wrote, than the drawbridge May 6, 1853, at Norwalk express plunged off the walk railroad drawbridge depths of Norwalk harbor five people were killed, by drowning. There had been a convention in New York of prominent physicians on board the train. Among them Dr. Archibald Welch of

The train was late, the engine open, and the engineer did not give danger signals. The locomotive and two cars and a passenger car plunged into the river. The passenger car containing half of the bridge a thrilling experience which was forgotten, sitting quietly in the car and seeing their companions into the death-dealing water. Those in this car who were strange and gruesome sights. Dr. Archibald Welch, of New York, Dr. Alvan Talcott of Galesburg, and others of the civilized world was shown the terrible loss of life, for it was when the belief in future life was still strong in New York. The loss of human life upon an event of which was to an extent which does not fail. Legislation followed which suited in more safeguarding the lives of railroad passengers. Joseph Byxbee, who had commanded the steamer, had just passed through the draw, is still living.

The accident happened May 6, at 10 o'clock. It had a good account of its Saturday's issue, with "The Boston Express" and "The New York Times" from Norwalk. Dr. Archibald Welch, who saved, wrote a special paper. "House's Life" would now be considered information. The first dispatch came Friday morning. "An awful accident occurred at New York and New Haven this morning. The train from New York at 8 o'clock plunged off the draw-bridge, owing to the draw-bridge being carelessly open. Fifty lives were lost, and one car is submerged, full of passengers. The second dispatch, from New York, gave the

JUNIOR ASSEMBLY, MONDAY, MAY 27

Date of Trinity's Second Spring Dance Fixed—Other College Matters.

The date of the Junior Assembly at Trinity College was announced yesterday by the chairman of the committee, Chester D. Ward, who selected Monday, May 27. This will be the second of the two spring dances which were scheduled for this year and there promises to be a large attendance of the students. The dance will be strictly informal and the dress will be dark coats with flannel trousers. The first of the two spring dances was given last Monday evening by the senior class.

CHESTER D. WARD.

Chairman Junior Assembly Committee.

The chairman of the Junior Assembly committee, Chester Dudley Ward of New York, was chairman of the Junior Promenade committee and it was largely due to his efforts that the Junior Promenade was one of the best dances in the history of the college. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. The other members of the committee are Charles Henry Collett of Dover, N. H., ex-officio, president of the junior class; John Bigelow Moore of Geneva, N. Y.; John Jay Whitehead, Jr., of Waterbury, Kenneth Beardsley Case of West Hartford, Thomas Gilbert Brown of Norwich, William Pond Barber of Hartford, Eugene Goodwin Smeathers of Cleveland, O., Ernest Talbot Smith of New York and Francis Earle Williams of Utica, N. Y.

President Flavel S. Luther is having a busy time at his office these days. He is becoming increasingly busy with the work of the Junior Assembly.

It gave the information that forty bodies were found dead up to 3 o'clock. The account continues, "The train was running at a rate of 15 miles an hour. The blame, it is said,

THE HARTFORD DA

"ELIJAH" SUNG BY CHORUS OF 200

FINE RENDITION BY TORRINGTON MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

Conductor Paine Brings Out Full Dramatic Power of Work.

CRITICS DECLARE CHORUS SIXTH EFFORT TO BE BEST.

(Special to The Courant.)

Torrington, May 9.

Mendelssohn's great oratorio "Elijah," was rendered by the Torrington Musical Association at its sixth annual concert at the opera house tonight. In the large audience were delegations from the various towns of the county, especially those in which the other choruses, comprising the Litchfield County Choral Union, are located. A special train from Norfolk brought the Norfolk Glee Club, which was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stoeckel.

The dramatic power of the work gave large opportunity for the chorus of 200 voices, the full strength of which was brought out under the skillful direction of Conductor Richmond P. Paine. They were accompanied by the Boston Festival Orchestra of forty-five pieces, which for the fifth time, has been engaged for these annual events.

The soloists were Mrs. Caroline Hudson-Alexander, soprano; Madame Isabelle Bouton, contralto; Lambert Murphy, tenor, and Willard Flint, bass. In the first part of the work the familiar tenor aria, "If With All Your Hearts," was sung by Mr. Murphy with a sweetness and tenderness which revealed something of the wonderful development of his voice since his appearance a year ago. This was followed by the chorus, "Yet Doth the Lord See It Not," ending in a chorale of serene beauty, "For He, the Lord, Our God," then the double quartet, "For He Shall Give His Angels Charge," in which the soloists were supplemented by the local quartet, Mrs. Fred Baldwin, Mrs. Raymond A. Cleveland, Thomas Murray and Arthur F. Tuttle.

In the second scene the choruses of the priests of Baal, full of barbaric energy and rugged melody, alternate with the vigorous recitative of Elijah. The dramatic power of the work was brought out in the scene in which the physicians were in the train, viz:—Drs. Beresford, Russell, and Barrows, and it proved true in regard to Dr. Russell, who had a narrow escape, he being in the car which broke in two, and only two or three feet from the place where it separated."

Dr. Gurdon W. Russell, in his account, tells of the impressions which the sudden jarring made upon him. "The front of the car and part of the side were broken out," wrote Dr. Russell "and the floor had broken off just in front of me, one end resting on the bridge and the other on the ears in the water below. So sudden and rapid was the whole affair that we had but time for a moment's thought, and it was over. Helping up those on the inclined floor of the car, who it is believed were not seriously injured, we next went down to those in the water. We immediately commenced taking out the inmates at the windows, and soon got out a large number, some uninjured, some bruised, many, ah, far too many, dead."

Dr. Russell later was hard at work on shore resuscitating those who were brought to him. He succeeded in bringing only one person to life. It was half an hour before he heard of Dr. Welch's death, which he could not credit, as he thought that he had remained in New York. He searched for his body and it was evident at the first glance that he was dead. He did not refrain from his efforts at resuscitation, but there was no hope of success.

The funeral of Dr. Welch was held in the Pearl Street Congregational Church Sunday afternoon. Rev. Walter Clarke, Rev. Dr. Tucker of Wethersfield, Rev. Mr. Beadle, and Rev. Dr. Hawes, the last three of whom had been pastors of the deceased, took part in the services. The medical profession attended the funeral in a body.

The Legislature raised a joint special committee concerning railroad accidents, and a bill was introduced making railroad companies liable in the sum of $10,000 to the friends of every person killed by negligence or carelessness of any one employed on the road. The "gentleman from Sharon" spoke of the calamity in a most eloquent and feeling manner, and called it not an accident but a horrible murder, and said that the authors ought to hang as high as Haman. Others alluded to it in a touching manner.

As the days passed on, the list of the dead became more complete. Fifty coffins were bought by the railroad and the dead bodies were placed in coffins, the clothes and valuables being removed from those which were not recognized and the bodies arranged in clean linen shrouds. The coroner's jury sat, and in "The Courant" of May 12 is given the verdict in full, finding the engineer guilty of negligence and recklessness, but admitting that the entire responsibility did not rest upon him. "It is incredible," says the report, "that the officers of the company should not some of them have known that the train did not, in the language of their rules, 'move around the curve with exceeding care.'" The "late sad accident" was appropriately alluded to by all the city pastors on the Sunday following the accident.

The list of dead, as finally corrected, amounted to forty-five. The list included two clergymen, eight physicians, fourteen women, and two children. Their names, in the list of May 13, were: Julia Anderson, Boston; Dr. Josiah Bartlett, Stratham, N. H.; Dr. Samuel Beach, Bridgeport; Ellen S. Bacon, Boston; Rev. Oliver Barr, Yellow Springs, O.; Isaac P. Colbath, Richmond, Ind.; Alice Carrigan, New York; Dr. William Cecil Dwight, Moscow, N. Y.; D. W. Dimick, Mansfield; Mrs. A. L. De Saugue, Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Maria Fluent, Fitchburg; Walter French, Manchester, N. H.; Dr. John H. Gray, Springfield, Mass.; Ellen Goss, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Ann R. Greene, Boston; T. Merrill Hutchinson, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Francis Harley, Baltimore, formerly of Boston; infant child of Mrs. Harley; Joseph M. Hill, jr., New York; S. N. Hazard, Yonkers, N. Y.; Sarah J. R. Hannah, New York; Anna B. Long, Boston; B. F. Lazier, Dundas, Canada West; Rev. John H. Luhrs, Williamsburg, L. I.; John Moss, Gardiner, Me.; D. B. Newell, Newport, N. H.; Dr. Abel L. Pierson, Salem, Mass.; Mrs. Susan Pomeroy, Stockbridge, Mass.; Beverly Parker, Yorkville, N. Y.; Norman Parker, Woodbury; Nathaniel Ring, jr., Boston; Mary E. Robbins, Lenox, Mass.; Michael Reardon, Charlestown; Francis W. Sayles, Boston; Emmeline Sheppard, Boston; Robert Steinheimer, New York; Dr. J. M. Smith, Springfield, Mass.; Miss Caroline Sawyer, New York; Mrs. G. R. Sparks, New York; Martin Tane, New York; Mrs. Martin Tane, New York; Vandeventer, Newark, N. J.; Dr. Archibald Welch, Hartford; Dr. Butler Wilmarth, Westboro, Mass., and Mary Zane.

Ten days after the accident the superintendent of the New York and New Haven Railroad gave directions for all trains to come to a stop before passing any of the drawbridges on the road. On May 17 it is recorded that the wreck of matter at Norwalk had been collected, four days before, into a pile and consumed with fire, by order of the company, leaving no vestige of the late calamity. The engine was lifted out of the mud and placed upon the track by a powerful steam derrick brought from New York. The engine was but little broken.

Various kinds of suggestions were made. One correspondent who wrote to "The Courant" from New York, wanted every railroad company to place a strong gate of iron across the track on each side of every drawbridge and wanted each gate placed in charge of proper officers of the state. "Experience shows," said the writer, "that railroad corporations have and do, and will always, if allowed, employ common laborers, Irishmen, Germans and incompetent Americans also, to discharge the responsible trusts of engineers, switchmen and draw tenders. In Europe I am informed railroads are not permitted to cross even country roads on the same level and they are not allowed to run through towns at the rate of 30 miles an hour. Nor should we allow it."

One of the items we read is to the effect that "Dr. Samuel B. Beresford has been unanimously tendered the office of consulting physician for the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company, vacated by the lamented decease of Dr. A. Welch, and has accepted the place."

Those were interesting days in '53, and the pages of "The Courant" are filled with passing events that were casting their shadows before. Horace Johnson was advertising carpetbags and trunks for sale at No. 2 Asylum street. Wendell Phillips, so it is recorded, at a meeting of the Anti Slavery Society in New York offered the following resolution:—

"Resolved, That we re-affirm our old principle, of immediate unconditional emancipation on the soil, and our old principle, that this cannot be obtained except by the dissolution of the American Union and the destruction of the American Church."

Bronze Figures for the P —Memorial to Army N Statue of Edward Eve

After a delay of nearly Boston public library will as the architects designed in "ence," the first of the two figures modeled by Bela Pratt, for the front of the unveiled recently, and the other will soon be in place, says Sun. On the completion of commission for two pieces ornament the front of it was gustus Saint-Gaudens. At Edwin S. Abbey accepted paintings for the delivery of Lafarge for the great upper connects Bates hall with music-rooms. On the death Gaudens the commission statues was turned over to the commissioners, and he completed his work.

Mr Pratt's figure of "Science" is seated in a bronze chair in her left hand a globe and gazing. On the top of two on either side of the statue on the blocks are carved famous scientists. The busts, rough, and the face and figure are typically American. The seems to be a characteristic work, judging by the example in Boston. His memorial army nurses, which was some time ago, depicts a woman of an army nurse holding a wounded soldier. Both nurses are unmistakably American, which she is in the to his lips, judging by the veteran, who, after gazing for several moments the of away and remarked to the accompanied him: "My old was tin."

The work of erecting a women of Massachusetts army nurses during the undertaken something more by the Massachusetts Daughters of Veterans. The just been placed in the state easterly side of the Senate figures are in bronze, mounted on a pedestal. A large simple noticeable in all of Mr Pratt quality in this group. Yet by Mr Pratt, which is within a few weeks, is the Everett Hale. This is a bronze, of heroic size. In the Boston public garden.

Bela Pratt is a native of New England ancestry modeled at home while a age of 16 entered the Yale. Later he attended the art in New York, studying Saint-Gaudens, Edwin Elmer Chase and Kenyon Cox. Mr Saint-Gaudens's student he went to Paris and entered Beaux Arts. While in Paris he won two medals and two prizes to the United States in Pratt's early work, perhaps enjoyed a greater popularity of Bishop Phillips Brooks at Brooks house, Harvard, and his Harvard Spanish war memorial.

A Connecticut Sculptor in Boston--Bela Lyon Pratt.

(Correspondence of The Courant.)
Boston, May 10, 1912.

The most notably artistic statue erected in recent years at Hartford, the "Prison-boy" which stands on the Capitol grounds, is the work of a son of Connecticut, a man still young, but already a leading sculptor of Boston. Bela Lyon Pratt is a native of New London. He was fortunate in his early training in art, which he obtained in his native state. As a student at the Yale Art School in New Haven, he felt the direct influence of a staunch believer in the supreme importance of draftsmanship—as a basis of sculpture as well as of painting—John H. Niemeyer, original disciple, in the second generation, of Ingres in America. Professor Niemeyer has ever been an interested observer of the progress of the sculptor at his most grateful best. He gives his figure in this instance, a decidedly circumscribed base, forcing a curling of limbs which provides a touch of rhythmical rest to the composition. An appropriate compactness of form characterizes the figure. Extreme simplicity of line, suggestive of the late Georgian sculptor Alfred Stevens, marks the whole design, even to the heavy coils of hair that almost cover the child's head, and twine about the mother's hugging arms. The head of the mother too, is very simply and largely modeled. Nowhere in this very beautiful marble can one observe any of those trenchant accents with which a greater marble-cutter, Rodin, gives all but the breath of life to his creations. The cold chisel of Hiram Powers with the "Bain Turque" of Ingres as model, might have turned marble in some such spirit as this, if Morwaldsen had never been known.

Occasionally Mr. Pratt carves a portrait bust, but even so admirable a head as that of Major Higginson (Boston Museum) does not convince the observer that portraiture engages the sculptor's best talents. To compose the lines of the nude into patterns of new beauty and meaning, is altruistic occupation. Sometimes, in an odd moment commerce dares to reproach Altruria with a commission. Not that it builds any hopes. Not at all, it simply metes out charity with a cutting benignity, feeling what a dead loss it is, like the fund of the cannibal missions. Through the process, often themselves as far as the principals are concerned, the world comes to know the genius of a Chavannes, a Barry, a Canova or a Barnard. Mr. Pratt had his chance, not however, in extension with the Boston Opera House decoration. His relief panel in terra-cotta gives a hint of what he might do in a more elaborate scheme. Mr. Pratt's idealism is equal to a very high test indeed. We know many public buildings that could be improved by the addition of just such decorative pieces as he knows how to carve. The Connecticut Library and Supreme Court, for instance with its provisions for sculpture both outside and in, provided exactly the type of classical setting to which Mr. Pratt's designs are suited. As a native of Connecticut and a prominent figure in his profession, this sculptor's availability for the task has claim to the consideration of the Commonwealth. Between Bela Pratt, born in New London, and Paul Bartlett, born in New Haven, Connecticut has a nice choice, in view of public sculpture. Mr. Bartlett's excellent work on the Capitol facade is well up to his level of production. His wonderful boldness of execution, which comes a bit perfunctorily at times, tells effectively in the niche-filling pioneers of Mr. Upjohn's elaborate edifice. But there is something subtle in Mr. Pratt's art that might well be exercised in the symbolical decoration of a law court, and something reflective and philosophical which might be useful in the embellishment of a library. Beyond his technical ability, which Mr. Pratt shares almost equally with Paul Bartlett, a greater distinctiveness of individuality is decidedly with him. His originality is tempered with sufficient appreciation of sculptural convention, whether working in low relief or in the round, his able craftsmanship never ceases the personal note from his work. A conspicuously individual introduction by Mr. Pratt is the bas-relief portrait in marble affixed to one of the interior walls of Trinity Church. This is an extremely shallow relief, most as flat as the plaquettes of Bonnatello. The contour thus becomes of supreme interest, the material itself affording little complement. It is doubtful if either Olin Warner or Saint Gaudens could have carried this particular task more successfully, and is equally doubtful if either would have undertaken it at all. Mr. Pratt's talent is in many ways like that of the late Olin Warner, whose Diana is worthy forerunner of Mr. Pratt's best. Warner and Pratt are the pre-eminent apostles of the delicate and graceful in American sculpture. A contradistinction to the leaders of the robust and forceful school, like Saint Gaudens and John Boyle. Boyle's "Stone Age," which is showing at the Paris Salon this year, and Pratt's "Young Mother" are alone sufficient to refute the charge of certain facetious ones that nothing of consequence is being produced by the sculptors of this country. It is not to be denied that the high position left vacant at Saint Gaudens' death is still unfilled, but the nation is not wanting able sculptors so long as Bela Pratt, John Boyle, Daniel French, Louis J. O'Connor, Paul Bartlett, Louis Potter, Lorado Taft and George Gray Barnard continue their present excellence of production. Mr. Pratt is certainly one of the most unique and accomplished of this group and has still, with a number of successes behind him, the promise of a greater future. Connecticut should not fail to obtain another great work from him, for the opportunity of patronizing a native sculptor of like importance does not come in every generation.

James Britton.

THE HOOP SKIRT AT ITS HIGHT.

[Even children were not exempt. Period of 1893.]

